

INDEX

Γ	A	E	K	P
-
	210.
-
		F
+
-
-					U
-
+				4
4	В		L
+	D				V
-					V
-
-
				6.	W
					W
				Q
		G
				R
-
1
-
-			M
+			M
-
+
-
-	3-1
-
				S
				9
-	C	Н
	C	H
	C	H
	C	H
	C	H
	C	H
	C	H
	C	H
	C	H
	C	H
	C	H
	C	H
	C	H
	C	H	Mc
	C	H	Mc
		H	Mc
		H	Mc
	C	H	Mc
	C	H	Mc
	C	H	Mc
			Mc		X Y Z
		H	Mc
	C Mc
			N
	D
	D		N
	D		N
	D		N
	D		N
	D		N		XYZ
	D		N		XYZ
	D		N		XYZ
	D		N		XYZ
	D		N S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S	T	XYZ
	D		N		XYZ
	D		N S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S		XYZ
	D		N S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S		XYZ
	D		N S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S		XYZ
	D		N S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S		XYZ
	D		N S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S		XYZ
	D		N S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S		XYZ
	D		N O		XYZ
	D		N S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S S	T	XYZ

THE COLLEGE

CJC Hosts First Teacher Recruiting Job Fair

Living Editor

Clayton Junior College was the site Thursday of the first job fair held in Georgia to recruit teachers for projected job vacancies next fall. Approximately 300 to 400 teachers traveled from as far as California and Iowa to interview with 22 north Georgia county school system representatives, said Dr. Julia Elfman, the State Education Department's teacher recruiter. "We have from 2,500 to 3,500 vacancies we need to fill before this fall in all areas, but especially in speech and language pathology, math and science," she Teachers are particularly scarce in south Georgia counties, she said, where even English, P.E. and social studies positions are open. The openings range in all grades from kindergarten through 12th grade.

Dr. Elfman said she contacted 187 school districts and all state schools in addition to using radio announcements and wire service articles about the teacher shortage to attract teachers to the fair.

"I sent information to teacher placement services at 500 universities," she said and added the State Labor Department's Job Service was also used to match teachers with openings.

Those recruiters looking to fill math vacancies had the hardest time, she One recruiter from West Point had waited for a math teacher for three hours with no luck, he said. "Industry is killing us," he added.

Al Gay, Lamar County recruiter, said he was looking for two math teachers and had found one to interview by 12:30, three and a half hours after the fair.

Five teachers from Iowa came to the fair by van, while one Ohio teacher had expected to be offered a contract at the fair instead of references and the promise she would be considered for openings, Dr. Elfman said. The second part of the fair will be held today in Douglas County for school districts in south Georgia. A second job fair will be held at Clayton Junior Aug. 7 and in Douglas Aug. 8 to fill remaining vacancies, Dr. Elg Elfman said. Teachers were waiting for the doors to open Thursday morning, she said and added, "It has been quite successful for the first one." Also present at the fair was Janet Gaskins with the College Park Job Service office and Bill Lyons with the State Labor Department's Job Service which helps match applicants in or outside Georgia with job openings in the state. The

The service was computerized in January and includes teacher openings, he said. The county school superintendent can request the opening be put on microfiche and applicants are matched to the opening. The applicant must, however, contact the Job Service in order to find out where the opening is and he is then referred to the prospective employer for an interview, Lyons said "It has been very successful. We have 10 applicants here from south Atlanta interviewing for teacher positions." he noted. As a pilot project, the Job Labor Department has instituted a job search and relocation assistance project in which the applicant's expenses to travel for arinterview are paid by the Department, he said. Expenses also include mote-

A research project, the job search saves taxpayer's money by helping the applicant find a job as quickly as possible instead of remaining on unemployment for the maximum 26 weeks, he said.

"We think it will work. After all, it gets the applicant working which is what he should be doing," Lyons noted.

The microfiche lists of jobs are sent to 3,400 Job Service offices in the United States and are updated weekly. Number of positions listed has grown from half a page of microfiche to two and half pages and each page can hold 2,400

The service will be especially helpful in alleviating regional unemployment

Twenty-two Clayton 12. Charley Griswell, program were Dr. Harry S. a nine-month CETA Office Jean Voyles, Professor of Shanchez, Director of the Practice Program at Vocation and Career Office of Community

Clayton Junior College. were conducted at the munication" for the '80's. Z College on Thursday, June Also participating in the Assistant.

Countians have received Chairman of Clayton County Downs, President of the certificates after completing Commissioners, and Dr. College; Ricardo D. Graduation exercises for State University, spoke on Instructor for the CETA members of the program "challenge" and "com-

Development at Georgia Services; Dan Hardage, Program; and Sharon LeQuire, Teaching

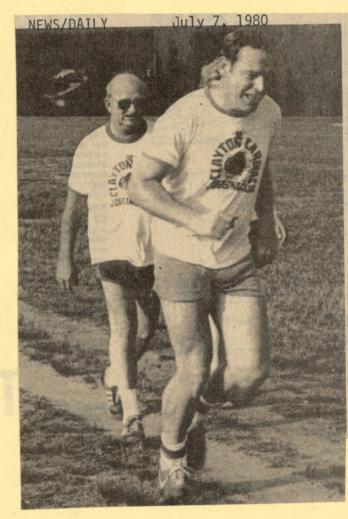

Todd Zellner (L), the 13 year old son of Wanda and Derward Zellner of Morrow and Darryl Johnson, a 13 year old from Morrow who is the 불 son of Brenda and Jerry Johnson of Morrow both take some time out to enjoy the fishing at Clayton Junior College. Clayton Junior College has a variety of activities for the individual in Clayton County to enjoy. (Staff Photo By Ray James)

Two CJC Scholarships

"T" Ellis (right), immediate past president of the Forest Park Rotary Club, presents an $858 check for two scholarships to Jim Wood, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Clayton Junior College Foundation. An annual contribution, Forest Park Rotarians have provided over $3,000 for student scholarships presented by the Foundation during the past five years.

Joggers

Clayton Cardiac Joggers, a group of 15 to 20 cardiac and cardiac-prone participants meet twice monthly at Clayton Junior College's dirt track. Participants vary in age from their late 20's to late 60's, and each individual walks or walk-jogs according to his individually determined exercise program. The participants have been monitored while exercising at Clayton General Hospital and instructed in proper exercise habits. The group meets to reinforce proper exercise habits and share comradarie. Physical Therapists, Scot Irwin and Sue Ellen Story from Clayton General, attend to participate and reinforce proper exercise habits. Left to right are Greg Bowen and Scott Irwin.

Judge Bill Ison (right), vice president of the Kiwanis Club of Forest Park, presents a scholarship check to Ernest L. Cheaves, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Clayton Junior College Foundation, Inc. Standing in for club president Charlie Thompson, Judge Ison presented the $460 check to fund one of the 33 student scholarships approved by the Foundation this year.

C.C. endorses

4-year college

The Board of Directors of the Henry County Chamber of Commerce are on record as backing Clayton Junior College as a four-year institution.

Currently, Clayton ill largest enrollment of any two-year institution in the University System of
 Of Z Georgia.

Clayton Junior College u opened 12 years ago in Morrow and serves counties in the South Metro

Airport Rotary Honors Chamber's Mitchell

A new trust fund, established to provide financial assistance for deserving students to attend Clayton Junior College, has been approved, according to Dr. Harry S. Downs, President of the two-year institu-

The Mitchell C. Bishop Scholarship Fund, established through a $1,000 contribution made by the Board of Directors of the Atlanta Airport Rotary Club, Inc., honors one of the club's most distinguished members. Mr. Bishop is a Past President and Paul Harris Fellow with the Airport

Financial assistance to be provided by the trust fund will be available to deserving students in the form of scholarships, grants, awards, loans, and/or other appropriate stipends as determined by the College. Further contributions may be made to the fund, but only the interest income may be used to support the Scholarship Fund.

Members of the Atlanta Airport Rotary Club entered into the trust agreement with the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia on behalf of Clayton Junior College. Approval of the agreement was made at the April meeting of the Board of Regents and announced at a recent meeting of the Rotary Club. "Clayton Junior College is indeed fortunate to be the benefactor of the generous and thoughtful acts of the Atlanta Airport Rotary Club," Dr. Downs said. "It is a great pleasure for me to announce the establishment of this trust fund. We are extremely proud to have the name of Mitchell C. Bishop formally associated with Clayton Junior College, and I pray that the inspiration of this great and wonderful man will permeate all of us and our suc-

The Rotary Club, inspired by Mr.

TRUST FUND APPROVED -- Mitchell C. Bishop (center), gives his smiling approval of a new trust fund established at Clayton Junior College. At left is Dr. Kirk L. Smick, President of the Atlanta Airport Rotary Club which sponsored the Mitchell C. Bishop Scholarship Fund. Dr. Harry S. Downs (right), President of Clayton Junior College, announced the approval of the establishment of the trust fund.

Bishop, has sponsored an annual scholarship program at Clayton Junior College since 1974. The oldest continuing scholarship program at the College, the Club's annual $600 contribution has been matched each year by Mr. Bishop. Including this year's recipients, 45 students have received a bachelors degree from Oglethorpe University and entered post graduate programs at the University of Georgia and at Mercer University. He received a Certificate in Traffic Engineering from the University of Tennessee

Mr. Bishop served as principal at

Russell High School in south Fulton County and as an instructor at Georgia Military Academy before being named Assistant Chief of Construction for Fulton County. Later, he served as director of the Division of Traffic and Safety for the State Highway Department and currently is a retired vice president and co-owner of Tri-State Inc.

A former director on the board of South Fulton Hospital and Fidelity Federal Savings and Loan Association, Mr. Bishop is a past foreman of the Fulton County Grand Jury and past president of the South Fulton Chamber of Commerce. He was a charter member of the Capital City Board and served from January, 1966, until December, 1972, and is a former member of the West End Golf Club, the Atlanta Athletic Club, the Capitol City Club, and the Lakeside Country Club.

Mr. Bishop is a Trustee Emeritus at Oglethorpe University and Elder Emeritus with the College Park Presbyterian Church.

Married in 1926, Mr. Bishop and his wife Phoebe have two children: Mitchell C. Bishop Jr., who is a partner in B&E Pipeline Company; and Ann Bishop Heck, a ninth grade counselor in Middletown, Scholarships Provided

"T" Ellis (r), immediate past president of the Forest Park Rotary Club, presents an $858 check for two scholarships to Jim Wood, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Clayton Junior College Foundation. Forest Park Rotarians have provided over $3,000 in annual contributions for student scholarships presented by the foundation during the past five years.

Small Business Advisory Council Discusses Possible SCORE Chapter

The Chamber's Small Business Advisory Council held a luncheon recently to familiarize members with the purpose of the Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE). Discussing the posibility of a Clayton County SCORE chapter are, standing from left, Lee Woodward, Director of the Small Business Development Center ar CJC; Mike Rose, Atlanta SCORE representative; Burton Scott, Small Business Administration Management Services Director; Jan Jankovsky, Chamber Economic Development Director; seated from left, Theo Hall, member of the Atlanta SCORE chapter; and John Feathers, Chairman of the Chamber's Small Business Advisory Council. SCORE is an organization of over 8,000 retired business executives - both men and women - who volunteer their services to help small business owners solve problems.

GROWTH ACCENTS CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE'S PROGRESS

The library and learning resource building opened at Clayton Junior College in the fall of 1979.

wooded campus in Morrow is Clayton Junior College, one of the most successful two-year institutions of the University System of Georgia. During its first ten years, the student enrollment more than tripled under the guidance of Dr. Harry Downs, President of the college from the beginning.

When Clayton Junior opened in the fall of 1969 a total of 942 students attended classes. As the college began its second decade, 2,990 were enrolled and in addition, over 2,000 students are involved in noncredit courses offered by the Office of Community Services. Even with these numbers, the goal there is to remain a personal institution of no more than 6,000.

The college offers the first two years in the general fields of study similar to all units of the State University System. Credits earned can be operated junior college, senior college or university without loss of credits. Graduates of Clayton Junior College in both the collegetransfer and career program receive the Associate of Arts

Clayton Junior College offers a number of career programs for those who are looking for specific training for a particular job. These studies combine general education courses with specific professional and paraprofessional training. Although the degree is designed with the student who is going directly to employment after completion of two years, the majority of his or her credits will transfer to a senior institution of the University System. Some of the career enroll in credit programs at begin the following day. Clayton Junior College for Classes will continue until the first time during the the last of final examina-Spring Quarter have until tions are given on June 10. Friday, March 6, to file all applications and credentials For complete information sions and Records.

Continued on page 7

with the Office of Admis- about registering for credit programs, phone the Office Registration for spring of Admissions and Records quarter classes is set for at 961-3500

Because of the natural beauty of surroundings, Clayton Junior College takes on restful, rural atmosphere. The modern campus is molded around three lakes on a beautifully landscaped tract.

VOCATIONAL-TECHNICAL DIVISION APPROVED AT C.J.C.

to education in Clayton County, a Vocational-Technical Division at Clayton Junior College, was recently approved by the Board of Regents of the University System on Georgia. "The establishment of vocationaltechnical programs at Clayton Junior College is a logical and needed extension of our current offering," Dr. Harry Downs, President of the twoyear institution, announced. 'There is substantial evidence indicating the need for such extremely pleased that the Board of Regents and the State Board of Education Belected us to help meet the growing needs of citizens in this area.

The Board also authorized the college to begin searching For a division chairman. "We hope to have a chairman employed by September 1," Dr. Downs said. "During the next year, the chairman will be planning programs and identifying needed personnel for the division. We will _consider transferring some wexisting programs into Vocational-education, utilizing existing facilities."

High school students currently enrolled in vocational-technical programs will have an opportunity to continue their training. An estimated 40 percent of students in area high schools are enrolled in some type of vocational program designed to help them become more proficient and highly-skilled workers.

Another feature of the new division should help attract new industry to the community. Training programs will be provided for applicants of new industries to help them qualify for newlycreated positions.

According to a 1979 master plan published by the State Department of Educastion and the Office of Vocational Education, there is a need to expand post-secondary vocational-technical education programs in the metropolitan Atlanta area. The conclusion was based on an analysis of both population and labor demand trends.

Projections contained in the master plan indicated that occupations requiring vo-tech training are expected to grow more rapidly than those requiring traditional college degrees. Of the 35 occupations predcicted by the Department of Labor to be the fastest growing between 1980 and 1990, about 75 percent require vocational-technical training.

A survey conducted by the college during the Fall Quarter last year emphasized the need for vocational programs in the south Atlanta area. Almost 600 of the 3,000

A long sought after addition students who enrolled in credit programs took career-

Dr. Harry Downs C.J.C. President

C.J.C.

Continued from page 1

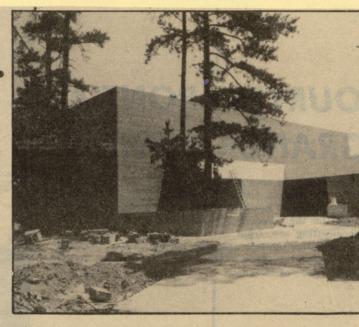

Junior College in the forefront

as one of the leading community colleges in Georgia.

percent of the students indicated an interest in learning specific skills.

Vo-tech educational programs will be integrated into the present structure and programming of the college. Over 80 percent of the students who are currently enrolled in career offerings of the college are in health, business and secretarial programs. These occupational areas were among those in which an increased labor demand is projected within the next ten years. This should focus importance of Clayton Junior College to the south metro

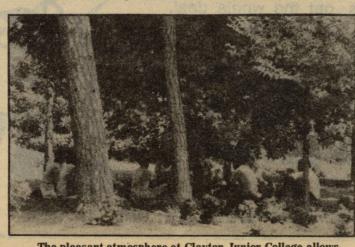

Construction is almost completed on the C.J.C. multi-use physical education building due to open in September, 1980.

The student body at Clayton Junior College continues to grow, having tripled during its first decade.

The pleasant atmosphere at Clayton Junior College allows occasional classes outdoors, under the trees on a warm

Summer quarter August 13, 1980 to end at Clayton

Summer Quarter credit Quarter a month away classes will end and final examinations will begin at Clayton Junior College next week.

late June will meet for December. Students who the last time on Tuesday, plan to enroll in college August 19, and finals will examinations will be and return all applicacompleted by Tuesday, tions and credentials with August 26, giving stu- the Office of Admissions dents who plan to re- and Records by Septemenroll during the Fall ber 2.

from classwork. Fall Quarter classes will begin with registration on September 22 and Classes, which began in will continue into early credit courses for the begin the next day. All first time must complete scholarships to outstanding area students, members of the Board of Trustees of the Foundation, Inc., are 81 year.

