FACULTY TO PRESENT MIKADO

"THE MIKADO" -- Dr. Elina Zimmerman, "Katisha," and Mr. Charles Stone, "Emperor of Japan," rehearse a scene from "The Mikado."

by Lynne Duren

On October 21 and 22, students, as well as the public, will be able to make a visit to Japan free of charge. How? It will be the second annual "Faculty Frolics" and this year's presentation will be The Mikado.

The Mikado, written by W. S. Gilbert and orchestrated by Arthur Sullivan, is a most humorous opera that can also be described as a "Japanese remake of Peyton Place."

The story, which takes place in the town of Titipu, opens just as Nanki-Poo has escaped from his father, the Mikado of Japan, to escape marriage to the elderly Katisha. However, as most stories based on romance go, our hero (Nanki-Poo) has a love of his own - the fair Maiden Yum-Yum. At this point though, we find all is not "hearts and cupids." Yum-Yum's guardian Ko-Ko (who in the story can be most accurately compared with a secret service agent in a Kamona) has plans of his own to marry the beautiful Yum-Yum.

Ko-Ko, who has been sentenced to death for flirting, later becomes Lord High Executioner which would make the carrying out of his sentence more than tricky!

Throughout the opera we find the usual love triangle - the lovesick hero in love with the fair maiden and the part-time bodyguard part-time executioner in love with her also.

The story has a very surprising ending as well as a most humorous one.

The cast, made up of very serious and dedicated members of the CJC faculty, is as follows:

Nanki-Poo - Larry Corse
(son of the Mikado)
Ko-Ko - Don Crapps (Lord High Executioner)
Pooh-Bah - Bill Pasch
(Lord High Anything Else)
Pish-Tish - Bill Gore (A Noble Lord)
Yum-Yum - Peggy Grooms
Pitti-Sing - Doris Holloway

Peep-Bo - Jeannine Morrison
Katisha - Elena Zimmerman (An Elderly lady in love with Nanki-Poo)
The Mikado - Charles Stone

The Mikado is one of many enjoyable as well as educational concerts to be presented by Lyceum this quarter. Others on the agenda include:

CJC Student Recital - October 26, 12 noon; George Petsch, Guitar Recital - Nov. 2, 12 noon; CJC Choir Concert - Nov. 9, 12 noon; Eugene Martin, Piano Recital - Nov. 15, 8:30 p.m.; CJC Band Concert - Nov. 16, 12 noon; CJC Ensembles - Nov. 23, 12 noon; CJC Student Recital - Nov. 29, 8:30 p.m.; CJC Student Recital - Nov. 30, 12 noon; Christmas Dinner/Musical - "Herod" - Dec. 9-10, 7:00 p.m.

All concerts take place in room G-132. All students are urged to attend, and don't forget - The Mikado, October 21-22, 8:00 p.m. G-132.

May Becomes New Food Service Director

by Julia Youngblood

With the advent of the Fall Semester, Maureen May took over as Manager of Food Services in the Clayton Junior College Cafeteria.

Her duties include being responsible for the employees, ordering food, planning the menus, as well as working with other departments on campus in arranging functions from punch and cookie affairs to special banquets. Regarding her work in the cafeteria, Mrs. May stated, "The atmosphere is one we hope will serve the student in a pleasant manner with high quality food and an extra touch of care and concern."

She continued by informing the Bent Tree that the cafeteria is open to the public as well as the campus family from 8:00 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday and from 8:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Friday. There is a daily menu which includes a daily special, sandwiches from the short order line, and a daily entree with hot-line vegetables.

Some of the experience which qualifies Mrs. May for this position includes a year teaching a Career Education Home Economics Course in Denver, Colorado. Prior to that she worked at the well known Brown Palace Hotel in Denver as an Assistant Executive Steward. She has also filled two supervisory capacities with the Purdue University Residence Hall Food Service which served thirteen halls.

Mrs. May came to Atlanta about four months ago with her husband, Larry who works for Merrill Lynch, Pierce, and Fenner and Smith. Her special interests include bird watching, skiing, motorcycling, and hiking.

Encouraging comments and questions from those who utilize the cafeteria facilities Mrs. May states, "I do want to know what their wants and needs are. I will be happy to talk to anyone and am looking forward to meeting them." Please make your wants and needs known concerning desires for special food items, matters regarding policy, or special function facilities available by contacting her at the cafeteria or by telephoning 363-7733.

This desire to establish her new position as a challenge to be met as efficiently as possible, yet with the welfare of those she serves in mind, indicates the warm and gracious addition she is to our Clayton Junior College campus.

