We're Glad You're At Clayton State

Welcome From President Downs

Dear Student:

It is my pleasure to welcome you to campus for what promises to be one of the most exciting years in the history of Clayton State College. We will begin intercollegiate athletics, inaugurate the Spivey Recital Hall, and open our beautiful new Continuing Education Building. Whether you are a new or a returning student, I am delighted that you will be a part of this year's experience.

A new era will begin on November 12 when the first Clayton State College men's basketball team tips-off against Piedmont College. Among the visiting colleges that our lakers will host this year in the newly renovated gymnasium are Kennesaw State, North Georgia, Georgia Southwestern, Berry, Georgia College, and Southern Tech. Coach Mason Barfield has recruited a promising group of student athletes. I am confident that they will represent Clayton State proudly on the floor and in the classroom.

This January we will be privileged to open the Spivey Hall. This impressive facility is being built with funds donated by the late Walter and Emily

Spivey and other community donors. Spivey Hall will bring to our campus numerous musical performances from student recitals to world-class concerts.

In the fall of 1991, we will officially begin our third baccalaureate degree program--a Bachelor of Music. Spivey Recital Hall will be the centerpiece of this exciting new undertaking for the College. Currently enrolled students can begin taking courses now that will apply to the four-year degree.

Also this academic year, we will move into the new Continuing Education Building. This facility will be the home of our Community Services program and will host numerous conferences. The move to this new building will free up space in existing buildings so that we can better meet your needs in academics and student services.

Part of the construction plan around Spivey Hall and the Continuing Education Building involves relocating the tennis courts and athletic fields and constructing additional paved lots for our free parking. Unfortunately, this phase of construction will not be completed for Fall Quarter, so we ask your cooperation for the interim period during which parking on campus may present some problems.

New buildings, athletics, and, of course, parking are all important parts of college life, but these sorts of things exist only to support our real purpose--providing quality education for all of our students. The goal of the Clayton State College faculty is to help you become effective, efficient, and joyful lifelong learners.

A key to achieving this goal is our nationally recognized general education program. The faculty of the College believes that a sound general education background is the foundation upon which all associate and baccalaureate degrees should be built. The general education core curriculum at Clayton State College focuses on eight skills and perspectives (See President on Page 12)

Welcome From Dean Bolander

Greetings:

Welcome to Clayton State College.

Higher Education has always offered a fantastic number of opportunities for anyone willing to invest the time and energy to challenge them.

We hope you new students will find our many resources helpful in the pursuit of your goals and dreams; we trust you returning students have already discovered that the Dean of Students Office provides a number of student support services -- student activities, study skills, financial aid, counseling, veterans services, career development....even lost and found.

Most important, when you have any question that needs to be answered, we can get you to the right person to ask the right question. In fact, with our open-door policy, we're readily available to help you figure out what you want to know.

We believe this is a beautiful environment in which individuals can develop their capacities to the fullest -- and we want to help. Please feel good about asking us for that assistance.

Sincerely,

Robert C. Bolander
Dean of Students

Welcome From Vice President Osburn

Like many of you, I am new to Clayton State College and like many of you, I am having to learn my way around. Thus, when you feel overwhelmed at learning all of the rules and regulations pertaining to college life, I can certainly empathize.

My advice to you in this situation is to ask questions. In the short time that I have been here at Clayton State College, the friendliness and willingness of the faculty and staff to provide answers to questions has really impressed me. You will meet with the same success as you approach your advisors and instructors for assistance.

College can be one of the most exciting events of your life. You are going to be challenged to develop, not only your mental abilities but all aspects of your life. You will be allowed and encouraged to use aspects of your personality and talents that may surprise you.

Here at Clayton State you will sharpen and develop abilities in communication and critical thinking. These are skills that will be essential for you no matter which profession you choose.