Scholarship Foundation Has Record Budget Coming Year

Now in their sixth year of directing the foundation's programs, board members began July 1.

Having chartered in years. record level.

scholarships, an expenditure of over $28,000. Also tuition and fees for two (phone 961-3510) or by years of study at Clayton visiting the Office of the Junior College. The board Dean of Students. funded 18 scholarships that graduates, and for the second year of 31 scholarships INCLUDED in the new awarded to 1979 high school budget are funds for 64 graduates. Scholarships are for the first two years of college studies, beginning provided is the continuation either during the summer or fall quarters this year.

> INCLUDED among the 33 new awards will be 10 Scholarships," 19 "Foundation Merit Scholarships," and four STAR Student awards. Full-tuition scholarships were available automatically when STAR Student winners were named from competition in dation also recognize the program of providing students for superior designated to reward stuacademic accomplishments, dents who have displayed and a $500 program to honor superior ability and talent outstanding members of the in specific fields of study. Clayton Junior College college's faculty and staff. Applications for these Foundation scholarships, awards may be obtained by operating with another first awarded at the start of contacting the college's record budget for the 1980- the 197576 year, cover all Director of Financial Aid

"Merit Scholarships" are approved a budget of first year, 25 the next year, designed to recognize and $28,456 for the year, which 27 the third year, and 31 reward outstanding area during each of the past two students for their record of academic achievement in September of 1974, the The new program in-high school work. Two-year foundation's budget has cludes funds for the first awards are provided for the grown steadily from $1,700 year of 33 new scholarships highest ranking graduates of that first year to this year's designated for 1980 area area high schools who elect to attend Clayton Junior College, providing they are in the top five percent of their graduating class. Students interested in competing for these awards should contact their high school principals or counselors for complete information.

Participating high schools 'Foundation Talent in the 1980-81 program include Forest Park, Jonesboro, Morrow, North Clayton and Riverdale from Clayton County.

TRUSTEES of the founthe four counties of Clayton, importance of a quality Henry, Fayette and Fulton. faculty and staff to provide mosphere for students. Thus, awards have been provided to honor all faculty and staff members who complete five or ten years of service at the college.

Members of the Board of Trustees are: Harmon M. Born of Rex, Chairman; G. Robert Oliver of Morrow, Vice-Chairman; Charles S. Conklin of Jonesboro, SecretaryTreasurer; Harry S. Downs of Morrow, Assistant Treasurer; Guy L. Benefield of Morrow; S. Truett Cathy of Hampton; Ernest L. Cheaves of Forest Park; Thomas B. Clonts of Jonesboro; Ernest A. Dunbar Jr., M.D., of Morrow; W. Cameron Mitchell of Hampton; Hill R. Redwine of Fayetteville; Claude H. Whaley of Jonesboro; and James M. Wood Jr. of Forest Park.

Press Run This Saturday

Press Run May 30 to benefit the American Cancer Society at Clayton Featured in this year's Press Run will be a 5,000-meter race, a 10,000meter race and a one mile novice run. Men and women will be able to enter with classifications provided for those in the races according to their ages, and those 50 and older. Awards will be Jonesboro. given to the first three finishers in Laurin Tidwell, 27, an Atlanta or $5 on the day of the race. Late the three mile event. He outran 178 registration will begin at 7:30 a.m. other participants in the race. that morning for the races to begin at Proceeds from the May 30 race will 8 a.m. Application forms are benefit the Clayton County chapter of available at the News-Daily office, or the American Cancer Society.

The News-Daily will hold its annual under 17, those 18 to 30, those 30 to 50 Clayton Cancer Society, both in runner, was the winner of last year's Registration for the race will cost $4, distance event with a time of 16:48 for

'Score' Chapter Considered

The possibilities of organizing a Clayton County chapter of the Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE) was discussed during a meeting at Clayton Junior College recently. Discussing the organization were, from left: standing - Lee Woodward, director of CJC's Small Business Development Center; Mike Rose, Atlanta SCORE representative; Burton Scott, Small Business Administration management services director; and Jan Jankovsky, Clayton County

Chamber of Commerce economic development director; seated - Theo Hall, a member of the Atlanta SCORE chapter; and John Feathers, chairman of CJC's Division of Business and the chamber's Small Business Advisory Council. SCORE is an organization of retired business executives who volunteer their services to help small business owners solve

The possibilities of organizing a Clayton County chapter of the Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE) was discussed during a meeting at Clayton Junior College recently. Discussing the organization were, from left: standing - Lee Woodward, Director of CJC's Small Business Development Center; Mike Rose, Atlanta SCORE representative; Burton Scott, Small Business Administration Management Services Director; and Jan

Jankovsky, Chamber Economic Development Director; seated - Theo Hall, a member of the Atlanta SCORE chapter; and John Feathers, Chairman of CJC's Division of Business and the Chamber's Small Business Advisory Countil. SCORE is an organization of retired business executives who volunteer their services to help small business owners solve problems.

Reagan may have a slight edge in the national polls, but in the straw poll conducted by the Clayton Junior College Political Union, President Carter seems to have the lead.

According to Kerry Doyal, publicity chairman of the C.P.U., Carter received 276 votes to Reagan's 224 votes in the straw poll.

Independent candidate John Anderson was third with 32 votes while Libertarian Ed Clark fell into last place with 21 votes to his credit. Robert Bolander, Dean of Students at the college pointed out that the race produced no clear majority for Carter, but the senatorial race turned out quite differently. Bolander also serves as chairman of the Democratic party of Clayton County.

Mack Mattingly defeated Senator Herman Talmadge almost two to one in the straw poll. Mattingly, the Republican candidate, received 380 votes while Talmadge, the Democratic incumbent, received 167.

The Republicans dominated again in the Congressional race. Newt Gingrich took 370 votes to Dock Davis' Doyal said that the straw poll was open to the entire college student body, but only 555 ballots were cast. The college has been conducting straw polls since 1974, but according to Bolander, very few of the polls have been indicative of the results of polls and elections on a national or state

"Only one poll has been very accurate in terms of prediction. That was the 1976 presidential election. We recorded a three to two ratio for Carter," said Bolander.

He did say that the college held a preference primary in March which matched the preference polls conducted nationally. The college poll correctly recorded the percentage points between Carter and Reagan and between the Republican and Democratic parties.

Although Bolander said he was not sure of the significance of the C.P.U. poll in view of the previous inaccuracies, he did add that he was extremely concerned about the voter turnout for the straw poll.

"Over 1500 students voted in the preference primary in March, but only 600 voted this time. They were spirited before, but this time, it seemed like the enthusiasm just was not there. I hope this won't be reflected in the national voter turnout on Tuesday.'

CJC Announces Enrollment Cutoff

enroll in credit pro- June 10. grams at Clayton For complete infor-Junior College for the mation about registerfirst time during the ing Spring Quarter have programs, phone the until Friday, March 6, Office of Admissions to file all applications and Records at 961and credentials with 3500 or visit the Office the Office of Admis- in the Administration sions and Records. Registration for Spring Quarter classes is set for March 26 and sity System of classes will begin the Georgia, most credit following day. Classes courses are offered will continue until the during the day and at last of final examin- night.

Students who plan to ations are given on for credit Building.

A unit of the Univer-

Gator!

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR

Rex Man Finds Reptiles At Clayton Junior

July 16, 1980

By DEBORAH SMITH Staff Writer

Tarzan would be right at home with some of the wild-life living in the lake at Clayton Junior College. According to a report from Rex resident Michael Groover, there are alligators in the lake. Groover says he believes they survive the Georgia winters by making dens in the lake's banks. Groover has caught his second alligator in the lake, which is located in a heavily-traveled part of the campus

But the creature isn't too ferocious, says Groover, since it's only about two feet long. But one he caught at Clayton Junior last year was more than twice this length. Groover, who is 21, is currently recuperating from a motorcycle accident, and says he has plenty of spare time to look for alligators in the college's lake. Although Groover notes that the smaller reptiles "can't do any real damage," if they bite a person, the large onehe caught previously had enough strength in its jaws to chew a hole in a tire.

"The alligators are more scared of people than they are of anything else," Groover points out, how-

Carroll Allen, a representative with the State Game and Fish Commission, says Groover's reptile catch is not a true alligator, but a Caiman, or "first cousin" of the

Allen says the Caiman are common in most tropical areas, but grow to only five or six feet in

In some states they are sold, while very small, as pets. Allen says the creatures living in Clayton Junior's lake are probably pet reptiles whose owners turned them loose as they begin to get large.

Allen adds that although south Georgia has a climate good for Caiman, the creatures would have more trouble surviving in this part

It is illegal to keep a Caiman as a pet in Georgia, Allen says. Only persons using them for "scientific, educational, or exhibition purposes" can keep the reptiles and even they must have permission from the state. Groover says a friend took the first Caiman he caught, and eventually turned it loose again, in a larger lake.

He adds that he plans to turn the second reptile loose, also,

FRIENDLY REPTILE MAY LOOK HORRIFYING BUT THE REPTILE IS BASICALLY HARMLESS-MORE OR LESS Michael Groover, While Recovering From Accident, Has Found The Loch Ness Monster of Clayton

THE CLAYTON SUN August 14, 1980

> 00000000000000000 SCHEDULE OF CLASSES 0000000000000000

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE

University System of Georgia

Fall Quarter 1980

ACADEMIC CALENDAR FALL QUARTER, 1980

Deadline for Fall Quarter applications and cre-Scholastic Aptitude Test September 4 September 6 September 18

Scholastic Aptitude Test
Examinations of the Advanced Placement Pro-Advisement and Registration, Fall Quarter, Examinations of the Advanced Placement

Examinations fo the Advanced Placement

September 24 - 26 Schedule Change Days (Note: September 24

October 16

Regents' Testing Program October 27 Last day to drop courses without academic October 29 October 30 November 18 - 20

penalty Scholastic Aptitude Test Dental Hygiene Aptitude Test Advisement for Early Registration November 24 - 25 Early Registration for Winter Quarter, 1981 November 26 November 27 - 28 Thanksgiving Holidays December 4 Applied Music Auditions for Winter, 2:00 p.m.,

No evening classes December 4

Music Theory Placement Test for Winter, 3:00 p.m., G-209 Classes end, Fall Quarter Study day Final examinations, Fall Quarter Scholastic Aptitude Test Deadline for Winter Quarter applications and

OFFICE OF THE REGISTRAR

December 5 December 8 - 11 December 11 December 12 December 18

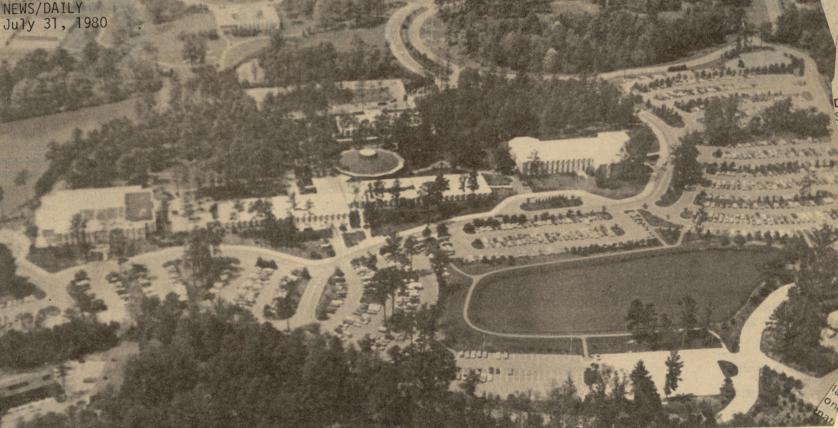

Photo-Courtesy CJC

Clayton Junior College

Aerial views reveals Clayton Junior College campus, with its two lakes and numerous wooded areas. Though a commuter college, officials at CJC have ensured that the school not lose its pastoral atmosphere. This fall will mark the tenth anniversary of the institution.

Located Near Morrow

NEWS/DAILY

July 31, 1980

Clayton Jr. College In 10th Year

· Clayton Junior College is a two-year non-residential college located 12 miles south of Atlanta near Morrow in northern Clayton County. Molded around three lakes on a beautifully-landscaped 16-acre tract, the College's eight modern buildings have been constructed to blend with the natural beauty of their surroundings. Clayton Junior College opened in September, 1969, as unit of the University System of Georgia. The Board of Regents of the University System is the governing body for all 33 state-operated institutions of higher learning in the state, including 15 junior colleges, fourteen senior colleges, and four univer-

As a public institution, CJC is able to offer a wide variety of educational programs at a minimum cost, and most credit courses of the College are offered both during the day and at night. Currently, Georgia residents taking 12 or more quarter credit hours pay a quarterly fee of $135 plus an $8 student services fee. CJC currently offers the first two years of college work in major fields of study common to all state-supported institutions in Georgia.

Freshman and sophomore credits earned with acceptable grades within this program may be transferred without loss upon acceptance to any university, senior college or junior college within the University System.

In addition, the College offers two-year "career programs" which combine regular college courses with specific professional or paraprofessional training. Career programs are designed to prepare students for immediate employment upon graduation.

Students may be admitted at the beginning of each of four academic quarters of the year: the Fall Quarter in September, the Winter Quarter in January, the Spring Quarter in March, and the Summer Quarter in June.

The Office of Community Services at CJC offers a regular program of non-credit continuing education courses and seminars, each designed to meet special educational advantages of a small college needs for members of and groups within the community. At Clayton Junior College, students receive the committed to individualized instruction, united with the resources of the statewide University System. Planned organizations and activities enrich the educational experience of all students.

CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE'S G BUILDING Used For General Classroom Purpose

THE ATLANTA JOURNAL AND CONSTITUTION Sunday, September 7, 1980 at Clayton Junior College...

... you have more than 100 opportunities to update your skills, share your ideas and develop your talents. We'd need more space to describe the many exciting programs waiting for you at Clayton Junior College. Here are some of the titles:

Slimnastics . . . Fly Fishing . . . Assertiveness Training Flower Arranging . . . Painting ... Movie Appreciation ... Photography ... Macrame ... Financial Planning ... Astronomy ... Needlepoint ... Bookkeeping ... Crochet ... Public Speaking ... Yoga ... Art Appreciation . . . Shorthand . . . Calligraphy . . . Basic Psychology . . . Stained Glass Art . . . Positive Parenting . . . Banjo . . . Principles of Supervision . . . Block Printing . . . Soaring . . . Time Management . . . Drawing and Sketching . . . Piano . . . Real Estate Sales Preparation ... Aerobic Dance ... Blueprint Reading ... Typing ... Guitar ...

For a complete list and schedule call the Office of Community Services at 961-3550, Ext.

An Institution Of The University System Of Georgia

Clayton Junior College

5900 Lee St., Morrow, Ga. 961-3550, Ext. 10.

AS FALL QUARTER BEGINS THE CLAYTON SUN August 14, 1980

Clayton Jr. Expects 5,000 Student Influx south metropolitan Atlanta Office of Community Serarea when fall quarter clas- vices. ses begin in late September.

A two-year nonticipate an enrollment of meets. slightly more than 3,000 stu- Clayton Junior College is fee. dents in credit programs one of 33 state-operated in- CJC currently offers the dents for immediate and another 2,000 students stitutions of higher learning first two years of college employment upon graduain non-credit offerings dur- in Georgia. Governed by the work in major fields of study tion. ing the fall quarter. Last Board of Regents of the common to all state-

Clayton Junior College enrolled in credit classes Georgia are 15 junior col- Georgia. Freshman and mitted at the beginning of Open to students and the will begin its 12th year of and 2,010 joined non-credit leges, 14 senior colleges, and sophomore credits earned each of four academic general public at no cost, service to residents of the classes offered through the four universities.

residential college 12 miles begin Monday, Sept. 22. cost, and most credit junior college within the June. south of Atlanta in northern Students enrolling in credit courses of the college are of- University System. Clayton County, CJC programs will register on the fered both during the day Georgia in September, 1969. will begin during the week of Georgia residents taking 12 regular college courses with College officials an- the day each particular class pay a quarterly fee of $135 paraprofessional training. plus an $8 student services Career programs are designed to prepare stu-

year, 2,990 students were University System of supported institutions in STUDENTS may be adwith acceptable grades quarters of the year: the fall these programs have proven As a public institution, within this program may be quarter in September, the to provide continuing CJC is able to offer a wide transferred without loss winter quarter in January, enrichment and enjoyment. variety of educational upon acceptance to any un- the spring quarter in march, THE 1980 fall quarter will programs at a minimum iversity, senior college or and the summer quarter in lege, students receive the

The Office of Community lege committed to in-In addition, the college of- Services at CJC offers a dividualized instruction. opened as a unit of the 22nd and begin classes the and at night, said a fers two-year "career regular program of non- united with the resources of University System of next day. Non-credit classes spokesman. Currently, programs" which combine credit continuing education the statewide University courses and seminars, each System. Planned organiza-Sept. 22-26, depending upon or more quarter credit hours specific professional or designed to meet special tions and activities enrich educational needs for the educational experience members of and groups of all students, providing an within the community. organizational framework and lectures are presented. college and community.