SGA Discusses Faculty Evaluation

by Cheryl Carter and Kathy Kaurin

The Student Government Association (SGA) met on Monday, October 3, with Vice-President, James Jernigan, presiding.

The first issue on the agenda concerned the possibility of publishing the Faculty Evaluation Reports. Opposition was voiced about disclosing this information to the student body.

Elections will be held this quarter for a possible 6 undeclared seats in the SGA Senate.

Plans have been made for distribution of suggestion boxes throughout the CJC campus in order to get maximum input from the student body.

At present, the SGA meets on afternoons twice each month. This is not convenient for those night students who would like to participate. Therefore a suggestion was made to hold one meeting at night to increase the representation of night students.

All students are invited and urged to attend SGA meetings. Officers of the Student Government Association include: President, Jenny O'Leary; Vice-President, James Jernigan; Treasurer, Sharon Wilkerson; and Secretary, Jennifer Morgan.

FACULTY SPOTLIGHT

by Stewart Lipham

Dr. O. C. Lam III, Chairman of the Division of Natural Sciences and Mathematics and Associate Professor of Biology begins his ninth year at CJC this fall. Dr. Lam has been at the college since its opening in 1969.

As chairman of Math and Science, Dr. Lam is constantly looking at changes or additions to career programs, curriculum, and course content. As many as three or four options may be under consideration at one time.

Dr. Lam was born and raised in Rome, Ga. He first became interested in Biology in high school. His interest in teaching began in leadership positions within the Boy Scouts, and was further aroused as a lab assistant in college. He attended Shorter College, where he received his A.B. in 1966. He received his Ph.D. in 1972 from the University of Georgia.

Dr. Lam is married (sorry girls!) and his wife is a high school English teacher. His many hobbies include: antiques, camping, hiking, and cooking. He is also a District Vice-Chairman with the Boy Scouts, and has two (yes count them two!) games of chess going with Dean Bolander at all times.

Dr. Lam is very concerned about wildlife preservation. He is Chairman of the Board of the W. H. Reynolds Memorial Preserve, which is a wildlife area here in Clayton County. He is also on the board of the Marshall Forest, a wildlife area in Rome.

Dr. Cicero Ends Term as Head of AMATYC

By T. Barry

The American Mathematical Association of Two Year Colleges, AMATYC, held its annual meeting at the Peachtree Plaza last week.

Dr. Joseph E. Cicero, a professor of mathematics at CJC, ended his term as president of the AMATYC during this five day meeting, but will still have duties to perform as past president. He stated in a message to the members of the AMATYC, "... that AMATYC exists to fill a void. Specifically, for two year college teachers, there was lack of involvement in peer review of educational programs designed to meet their needs. There was lack of communication between two year college teachers and high level policy makers (Congress). There was no national professional identity for two year college teachers. There was no involvement in the training and preparation of future two year college teachers, and the list goes on."

Concerning the annual meeting, Dr. Cicero went on to state, "We have representatives from senior institutions, industry and related disciplines to complement our outstanding corps of two year college speakers.

Dr. Cicero has testified before a committee of the House of Representatives concerning the funding of higher education by the National Science Foundation.

The AMATYC was established in 1975 and most of the mathematics instructors here are members.

Student Affairs Committee Investigates Needs

by Art Rogers

In the regularly scheduled meeting of the Student Affairs Committee, it was moved and seconded to establish a sub-committee composed of Dean Bolander, Dr. Fisher, and James Jernigan to present a preliminary report at the next meeting on the needs concerning the student lounging areas.

SGA Vice President James Jernigan suggested that the stereo system in the student lounge be connected in such a way as to concentrate on a specific area of the cafeteria. "This would form a listening area for the students who want music with their meal," he stated.

The committee went on to discuss ways in which they could improve the student lounging areas. This includes the cafeteria, C-building lobby, the television room, and the student lounge. After further discussion, the vote was taken and passed unanimously.

In other action, the committee also established a sub-committee to present a preliminary report concerning the participation and effectiveness of the Wednesday Activity Hour. The sub-committee, composed of Rob Taylor, Dennie Kelley, and Sharon Wilkerson is to investigate circumstances involved in why the Activity Hour has such a low student involvement count.

Other actions taken by the committee include establishing a sub-committee to present a report on the potential needs of night students and establishing a sub-committee to present a report regarding publicity efforts in the area of student activities.