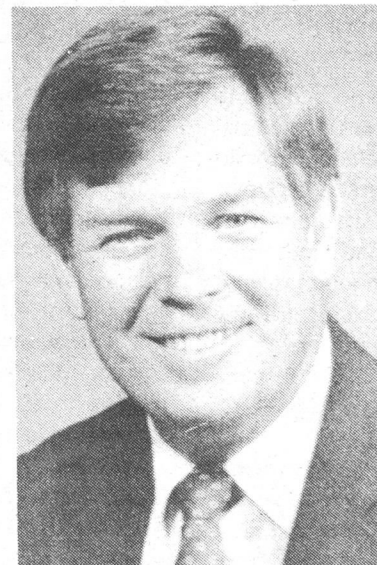

Take advantage of this opportunity! Never again in your life will you be surrounded by so many people who want you to succeed! And never again will you have so much help to see that you do.

College can be an overwhelming experience. However, you will be surprised how quickly the new and challenging can become a part of your routine. College can also be the beginning of an exciting and rewarding life. I challenge you to make your Clayton State College experience a real beginning!

Best of Luck,

Richard L. Osburn
Vice President for Academic Affairs

Teresa Chumley Takes First In PBL National Competition

A Clayton State College sophomore, Teresa Chumley, placed first in the nation in Phi Beta Lambda's Machine Transcription Competitive Event. The competition was held at the National Phi Beta Lambda Conference, July 6-9, 1990, in Washington, D.C.

To be able to compete in this competition, Teresa placed first in this event at the State and Regional competitive events. Therefore, she was Georgia's representative in the Machine Transcription Event.

This event involves transcribing business documents, letters, memos, reports, and tables, from a cassette tape. No specific instructions are given; the student is only told if the document to be dictated is a letter, memo, etc. Each contestant is to know how to set up the business document and must do so in mailable format (appropriate margins, no errors, etc.). Also, the student must provide the correct punctuation including paragraphs.

Though each student must provide his/her own transcriber, each student selects the type of equipment and software to use from a list provided by the school hosting the event. Teresa used WordPerfect 5.0 to transcribe her work.

Teresa is the first student from Clayton State College to place first in a Phi Beta Lambda national competition. CSC began its PBL Chapter in 1971 and has had approximately ten students place in the top ten--but Teresa is the first to place Number One!

Teresa is a graduate of Jonesboro High School. After working as a forklift driver, she decided she would never be able to "move up" in a company without a better education and marketable skills. This is when she decided to enter Clayton State College as an Office Technology certificate major. When nearing the end of her one-year certificate program, she decided to continue her education. She will complete her A.A.S. Degree with a major in Office Administration at the end of Fall Quarter, 1990.

CAMPUS NEWS

Guidelines For Newspaper Submissions Listed

The Bent Tree will contain six basic types of entries. They are listed as follows:

1. News - News stories are to be straight forward descriptions of upcoming or past events of relevance to the campus community. The reporter should refrain from making judgments or expressing opinion in a news story. Quoted opinions should be attributed as specifically as possible. News stories should be balanced in approach and accurate in detail. News stories are written only by staff members of The Bent Tree.

2. Features - Features are staff-produced articles, poems, essays, reviews, listings, etc., of a non-controversial nature. This would include magazine-type submissions. The basic purpose of a feature is to provide useful and/or interesting information to the audience of The Bent Tree.

3. Editorials - Editorials are staff-written expressions of opinion on a topic of current interest to the audience of The Bent Tree. Unsigned editorials are presumed to represent the opinion of The Bent Tree staff. Signed editorials represent the opinion of the writer and may or may not reflect staff consensus. Editorials should be clearly identified as such by either placement on the editorial page or specific notation. Any factual information contained in editorials should be accurate.

4. Letters - Letters to the editor should be published only if they address a matter of current and timely concern to The Bent Tree. Letters are subject to standard editing, but the editors should be careful that the editing does not alter the writer's basic message. Editors are not obligated to print all letters, but if letters are received on both sides of a controversial issue, letters on each side should be printed. If more than one letter is to be printed on either side of a controversial issue, the number of letters printed should be roughly in proportion to the number received on each side. Unsigned letters will not be accepted. Names may be withheld for valid reasons.

5. Freelance Submissions - Freelance submissions may be accepted from members of the College community on any subject, but a submission that is essentially a short statement of opinion on a timely subject should be submitted as a letter to the editor and not as a freelance article. The editor should accept freelance submissions only if they are well written, substantive, accurate in fact and of interest to the audience of The Bent Tree. The editor should take care to make sure that a variety of submissions are accepted if they are offered. This is so that one point of view does not dominate. Freelance submissions will not be accepted on a regular or continuing basis from a single organization or individual. Regular submissions are included under category six (columns). Freelance submissions should be clearly identified as not being written by the staff of The Bent Tree. Headings such as "Guest commentary," "Student viewpoint," etc., can be used by the editor in identifying such submissions. As an alternative, the by-line or a statement at the end of an article could be used to identify the author if not a member of the staff.