At Clayton Junior Col-

advantages of a small col-Each quarter, under the within which students may sponsorship of Lyceum, a participate and contribute series of concerts, recitals, to the development of the Plans for the addition on Vocational-Technical Education classes to the offerings of Clayton Junior College will be studied by College officials during the coming year.

The Division of Vocational-Technical Education has been approved by the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia and the State Board of Education. The Division became a reality on July 1, 1980, but classes will not be offered until September, 1981.

The College currently is searching for a chairman of the new division, a person officials hope to have hired by September 1. During the coming year, the chairman will be planning classes to be offered and employing personnel needed to provide successful programming

CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE'S NEW LIBRARY Offers Modern, Useful Building For Students

Vo-Tech...

Continued from page 18

At first, the College will utilize existing facilities on the 163-acre campus for new vocational-education courses. Eight buildings are presently in use and a gymnasium addition to the Physical Education Building will be completed by this Fall.-With the addition of the gymnasium, campus facilities will include approximately 280,000 square feet.

A number of existing programs undoubtedly will be transferred into the new division, giving it a solid base of proven academic programs from which to build. The College currently offers oneyear and two-year programs in secretarial studies. These and other occupational programs will be included within the division

Faculty within the new division will provide specialized short-term training programs for current and potential employees of both new and existing businesses and industries. Programs for the up-grading and/or re-training of employees will be designed in cooperation with the business community to help employees perform at higher or more efficient levels.

In addition, high school students currently enrolled in vocational-technical programs will have an opportunity to continue their training. An estimated 40 percent of students in area high schools are enrolled in some type of vocational program designed to help them become more proficient and highly-skilled workers. Another feature of the new division should help attract new industry to the community. Training programs will be provided for applicants of new industries to help them qualify for newly-created

According to a 1979 master plan published by the State Department of Education and the Office of Vocational Education, there is a need to expand post-secondary vocational-technical education programs in the metropolitan Atlanta area. The conclusion was based on an analysis of both population and labor demand trends.

Projections contained in the master plan indicated that occupations requiring vocational-technical training are expected to grow more rapidly than those requiring traditional college degrees. Of the 35 occupations predicted by the Department of Labor to be the fastest growing between 1980 and 1990, about 75 percent require vocationaltechnical training.

A survey conducted by the College during the Fall Quarter last year emphasized the need for vocational programs in the south Atlanta area. Almost 600 of the 3,000 students who enrolled in credit programs took careeroriented courses, and over 80 percent of the students indicated an interest in learning specific skills.

Vocational-technical education programs will be integrated into the present structure and programming of the College. Over 80 percent of the students who are currently enrolled in career offerings of the College are in health, business, and secretarial programs. These occupational areas were among those in which an increased labor demand is projected within the next ten years.

Programs identified by the master plan as needed for the area include:

-- apparel and accessories; general merchandise; -- dental assisting: -- practical (vocational)

-- clothing management. production and services; --food management production and services;

--accounting and com---secretarial occupations; -architectural technology; --chemical technology; and,

The master plan projected a total enrollment of 2,223 in these programs by 1990, and

--electromechanical techn-of this projected enrollment is expected in two of the twelve programs (clerical and secretarial occupations).

The specific programs of study to be offered at Clayton Junior College must be determined by an indepth study of employer needs and citizen interest. All vocational-technical programs proposed as additions to the College offerings must be approved by both the Board of Regents and the State Board of Education.

The master plan further recommended that facilities of 162,425 square feet would be needed to accommodate the 12 suggested programs. It projected an enrollment of 2,223 students by 1990, which would be a significant addition to the current student population of the College (generally, about 3,000 students during Fall Quarter, and slightly less during succeeding quarters).

The time table for development of programs and additional facilities will depend upon the availability of funding. It has been suggested that the addition of facilities be accomplished in two or three phases. The Division of Vocational-Technical Education at Clayton Junior College will be operated and funded in accordance with an existing agreement between the Board of Regents and the State Board of Education

The College will offer graduates of its new division the Associate in Applied Sciences degree

THE CLAYTON SUN August 14, 1980 Scholarship Program 'Ready to Roll' at CGH

By SHARON ENGELHART

Nursing students enrolled at Clayton Junior College will soon be able to benefit from a new scholarship of the hospital.

program being offered by Clayton General Hospital. Clayton General Hospital Clayton County Hospital Authority meeting Thursday night that the program is "all ready to roll." Annual scholarships of $1,000 will be granted and can be repaid through service to the hospital. THE BUILDING Grounds Committee reported that a "reasonable, firm contract" has been drawn up for the plans for a new day care center, and plans are moving along according to schedule.

The center, when completed, will accommodate 100 children per day and will cover 4,500 square feet. It is scheduled to open June

The money is to be used toward the purchase of an intravenous infusion pump. Wright said this is an opportunity for civic clubs to recognize the growing needs

The Clayton Mental Health - Mental Retardation Center reported infor-Administrator Dennis mation on in-patient units. Scheidt announced at the It has set two goals. One is to maintain the total number of patients at a level of 500 or above per month. The second is to keep the daily patient input at 17.

According to Jeretha Belcher, director of the Mental Health center, the average number of patients occupying beds during the month of June was 455. There are two kinds of patients; those admitted by the center and those admitted by private psychiatrists.

Belcher said the reason behind the low number in June is that the center is in the process of coordinating services with private psy-

Belcher said she expects A check for $300 was the number of patients to presented to Scheidt by rise as more psychiatrists Ernest Wright, president of admit their patients to the the Riverdale Kiwanis Club. center.

CJC four year school?

Clayton Junior Col- Jerry Atkins said lege will be holding a last week that the public meeting Mon- school is in a review day, May 4 at the process involving sev-McIntosh Amphitheat- eral counties around er in Peachtree City to the area. gather residents of Fayette County's thoughts on whether the school should change from a two year school, to a four

The meeting will be held at 2:00 p.m. and anyone who wishes to place their thoughts on the matter is invited to attend this meeting.

Scholarship Is Donated By Kiwanis

Clayton County Superior Court Judge Bill Ison (right), vice president of the Kiwanis Club of Forest Park, presents a scholarship check to Ernest L. Cheaves, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Clayton Junior College Foundation, Inc. Standing in for club president Charlie Thompson, Judge Ison presented the $460 check to fund one of the 33 student scholarships approved by the foundation this year.

Board Withdraws Its Approval © Of Schools' Nursing Programs

By Tyrone D. Terry

The Georgia Board of Nursing has withdrawn its approval of the nursing programs at two state schools because graduates of the Schools scored poorly on a state board exam.

The effect of the ruling, which was mailed to Albany State and South Georgia colleges last week, is that the institutions will be banned from accepting their nursing programs.

The estimated 280 students already entropy and will accepting the programs may continue, and will accept the programs may continue the programs of the program of the programs of the program of the be allowed to graduate from state-approved programs, said Mrs. Julie Gould, an educational consultant to the nursing board.

At least 75 percent of the graduates of each state school with a nursing program must pass a state nursing exam in order for the program to get state approval.

Albany State and South Georgia Colleges have been operating on "conditional" approval in from the board for the past two years, Mrs.

E Gould said, because their graduates have not met the 75 percent requirement.

This year, 61.5 percent of the Albany State nursing graduates passed both times the examinations were given, while 72.2 percent of the South Georgia nursing graduates passed.

The ruling will have a "devastating" effect on the nursing programs at the two campuses, said Chancellor Vernon Crawford. He noted that each school had steadily improved its passing rate on the exam since the board granted them conditional approval. "I prefer not to say anything right now," said Dr. Lucielle Wilson, head of the Albany

State program.

She said about 200 students are in the Albany program. "The problem is that the action is counter productive," said Carter Maddox, head of the South Georgia program. "The board had no recommendation of the we can improve our program. In fact, at their May visit to our campus, they were very complimentary."

The panel also gave conditional approval to nursing programs at four schools. The colleges are Macon Junior, Middle Georgia, Clay-Junior and Abraham Baldwin.

THE HENRY HERALD Feb. 25, 1981 March 6 deadline

to register at CJC

Students who plan to until the last of final enroll in credit programs examinations are given at Clayton Junior College for the first time during the Spring Quarter have until Friday, March 6, to credit programs, phone file all applications and credentials with the Of- and Records at 961-3500

Registration for Spring Quarter classes is set for March 26 and classes will begin the following day.

Classes will continue on June 10. For complete information about registering for the Office of Admissions fice of Admissions and or visit the Office in the Administration Building. A unit of the University System of Georgia. most credit courses are offered during the day and at night.

THE CLAYTON SUN 4/30/81 Meetings Set On CJC Four-Year Status

be held in the south metro four year college. area concerning the future of Clayton Junior College as a four-year institution.

Monday, May 4, 9 a.m. in the board room of the Fulton County School Ser-

A series of meetings will or being exapanded into a

Another meeting will be held that afternoon, 2 p.m. at the McIntosh Amphitheatre in Peachtree City.

All meetings are open to vices Building on Cleveland the public, and anyone Avenue, the public may wishing to express an opimeet to voice opinions on nion on the matter is the choice between the two- welcome to speak. For year institution in Morrow further information, phone

NEWS/DAILY

July 31, 1980 CJC Construction Is Continuing In 1980's

began last fall, Clayton Junior College entered into its second decade of service with residents of the south metropolitan Atlanta area. The two-year institution near Morrow opened as a unit of the University System of Georgia on September 30, 1969, and then ten years that followed were filled with growth and success. Now nearing the end of its 11th year, the College continues to serve a unique blend of students from all walks of life, each pursuing a variety of individual goals and accomplishments.

When Clayton Junior College opened its doors on that historic September day of 1969, an enthusiastic group of 942 students entered into college studeis. A year later, can be traced to a 1963 report 1,789 students--almost twice as issued by the Governor's

When Fall Quarter classes many-enrolled in college credit courses at the two-year institution. Still another year later, the number jumped to 2,250, continuing a growth during the Fall Quarter of 1975 when 3,598 students attended

Enrollment totals have dropped slightly since that record number of students were counted during the College's seventh year of operation, but the goals and enthusiasm of the student body, and members of the faculty and staff have remained unchanged.

Classes began on the Clayton Junior College campus in the Fall of 1969, but the birth of the institution took place long before then.

The genesis of the College year school

NEW GYM UNDER CONSTRUCTION At Morrow's Clayton Jr. College

Commission to Improve Education in Georgia. The report pointed out a need for additional junior colleges in the state, stressing that "the junior college is the primary means by which local and community needs should be met for education beyond high school.

The commission

recommended that institutions should be established on the basis of a statewide survey. An eightmember committee of Georgia educations, assisted by two nationally-known educational consultants, conducted an intensive statewide survey for the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia. In June of 1965, the Regents authorized the establishment of three new junior colleges in the state, one to serve the south metropolitan Atlanta area. In October of that year, the northern section of Clayton County was designated as the general location of the new institution, and Clayton Junior College became a step closer to

The Clayton County Board of Education entered the picture in November of 1965, proposing to sponsor a bond election to finance the new junior college. When the Regents accepted, Clayton County citizens had their turn. On October 25, 1966, voters overwhelmingly endorsed the project, providing $4.9 million needed for the development of a site for the center, and a warehouseinitial buildings and equip-

In February, 1967, the Education transmitted $3.3 million to the Board of Regents for the purpose of erecting initial buildings and the purchase of original equipment. The institution was officially named "Clayton Junior College" a year later, and construction began in October of 1968...just 12 months prior to that magic September opening.

The first building was occupied by members of the College staff in August of 1969 and special orientation sessions were conducted for students between September 2 and 26. The College's first registration day took place on September 29 and classes began the following day.

The original campus included six structures: an administration building, a library-student center, a classroom-science building, an audio-visual lecture facility, a physical education

College, and for the cost of maintenenace building. Totaling 156,588 square feet of floor space, the six original buildings were constructed at Clayton County Board of an approximate cost of $3,522,000

As the College completed its first five years of operation, and began its sixth year, a seventh building was occupied. The two-story Classroom Building, including struction phase is completed,

Five years later, as the College entered its second ten years of service, another building entered the picture. Construction of a new library, the Learning Resources Center (LRC), opened with the start of Fall Quarter classes in 1979.

The new LRC became the third two-story structure on campus, providing the College with an additional 57,000 square feet of space at a cost of almost $2.6 million.

Currently under construction is an addition to the College's physical education building. A multiremaining a junior college, 961-3531.

purpose facility designed full-length basketball courts, this addition will be available for student use when Fall Quarter classes open this The physical education addition, including 25,000 square feet, is being completed at a cost of $1.487,496.

When the current conspecialized areas for music the College will have spent and art as well as a modern more than $12 million for 230-seat Lecture Hall, was buildings, land acquisition, opened in September of 1974. improvements, equipment, The new structure added and library holdings. The another 38,5000 square feet of eight modern buildings on the floor space to the campus 163 acre campus will include plan, and slightly more than 277,0888 square feet of floor $1.2 million to the total cost.

Clayton United Way Has 20,000 Workers

Over 20,000 volunteers will be working in Clayton County and throughout the seven county metro area for

The 1980 United Way campaign for the metro Atlanta area has set a goal of $19,200,000. This goal was announced by campaign general chairman Arthur W. Johnston, southeast resident manager of the IBM Corporation, atop Peachtree Plaza Hotel, the highest point in the metro area to signify the largest increase United Way has ever attempted.

The Clayton County United Way Advisory Committee will meet Monday, Sept. 8, at 3:30 p.m. at Clayton County Junior College Learning Resources Center. Campaign plans and development funding for Clayton County will

United Way serves over 43,000 people in Clayton County alone. Since Clayton County development funding by United Way began in 1977, several services have been made available to Clayton residents. These services are handled through Clayton Community Services Authority Inc., YMCA and YWCA, Clayton County Protective Services Team Center, Clayton County Family Care, Inc. and Metropolitan Atlanta Council on Alcohol and Drugs.

"The setting of this year's goal," said Johnston, "is the first step in a five year plan developed by United Way's affiliated agencies and the amount actually being raised in the annual campaign.'

Check Given

president of the Kiwanis Club of Forest Park, presents a scholarship check to Ernest L. Cheaves, a member of the Board of Trustees of Clayton Junior College Foundation Inc. Ison presented the $460 check to fund one of the 33 student scholarships approved by the foundation this year.

Clayton Junior College, a unit of the University System of Georgia, located in Morrow, provides educational opportunities for the community. The college serves the educational and cultural needs of the community, opened in September 1969 and its programs have continued to grow over the years.

Clayton Junior College Phone Numbers

	College Information	961-3400
	Admissions	961-3500
	Bookstore	961-3480
	Business, Division of	961-3410
	Business Education	961-3413
	Business Office	. 961-3525
	Community Services	961-3550
	Comptroller	961-3525
	Computer Center	961-3490
1	Cooperative Education	961-3488
-	Counseling & Testing	961-3515
1	Dean of the College	961-3485
1	Dean of Students	961-3510
1	Dental Hygiene Clinic	961-3441
	Dental Hygiene, Department of	961-3440
	Financial Aid/Placement	961-3511
	Food Services	961-3560
	Humanities, Division of	961-3420
	Library/Media-Learning Resources Center	001 0545
	Maintenance/Receiving	961-3545
	Natural Sciences and Mathematics, Division	01 901-3430
	Nursing, Department of	001 2465
	Physical Education	001-3400
	Police and Public Safety	001 0505
	Public Information	061 2591
	President	061 2500
	Registrar	061 2460
	Social Sciences, Division of	061 3470
	Special Studies, Department of	061 3511
	Student Activities	961-3511
	Veteran Affairs	001-0011

County Community College

approval because the nursing staff does not include an instructor in psychiatric nursing who meets the requirements of the State Board of Nursing. "It's not that our present staff member in that field is

By KIRK MARTIN

Staff Writer

Reports on traffic and noise

patterns will be included in a public hearing on runway expansion to be held at Clayton Junior College April 29

The meeting will be one of several to be held across the south Atlanta area between April 27 and April 30.

by Atlanta airport officials.