Dr. Harvey Jackson

Dr. J. Scores

By T. Barry

Dr. Harvey H. Jackson, Associate Professor of History at Clayton Junior will have his first book, "In the Eye of the Storm: Georgia's General Lachlan McIntosh and the Forces of Revolutionary Factionalism," published next year by the University of Georgia Press.

In a recent Bent Tree Interview, Dr. Jackson said, "... they (the University of Georgia Press) will probably try to have it (the book) out sometime toward the end of next summer... It will be distributed mainly in Georgia and the southeast."

General McIntosh served in the American Revolution and was Georgia's first general. He commanded the Georgia forces until 1777, when he was pressured to leave the state after killing Button Gwinnett (famed signer of the Declaration of Independence) in a duel. McIntosh later joined George Washington's army. Dr. Jackson's book emerged from his dissertation paper on McIntosh and has taken six years, off and on, to complete. He has concentrated work on the book for the past eight months. Dr. Jackson used sources from the Archives and Savannah among other places, mainly in Georgia.

Dr. Jackson already has an idea in mind for another book. "I've gotten about six articles published, mostly on the American Revolution," he said. He also commented that, "the nice thing about here (CJC) is that you can work at pretty much your own pace."

Dr. Jackson received his Ph.D. in History from the University of Georgia and minored in English. Best of luck to him on his further writings.

Miss Georgia

Search Begins

The search is on to find Miss Georgia-USA 1978, the young woman who will represent Georgia in the MISS USA Beauty Pageant next May, which will be telecast nationally by CBS-TV.

In addition to more than $75,000 in prizes and awards on the national level as well as an opportunity to represent this country in the Miss Universe Pageant next summer in Mexico, the new Miss Georgia will receive other valuable awards as the state winner.

To qualify, applicants must be single and never married between the ages of 18 and 26 as of July 15, 1978 and must live, work or attend school anywhere in Georgia. They also must be U.S. citizens and can not have been a parent.

Judging will be based on beauty of face and figure, poise, personality, grooming, intelligence, speaking ability and commercial appeal. THERE IS NO TALENT COMPETITION.

All contestants will be selected on an open, At-Large basis by the pageant Selection Committee. Those chosen will advance to the state finals to be held a weekend in March 1978. The pageant will be telecast for the first time since 1971.

The reigning Miss Georgia USA, Linda Kerr of Alpharetta, was one of the top finalists in the 1977 Miss USA Pageant as was Liz Wickersham, Miss Georgia 1976.

Free entry information is available by writing to: Miss Ga.-USA Pageant, P. O. Box 676, Silver Spring, Md. 20906.

Applicants should send their name, address, age, and telephone number. Deadline for all applications is December 15, 1977.

Nursing Receives Grant

A $26,539 grant to support the nursing education program at Clayton Junior College has been awarded by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Dr. O. C. Lam III, Chairman of the Division of Natural Sciences and Mathematics at the Morrow institution, received notification of the grant from Jessie M. Scott, Assistant Surgeon General and Director of the Division of Nursing for HEW. CJC's Department of Nursing operates within the Division of Natural Sciences and Mathematics.

Issued under the "Nursing Capitation Grant Program," funds may be used for any purpose the college judges will most effectively advance its nursing program. The intention of the Capitation Grant is to provide a support base for an educational program, including general operating expenses.

The amount of the grant was based on enrollment data presented by the college.

Various factors, including full-time classroom enrollment and the number of graduates in the nursing program during the year in which a grant is made, are used as guidelines for HEW's funding formula.

Funds awarded in 1977 are for the grant period of July 1, 1977 through June 30, 1978, but the college may obligate left-over funds for the following year.

One of 13 "career programs" offered at Clayton Junior College, the Nursing Program is tailored to specifically meet the need for nurses in the south metropolitan Atlanta area. Career programs at CJC combine general education courses with specialized professional or paraprofessional training to prepare graduates with immediate employment after two years of study.

Ms. Mary deChesnay is Head of CJC's Department of Nursing, which includes a faculty of seven. As a part of the educational program, faculty and students participate in community service activities, both on and off campus.

Through this clinical agreement between the college and a number of community hospitals and health agencies, students are introduced to actual laboratory experiences. The nursing profession has always placed an emphasis on community involvement.

Accredited by the National League for Nursing, Clayton Junior College has offered the two-year nursing program since it opened in September 1969. Also accredited by the Georgia Board of Nursing, the college holds membership in the Council of Associate Degree Programs of the National League for Nursing.

A unit of the University System of Georgia, Clayton Junior College is currently in its ninth year of operation.

CJC Men In Blue

Beth Gray and Denise Simmons

Clayton Junior College is just like a small city; we are the citizens and the administration is the government and this includes police officers, too.