6. Columns - These are regularly appearing articles that fall in none of the above categories. Members of the College community who contribute a regular column to The Bent Tree become auxiliary members of the staff and agree to meet space, style, deadline and format requirements as the editor shall decide. Columnists shall, however, be given editorial freedom as to content. These columns should be clearly identified as such by placement, title, or appropriate notation.

Potential Parking Crush At CSC Will Necessitate Shuttle Buses This Fall

With a record number of students expected during the Fall quarter, the College anticipates a shortage of parking spaces, especially during the morning hours.

When all spaces on campus are full, vehicles will be directed to a shuttle parking lot on the upper P.E. fields (see map on right).

Between 8:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, free bus service will be provided between this shuttle parking lot and the Administration Building parking lot. Buses will leave every seven or eight minutes.

All students should plan to arrive early for classes, especially during the first several weeks of the quarter.

Curb parking will be allowed only in designated areas. During the Fall quarter, a number of curb areas will be marked where parking will be allowed. It will be a violation to park along undesigned curbs.

Holloway To Present Viola Recital on October 11

Ms. Doris Holloway will be featured in a viola recital on Thursday, October 11, 1990. The recital will take place in room G-132 and will begin at 12:05 p.m. She normally performs a solo recital for the Lyceum cultural program each year. She also accompanies many of the other performers on campus. She has served as an orchestra member for many Clayton State Music Theatre performances.

Ms. Holloway is a coordinator of Fine Arts at Clayton State College. She is also a member of the Atlanta String Quartet and serves as organist at Mary Branan United Methodist Church. She is a former member of the Atlanta and San Diego Symphony Orchestras and the Emory String Quartet. She received her B.F.A. from the University of Georgia and her M.M. from the University of Illinois.

Bachelor Of Music Degree Program To Start In September, 1991

Clayton State College will offer a Bachelor of Music degree program beginning with the Fall Quarter of 1991, according to Dr. Harry S. Downs, President of the College.

The new program will be in place during the first full year of operation of Spivey Hall, the College's $4.2 million recital hall built with donations from the Walter and Emilie Spivey Foundation and area citizens and corporations.

The Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia approved the program at its June 13 meeting, authorizing Clayton State to add its third baccalaureate degree program.

The College already awards Bachelor of Business Administration degrees through the School of Business and Bachelor of Nursing through the School of Health Sciences.

The new Bachelor of Music degree program will offer majors in performance, composition and instrument building, and will be the first four-year program offered through the School of Arts and Sciences. The College already offers both a two-year transfer degree program and a two-year "career program" in music.

Students will be able to enroll in freshman-level classes in the new degree program during the 1991-92 academic year and the first baccalaureate degrees will be awarded in June of 1995.

Since most college music programs in Georgia and the southeast are training students for music education careers, and possible careers in solo performance, Clayton State proposed a program for the training of musicians in areas where demands are increasing.

Emphasis will be placed on a community atmosphere in which students will study together and learn to appreciate each other's contributions to the musical process. A common core of music courses will focus on music in cultural, historical and technological contexts.

Also included in the new degree program will be small ensemble performances, designed to train students to develop their technical abilities as well as analytical and communicative skills necessary for making music with others.

Instructors in the program will take advantage of a renewed interest in the performance of early music, as well as recent developments in digital electronic musical technology. Students majoring in the performance area will experience an emphasis in chamber music, early music or keyboard.

The Walter and Emilie Spivey Foundation, created for the sole purpose of supporting the fine arts programs at Clayton State College, will provide funds for scholarships, an enhanced performing arts series, and a means to employ nationally and internationally known musicians to hold master classes each quarter for the College's music students.