Clayton Junior College

received the conditional

Staff Writer

other schools in Georgia.

a thing about the program.

always has been."

The Georgia Board of required master's degree," Nursing has granted

NEWS/DAILY Tuesday, October 14, 1980

CJC Nursing Program Gets

Conditional State Approval

Atkins added conditional approval to the The State Board of Nurnursing program at Clayton gave conditional approval to Macon Junior, Junior College and three Middle Georgia, and "Conditional approval is a Abraham Baldwin, as well very misleading term," said as Clayton Junior College. Jerry Atkins of the Public However, in the same Information Office of action, the board withdrew Clayton Junior College. "A approval of the nursing conditional approval is programs at Albany State granted for a maximum of College, and South Georgia two years. It does not change College. These colleges will be banned from accepting Our nursing program will be new students into the nursing as valid and efficient as it

These two schools have Atkins explained that been operating conditional approval for the past two years because at least 75 percent of their graduates have not past the state nursing exam.

"We do not have a grade problem here," said Atkins. "About 92 percent of our graduates pass the state exam the first time every not qualified, it is just that year. You can take the exam the state nursing exam in and some of our graduates do, pushing the passing percentage up to 99 schools are required to take state board requirements.

she does not possess the a second time if you need to, order to become a registered

Atkins stressed the work Clayton was putting into finding a psychiatric nursing Graduates of nursing instructor who meets the

NEWS/DAILY Thursday, November 6, 1980

CJC May Attain Four Year Status

Living Editor The Georgia Board of Regents has officially agreed to study the possibility of making Clayton Junior College a four-year institution.

According to Dr. Harry S. Downs, president of the two-year college near Morrow, Board of Regent's Chancellor Dr. Vernon Grawford has granted a request by Downs to make Clayton the first colleges in the state's 1.11 au ty system to undergo a review fission and status.

At it entember meeting, the sa legents authorized a procedure for all 33 higher learning under its auth

The revew, to be condered for about six colleges each year 1 take into consideration the vidual institution's goals, pran and community impact.

The review process requires that an examination of the entire college and its community take place, including a study of instruction, remarch and service programs. Demographic characteristics of the college's service area, projected employment opportunities for graduates and the cost effectiveness of programs being offered by the college will be taken into

NEWS/DAILY

Community interest will also be explored, according to Downs, to determine the involvement of educational, civic and political groups in the college's request for a change in

The effects that a change from two to four-year status would have on other educational institutions in the area will also be considered.

In a statement released Tuesday, Downs said Clayton Junior's enrollment has been at the 3,000 mark for the last five years and there exists a population in excess of 300,000 within commuting range "There is seemingly an increasing interest on the part of citizens of our community to earn a baccalaureate degree at a place near their home,' Downs said in the statement.

"Although no in-depth study has been made of the factors which determine the feasibility of conversion of the institution, there are no apparent reasons why this college could not be converted into a highquality, four-year college providing additional programs and services needed in our community.' In an interview Tuesday, Downs said an exact timetable for the study has not been outlined, but the review process should not take more than a

November 17, 1980

He added that any recommended change in status would probably take another three to four years to implement.

"We're not pushing or pulling one way or the other," Downs said in the interview. "We just want a subjective review to determine our qualifications for becoming a four-year institution.

According to Downs, the study will not interfere with the development of vocational-technical education programs to be offered at the college in the fall of 1981.

Plans for the vocational-technical division at the college are underway through a joint agreement with the Board of Regents and the Georgia Board of Education.

Clayton Junior College opened its doors in September, 1969.

CICHas New Political Union

ormed at Clayton Junior College, the College Political Union.

The organization, funded a.m. in room G-114, there with a portion of the student will be an increase in the service fees, was started last participation. Trachtenberg April. It emphasizes the and Professor Gene Hatfield point that politics can be ex- supervise the group. citing and fun. Because the Oct. 27 and 28, the Steve Rasmussen, co- Davis /Newt Gingrich group is non-partisan, organization plans to hold a directors; Gwen Martin, debate, which attracted the it will not take sides dur-group and Professor Joe 6 p.m. and Tuesday from Doyal, publicity chairman. Trachtenberg said he hopes 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from to be held Sept. 24 at 10 presidential election straw treasurer; Anna Smalley, largest audience ever to be vote. It will be held for the secretary;

this term are John Lee and Approximately 45 student body only. Votes Hinegardner, campus acorganization has been members are involved in the can be cast Monday from 5- tivities director and Kerry So far CPU has sponsored vote will be announced sman Phil Crane, Congressman Dawson Mathis, Norman Underwood, The group recently Senator Herman Talmadge elected new officers. Serving and Mack Mattingly. They 90-degree compass heading presently being used by aircraft departing the Atlanta airport's Runway 9L. If the Federal Aviation

More Runway Talk

Slated For April

that after the first meeting, 5-6 p.m. Results from the appearances by Congres-Sam held at the college.

Administration orders the aircraft to return an earlier heading of 105 degrees, new information will have to be obtained before the information can be used to arrive at computerized profiles of air traffic around the airport, according to airport planner Shirley Harris. Hearings were being held by the FAA this week at an Atlanta airport hotel and a school in Ellenwood to hear public opinion on the takeoff patterns, according to Ms. Harris. An early round of hearings to announce the proposed addition of fourth runway on the north side of the airport and the extension of Runway

9L were held in February.

Residents of Clayton and Henry counties are being invited to attend the third meeting to be held April 29.

Studies of noise patterns in the areas around the airport, records of types of aircraft and their flight paths, capacity of the planes and delays in flights and other reports will be presented at the meeting at Clayton

Present noise and traffic patterns have been calculated according to a Junior College.

New Officers

New officers of the Political Union at Clayton Junior College are, from left, John Lee, co-director; Sam Hinegardner, campus activities director; Anna Smalley, secretary; Steve Rasmussen, co-director; and Gwen Martin, treasurer. The Union will sponsor a straw poll at the school Oct. 27 and 28. It will concern the presidential, congressional and senatorial races. The Union has already sponsored several debates and plans to show political films in the future.

NEWS/DAILY 3/3/87 News/Daily Photo by Guy Hardegree

Let The Sun Shine

A warm sun shines through a stand of pine trees at Clayton Community College as residents got a taste of Spring. Although the warmth of the past few days may be threatened with colder temperatures, the brief repose from winter's cold hand brought many outdoors to enjoy the pleasant weather.

last week by a dental hygiene site evaluation committee for the representative who serves in the Dental Hygiene Department at the The Dental Hygiene Program at University of Iowa Clayton Junior College was studied Dr. Eleanor J. Bushee, D.D.S., is a Commission representative and the committee chairman. She serves in the Department of Community Dentistry and Human Behavior in the School of Dental Medicine at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Mrs. Bettee N. Edwards is a hygiene consultant. She is also chairman of the Department of Dental Hygiene at Texas Woman's University in Denton, Texas.

Ms. Judy Hendrix, Dr. Nancy Neilsen, Dr. Eleanor Bushee, and Mrs. Bettee Edwards.

Dr. Leonard Schreiber (L), Head of the Department of Dental Hygiene at Clayton Junior College, explains the procedure used by one of his students to members of the American Dental Association's evaluation committee, (L-R)

CJC Dental Hygiene Program

Undergoes Evaluation Study

Ms. Judy Hendrix is a Dental

Hygiene member of the Georgia State Board of Dentistry.

The committee members met with college officials during a twoday visit in early November. Their findings will be released by the American Dental Association in late spring of 1981.

Clayton Junior College's Dental Hygiene Program began accepting students in 1971 and graduated its first class in 1973. The dental hygiene course sequence begins in fall quarter and includes seven consecutive quarters of classroom and laboratory experiences.

FAYETTE AND SOUTHSIDE SUN

December 4, 1980

NURSING SCHOLARSHIP-Mrs. Clyde Harrison, at left and Mrs. Selwyn Hartley present a $250 scholarship check to Dr. Harry S. Downs, President of Clayton Junior College, on behalf of the Clayton-Fayette County Medical Auxiliary. The scholarship will cover the cost of tuition, books, and fees for a nursing student during the Winter Quarter, and will be awarded through the College's Office of Financial Aid on the basis of financial need and scholastic achievement.

By ELAINE ALMON

Staff Writer

The committee was appointed by the Commission on Accreditation of the American Dental

Association. Dental Hygiene

programs are required to be

The committee consisted of four

a Commission staff members. Dr. Nancy Jean Nielsen

reaccredited every seven years.

purpose of reaccreditation.

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR

11/19/80

Rotarians Show Generosity

Dr. Harry S. Downs, president of Clayton Junior College, accepts a $1,200 check from Delmar Curry (L), chairman of the Airport Rotary Club's Scholarship Committee, and a $500 check from Emory Lewis, president of the club. Curry's check will be used in the club's annual scholarship program while the check from Lewis will be used in the Mitchell C. Bishop Scholarship Fund, named in honor of the club member (R).

the Chancellor of the Board of Regents will be the question of obtaining four-year status. At its September 9-10 meeting, the Board of Regents authorized the establishment of a periodic review procedure for all 33 institutions operated by the statewide University System. The reviews, to be conducted for about six colleges each year, will be designed to assess the goals, programs and scope of each Acting in accordance with the provisions of the new policy, Dr. Downs requested that University System Chancellor, Dr. Vernon Crawford, consider changing the status of Clayton Junior College from a two-year institution to a four-year college granting baccalaureate degrees.

In response, Dr. Crawford agreed to an early review. "Clayton Junior College will be in the first group," the Chancellor wrote to Dr. Downs. "The change in institutional status which you proposed will be considered."

The review process requires that an examination of the entire college will take place, including a study of instruction, research, and service programs.

Community interest will be explored to determine the involvement of educational, civic, and political groups in the College's plan for change. And, the anticipated effects that a change would make for other educational institutions in the area will receive careful consideration.

A review of all educational programs, an analysis of facility needs, and projections of budgetary resource needs directly associated with a change in mission also must be projected for a five-year

In making the request, Dr. Downs pointed out that the Fall Quarter enrollment at Clayton Junior Colege has been at approximately the 3,000 mark for the last five years. "The College has, within easy commuting range, a population in excess of 300,000" he said in his letter to the Chancellor.

"There is se increasing interest on the part of citizens of our community to earn a baccalaureate degreee at a place near their homes," he continued. "Although no in-depth study has been made of the factors which detrmine the faeasibility of conversion of the institution, there are no apparent reasons why this college could not be converted into a high-quality, four-year college providing additional programs and services needed in our community.

Dr. Harry Downs President, C.J.C.

During the coming year, plans will be formulated for the addition of Vocational-Technical Education programs to be offered by the College through a joint agreement with the Board of Regents and the State Board Education. This new division will provide a number of additional opportunities for residents of the Clayton, south Fulton, Fayette, and Henry County area.

'The study of institutional status will not interfere with the development of vocational-technical programs to serve business. industry, and the citizens of the college community," Dr. Downs said. "The first vocational-technical programs to be offered will be ready to accept students in September of 1981. The question of converting Clayton Junior College into a four-year institution will be addressed within the very near future, but an exact timetable for the study concerning possible conversion has not been made, according to Dr. Downs. Except in unusual circumstances, the timetable for the development of an institution's review documentation should not exceed a 12-month period.

However, he added that any recommended change in institutional status would probably require another three to four years to

Clayton Junior College opended as a public institution September, 1969, and is currently in its 12th year of operation. The largest of 15 nior colleges within the University System, the College currently offers the first two years of college work in major fields of studying common to all state-supported institutions in Georgia.

In addition, the College offers two-year "career programs" which combine regualr college courses with specific professional and paraprofessional training. Career programs are designed to prepare students for immediate employment in a special occupation upon

To Clayton Jr. College

NEWS/DAILY

November 13, 1980

Airport Rotary Gives Four Scholarships

By ELAINE ALMON

Staff Writer Four Clayton Junior College students have been Stockbridge, a nursing awarded tuition scholarships major; Denese Rodgers of Airport Rotary Club.

Recipients of this year's awards attended an Airport Rotary meeting and met with Rotary and college officials during recent luncheons.

GRIFFIN DAILY NEWS.

Patricia Rasmussen of school, Riverdale, an accounting major; Barbara Johnson of funded by the Atlanta McDonough, a foreign language major.

Each of the four scholarship recipients had demonstrated outstanding academic credentials during previous work at Clayton Junior College and were This year's winners were recommended by faculty Ann Grantham of Morrow, a members from the four teacher education major; academic divisions at the

2/4/81

A former club president, Mitchell C. Bishop, inspired the scholarship program by challenging his fellow club year institution in Morrow. members to match his resulted was initiated in 1972 and has become the oldest continuing awards program administered by the two-through the program.

To honor Bishop, members of the Airport Rotary Club established a new trust fund in his name earlier this year. A total of 49 students have Designed to provide its $1,200 program this fall, with a contribution of $1,000. In addition to continuing annual $600 contribution. received $11,210 in financial assistance for the club also gave another The $1,200 program that scholarship funds provided deserving students to attend $500 to the trust fund.

Clayton Junior College, the club began the new Mitchell C. Bishop Scholarship Fund

Scholarships

Dr. Harry S. Downs, president of Clayton Junior College, accepts a $1,200 check from Delmar Curry, chairman of the Airport Rotary's Scholarship Committee and a $500 check from Emory Lewis, president of the club. The scholarship

Vocational Progress

We welcome the appointment of Dr. Carlos Schmitt as the chairman of the newly-formed Division of Vocational-Technical Education at Clayton Junior College.

The announcement was made over the weekend and completes the next major step in the establishment of a full program of vocational training in the secondary educational level here in our community.

Dr. Schmitt is currently director of the South Technical Education Center in Boynton Beach, Florida. Dr. Schmitt has experience in starting a new program and this background will be especially valuable for the new program at Clayton Junior College. The Schmitt appointment was approved at the November 12 meeting of the Board of Regents of the University System. It is another important step in the phasing of the full program of vocational training The Division of Vocational-

Technical Education was authorized by the regents on July 1 of this year and is being funded in accordance with an existing agreement between the Board of Regents and the State Board of Education, which normally handles vocational training in Georgia.

Next comes the establishment of a program at CJC, taking the vocational courses already in the curriculum and expanding that program further and further into a full division.

College officials anticipate more offerings to be available for students by the fall quarter, beginning in September of 1981. New programs will be designed to add to the offerings of the existing one-year and two-year occupational programs.

Dr. Schmitt's appointment is thus greeted with the expectations of a long-awaited program and also with the expectancy of a new educational aspect to our community life.

We welcome Dr. Schmitt, who starts his new duties December 1, and wish him well in what we believe to be the best educational complex in the state right here in Clayton County.

Schumann performed

Ann Scoville (r) performed "Melody" by Schumann at a piano recital at Clayton Junior College. It was sponsored by South-Metro Music Teachers Association, an affiliate of MTNA. Her teacher, Martha Scott (1) of Griffin, is a member of MENC and the American College of Musicians where Ann received superior—plus ratings for two years. Ann is preparing for her third year of performing and has added composing to her talents. She is a sixth grader at Third Ward and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Scoville, 567 S.

December 14, 1980

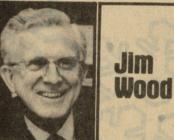

Good Signs In Achieving Four-Year College

New guidelines adopted by the state's Board of Regents to govern should be viewed as good news for those of us who long for a four-year program at Clayton Junior College.

In action this week, the Board of Regents generally agreed upon such regulations and rules which would guide them in determinations for status changes among the colleges and universities, even to the point of closing some of the lesser used campuses. While this may herald bad news for some communities, it may assist Clayton County in raising the status of its higher learning facility.

The Regents adopted attendance strata by which a university would have 7,500 students for that ranking; 2,000 students for four-year status; and at least 500 student attendance to remain in junior college needs. Four of the state's four-year colleges are below the 2,000-student level and could be dropped in ranking. They are Albany State, North Georgia, Georgia Southwestern, Fort . enrollment levels suggested for the Valley. However, most are within striking distance with the addition of a couple of hundred students. Likewise two junior colleges,

Emanuel County and Waycross, do not have the necessary 500 students the Regents would like to see in its junior college ranks. However, Clayton's 2,100 students puts it above the 2,000 level announced as one requirement of four-year college status, a mark of achievement which adds another factor in CJC gaining two more years of instruction.