The campus police have all the rights that the city police have. They have the responsibility of the security and safety of our cars, persons, and everything on campus.

The problems they have had to handle range from a rare fight to theft from cars. Parking violations have been the biggest problem so far. The curb parking next to the building ended October 5th so anyone still parking there can expect a little pink ticket to appear. Penalty for the first ticket is a run down of the parking rules. When the second ticket appears the dean sets the penalty from anything he feels necessary to suspension.

Things being stolen out of cars has not reached an epidemic, yet, but the police suggest locking your cars and taking the keys to help them out.

The police have also spent quite a bit of time rescuing helpless keys and stranded owners with their trusty coathangers which they carry around in their van. Another problem encountered last year was speeding but this year the speed limit seems to be working.

The authority to give parking tickets comes from Dr. Downs. The State has certified the rest of the official actions taken by the CJC police. Our police departments staff consists of seven people: Director of Public Safety, Bill Hart; Sargent, Ted Ray; and officers: Maggie Robbins, David Peak, Marty Castillo, Greg Thorton, and James Braswell.

The officers are helping us so let's try helping ourselves by helping them.

Lecture on Crimes Announced

A former Special Agent in Charge and Police Training Coordinator for the FBI will give two lectures on "Sex Crimes" Wednesday, October 19, at Clayton Junior College.

Walter V. McLaughlin, who retired after 36 years of service with the FBI, will speak in Room B-14 at 12 noon, and in Room G-132 at 8:30 p.m. Presently a Police Consultant with the University of Delaware and the Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police Association, he will be the first speaker in a series of lectures on "Law and Society," sponsored by the college's Lyceum Committee.

During his time with the Bureau, Mr. McLaughlin achieved national recognition for his specialization in the field of "Police Investigation of the Abnormal Sex Offender and his Offenses." Because of his work experience, he is considered an authority in this area.

Mr. McLaughlin prepared and presented "The Morals Squad Course," a forty-hour series of lectures which has been adopted by the FBI which is currently being taught in schools throughout the country. For ten years, he was a guest lecturer at the FBI National Academy in Washington, D.C., and in 1963, he was assigned by Director J. Edgar Hoover to train the "Boston Strangler Squad."

Both lectures will be open to the public and there will be no admission charge.

Bealer to Speak

Mr. Alex Bealer will be speaking on Advertising and Free Enterprise at Clayton Junior College.

Mr. Bealer is very knowledgeable about the free enterprise system. He owns his own advertising agency and is an author. Among the books that he has written is The Art of Blacksmithing, which is an excellent book about the trade.

Mr. Bealer was in the United States Marine Corps, and has served in many civil and political affairs.

Mr. Bealer will be speaking on October 25, at 7:00 p.m., in Room G-132. The program will be open to the public at no cost.

House Members Meet on Campus Today

Members of the Georgia House of Representatives will meet on the CJC campus today (Wednesday, October 19) to receive an update on development of the college, the college's financial needs, accomplishments and other areas of concern.

In addition to meeting with representatives of the college administration and faculty, the visiting legislators also will meet with a number of students.

Members of the House Committee on the University System of Georgia who plan to attend the afternoon meeting include: the Honorable Arthur Gignilliat of Savannah who is chairman; Hon. E. B. Toles of Rome, Vice Chairman; and Hon.

Hugh Logan of Athens, Secretary.

Two subcommittees within the House Committee will be represented at the meeting, one on Junior Colleges-Vocational-Technical Schools, and another on Non-Resident Junior Colleges.

Members of the Non-Resident subcommittee include: Hon. James M. Beck of Valdosta who is chairman, Hon. Marvin Adams of Thomaston, Hon. Joseph A. Battle of Savannah, Hon. Paul Bolster of Atlanta, Hon. Joe Burton of Atlanta, Hon. E. M. (Buddy) Childers of Rome, Hon. Johnny Isakson, of Marietta, Hon. Rudolph Johnson of Morrow, Hon. Randolph C. Karrh of Swainsboro, Hon. Ken Nix of Smyrna, Hon. Tom Ramsey of Chatsworth, and Hon. Robert A. (Bob) Irvin of Roswell.

Members of the Junior Colleges-Vocational-Technical Schools subcommittee include: Hon. E. M. Childers of Rome who is chairman, Hon. Henrietta M. Canty of Atlanta, Hon. Gerald Johnson of Carrollton, Hon. William (Bill) Murray of Americus, Hon. John Russell of Winder, Hon. James R. Tuten, Jr. of Brunswick and Representatives Adams, Battle, Beck, Burton, Karrh, Ramsey, Irvin, and Bolster who are also members of the Non-Resident subcommittee.