Regents' Test Alert

- 1. What is the Regents' Test?
 The Regents' Test is a test used by the University System of Georgia to determine students competence in reading and writing. A certain level of competence in these areas as demonstrated on this test is required for graduation. Thus passing this test is as milestone toward graduation just as passing a course is a milestone toward graduation. The test takes less than three hours to complete and consists of an essay and a reading section.
- 2. Who needs to take the Regents' Test this quarter?
 All students who plan to graduate with a two- or four-year degree from Clayton State College must take and pass the Regents' Test at some point in their academic career. Students who have completed their English and Speech requirements are eligible to take this test.

 Students who have 45 or more quarter hours and have not taken and passed both parts of the Regents' should plan to take it this quarter. Students who are required to take it shall receive a card from the Counseling and Career Center notifying them of the dates and time for the tests. This card also acts as their ticket for admission to the test.

 Should a student desire or need to take this test, yet not receive an admission card by Monday, October 15, 1990, he or she should request a card from Dr. Don Carson in D-208.
- 3. When is the Regents' Test offered this quarter?

CSC's American Production And Inventory Control Society Elects Officers For '90/91 Academic Year

by Steve Rigdon
Student Freelance Submission

The American Production and Inventory Control Society (APICS) held its first election on June 5, 1990. There were three elected positions to be filled, which included president, secretary, and treasurer. Congratulations to Mary Coll for winning the presidential position; John Snow, who was elected as secretary; and Jeff Hughes, who will fill the position of treasurer. We feel these newly elected officers will do much to further APICS at Clayton State College during their 1990-1991 term.

In their first year, as well as APICS's first year at Clayton State, the new officers will see new growth and development of the APICS student chapter on the campus. APICS is an organization which promotes education concerning efficiency in manufacturing, as well as the service industry. APICS has plans for on-campus workshops during the year to increase knowledge for attaining certification in APICS of individual members.

There are plans to visit several manufacturing and service industries. A highlight of these tours will be companies such as Vernay Manufacturing in Griffin and others, which employ the Deming philosophy was first introduced in Japan after World War II to bring Japan to its high level of quality and productivity, which it enjoys today. During these tours, students will see the use of statistical process control (SPC) in the work place. SPC works as a tool to attain high quality standards for such companies.

APICS will also visit facilities, which use only basic production principles and others that may have state-of-the-art computerized production methods. One such high-tech facility is TDK in Peachtree City. TDK is a production of video tapes.

On May 15, 1990 APICS members toured the Delta facility in Atlanta. The group was given a complete tour, which included necessary work performed in maintenance and rebuilding of L-1011 aircraft. Members visited the tire shop, wing repair, and jet engine repair shops for this aircraft. APICS members not only left with a knowledge of the work and insights concerning this work, but a feeling of the high priority for safety in Delta's organization.

These tours help students see the business world he or she will be a part of after graduation. A student will see why importance is placed on efficiency and quality in their field of study. APICS attempts to cover each field, whether in accounting, technical, or human resources.

All students are welcome and encouraged to benefit from the tours. If you would like information in APICS or on the plant tours, please contact Professor Chris Haberland, APICS faculty advisor, in office C-11-F.

Students Should Check On Their Measles Immunization Status

College students are among the groups of young adults identified by the Center for Disease Control as susceptible for contracting measles. Outbreaks of measles continue to occur on college campuses - including a recent outbreak at the University of Georgia, with 41 confirmed cases during the spring term 1990.

Health officials are concerned that the potential for epidemic spread of measles in Georgia is very real. In recognition of this potential, Clayton State College strongly urges all students born after January 1, 1957, to be fully immunized against measles.

If you have doubts about your present immunization status, please contact your personal physician.

ENTERTAINMENT

Pretty Woman Opens Fall Schedule At Clayton State Cinema*Box-Office Blockbuster Is First Of Six Fall Films Coming To Campus

The General Entertainment Committee's film schedule opens with Pretty Woman on Friday, September 28. Pretty Woman will be shown four times on that date. The first screening will take place at 1:15 p.m., with three additional screenings at 6:30, 8:35, and 10:40 p.m. All screenings will be in Room G-132. This will be the first of six feature films this quarter.

As of September 6, Pretty Woman had earned $169.2 million at the box office, making it the biggest film of the year. As of this writing, the film was still showing at first-run theaters in the area.