Clayton Junior College is also first on the list of those to be considered for a changed status, according to the Board of Regents announcement, and it is included in the student service four year status.

Thus, from the initial considerations, Clayton Junior College has many things going for it in its desire to add more offerings to the local community on the major college

We believe the four-year status, which would put Clayton among the first to be a non-dormitory facility, also would enhance the college's, service to the community and fulfill the longheld dreams of many for a complete educational offering to its local residents.

New Board of Regent actions make our goal closer.

NEWS/DAILY

December 11, 1980

CJC To Host Conference On Disabled

U.S. Council for the between 8:30 a.m. and 9 a.m. International Year of and the first session will Disabled Persons will begin at 9 a.m. in Room Gsponsor a "Governor's 132. Conference for Georgia" on the Clayton Junior College campus Friday, Dec. 12. More than 100 civic leaders and dignitaries from across the state have been invited to Included on the program attend the day-long session. will be status reports from The day's activities will be federal and state leaders, held in Room G-132 and other movies, panel discussions, rooms throughout the "G" and group meetings.

The state-wide meeting, supported by Gov. George Busbee, is one of several such meetings being held across the country.

The sessions are being scheduled to offer every community an opportunity to improve the lives of their disabled citizens.

Registration for Friday's

The Georgia Office of the conference will be conducted

Participants will break for lunch at 11:45 and the afternoon session will adjourn at 3:45 p.m.

The United Nations, honoring its commitment to human rights and human dignity, has proclaimed 1981 as the International Year of Disabled Persons. President Jimmy Carter has pledged the support of federal agencies to the program.

Working with private and governmental organizations to strengthen public understanding, the Council for the International Year of the Disabled Persons hopes to promote the full participation in the life of our society of America's citizens, with physical and mental

Evaluation Panel Arrives

Dr. Harry S. Downs (L), president of Clayton Junior College, welcomes members of the American Dental Association's evaluation committee to the local facility. The group arrived to examine the South Metro college's program, which is launching any area residents into the dental industry. With him are (L-R) Bettee Edwards, Dr. Nancy Nielsen, Dr. Eleanor J. Bushee, Judy Hendrix and Dr. Leonard Schreiber, head of Clayton Junior's department of dental hygiene.

program of providing scholarships will become dents who have established scholarships to outstanding area students, members of the Board of Trustees of the Clayton Junior College petition in the four counties honored during this annual Foundation, Inc., have approved another record and Fulton budget for the 1981-82 year. Now in their seventh year of directing the Foundation's programs, Board members approved a budget of $29,314 for the year beginning July 1, 1981.

Having chartered in September of 1974, the grown steadily from $1,700 the first year to next year's Dean of Students. record level. The current budget for this year's designed to recognize and program is slightly over reward outstanding area

Included in the new academic achievement in budget are funds for 66 scholarships, an expenditure of over $28,000. Also provided is the continuation area high schools who elect of a $500 program to honor students for superior academic accomplishments, in the top five percent of and a $500 program to honor outstanding members of the College's faculty and staff. Foundation scholarships, first awarded at the start of the 1975-76 year, cover all tuition and fees for two years of study at Clayton

Junior College. The new program includes funds for the first year of 33 new scholarships designated for 1981 area graduates, and for the second year of 33 scholarships awarded to 1980 high school graduates. Scholarships will be for the first two years of college studies, beginning either during the summer or fall quarters next year. Included among the 33

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS

new awards will be 10 'Foundation Talent Fulton County area. Scholarships," 19 "Foundation Merit Scholarships" an honors day program at and four STAR Student CJC, the Foundation is able when STAR Student winners are named from com- institution. Recipients

"Talent Scholarships" are designated to reward students who have displayed superior ability and talent in specific fields of study. Applications for these awards may be obtained by contacting the College's Director of Financial Aid Foundation's budget has (phone 961-3511) or by visiting the Office of the "Merit Scholarships" are high school work. Two-vear awards are provided for the highest ranking graduates of to attend Clayton Junior College, providing they are

their graduating class. Students interested in competing for these awards should contact their high school principals or counselors for complete in-

Participating high schools in the 1980-81 program were: Forest Park, Jonesboro, Morrow, North Clayton, and Riverdale from Clayton County; Henry County and Stockbridge from the Henry County School system; Fayette County High; and Briarwood, Campbell, College Park, Feldwood, Hapeville, Headland, Lakeshore, M.D. Collins, Palmetto, Russell, and Westwood from the south

By providing support to achievement at the two-year of Clayton, Henry, Fayette, ceremony receive cash the 1981-82 year.

faculty and staff.

College.

December 17, 1980

available automatically records of outstanding portance of a quality faculty academic atmosphere for students. Thus, awards have been provided to honor

NEWS/DAILY December 18, 1980

CJC Foundation

of providing scholarships to outstanding area students, members of the Board of Trustees of the Clayton

Junior College Foundation, Inc., have approved another record budget for

Now in their seventh year of directing the Foundation's programs,

Board members approved a budget of $29,314 for the year beginning July 1,

Having chartered in September of 1974, the Foundation's budget has grown steadily from $1,700 the first year to next year's record level. The current budget for this year's

Included in the new budget are funds for 66 scholarships, an expenditure of over $28,000. Also provided is the continuation of a $500

program to honor students for superior academic accomplishments, and a $500 program to honor outstanding members of the College's Foundation scholarships, first awarded at the start of the 1975-76

year, cover all tuition and fees for two years of study at Clayton Junior the first year of 33 new scholarships designated for 1981 area graduates, and for the second year of 33

scholarships awarded to 1980 high

The new program includes funds for program is slightly over $28,000.

Sets Record Budget

Fulton.

Dean of Students.

graduating class.

County area.

receive cash awards.

service at the College

Trustees of the Founda- members who complete five vice-chairman; Charles S. Park; Thomas B. Clonts of Forest Park. tion also recognize the imand staff to provide a strong school graduates. Scholarships will be for the first two years of college studies, beginning either during the summer or fall quarters next year.

Included among the 33 new awards will be 10 "Foundation Talent

Scholarships", 19 "Foundation Merit

Scholarships" and four STAR Student awards. Full-tuition scholarships will become available automatically when

STAR Student winners are named from competition in the four counties.

of Clayton, Henry, Fayette, and designated to reward students who have displayed superior ability and talent in specific fields of study.

Applications for these awards may be obtained by contacting the College's

Director of Financial Aid (phone 961-3511) or by visiting the Office of the "Merit Scholarships" are designed to recognize and reward outstanding area students for their record of academic achievement in high school work. Two-year awards are provided for the highest ranking graduates of area high schools who elect to attend

Clayton Junior College, providing they are in the top five percent of their Students interested in competing for these awards should contact their high school principals or counselors

Participating high schools in the 1980-81 program were: Forest Park, Jonesboro, Morrow, North Clayton, and Riverdale from Clayton County; Henry County and Stockbridge from the Henry County school system;

Fayette County High; and Briarwood,

Campbell, College Park, Feldwood,

Hapeville, Headland, Lakeshore, M.

D. Collins, Palmetto, Russell, and

Westwood from the south Fulton

By providing support to an honors day program at CJC, the Foundation is able to recognize and reward

students who have established records of outstanding achievement

at the two-year institution. Recipients honored during this annual ceremony

Trustees of the Foundation also recognize the importance of a quality faculty and staff to provide a strong academic atmosphere for students.

Thus, awards have been provided to honor all faculty and staff members who complete five or ten years of Members of the Board of Trustees are: Harmon M. Born of Rex.

chairman; G. Robert Oliver of Morrow, vice-chairman; Charles S. Conklin of Jonesboro, secretary-treasurer; Harry S. Downs of Morrow, assistant treasurer; Guy L.

Benefield of Morrow; S. Truett Cathy of Hampton; Ernest L. Cheaves of Forest Park; Thomas B. Clonts of

Jonesboro; Ernest A. Dunbar, Jr.,

M.D., of Morrow; W. Cameron Mitchell of Hampton; Hill R. Redwine of Fayetteville; Claude H. Whaley of Jonesboro; and James M. Wood Jr. of

All programs sponsored by the non-profit corporation are funded totally by contributions, and all contributions

for complete information.

"Talent Scholarships" are

Members of the Board of Trustees are: Harmon M.

THE CLAYTON SUN

Benefield of Morrow; S. of Fayetteville; Claude H. contributions, and all conhave been provided to honor all faculty and staff Robert Oliver of Morrow, Truett Cathy of Hampton; Whaley of Jonesboro; and tributions are tax deducti-

Needed is right! A It will be good for the now vocational technical school county, and who knows, it You is something great for the county and nearby communities-and I think one very badly. Clayton Junior College is fantastic and great for the whole state, especially the nearby counties, but at the same time anyone can go to a vocational technical school and learn a skill or trade whereas they might not be able to attend other and believe Clayton needs

type schools. One reason for a Voc-Tech is it would cost less than a regular college and another reason is that more high school graduates would go because there would be a greater variety of trades and skills to choose from. I know many graduates now that are ready for voctech training but who are not able to attend because of the distance. So come on Clayton, let's do our part. Keep in mind Vocational Tech or Clayton Tech until it's underway. Let's help these 1980 graduates who need a skill.

Clayton Needs a Voc-Tech School

We would love a civic center, yes, and we need

You can't go wrong learn-

one, but I believe a voc-tech school is what is needed

may bring new industry into ing something new everyday. Come on kids, once we get it let's get off the streets and get back to school so we can get good jobs. Jean Esposito

Jonesboro

This afternoon at 2 p.m. in Room D-200 at Clayton Jr. College, you have an opportunity to give your input into the upcoming reapportionment to be done by the Georgia General Assembly.

The panel of legislators appointed to draw up redistricting plans has been holding public hearings on the matter at key areas around the state, and this afternoon bring the hearing to Clayton County. Legislators on the reapportionment committees include Sen. Terrell Starr and Rep. Jim Wood from our county. The General Assembly faces the task of reshaping the 10 congressional districts to more closely adhere to population counts revealed in the 1980 Georgia census, while at the same time satisfying the U.S. Justice Dept. In addition, the legislators must realign their own districts, making them also adhere to population counts. The Justice Dept. has a strong interest in this reshaping, mandating that minorities have as good chances as possible of electing state lawmakers, which from a practical standpoint is more likely in Georgia than is the possibility of more than one congressional district being aligned to insure minority election.

In any event, the reapportionment committees want your views before they draw up any redistricting plans. You'll be doing yourself and your neighbors a favor by showing up and making yourself heard.

January 12, 1981 NEWS/DAILY Special Olympics Designed For Clayton Students

Helping Hands Needed For Fair

The Clayton County Parks health fair. and Recreation Department and the Clayton County Board of Education, in conjuction with Clayton Junior College, are hosting a Special Olympics Health

Fair on Jan. 28 and 29. The purpose of the fair is to provide a physical examination for special education students participating in the Special Olympics program.

Volunteer nurses and nursing students will be doing much of the screening with doctors completing the examination. The Special Olympics rogram has grown into year-round activity. The program provides sports training and athletic competition for mentally handicapped young people. Sports areas include track and field, diving, swimming, bowling, gymnastics, basketball, soccer, softball, wheelchair events. Participation in the Special Olympics helps the mentally handicapped person to develop his body, feelings and social skills in a healthy way through sports floor hockey, volleyball, and competition. Many volunteer doctors, nurses and others are still needed to help with the students will decide to attend Clayton

"I think there are two really im-

if it becomes a four-year institution.

portant factors that a four-year college would mean for Clayton

County," said Clayton School

Superintendent Earnest Stroud last

"First of all, it would give more of 12:30 p.m. and 12:30 p.m. to not be possible.

Volunteers are needed on Wed., Jan. 28 from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 12:30 p.m. support of local doctors and time for health fair should to 3:30 p.m. and on Thurs. other volunteers, the call Randy Segner of the Board of Education at 363-Jan. 29 from 9:30 a.m. to examination program would Clayton County Parks and 1971.

Without the help and interested in giving their

Persons who

Division at 477-8170. Interested volunteers may also contact Milton McDonald of the Clayton

GETTING READY FOR SPECIAL OLYMPICS HEALTH FAIR Clayton Parks and Recreation, Clayton Junior College and Clayton Board of Education officials are getting ready to gi physical exams to Special Olympics participants. Pictured left to right are Randy Segner, Ric Sanchez, Milton McDona and Cilla Marsh, coordinators of the health fair.

Selwyn Hartley present a $250 scholarship check to Dr. Harry

S. Downs, President of Clayton Junior College, on behalf of the Clayton-Fayette County Medical Auxiliary. The scholarship will cover the cost of tuition, books, and fees for a nursing student during the Winter Quarter, and will be awarded through the College's Office of Financial Aid on the basis of financial need and scholastic achievement.

Nursing Scholarship--Mrs. Clyde Harrison (left) and Mrs.

CJC Nursing Scholarship

Four-Year Clayton College Would Help Area

are tax deductible.

By CINDY JERNIGAN

Living Editor Over the next few months, officials at Clayton Junior College in Morrow will be preparing a detailed report on the college's mission and status to give to the Chancellor's Office of the Georgia Board of Regents.

That report, along with a study by the Chancellor's Office, will determine whether or not Clayton Junior will become a four-year

The review process, which was recently passed by the Board of Regents, requires that an examination of the entire college and its community take place, including a study of instruction, research and service programs.

According to Dr. Harry S. Downs, president of the college, one of the most important factors to be considered will be community

Downs says Clayton Junior's enrollment has been at the 3,000 mark for the last five years and there exists a population in excess of 300,000 within commuting range.

Clayton Junior officials believe that a majority of the students attending the college would stay there to earn a baccalaureate degree if the four-year status is granted

our kids a chance to go to college; and it would give their parents a chance to They also believe that more save money," Stroud said. "Even going downtown to Georgia State University and paying for gas, parking and lunch is expensive.' In addition to helping individual families, business leaders in Clayton County see a four-year institution as an asset for the area's total economic

Stan May, executive vice-president of the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce, says his organization has been pushing the idea of a four-year institution almost since the junior college opened in 1969.

"We've always felt like this part of the metro area would sustain a fouryear college," May said last week. "In the past, some businesses and industries have chosen other areas over Clayton because of the research facilities at Georgia Tech and Emory. A four-year college could only help us in that area."

May also points to the added employment opportunities a four-year college would mean and the growth that would result from more people working and living in Clayton County. In the area of political backing, State Senator Terrell Starr of Forest Park said last week that the entire Clayton County legislative delegation is doing all it can to promote Clayton Junior as the University System of Georgia's next four-year institution. "We think it would be tremendous,"

Starr stated. "We think now that we stand a good chance of getting the Board of Regents' approval." Clayton Junior currently has the largest two-year enrollment of any junior college in the state. The study to determine if the school should gain four-year status will not interfere with the development of vocational-technical education programs to be offered at the college in the fall of 1981. The review of Clayton Junior's mission and status should take no more than a year, according to

THE CLAYTON SUN April 16, 1981 Pointe South Students Fare Well in Festival

Pointe South Junior High lett, Kim Davis, Jacque School Band members, Moultrie, and Tricia Emunder the direction of mons. school Band Director Troy Bryant, Jr., received 20 Superior ratings and one and Ensemble Festival held at Clayton Junior College.

ratings on solos were: Randy Williams, Jeffrey Ja-DiGiacomo, Cheryl Hutcheson, Tina Poole, Earl and Kim Davis. Miller, Diane Mitchell,

Those receiving Superior ratings on Ensembles were: Excellent rating at the Pam Elliott and Tina Poole, March 21 District VI Solo Carolyn Bartlett and Jana Cason, Cheryl Hutcheson and Carla DiGiacomo, Lu-Those receiving Superior cretia Key and Kim Worgo, Angela Pruett and Tina Poole, Kim Davis and Lucobs, Angela Pruett, Carla cretia Key, and Jacque Moultrie. Tricia Emmons

An Excellent rating was Tracy Crowe, Carolyn Bart- received by Tressie Wilder.

NEWS/DAILY 1/20/81 C.JC Salute

Clayton Junior College Choir is just one of the many programs highlighted during Southlake's "Salute to Clayton Junior College" January 29-31. Many programs and participants from the local college will host the three day celebration at the Mall.