Children Needed

A small group of youngsters are needed to assist members of the Clayton Junior College Choir in a Christmas dinner/theatre production of "Herod," according to Dr. Larry B. Corse, Director of the Choir.

"We need girls and boys between the ages of 7 and 13, whose voices are unchanged, to sing and act in the play," Dr. Corse pointed out. "We would like to have between 10 and 15 youngsters to work with our choir."

Area girls and boys who would like to participate must call the college to make an appointment for a 10-minute audition before Dr. Corse. "We will hold auditions between 4 and 8 p.m. on Monday, October 24, but participants must call for an assigned time," Dr. Corse said.

Auditions may be scheduled with the secretary in the college's Division of Humanities (phone 363-7743), the choir director pointed out. Anyone auditioning should come prepared to sing a Christmas carol of their selection.

Participants accepted will be required to attend approximately two rehearsals during November, and two or three more during the week of the production.

"Herod" will be featured during 7 p.m. performances in the college cafeteria on Friday, December 9, and again on Saturday, December 10.

Word

by Art Rogers

As editor of your paper, I am currently seeking out new ways and ideas that will make the Bent Tree more appealing.

One of the first steps that I am presently working on is to get the Bent Tree published on a more newspaper type format. This would probably include printing on newsprint paper. I recently attended a Georgia College Press Workshop and not one college or junior college represented there had anything that even slightly resembles the Bent Tree.

I have heard a few students express dissatisfaction with the present format that is used and how "tacky" it looks. My personal opinion is that I couldn't agree more. Therefore, I am presently seeking bids from publishing companies to print our paper as we will have to have this done off campus.

At this time the biggest problem that I anticipate in encountering will be to convince the Student Affairs Committee that this type of printing will be worth the extra funds that it will take to accomplish making the Bent Tree a better newspaper.

Secondly, I would also like to seek out new ideas that would help the Bent Tree distribution problem. We are presently only printing a mere 1,000 copies and out of that number only 500 are reaching you, the students.

I would welcome any suggestions, comments, or letters with ideas that you may have to help solve these problems. I ask that each and every one of you please take time to at least submit one idea.

The editor welcomes your letters and comments. Please bring them by the Bent Tree office in the rear of the student lounge.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor

I am writing in response to the Marathon Dance which the SGA sponsored for the benefit of the Heart Fund on October 7 and 8, 1977.

I must honestly say that the students and faculty who did not attend the dance really missed out on a good time. We had a fantastic disco system (thanks to Art Rogers), free food and cokes, and plenty of dancing room. We also had our own comedian come in every hour, and he was truly great (thanks to Rob Taylor).

The dancers were a fine group of people. They endured a grueling 14 hours to raise money for the Heart Fund, and I am sure that they enjoyed it immensely. Too bad more students did not come and have a good time.

Much has been said about the problem of student apathy at Clayton Junior. The SGA tried to have a dance for the entire student body, but there were not a great deal of students there. This could not have been to a lack of publicity, but was more likely due to a lack of interest on the part of the student body.

Clayton Junior is your school. I personally have just begun to get involved at school, and it makes getting up at 6 a.m. a little easier, and a lot more enjoyable. Please take an interest in your school and in all of the activities that are available to you. Any suggestions that you might have should be told to an SGA member. Our job is to help the students, and we enjoy doing our job.

Again, let me say a personal thank-you to the participants and the workers who attended the Marathon Dance. It was really worth the effort it took to raise the money for the Heart Fund.

Sharon Wilkerson
SGA Treasurer

Dear Editor,

I write this letter to the editor with a number of questions in my mind. The first is why is the turnout at most of CJC's dances so small? The Orientation-Marathon Dance held October 7th had between 100 and 115 people in attendance. This is approximately 3 1/2% of the student enrollment at Clayton Junior College this quarter. The dance held last spring had only 135 in attendance at that. Not only are these figures disheartening to myself but also raised another question: Should General Entertainment continue to spend money for dances with this sort of poor turnout?

I personally hate to see the dances cancelled altogether due to the fact the students in attendance at these functions always seem to have a great time. But does the end justify the means? I personally believe that there should be fewer dances during the year but the dances should be held off campus, in a place where your favorite beverage is available. The only dance that has been held off campus recently was the 1976 Christmas Ball and the turnout for that was approximately 725 people. I do not attribute this entirely to the availability of alcoholic beverages but I know that it played a part in helping attract the crowd.