The 119-minute, R-rated feature was one of the surprise hits of the current year. Opening in the spring, the film continued to attract large audiences throughout the summer.

Julia Roberts, in the title role, plays a Hollywood hooker, who gets picked up by a handsome Wall Street mogul, played by Richard Gere. David Ansen, in Newsweek, wrote, "Originality is not Pretty Woman's selling point. It is a combination of Cinderella, Pygmalion, The Owl and the Pussycat, and innumerable hooker-with-a-heart-of-gold comedies."

Ms. Roberts, a twenty-two year-old from Smyrna, Georgia, has made quite a splash in the last few years. Her first major role was in Mystic Pizza, in 1988. She fit in well with the female ensemble in Steel Magnolias, playing Sally Fields daughter. At the current time, she can also be seen in Flatliners, playing a medical student obsessed with death. Her next feature will be Sleeping with the Enemy, in which she will portray an abused wife.

Her costar, Richard Gere, is, according to David Ansen, "...his least narcissistic performance because for a change, he gets to turn over the sex-object role to his costar."

In addition to the feature, the General Entertainment Committee will also be featuring a kiddie film with this and all other R and PG-13-rated films. The kiddie film on September 28 will be Disney's The Journey of Natty Gann. The kiddie film will be shown in Room G-127 at 6:30 and 8:35 p.m. Parents are invited to enjoy the kiddie film with their children, particularly if they feel that they are too young to be left alone.

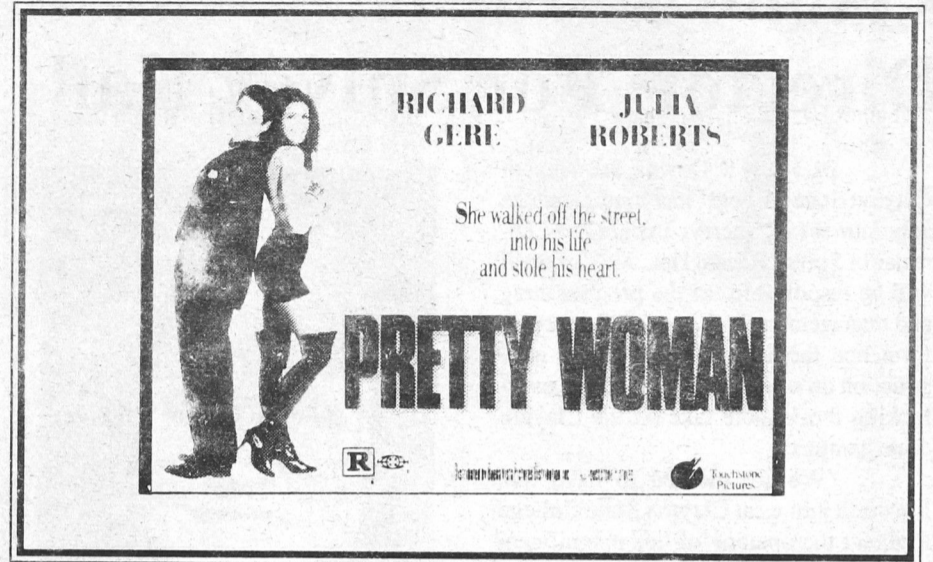

General Entertainment's feature films are open to all members of the campus community. In addition, students, faculty, and staff are allowed to bring guests, at no cost, as well. G-132 has 225 theater-style seats; however, the largest crowds are usually at the 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. screenings.

Dick Tracy Hits The CSC Screen*$100 Million+ Summer Smash Stars Beatty, Madonna And A Host of Other Big Names

Dick Tracy, another $100 million plus winner at the summer box office, will be the feature film on Friday, October 12. This PG-rated film will be a kiddie-adult combination and will be screened at 1:15, 6:30, 8:30, and 10:30 p.m. in Room G-132.

In addition to the obvious stars, Warren Beatty and Madonna, Dick Tracy features a number of Hollywood legends frequently buried under heavy makeup. Al Pacino co-stars as crime boss, Big Boy Caprice and Dick Van Dyke portrays a corrupt district attorney. According to David Ansen, of Newsweek, "Dustin Hoffman contributes a priceless funny cameo as the deathly white Mumbles, an invaluable informant incapable of uttering a distinguishable word. Pacino, never known for comedy and almost unrecognizable in his makeup, turns Big Boy into a memorably funny slimeball, issuing commands in guttural spurts, his words trying to keep pace with his twisted, overheated thoughts."