Clayton Junior Grows Strong

to the physical education building at Clayton Junior College was completed recently, and classes were conducted in the new facility beginning Monday, January

Originally scheduled to open for the start of Fall Quarter classes last September, a number of problems in the building's mechanical system forced the postponement.

Work began on the structure in late September, 1979, five months after the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia provided $1,487,496 to fund the project. Original plans and specifications for the addition were approved in December of 1972, but a shortage of building funds brought about the sevenyear delay.

The 25,000 square foot addition, attached to the north side of the original structure, expands the College's indoor physical education plant to over 42,000 square feet of floor space.

Designed around a multiuse gymnasium, other facilities provided with-in the new structure include a dance and music studio, classroom space, faculty offices, a lobby and exhibit area, storage areas, and restrooms.

The gymnasium has two full-length basketball courts which will serve intramural sports such as basketball, badminton, tennis, and volleyball. Also included is an misometric aread and practice cages for golf and archery.

Within the original

$489,862 in 1969, are areas for classroom instruction, weight training, and gymnastics. Shower and locker areas for men and women, equipment storage areas,

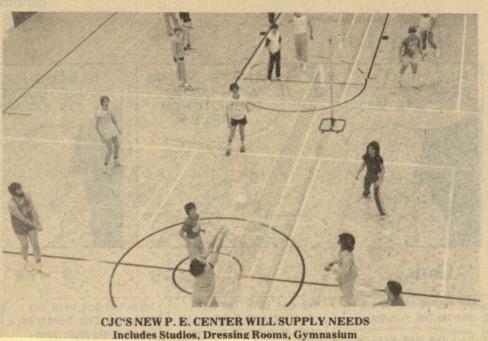

Playing fields for softball buildings designed to blend putting green for golf, and jogging trails are located adjacent to the physical education building.

The College opened its doors to area students for the and faculty offices also are start of Fall Quarter classes

A multi-purpose addition structure, built at a cost of and baseball, tennis courts, a with the natural beauty of their surroundings.

Five years later -- in September, 1974 -- a twostory Classroom Building was occupied, and the opening of the 57,000 square foot Learning Resources in 1969 with six campus. Center was celebrated on the College's tenth anniversary.

Vo-Tech School Future Bright

Continuing interest in vocational and technical education in Clayton County is increasing. Clayton Junior College is setting up its Vo-Tech program and Carlos Schmitt is the new director. Not only at the college, but in the local high schools vocational and technical education is part of the curriculum. (Staff Photo By

Festival Of Arts Set May 2 At CJC

The Third Annual Festival of the Arts will take place Saturday May 2, 1981 on the campus of Clayton Junior College in Morrow.

Meet set

to discuss college

There will be a public meeting in the Henry County High School library at 9 a.m. Monday, May 4, for the purpose of discussing the advantages and disadvantages that might be involved if Clayton Junior College were to become a fouryear institution.

The Henry County meeting is only one of a series of such meetings to be held next week in areas surrounding Clayton Junior College.

The discussions are Epart of a review process used to determine whet-Ther Clayton should remain a two-year college or change to a four-year program.

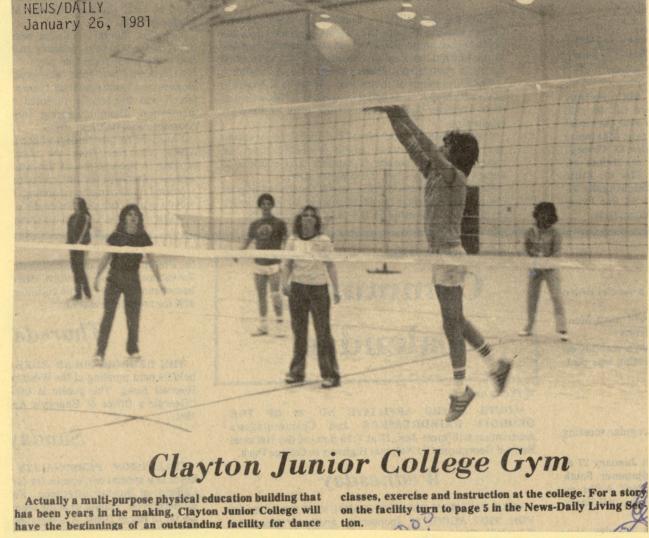

Any interested persons are invited to attend.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. There is no admission charge to the festival, which is sponsored by the Clayton County Arts and Humanities Council. The new additions to the festival are an art competition and an art exhibition. The competition is being sponsored by Brown's Guide to Georgia. They are providing $100 in cash awards. In addition, judges will be evaluating the entries for possible inclusion as a cover for an upcoming issue of Brown's Guide to Georgia. This competition is open to all artists who live or work in Clayton County. The Art Exhibition will feature art by students in Clayton County Public schools. Certificates and prize ribbons are being provided by the 16th District PTA, the PTA President's Club and the Swint Elementary PTA. Over 150 students are expected to exhibit paintings and drawings.

In addition to art, the festival will include dance exhibitions by Adamson Junior High and Brown Elementary School, drama performances by Jonesboro and Forest Park Senior

Front: (L-R) Students Michael Fields, Alex White and Amy White along with (Back: L-R) Instructor Betty White, Sherri Dobbs and Tara Clonts appeared in a piano recital sponsored by the South Metro Atlant Music Teachers Association at Clayton Junior College. They are students in Mrs. White's piano

New physical education building completed at college

A multi-purpose ad- ing's mechanical system building funds brought with-in the new structure metric area and practice Playing fields for softdition to the physical forced the postponement. about the seven-year include a dance and cages for golf and Clayton Junior College structure in late Sepwas completed recently, tember, 1979, five months open for the start of Fall plans and specifications space. Quarter classes last for the addition were addition, attached to the lobby and exhibit area, structure, built at a cost and classes were con- after the Board of Re- north side of the original storage areas, and restducted in the new facility gents of the University structure, expands the rooms. beginning Monday, Jan. System of Georgia pro- College's indoor physical vided $1,487,496 to fund education plant to over two full-length basketball Originally scheduled to the project. Original 42,000 square feet of floor courts which will serve music studio, classroom archery. The 25,000 square foot space, faculty offices, a intramural sports such as for men and women, Designed around a basketball, badminton, equipment storage areas, problems in the build- 1972, but a shortage of other facilities provided Also included is an iso- are included.

of $489,862 in 1969, are jacent to the physical areas for classroom in- education building. The gymnasium has struction, weight training, and gymnastics. Shower and locker areas the start of Fall Quarter ball and baseball, tennis courts, a putting green September, 1974 --- a for golf, and jogging trails are located ad-

The College opened its doors to area students for celebrated on the Col-September, a number of approved in December of multi-use gymnasium, tennis, and volleyball. and faculty offices also signed to blend with the

Five years later---in two-story Classroom Building was occupied, and the opening of the 57,000 square foot Learning Resources Center was lege's tenth anniversary.

The addition of the physical education facility completes all connatural beauty of their struction currently in progress and moves the College a step closer to completion of its original campus plan. Molded around three lakes on a beautifullylandscaped 163 - acre tract, the Clayton Junior college campus was designed to meet the growing demands for higher education in the south metropolitan At-

Scholarship Check Awarded

(R) G. Robert Oliver, representing the Jonesboro law firm of Oliver, Duckworth, Sparger and Winkle, presents a scholarship check to Guy Benefield, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Clayton Junior College Foundation. The $429 check will fund one of the 66 budgeted scholarships in the foundation's 1981-82 program of work. Oliver is vice-chairman of the board of trustees.

Physical Education Building Opens

to the physical education building at Clayton Junior College was completed recently, and classes were conducted in the new facility beginning Jan. 19.

Originally scheduled to open for the start of fall quarter classes last September, a number of problems in the building's mechanical system forced the post-

Work began on the structure in late September 1979, five months after the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia provided $1,487,496 to fund the Original plans and specifications for the addition were approved in December 1972, but a shortage of building funds brought about the seven-year delay.

The 25,000 square foot addition, attached to the north side of the original structure, expands the college's indoor physical education plant to over 42,000 square feet of floor space. Designed around a multiuse gymnasium, other facilities provided within the new structure include a dance and music studio, classroom space, faculty offices, a lobby and exhibit area, storage areas and restrooms.

The gymnasium has two full-length basketball courts isometric area and practice weight training and gym- ulty offices also are in- classes in 1969 with six cam-

Within the original struc-

Also included is an for classroom instruction, ment storage areas and fac- the start of fall quarter $489,862 in 1969, are areas for men and women, equip- doors to area students for ty of their surroundings.

badminton, tennis, and vol- ture, bult at a cost of Shower and locker areas The college opened its blend with the natural beau-

Clayton Jr. College Vo-Tech Ideas Eyed

By ELAINE ALMON Staff Writer

A series of task force meetings on Vocational Technical Education programs to be offered at Clayton Junior College in Morrow will be conducted on campus this week, with several business, industry and professional leaders invited to take Five different two-hour meetings were set up, the first being held yesterday. The series of meetings runs each day of this week through Friday, Feb. 20.

"The information we hope to obtain from these group meetings will be added to Labor Department employment statistics and student interest information that we have compiled," said Dr. Carlos R. Schmitt, chairman of the Division of vocational-technical education.

"It is our objective to determine employment trends that will help us to establish the programs we need to offer," he added. Each task force group will be assigned to look at its specific area of interest and to identify present and future employment opportunities.

The result of these discussions according to Schmitt, will be used to help the college in planning vocational-technical education programs, some of which will be offered in September of this year.

Monday's group discussed the needs of business and distribution. Tuesday's meeting will focus on engineering, industrial, and manufacturing. Health services is the scheduled topic of the discussion on Wednesday, and public service, natural sciences and agriculture-business will be discussed Thursday. Friday's meeting will include area educators discussing the needs for occupational programs. Clayton Junior College will add vocational-technical education programs to its offerings this fall under the joint sponsorship of the State Board of Education and the University System of Georgia.

Foundation Scholarships

Harmon M. Born (right), President of Beaudry Ford, Inc., presents a $1,000 scholarship contribution to W. Cameron Mitchell, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Clayton Junior College Foundation. Born, who also serves as Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Foundation, made the contribution to the Endowment Fund.

February 20, 1931 Business, Industry Leaders Study Voc.-Ed. Needs

A series of task force meetings on Vocational-Technical Education programs to be offered at Clayton Junior College were conducted by the twoyear institution near Morrow this week.

Several business, industry and professional leaders from throughout the community were invited to take part in five different two-hour meetings.

ment employment statistics and student interest information that we have compiled," according to Dr. Carlos R. Schmitt, Chairman of the Division of Vocational-Technical Education at Clayton Junior

"The information we hope to obtain from these group meetings will be added to Labor DepartCollege.

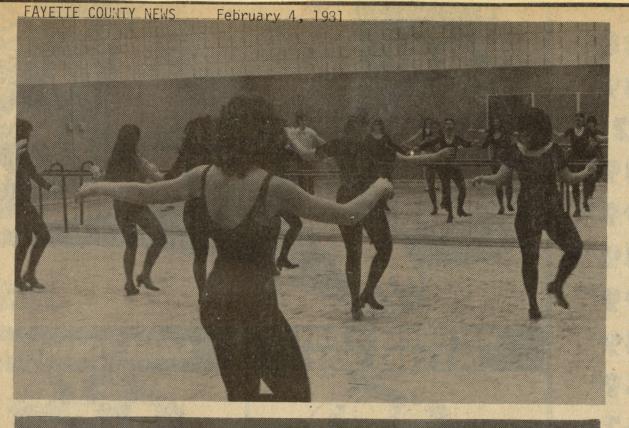

"It is our objective to determine employment trends that will help us to establish the programs we need to offer." he added.

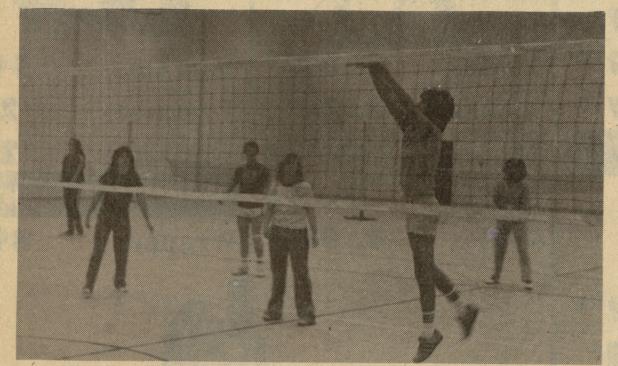

Dr. Carlos R. Schmitt Vocational Ed. Chairman

Each task force groupwas assigned to look at their specific area of interest and to identify present and future employment opportunities, Dr. Schmitt pointed out. The results of these discussions will help the College in planning vocational-technical programs, some to be offered in September of this year.

Other programs will be phased into the offerings as facilities become available.

Clayton Junior College will add vocationaltechnical education programs to its offerings this Fall under the joint sponsorship of the State Board of Education and the University System of Georgia.

Clayton County Junior College physical education students participate in volleyball and tap dancing in the recently opened Multi-Use Gymnasium on the Morrow

Friday, February 6, 1981 CJC Adds A Touch Of Class

By CINDY JERNIGAN Feature Editor

campus.

Clayton Junior College near Morrow faces two new challenges in 1981 with the fall opening of its Division of Vocational-Technical Education and a study currently being conducted to determine whether the school should become a four-year institution.

The vocational-technical division was authorized by the Georgia Board of Regents July 1, 1980.

The new division will be jointly funded and operated through an agreement between the Board of Regents and the Georgia Board of Education.

Vocational-technical courses to be offered at the college are still being developed, but college officials say the courses will be offered fall quarter which begins in

The new courses will be designed to add to the offerings of the college's existing one-year and two-year occupational programs, according to Dr. Harry Downs, president of the Occupational programs currently being offered at Clayton Junior include nursing, dental hygiene office practices, legal practices and general secretarial studies, teacher assistant, music, medical laboratory technology, library, media technical assistant, accounting, aviation administration, banking and finance, and criminal justice.

The chairman for the newly-formed division is Dr. Carlos R. Schmitt, who most recently directed the South Technical Education Center in Boynton Beach, Florida.

Dr. Schmitt's responsibilities include planning and implementing vocational-technical programs, working with local residents to identify needed programs, ordering equipment, scheduling vocation-technical courses and recruiting faculty and students.

According to Downs, the major goal of the new division will be to meet the employment needs of area businesses

A meeting has been planned for February with local business and industry representatives and college officials are asking for their input as vocational-technical programs are developed.

Students who fulfill the requirements established as part of the programs offered by the new division will receive the Associate in Applied Sciences Degree. The study to determine the possibility of making Clayton Junior a four-year college will have no effect on the opening of the vocational-technical division, according to Board of Regents Chancellor Dr. Veron Crawford granted a request by Downs in September to make Clayton Junior one of the first colleges in the state's university system to undergo a review of mission and status. The review process requires that an examination of the entire college and its community take place, including a study of instruction, research and service programs. Demographic characteristics of the college's service area, projected student enrollment, employment opportunities for graduates and cost effectiveness of current programs being offered will be taken into consideration. Community interest will also be explored, according to Downs, to determine the involvement of educational, civic and political groups in the college's request for a change in Although an exact timetable for the study has not been outlined, college officials say the review process should not take more than a year. Downs says his main concern is that the study be objec-

"We are going to make every effort to provide the Chancellor's office with the material needed for a fair review to determine our qualifications for becoming a fouryear institution," he commented recently. According to the president, enrollment at Clayton Junior has been at the 3,000 mark for the last five years. The college opened its doors in September, 1969.

FOREST PARK CITIZEN GEORGE MILLER Responds At Airport Expansion Forum At CJC

Airport Noise Brings Noise

Staff Writer

Atlanta airport planners who came to Clayton Junior College Tuesday night to hold a public forum on proposed runway expansion were met head-on by angry north Clayton restrictions, extension or another County homeowners protesting aircraft noise

Shirley Harris, manager of planning for Hartsfield Atlanta International Airport, and airport engineer Andy Bell were at the college to announce plans to add a total of 3,889 feet to a southern runway and to build a 9,000-foot fourth runway north of the existing airfield.

About 100 residents of old Mountain View, northern Forest Park, College Park, Ellenwood and other northern Clayton County communities took advantage of the forum to complain of health problems, property damage and declining real estate values because of jet noise and fumes from aircraft fumes.