The most important thing I need from you, the student, is your input on this matter. I have a mailbox in the Dean of Students Office and I can often be found in the SGA Office in the Student Lounge. I am generally on campus from 8 a.m. until 2 p.m. everyday. I am anxious to hear your questions and your answers to these possible problems.

James Jernigan
Vice President SGA

Dear Editor,

School, as always, can be a very frightening experience. There are always so many problems to contend with, especially the problem of making new friends. Usually, though, everything turns out for the best in the majority of the situations.

Teachers. A very special breed, if I may say so myself. They are not just your average run-of-the-mill people. They always seem to have extra courage, stamina, and, unfortunately, that extra streak of stubbornness.

Some of us like to get close in our relationships with these special people. I, for one, have always gotten close to my teachers. In doing so, it seems as though they are not only teaching me academically, but also emotionally and mentally. Because I am now only beginning to grow up, I need their support in these areas, and, luckily, I always seem to get it.

Deans. An even more special breed of person. I always thought of them as being so distant, so reserved. So "stuck-up." Always so official. A more accurate description would be that they are honest, brilliant, friendly, helpful, but even more than anything else, they are there. Where? There when you have a question, or when you need an explanation.

There when you want a bull session, or when you are depressed. There to dry your tears, greet you with smiles, and reprimand you for all the offenses you commit. In other words, they are simply there when you need them.

Again, to help you emotionally and mentally. Then, why are they more special than teachers? Because they are not grading your performance. They are not questioning your questions, and understanding, which is the key to life. Understanding. Such a special breed of person. Very special.

Now can you see why I feel so special? I am one of the people who can laugh with, scream at, and be scolded by a Dean. Unemotional or not, his being there spells out one extremely important thing: he cares. What else could I ask for?

IN BRIEF

Two days during the week of exams the bookstore will be buying back used textbooks at half of the retail price.

A table will be set up inside the doors of the bookstore for those interested in taking advantage of this service.

Books with marks or highlights will be accepted and no receipt is necessary.

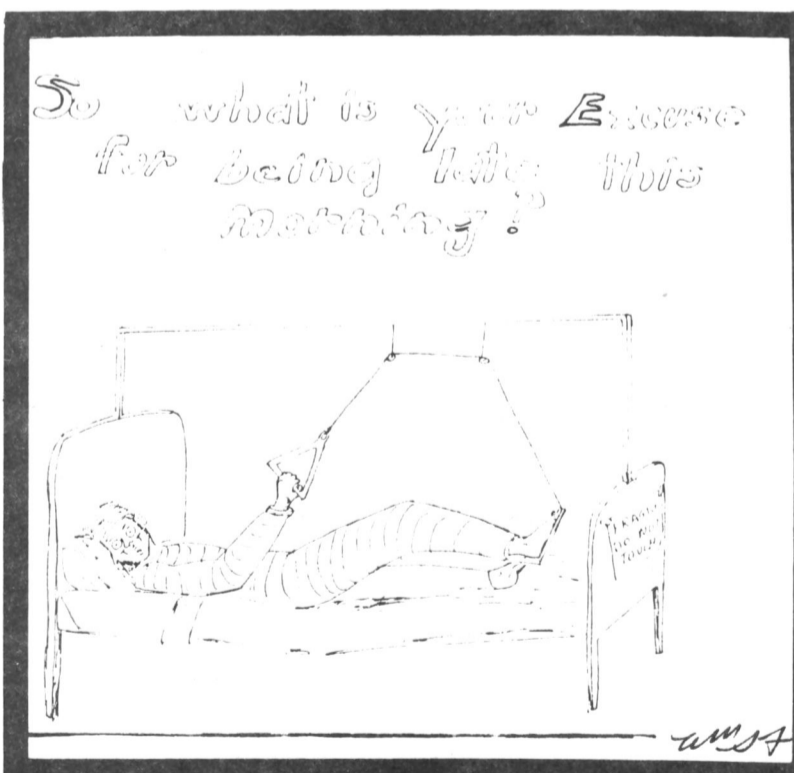

Signs will be posted around campus to inform students of specific days and time the books can be sold.

Thoughts.....

by Grady Anderson

Last edition I mentioned getting involved in your school and its activities and events. Activities that are held strictly for you the student, for your enjoyment and entertainment. Getting straight to the point I was kind of disappointed in the lack of participation in the Orientation/Marathon dance. I would just like to tell you that you missed an enjoyable evening. The music was good the snacks were delish and the DJ was great. In short it all added up to a great evening.