The performer who is the most fun to watch is newcomer Charlie Korsmo, a youngster who does a great job at por-

Gibson And Hawn Bring Romance and Excitement To G-132

There are two reasons to see Bird on a Wire --Mel Gibson and Goldie Hawn. They light up the screen in this action-packed romantic comedy from John Badham, director of Stakeout.

This second feature of the academic year will take place on Friday, October 5. Screenings will be at 1:15, 6:30, 8:30, and 10:30 p.m. All four of the screenings will take place in Room G-132.

Mel Gibson plays a former government witness hiding from the mob, whose romance with old flame Goldie Hawn is reignited when she accidentally meets him. She inadvertently exposes his true identity and plunges them into a cross-country run for their lives.

Jim Whaley, host of the nationally syndicated PBS television program Cinema Showcase, says that Bird on a Wire is "...a roller coaster of a movie with hot action and wild humor! This bird soars!"

Bird on a Wire was ranked eighth in the top ten box office movies for the summer, having earned $70 million as of September 4.

The kiddie film for this R-rated feature will be Disney's semi-classic comedy The Shaggy D.A. All Dean Jones fans should try not to miss this one. The Shaggy D.A. will be shown at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. in Room G-127.

traying a cute orphan kid tagging after Dick Tracy. Sure, the kid is precocious, but he does add to the film.

Academy Award-winner Warren Beatty produced, directed, and starred in this multi-million dollar blockbuster based on Chester Gould's classic American comic strip. He bought the rights to the film in 1985 and envisioned it as a stylized comic-strip movie that would re-create his childhood first impressions of the comic strip.

Jamaican National Team Star Signed To Play For Lakers

A star of Jamaica's National Senior Basketball Team has signed a scholarship to play at Clayton State College, according to Mason Barfield, athletic director and head men's basketball coach.

Paul M. Reid, a 24-year old from The Parish of Saint Andrews, Jamaica, gives Coach Barfield eight players for the College's first basketball team, scheduled to open play on November 12 against Piedmont College.

Older than the traditional freshman, Reid could easily become the team leader. "The thing that impressed me most was his hunger to get a college education," Barfield said. "Where a lot of people take education for granted, he will put an extra effort into it, both on the court and in the classroom."

Reid graduated from Kingston College High School in Kingston, Jamaica in June, 1984. After high school, he spend two years as an assistant geologist in the Geological Survey Department and later served as a technical assistant to hydrologists for Jamaica's Underground Water Authority. He also worked on special projects sponsored by the Canadian International Development Agency and the United Nations International Organization.

A 6-foot-6 forward, Reid played basketball in high school and on Jamaica's Juvenile Team (under 19 years of age) before joining the National Senior Team. Playing in an 8-team "super league" last year, Reid averaged 25 points, 10 rebounds, 4 assists, 3 steals and 2 blocked shots, numbers that paralleled his senior year in high school.

"His association with the Jamaican basketball team has allowed him to travel and have an opportunity to make connections in other countries," Coach Barfield said. "Although we haven't seen (See Reid on page 12)

Lakers Squad Adds Swingman And Guard/Forward

Two more players have signed grants-in-aid to play on Clayton State College's first basketball team, according to Mason Barfield, athletic director and head men's basketball coach.

Recent signees, bringing the team's total to ten, were Thomas Knox, a 6-4, 190-pound guard/forward from Palmetto High School; and, Isang Nkanang, a 6-4, 176-pound swingman from North Fulton High School.

Knox, who has been enrolled at Clayton State since the Spring Quarter, transferred from Snead State Junior College in Boaz, Alabama. The son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Knox of Fairburn, he is a 1988 graduate of Palmetto High School and will enter Clayton State's program as a collegiate sophomore.

Knox earned three varsity basketball letters at Palmetto, averaging 18 points and six rebounds from his small forward position as a senior. He was named to the All-Region basketball team, served as vice-president of his senior class and was involved in a number of clubs and activities.