Tuesday's meeting is the first of three aimed at identifying issues and conflicts related to the proposed expansion of runway facilities at the airport, according to Ms. Harris.

According to a slide show presented by Bell, air traffic congestion and flight delays as well as longer runways need for fuel-laden international flights are making some expansion or revision of operations at the airport hearing, but does admit that the publicity firm in charge missed several notification deadlines and failed to send letters concerning the event to some interested parties, including one

She has made "a personal commit-

"We cannot tolerate (such mis-

Hartupee's charge that the hearing takes in the future," she adds. "We don't want it to appear that this was was viewed as little more than a legality to be dispensed with was reiterated by association secretary

Martha Westbrook and legal commit-problems and our stress problems

(because of noise,)" Starke com-cancer rates in Clayton County, and high pollution counts in areas like

Mountain and about loss of proper

He characterized planners as "un-

"The (airport planners') problem is not our problem," Starke noted.

'Their problem is to get the airport

The homeowners feel that the planned expansions will add greatly to their noise and air pollution problems,

'We told them about our sleep

"We talked about reports of high tee chairman Bill Starke.

value," he added.

responsive.

expanded.

tment" to seeing that publicity for local newspaper.

ciently, she says.

intentional.

Alternatives to be considered in an environmental impact study of the expansion are construction of the new runway space, building a new airport or spreading operations to other airports, limiting flights through and administrative taxes runway or no action at all. Growth in operations at the airport means a $2 billion contribution to the Atlanta area economy, with $245 million coming from conventions in a single year, according to the show. 'Money! That's all you ever talk about. Maybe we don't want all that money in our community," replied Jay Connelley, vice-president of the Clayton County Homeowners Association, to the slide show's figures on the airport's economic contribution.

Connelley, who declined the use of a microphone because he was "used to talking over those airplanes," said that his north Forest Park neighborhood was plagued by the noise of aircraft and the smell of kerosene from jet fumes.

"Let some other people share in the problems. They share in the profits," he said.

He warned that increase in air traffic would increase the chances of an aircraft accident.

"You know darn well the day is coming when we are going to have a catastrophe," he said. George Miller, who said his home on Mitchell Street in Forest Park is directly in the path of takeoff patterns, urged the airport planner to consider buying up environmental impacted land or offering economic

"Buy up everything in your path that will be affected, before you build the runway," he said.

assistance to residents who wanted to

Miller and others who spoke at the meeting accused the planners and consultants hired to participate in the environmental study of being prejudiced because they were emloyees of the city of Atlanta. Connelley asked Ms. Harris if the city of Atlanta would be bound by the advice of the consultants and engineers if that advice proved to be negative.

"Atlanta will take environmental studies into account," she said. Several homeowners rose to protest noise from the aircraft, saying that it leads to stress, heart disease and hearing loss. Others complained of a dark greasy residue on their homes and cars, which they blamed on fallout from jet exhaust

Herman Brown complained that he was trying to sell a house in Forest Park, under the aircraft pattern, but could get loan agencies to offer to finance only half the assessed value of the house. A number of Clayton County commissioners and state legislators were present at the meeting, but only Rep. Rudolph Johnson and Commissioner Raymond Johnson spoke to the crowd. Rep. Rudolph Johnson said that local authorities did not have the power to forbid air traffic over their districts or that action would already have been taken. Commissioner Johnson, who warned the residents that his opinion would not be popular, said the first step in relieving the noise problems in the area would be to contain the air traffic to a single takeoff pattern, rather than varying the takeoff direction over several areas of the Clayton County authorities tried to persuade the FAA to allow aircraft departures from runway 9-Left to follow a 70-degree heading, taking the planes north and away from his own noise-impacted Forest Park home. The FAA found the northerly departure pattern would be too dangerous, the commissioner said.

The Tuesday meeting was one of three informational meetings to be held on the airport expansion and its environmental impact. Two other public meetings and a public hearing will be announced during the next nine months, according to Bell.

Group Declares
'Cheap Tactics' gave the public little notice of the

By DEBORAH SMITH Staff Writer

Several key members of the Clayton County Homeowners Association have expressed distrust and outright anger over what their president calls 'cheap tactics' being used by representatives of Hartsfield Atlanta International Airport.

Airport planners held a hearing at Clayton Junior College last week to assess public opinion of two proposed runway additions.

According to Shirley Harris, in charge of planning at Hartsfield, the hearings are a required part of environmental impact st- udies and must be conducted before a decision is made on the runway construction.

Homeowner's President Bob Hartupee says, however, that the hearings are "a technicality" that have no actual bearing on the airport's plan to build a new runway and extend another

And his members are also upset over planner's notification procedures, which Hartupee asserts gave them little time to or ganize, or even publicize, the hearing.

Approximately 100 people attended last Tuesday night's meeting, but Hartupee says his association could have had more than twice that number present if he had been given earlier notification of the meeting, which was the only one of its kind to be held in Clayton County

Hartupee says the public relau. firm handling publicity for the study failed to notify him about the hearing until the Thursday before, leaving virtually no time, he notes, for the association's telephone committee to contact all of the more than 400 residents who are member "If they don't have a good turnout, they don't have to worry about us," Hartupee reasons. "It was a cheap trick, a tactic. Most of the association's members future meetings is handled more effilive in north Forest Park, directly under the flight path of the airplanes that would be using the proposed runway extension.

Ms. Harris denies Hartupee's allegation that the planners deliberately

BOB HARTUPEE 'A Technicality

VIEWPOINT

February 25, 1981 THIS WEEK

Beneficial program

A new program instituted by nearby Clayton Junior College can have far reaching benefits for employers and job-seekers in our

The college, located at Morrow, has received authorization to begin adding vocational-technical programs to its list of offerings, beginning this fall.

Clayton will be the state's fourth junior college -- the first in an urban area -- to start offering vocational-technical courses.

Dr. Harry S. Downs, college president, emphasizes that the school wants to provide quality training to produce fully qualified employees for the businesses, industries, and service agencies of our area. Dr. Carlos Schmitt, who put together a highly-successful program of this type in Florida, has been brought in to head Clayton Junior College's vocational-technical education effort.

The college is currently working with task force groups composed of area citizens to identify the occupations and programs which will best serve area needs. There have been task forces studying business, engineering/ technical, health, public service, natural resources and agri-business fields.

For local employers who have experienced difficulty in locating and hiring qualified workers, the program at Clayton Junior College is a welcomed service. We urge business, industry and agency leaders to work with this worthwhile effort.

Editor, ATL The Environmental Impact Study on the proposed fourth runway at the Hartsfield Atlanta International Airport is entering a new phase.

The issues relating to the study were identified during the past year and the actual assessment is now being undertaken, according to Shirley Harris, manager of airport

She said that three public forums have been scheduled for this week, with the first to be held in Clayton County Tuesday night. It will begin at 7:30 p.m. at Clayton Junior College, Room 200 of the Student Center.

The second forum, for DeKalb County residents, will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the DeKalb County Courthouse. The third forum will be held at the College Park Auditorium Thursday, beginning at 7:30 p.m., for Fulton County

These are the first public sessions scheduled to be held in the proposed 12-month envionmental assessment, which will examine the social, economic and environmental impacts of the proposed Runway Development

Aviation Commissioner George Berry on Friday, meanwhile, announced the formation of a team of consultants to study the environmental impacts of the proposed fourth runway and extensions to an existing runway at the airport.

The team includes Atlanta Airport engineers; Garrett Communications; Bolt, Beranek and Newman, Inc.; Georgia Institute of Technology; R. Dixon Speas; Morehouse College; Millkey and Brown Associates and Urban Systems of America.

A key component of the study is to involve area residents, local elected officials and federal, state and local agencies, according to Ruby Garrett

Named By Chamber

February 20, 1931

Clayton County STAR Students

of Garrett Communications. She said area residents are encouraged to attend these forums.

The new runway is proposed for the north side of the Atlanta International Airport to provide additional airfield capability. To cost approximately $60 million, it will be almost two miles long and the east-west strip of concrete and asphalt will lie 1,000 feet north of the present north runway just within Fulton County near the old terminal building.

William D. Buchanan has been named the 1981 STAR

Student for the Clayton

County Chamber of Commerce. The

announcement took place at a luncheon hosted by the Forest Park Rotary Club at the Holiday Inn - South, on Wednesday, February 4,

1981. The occasion was a part of the Student Teacher

Achievement Recognition

(STAR) Program, sponsored annually by the

Clayton County Chamber

of Commerce and the Georgia Chamber statewide. A Senior at

Jonesboro Sr. High School,

Mr. Buchanan received a cash scholarship from the

Clayton County Chamber

of Commerce, and a full two-year scholarship from

Clayton Junior College. As his STAR Teacher, he selected Virginia R. Hasty, math instructor, because of the great contribution she has made to Mr.

Buchanan's scholastic

Clayton County's STAR

Student is the son of Mr. &

Mrs. Walter Buchanan of Jonesboro. President of his school's Beta Club, he has been involved with the tennis team, concert choir and he enjoys reading. In a special program at development.

It is also proposed that one of the south runways be extended by almost 4,000 feet so as to better accommodate international flights into and out of the Atlanta International Airport.

Airport officials said Friday that the proposed project and six alternates will be considered by the Study

The alternates considered will be as Alternate One-Have unrestricted runway use for takeoffs and / or landings, use the new runway primarily for takeoffs or landings, or any various comvinations, of use. Alternate Two--The No Action alternate is to be considered. Alternate Three--Instead of expanding the existing runway system, develop and operate a new air carrier airport to serve the region.

Alternate Four-Transfer general aviation activity to other airports in the Atlanta region.

Alternate Five-Use financial and operational methods on the Airport to duce existing and projected demand for both air carrier and general aviation activities.

Alternate Six--Considerate the extension of another existing or proposed runway to accommodate the growing international air traffic

The Environmental Assessment Study Team will issue monthly reports, newsletters and hold public sessions to obtain input on the study and keep the public abreast of its progress. A Public Information Center is also being set up on the fifth floor of the old terminal to provide the public with information regarding

Scholarship Check

NEWS/DAILY February 20, 1981 Environment Is Concern Of Leadership Clayton Participants

For the past six months a group of nineteen individuals have been meeting as a part of the Leadership Clayton program. The effort, which co-sponsored by the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and Clayton Junior College, "is designed to assist individuals in growing personally and in becoming familiar with the community in hopes of their becoming more actively involved." according to Robert C. Bolander, Chairman of the Leadership Clayton Task Force. In addition to scheduled programs on subjects such as government, economics and the criminal justice system, "the participants decided to take on, as a special project, the recommendations of a special Chamber task force study on environmental quality, issued following the 1979 Image Study. They are now developing information in order to review the feasibility of Clayton County becoming associated with the Clean Community System, which is a part of the Keep America Beautiful organization," Bolander explained. "CCS utilizes behavioral science to change attitudes toward waste handling practices at the local level through cooperative efforts by the public and private sectors. It is an ongoing program rather than a one time clean-up campaign." This program has resulted in environmental quality in other communities such as Macon and Rome, Georgia. Members of the Leadership Clayton class enlisted three individuals. from various segments of the community, to attend a recent workshop on the CCS, held in Tifton. Former Morrow Mayor, Lou Hisel, representing civic interests; Gerald Matthews of Georgia Waste Systems, representing business, and Bettielu

Conaway, from the County

Commissioners' Office to represent government, participated in the gathering with individuals from other Georgia counties. They reported back to the Leadership

Clayton participants at

Acting as spokesman, Hisel stated that the "goal of the their February meeting.

Clean Community System is to maintain a sustained litter reduction system. The first step is to determine Clayton County's needs in the area of waste management.' "The participants in the Leadership Clayton effort are now about the task of researching the county's needs," Bolander pointed out and praised the class stating that, "we are achieving the goal of the program by already becoming involved with this environmental project. That kind of concern with the community is what Leadership Clayton is all

* Those involved in the 1980-81 Leadership Clayton program are: Lena Almon, Pointe South Elementary School; James Breedlove,

Southern Bell; Rick A. Duncan, C & S Bank; Rudy Echols, Georgia Power; Lawrence Epps, Ellman's; Harold G. Hollans, Trust Company Bank; Lt. Col. Nils P. Johannesen, Georgia State University: Mike Mixon, Delta Airlines; Jerry Nesbitt, Tri-City Realty; Ray Oakes, Oakes Upholstery, Jean Odum, Tri-City Realty; Ted Pylant, Ted Pylant Insurance Agency; Brenda Rayburn, Southern Bell; Paul Robbins, Pointe South Junior High School; Jerry Sandoval, Norman Realty; Kitty Seabolt; Family and Children's Glenda Services; Slaughter, homemaker; Robert Taylor, Clayton Jr. College; and T. Victor

Varnadoe, Trust Company

STAR Student Bill Buchanan, left, and STAR Teacher Mrs. Virginia Hasty now move on to district STAR

No to Freshman Scholar, Board of Education Says

By TRACY THOMPSON

Sixteen-yearold Tracy Chadwell's request to enroll in the Freshman Scholar program at Clayton Junior College was denied Monday night by the Clayton County Board of Education in a decision that may have farreaching consequences for future Freshman Scholars in the county.

The vote to deny Miss Chadwell's request was 7-1, with Morrow board member Abner Moore offering the only dissenting vote. Following the vote, a motion by Moore that the board review the county's requirements for Freshman Scholar students passed un-

MISS Chadwell, a student at North Clayton Senior High School is, by any standard, an outstanding student—a Governor's Honors, participant last summer who, with a 3.87 grade point average, has been enrolled in accelerated courses at NCSH. But because of her age and a dispute over whether she is technically a senior-a requirement for enrolling in the county's Freshman Scholar program—the board turned down her request for early enrollment

The vote came only after lengthy debate

That debate centered around not just the wisdom of allowing 16-year-olds to attend college, but whether the Freshman Scholar program itself isn't, in Clayton County School Superintendent Ernest Stroud's words, "draining some of our best talent."

"I'LL BE HONEST with you," Stroud told Tracy's mother, Diana Chadwell, who had come to the board to present her daughter's case. "A lot of our staff and principals have mixed feelings about advanced placement, even for seniors."

At a time when test scores and grades are down all over the country as well as in Clayton County, Stroud said, the practice of allowing academically advanced students to move on to college early means "they're not there to help us pull our grade point averages up. The students we've looked for in sophomore and junior years to provide leadership in their senior years just aren't

However, Mrs. Chadwell defended her daughter's request to be allowed to attend CJC-or some other metro Atlanta university like Georgia Tech or Emory-while finishing up her requirements for high school graduation as "something she feels like she's

AT THE MOMENT, the requirements for students wishing to enter the Freshman Scholar program in Clayton County is that the student receive his or her principal's recommendation, have earned 225 credit hours toward graduation, have a grad average of B or better, score at least 900 points on the Scholastic Aptitude Test, and be a senior. Miss Chadwell meets all those requirements except two, said her mother: NCSH Principal Julian Mock's recommendation, and the designation as a senior. Although Miss Chadwell has earned 240 credit hours toward high school graduation, and only 210 are required to become a senior, she is officially a junior until the end of this school year according to a county policy which states that students must spend a minimum of three years in school to qualify

"In DeKalb County, there'd be no problem," said Mrs. Chadwell. "She'd already be a senior in their school system.'

BOARD MEMBER Lamar Northcutt seemed to sum up most board member's objections to Miss Chadwell's request when he told Mrs. Chadwell, "There are exceptions to every rule, and you may very well have one of the exceptions. But sending these (Freshman Scholars) on to college places them with older people. Some can handle it but most can't. I think it's detrimental, not just to the learning process but to the social process."

But Moore, on the only dissenting member of the board, disagreed-while at the same time maintaining that Clayton County's Freshman Scholar requirements were too

"I think we as a governing body shouldn't usurp the parent's role," he said. "If they make a mistake they'll just have to live with it. I think the child's going to miss a lot but that's a decision she and her mother have to

Georgia State University, he participated in a mock United Nations. Mrs. Diana Chadwell, mother of 16-Senior Classification Interpreted Differently

By RICHARD MITCHELL

Staff Writer The appeal at the recent Clayton County School Board meeting by Diana Chadwell on the refusal to allow her daughter to participate in the joint enrollment program at Clayton Junior College, serves to exemplify the problems that exist in programs such as these which rely on individual interpertation.

Tracy Chadwell, 16, a student at North Clayton Senior High School was hoping to enter the Freshman Scholar Program at Clayton Junior College this spring. The program "offers high school students who have attained senior class status an opportunity to enroll in college courses while completing requirements for high school graduation. Students may enroll in the program at the beginning of the September, January, March or June quarter.