The events that are slated for the year here at CJC are paid for out of the Student Activity fee money that you the students have already forked out. This money is used to plan events that hopefully will be acceptable and enjoyable to the student. I realize that many times it may be impossible to attend for certain circumstances. When an event is planned well in advance though and publicized then I can see no reason for not attending at least for a short while. These events can be cancelled if the students do not participate or show interest. I feel that this would be a shame and not really an answer to the problem but if you the students would indicate to the Bent Tree or the SGA what your interests are or what you would like to see then something positive could be accomplished.

Intramural Season Opens; Vandals Defeat Huns, 7-6

By Gary Madray

In the season opener, held October 5th, the Vandals defeated the Huns by a score of 7-6. The Vandals put up a strong defensive stand and had two touchdowns called back. Quarterback Chris Smith threw the touchdown and extra point pass to his same faithful end early in the game to give the Vandals a 7-0 edge.

Late in the game, Smith had a pass intercepted close to the goal line. On the next play, the Hun offense came alive and made their first touchdown of the season, but the Vandals' defense held on the crucial extra point.

The Knights received a serious blow in their game against the Tribunes by losing 24-0. The Tribunes started the blows early in the game with an accurate aerial attack on the poor, disorganized Knight defense. Quarterback Charlie Cantrell ran a smooth offense throwing two touchdown passes, running a touchdown, and catching a touchdown pass.

The Knight offense was also hurt by lack of organization and experience in playing flag football. In fact, the offense never got off the ground with the exception of a couple of good pass plays and one good run. The result of this lack of experience, was the Knights being plagued by many penalties.

D.J. Fever

by Rob Taylor
Director of Student Activities

The electronic digital clock atop the disco system control board ticked off the seconds quickly. It was fast approaching 8 p.m. Friday, October 7th. This would be the start of CJC's one and only 14 hour Marathon Dance. Art Rogers, editor of the Bent Tree, was also the man chosen to provide the music for this particular activity. Art, representing the J & R Sound Co. of Forest Park (whoop-de-doo) had been busy for over an hour setting up his wide array of equipment. All of us involved with the Marathon Dance were getting very excited.

Suddenly it was 8:00 and Art blared through the microphone "all right dancers, on your feet." There were only three of the Marathon Dancers there at the beginning, Jenny O'Leary (dancing solo except for occasional partners) and Penny Delano with her partner Jon Felth. Little did we know that these three dancers would be the ones to complete the entire fourteen grueling hours.

My most exciting time began at 10 till the hour each hour of the dance. I got to take over the microphone with ten minutes of adlibs that many people in the audience really didn't want to hear. We gave away prizes ranging from lunch for two at a popular Atlanta restaurant to a fifty piece flatware setting from Zales Jewelers at Southlake.

During the second set Carla Knowles and Jennifer Morgan, the other two students signed up for the Marathon Dance arrived and began to boogie. Carla continued through midnight and Jennifer lasted the remaining 1 1/2 hours of the Marathon.

Zimmerman Gives Concert

By GiGi Helton

Elena Zimmerman, coordinator of English at CJC, presented a splendid piano recital here recently which was enjoyed by many students and faculty members.

The audience listened enthusiastically as Ms. Zimmerman played selected numbers from Ludwig van Beethoven, Frederic Chopin and Claude Debussy. A unique version of Yankee Doodle as composed by Anthony Philip Heinrich and Union!, a blatantly patriotic piece by Louise Moreau Gottschalk, were also on the program.

Elena Zimmerman received her Bachelor of Music from Converse College as well as her Masters degree, majoring in piano. She completed her Ph.D. at the University of Tennessee in English.

As my time on the microphone came near each hour I felt the excitement rise within me. Here was my chance, I too could be Gary McKee, Willis the Guard, Chase or Woodside. My particular style was a blend of all four plus other extraneous bits.

We continued to offer exciting prizes from the CJC Prize Depository. These included rolls of toilet tissue, a CJC coffee kit (2 styrofoam cups, a stirrer and pack of cremora) and even an exciting CJC information pack.

During the evening many exciting things happened such as a visit by the Clayton County Sheriff's Department. We initially thought they were coming in with a noise complaint but instead they came in to donate $28.00 that they had collected from other deputies and from the C & S Bank of Jonesboro. This did a lot to boost the spirits of the remaining Marathon Dancers.

At approximately 9:15 in the a.m. the Chick-Fil-A Chicken, in full feathers, came in and became Jenny O'Leary's partner for two dances. Surely this was the highlight of her evening.

I was lucky enough to get a few hours of sleep between 1 and 6 and return to the dance dressed in a tuxedo which further encouraged the dancers to new heights of energy and excitement.