Nkanang, a recent graduate of North Fulton High School, was a three-year basketball letterman. Last year, he averaged 12 points, seven rebounds and two blocked shots, leading to the "most improved" player award at the end of the season. He was named "player of the week" by a local radio station during the season. The son of Mrs. Lavern Nkanang Taylor, Nkanang was a Battalion Adjutant for the Army ROTC unit at North Fulton High.

Ozment Named As Lakers Assistant Basketball Coach

Coached N. Ga. High School Team Into 1990 State AA Tournament

A successful high school basketball coach has been named assistant coach at Clayton State College, according to Mason Barfield, Athletic Director and head men's basketball coach. Jeff Ozment, who led his Gilmer County High School team into the state tournament last year, will begin his new duties at Clayton State on September 1. Two weeks later, he and Coach Barfield will begin preseason drills for the Lakers' inaugural basketball season.

"We are pleased to have some of Jeff's abilities and background to join us at Clayton State," Coach Barfield said. "He has demonstrated, both during his playing days at Berry College and his coaching there and in high school, that he has the personality to communicate with young people.

"We were looking for someone who had their priorities straight and would fit into our program here," Barfield continued, "and Jeff is that person...he knows that there's more to it than just basketball."

After making all-area basketball and baseball teams at Cave Springs High School, Ozment was awarded a full athletic scholarship to attend Berry College in Rome. He made good the opportunity by becoming a four-year letterman with the Vikings, and served as team captain during his senior year.

Ozment began his coaching career as a junior varsity coach at Berry College in 1985. After two seasons there, he became head coach at Glennville High School in south Georgia, coaching both junior varsity and varsity teams. A year later, he began a two-year stint at Gilmer High in Ellijay, and directed his 1989-90 team to a 17-9 record and to the Region 8AA North Championship. Ranked 9th in Georgia, his team lost to top-ranked East Rome in the state tournament.

Gilmer is expected to be even better this year. "With so many returners back, all of whom are good kids, it made this a really rough decision," Ozment said of taking the Clayton State position. "But, I've always wanted to coach on the college level, and I had to jump when the opportunity came."

Ozment's wife, employed as a resource assistant in the Office of Community Services at Clayton State, also was a star basketball player at Berry College. Sandra, who graduated from Johnson High School in Gainesville and Truett-McConnell College in Cleveland, earned a bachelor's degree in business administration from Berry. In 1986, she was named to the first team NAIA All-American Basketball team and the Kodak All-American Basketball team. In addition, she was honored by the Atlanta Tip-Off Club as Georgia's NAIA Player of the Year.

that we call "outcomes." These skills are communication and critical thinking, and the perspectives are aesthetic, contemporary, historical, mathematical, scientific, and value. You will be hearing much more about these outcomes in your classes this fall.

This letter can touch on only a few of the many activities, programs, and developments that you will be part of this year. Please avail yourself of the opportunities to get involved in college life. Watch the bulletin boards, read The Bent Tree, listen for announcements in class, attend some of the excellent Lyceum programs, and take as full advantage as you can of the many activities on our campus. I wish you many rewarding and challenging experiences during your time at Clayton State College.

Cordially,

Harry S. Downs
President

that much of him, a person who has his kind of commitment is a pretty good gamble."

Reid became interested in Clayton State College's baccalaureate degree program in management while in the States on a basketball trip. In a letter to College President, Dr. Harry S. Downs, last May, Reid said he was interested in the College because of its record of 100 percent job placement of graduates.

"This is very impressive in conjunction with my specific objective of obtaining education and training for a broad business background," he wrote. "It will enable me to become an entrepreneur with professional dealings, both locally and internationally, in areas of accounting, computer information systems, general business and management."

Clayton State's entry into athletics with its first basketball team also interested Reid. "Apart from being educationally interested in Clayton State, I would very much like to be able to participate on the ground floor of your new basketball team," he said.

Earlier signees by Coach Barfield include Adrian Stevens, a 6-foot guard, 5-11 guard Matt Bowen of Calhoun High, 6-1 guard/forward Carlos Head of Morrow Senior High, 6-7 forward/center Vince Askin of Jackson High, and 6-8 center Steve Wilson of Duluth High, 6-9 center Jay Booth of Madison County High, and 6-3 swingman Pat Lee of North Clayton Senior High.