Through out the evening over 100 students, faculty and administrators dropped in to dance with and give encouragement to the Marathon Dancers who, if they are able to collect all of their pledges will have raised over $500.00 for the Clayton County Heart Fund. Naturally, we appreciate everybody's effort in supporting this Marathon Dance.

Harrower and Callaway Give Recital

Gigi Helton

Peter Harrower, professor of Music at Georgia State University, and Irene Callaway, a noted soprano, entertained an enthusiastic house here at CJC on October 11 in a joint vocal recital.

The joint recitalists performed numerous songs of which many had a religious reference. The program included selected numbers from The Creation by Franz Joseph Haydn, Vier Ernsto Gesange and Dutes Opus 66 and Opus 20 by Johannes Brahms, Elizah by Fleix Mendelssohn, Gloria by Ned Rorem, Hermit Songs by Samuel Barben and Old American Songs as arranged by Aaron Copland.

In response to the standing ovation Mr. Harrower and Miss Callaway did as an encore, the Copland arrangement of The Lone Wild Bird.

Accompanying the couple on the piano was Jeannine Morrison, assistant professor of Music here at CJC. Her talents on the piano contributed to the success of the evening.

Both Mr. Harrower and Miss Callaway are noted for their splendid performances at home as well as abroad. They have performed with the Philadelphia Orchestra under the direction of Eugene Ormandy, the Lyric Opera of Chicago and have had many engagements in Europe.

RECORD REVIEW

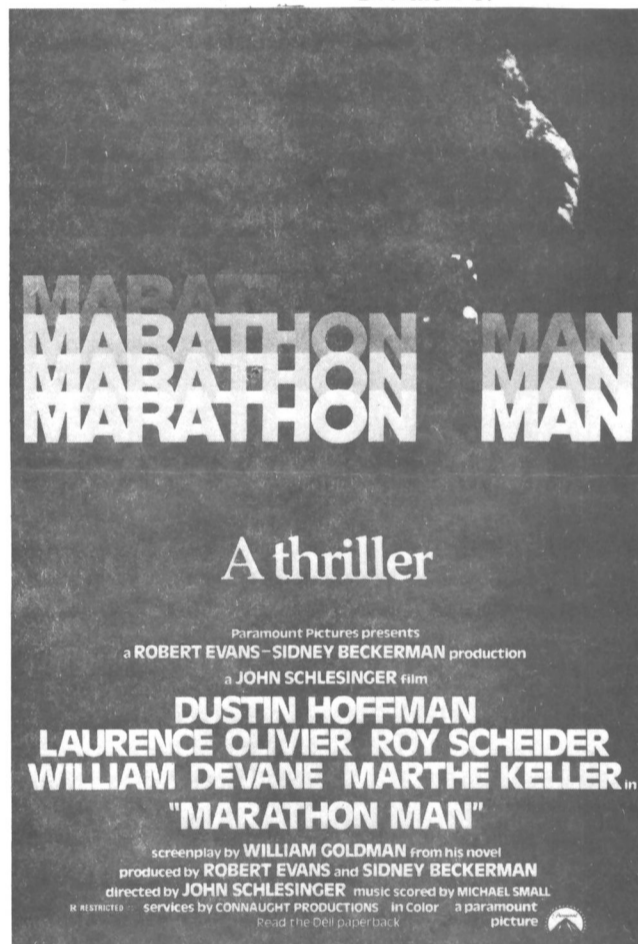

By Randy Sims

Over the years Styx has suffered a number of setbacks. Keeping them out of the eyes or ears of the public. Wooden Nickel Records, a small Chicago based company, can be blamed for poor management and minor promotion, in addition an almost total lack of attention came from both the press and radio programmers. The Grand Illusion their third and latest A&M release, is climbing the charts. The personnel of Styx consists of Dennis Deyoung (keyboards/vocals), who has broadened his keyboard spectrum on this album, James Young (guitar/vocal), Tommy Shaw (guitar/vocal), Chuck Panozzo (bass) and John Panozzo (drums).

Within The Grand Illusion, the Styx style is fully developed. A style made up of classically influenced keyboard themes, thundering rock and roll guitars, sensitive lyrics and strong lead and harmony vocals. The song writers of Styx reveal their own identity with Tommy Shaw's "Man In the Wilderness," James Young's rock and roller, "Miss America," and Dennis Deyoung's romantic "Come Sail Away."

Unlike many bands, Styx is equally as good live as they are on album. Styx is expected to play Atlanta December 1.