In order to qualify for the program, a student must have a minimum of 225 quarter hours toward graduation and be classified as a high school senior.

They also need an academic average of 3.0 or higher and achieved a minimum composite score of 900 on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT).

Students must also be recommended by their high school principal and counselor. Miss Chadwell has 240 quarter hours and a 3.87 academic average. She has not attended high school three years, however, so she would not be classified a senior by the Clayton County school 'My daughter meets all the requirements except being considered a senior, said Mrs. Chadwell 'As for credit, she was a senior a quarter ago," she said.

The school board's contention was their requirements for a senior is they have 210 hours and be placed in a senior homeroom at the beginning of the term. Miss Chadwell was in a junior homer-

BANK SUPPORTS of Clayton Junior College FOUNDATION--Kenneth and a member of the College Kilpatrick (right), President Foundation's Board of of the First Bank of Clayton Trustees. The $429 check will County, presents a fund one of the more than 50 scholarship check to Dr. scholarships sponsored by Harry S. Downs, President the Foundation this year.

School Board Rejects 'Early Senior' Plea

Staff Writer

The Clayton County Board of Education stuck to its rules and regulations Monday night, denying appeals by a high school student's mother to redefine "senior".

The board also voted to hear any special disciplinary problems which might come up between board meetings through special called meetings of the full board rather than establishing a separate hearing panel.

year-old Tracy Chadwell, a student of North Clayton Senior High School, asked the board to change what she termed a technicality in the school system's definition of what constitutes a high school senior.

She told the board her daughter would have 240 quarter hours of credit at the end of the winter quarter, 15 more than are required for senior status, and wanted to participate in a joint enrollment program at Clayton Junior College during the spring

However, under Clayton school policy, one of the requirements to be a high school senior is three years in high school. Tracy, currently in her junior year, does not meet criteria to be considered a senior even though she has ample credit hours.

Because of that three-year qualification, she cannot enroll in the joint enrollment program at Clayton Junior College until the fall quarter of next school year, Mrs. Chadwell said. Since she plans to graduate early, she could only participate in the program one quarter. "My daughter feels it is to her advantage to go ahead," Mrs. Chadwell told the board. "And she meets all the criteria of the program-except being a high school senior.' To qualify for the joint enrollment program, in which an advanced high school senior can take freshman courses in college, a student's application must be approved by the high school principal and a counselor. among others.

North Clayton principal Julian Mock and counselor Tommy Ward, however, had refused to approve Chadwell's application because she had not spent three years in high

Dr. Emmitt Lee, assistant superintendent of instruction, upheld their decision upon appeal by Mrs. Chadwell, who then took her case before the school board. Lee characterized the talks with Mrs. Chadwell as "very pleasant," but told board members making an exception to school rules might cause problems. "All high schools have interpreted a senior as a student enrolled in a senior homeroom in the fall quarter," Lee said. "We will be getting into quite a bit of hot water if we change or waive the rules at this stage. Several board commented on the fact that several programs offered gifted students in Clayton schools a chance to accelerate their graduation from school and that a three-year requirement for senior status might work against the purpose of the accelerated programs. School superintendent Ernest Stroud said school staff members had mixed feelings about advanced programs, adding that early graduation of gifted students was 'draining some of our best talent.' Board member Lowell Northcutt supported the three-year rule. "No matter how intellectual you are, think it is to your advantage to take the time and go through the system," he said, commenting the time was needed for social maturation. But Dr. Abner Moore, another board member, said he believed that was a choice to be made by the student and parents involved. He supported the three-year rule personally, but thought it was up to the parents, not the school board, to

"If they make a mistake, that's their problem," Moore said. The board voted to deny Tracy

Chadwell classification as a senior to allow entry into the joint enrollment program, with Moore casting a dissenting vote.

Voc-Tech Task Force Explores Employment Trends

By CHARLIE SMITH

More than 200 of Clayton the new department, Dr. County business, industry and professional leaders are chairman of the division of meeting at Clayton Junior College this week to help the tion said Tuesday. "When college determine current we turn out a student, we employment trends that will taught in the new Vocational Technical Education programs to be offered in September.

The employment experts, meeting in separate twonour sessions that began Monday and are scheduled to continue through Friday, were to explore specific areas of interest and to idenemployment opportunities. The task force finding will need to know where to place aid in planning courses to be him,—we want to be on target with our courses," 'Quite often programs are started without checking to see if there's a need for them-this way (through task force meetings) we'll know what the community findings to determine the vocational-technical educa-

areas of concentration for needs," he said. Monday's group discussed tify present and future the needs of business and distribution, while Tuesday's meeting focused be compared with man- on engineering, industry power data and student and manufacturing.

Discussions on health ser- agri-business were to be the potential need for oc- state Board of Education will begin a continuous vices were scheduled for topics today.

cupational programs. Wednesday, and public ser- In Friday's meeting, area CJC's voc-tech program is of Georgia.

Carlos R. Schmitt, vice, natural sciences and educators will discuss the jointly sponsored by the "We hope the meetings munity," Schmitt said.

and the University System relationship with the Clayton business com-

THE CLAYTON SUN April 30, 1981 CJC Future Topic Of Meetings

A series of meetings will that morning, 9 a.m. in the the public, and anyone be held in the south metro board room of the Fulton wishing to express an opina four-year institution.

at the McIntosh Ampitheatre in Peachtree City, the public is invited to voice opinions on the choice between the two-year institution in Morrow remaining a junior college, or being expanded into a four year college. A meeting will be held area concerning the future County School Services ion on the matter is welof Clayton Junior College as Building on Cleveland Ave- come to speak. For further nue in southwest Atlanta. information, phone 961-Monday, May 4, 2 p.m. All meetings are open to 3531.

'Little Choice'

Dear Editor:

After reading the March 4 article headlined "School Board Rejects 'Early Senior' Plea," I feel it is time citizens of Clayton County heard a true case history of a Freshman Scholar participant rather than the myths constantly put forth by the Clayton County Board of Education.

I could easily consider my three years in Clayton County high schools as absolutely worthless if it were not for a very small number of good teachers and my involvement in the Freshman Scholar Program.

School superintendent Ernest Stroud said, according to the article, that early graduation of gifted students was "draining some of our best talent." I feel this is a ridiculous assertion. Involvement in the Freshman Scholar Program is not the cause of early graduations. Freshman Scholars simply go to high school and college, getting credit for both. As for draining talent, it is up to the student to decide where he wants to spend his extracurricular time. As a Freshman Scholar, I managed to keep up with my classes, work a part-time job, and participate in my high school drama club, Beta club and Spanish club, as well as serve as layout editor of Clayton Junior College's student newspaper.

If the Freshman Scholar Program does drain off the top layer of high school talent though, it only reveals a second layer of potential leadersstudents who have magnificent leadership abilities, but were formerly inhibited in the high school environment because they were not "pretty" enough or "athletic" enough for their peers to take their leadership

In high school, I was consistently ignored when I ran for office. Some even said I was not assertive enough to be an effective leader. Yet, as a Freshman Scholar, I held an important position on CJC's student newspaper. Three months after my high school graduation, I was named editor-in-chief of the paper and was later chosen as CJC's most outstanding student leader. My high school wasted these hidden talents of

Board member Lowell Northcutt's comment that the time spent in the Clayton County school system was needed for social maturation is the most atrocious statement I have ever heard. There are many students in Clayton County schools right now who would be much better off in an institution of higher learning. They have already socially matured much faster than their high school classmates and they become alienated from their peer group because they are socially beyond the prejudices, cliques, and immature pranks of their classmates. As a Freshman Scholar, I felt right at home with the college students--much more so than I ever did with my graduating class.

Certainly some high school students are not ready for the college environment, but that should be for them to decide, not a group of people who cannot possibly know the psychological makeup of the individual student. The Freshman

Scholar will know almost immediately whether he belongs in the program. If his involvement was a mistake, he will know early enough to correct the mistakes. For some students however, the Freshman Scholar Program is a blessing. I am anticipating graduation before I am 21 years old, and I am extremely pleased that I fought the system and did not "waste" my time in a boring high school environment, but instead, participated in the stimulating social and intellectual life of Clayton Junior

I do believe the Clayton County Board of Education should take extraordinary requests such as that of Tracy Chadwell into deeper consideration. From the start, seniors should have been classified by the number of credits they have earned, not by what homeroom they were in at the beginning of the school year. The three year rule is a mere technicality. The other arguments the Board made against Miss Chadwell's request should not have been made by this bastion of county bureaucracy, but by the student and her parents alone.

There is little hope that Miss Chadwell (or any student in her situation) will ever have her request granted. Therefore, I suggest that if she feels she is ready for college and stifled by the high school environment, she should try to go to summer school and graduate even earlier then she has planned, or she should try to get into the Freshman Scholar Program this summer so that she can still enjoy two quarters of the program. Then she can exercise the freedom of choice denied to her by the Clayton County Board of Education.

Sincerely Teresa R. Greer Forest Park Senior High graduate, 1979 Clayton Junior College graduate, 1980

Wood

4/16/81 Jim

The May 1 annual meeting of the Clayton Junior College Foundation features Georgia's senior U.S. Senator Sam Nunn. We hope you are planning to attend, not only to hear Nunn, but also to look over Clayton Junior College again and hear what the foundation is doing in its program

The program begins at 7 p.m.; tickets are $8.50 per person.

Increased TDK production necessitates new shifts

By Dan Cabaniss TDK officials have recently announced plans to step-up production at their ultramodern videotape assembly plant in the ∞Peachtree City Industrial Park, and are opening two new weekend shifts in order to do so. "These shifts will enable the plant to run seven days a week, 24 hours a day," TDK Personnel ∠Administration Manager Marion Crooke said Mon-≥day, "and they will also oprovide some good jobs for =students."

While the current TDK production schedule con-

United States Senator

Sam Nunn will be the featured speaker at the annual meeting and banquet of the Clayton Junior

Friday evening, May 1.

This year's program,

the sixth annual event

sponsored by the non-profit corporation, will be in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building.

Scheduled to begin at 7 p.m., tickets are on sale

for $8.50 from members of the Foundation's

Board of Trustees, or by calling the College at

and banquet of the foundation has been a spring feature at the college since 1976. Attended by more than 350 area residents last year when

former Secretary of State

Dean Rusk was the speaker, the meeting

gives the Board of Trustees of the Foundation an opportunity to make a report and express

thanks to community

contributors and sup-

The annual meeting

961-3535 or 961-3531.

THE HENRY HERALD April 15, 1981

Nunn to address

college banquet

College Foundation on then elected to a full three times a day Monday through Friday, the new week-end "D" (day) and "E" (evening) shifts will run for 12-hour periods.

D-shift employees will work from 8 a.m.-8:30 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays, Crooke explained, and E-shift employees, from 8:15 p.m. Saturday to 8:15 a.m. Sunday, and from 8:15 p.m. Sunday to 8:15 a.m. Monday.

Besides students, Crooke said, "The E or D shifts are also perfect for housewives. Everybody's looking for money, and this is a good way for sists of eight-hour shifts housewives to earn a little

Senator Nunn was first named to the Senate in 1972 to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator

Richard B. Russell, and six-year term on his own.

In 1978, he drew 84

percent of the vote and was re-elected to a

To obtain tickets, contact one of the members of the Board of Trustees:

Harmon Born, of Rex,

Bob Oliver of Morrow,

Charles Conklin of Jonesboro, Harry Downs of

Morrow, Guy Benefield of

Morrow, Truett Cathy of

Hampton, Ernest Cheaves of Forest Park,

Tommy Clonts of Jones-

boro, Dr. Ernest Dunbar

of Morrow, Cam Mitchell

of Hampton, Hill Redwine of Fayetteville,

Claude Whaley of Jonesboro, or Jim Wood of

For additional information about the Foundation, or the annual meeting and banquet,

call the College's Office of Public Information at Forest Park.

He added that E-shift

look after the kids."

extra while their husbands

workers would earn $5.25 per hour, or $126 per weekend, while D-shift workers would draw $4.45 per hour, or $106.80 per weekend.

Crooke stressed the Dshift positions had been almost completely filled as of Monday, but 20 E-shift positions remained open. He said that applicants required no previous training, and that applications could be made through the Georgia Employment Service offices in Newnan and Griffin. Applicants should not come to the TDK plant in Peachtree City, he

Weekend employees will be treated as permanent TDK employees, re-ceiving full health and disability benefits.

Crooke said that he and other TDK officials had recently visited several nearby college campuses looking for applicants. "We've been to West Georgia College in Carrollton, to Atlanta Area Tech, to Clayton Junior College and to Gordon Junior College in Barnesville. We're looking for two types of employees: those who want to work with us just until they've finished school, and those who would like to come to work with us full-time after they have graduated."

Machine operators trainees will receive 12 to 15 hours of pre-employment training, Crooke said, most of which will be done at night during the week before they begin. If that is not convenient, however, "We can pretty much work out a person's training period with them," he added.

The only requirement TDK asked of student applicants, Crooke said, was that they have a minimun of one year left in TDK recently celebrated the grand opening of their Peachtree City facility, which is the only one of its kind in the United States.

'Nessie' Visits Clayton County

"Nessie", the famous resident of Loch Ness, on a vacation from the cool Scottish waters, takes a dip in the lake near Clayton Junior College. The creature, upset over the clamor passerbys made, left the water to seek more private and warmer territory. "Nessie" was last Desouthbound I-75 thumbing a ride. The exclusive p obtained for the April 1, otherwise known as Al NI Day, issue of News - Daily.

Foundation Check

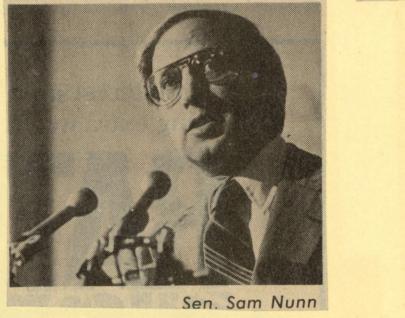

Harmon M. Born (right), President of Beaudry Ford, Inc., presents a $1,000 scholarship contribution to W. Cameron Mitchell, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Clayton Junior College Foundation.

Born, who also serves as Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Foundation, made the contribution to the Endowment Fund.

NEWS/DAILY March 30, 1981 CJC Receives Scholarship

Guy L. Benefield (left), a member of the Board of Directors of the C&S Bank of Clayton County, presents a $1,858 check to Dr. Harry S. Downs, President of Clayton Junior College, to be used for the scholarship program sponsored by the Clayton Junior College Foundation, Inc. $1,000 of the contribution went into the Foundations's endowment fund which will provide earnings for the future. The remaining $858 is to fund two scholarships in this year's program. The C&S Bank of Clayton County has contributed almost $7,500 to the Foundation's scholarship program since

Funds for college

Harmon M. Born, right, President of Beaudry Ford, Inc., presents a $1,000 scholarship contribution to W. Cameron Mitchell of Hampton, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Clayton Junior College Foundation. Born, who also serves as Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Foundation, made the contribution to the Endowment Fund.

Scholarship funds

W. Cameron Mitchell, left, of Hampton represented the Mitchell Foundation of Henry County in presenting a $450 scholarship check to the Clayton Junior College Foundation recently. Accepting the check was Jim Wood, a member of the CJC Foundation's Board of Trustees. Mitchell also is a member of the Board of

Check for Scholarships

Guy L. Benefield (left), a member of the Board of Directors of the C & S Bank of Clayton County, presents a $1,858 check to Dr. Harry S. Downs, president of Clayton Junior College, to be used for the scholarship program sponsored by the Clayton Junior College Foundation, Inc. $1,000 of the contribution went into the Foundation's endowment fund which will provide earnings for the future. The remaining $858 is to fund two scholarships in this year's program. The C & S Bank of Clayton County has contributed almost $7,500 to the Foundation's scholarship program since 1975.

will be the featured speaker at the annual meeting and banquet of the Clayton Junior College Foundation on Friday evening, May 1.

This year's program, the sixth annual event sponsored by the nonprofit corporation, will take place in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building. Scheduled to begin at 7 p.m., tickets are currently on sale at $8.50 each from members of the Foundation's Board of Trustees, or by calling the College at 961-3535 or 961-

The annual meeting and banquet of the Foundation has been a spring feature at the College since 1976. Attended by more than 350 area residents last year when former Secretary of State Dean Rusk was the speaker, the meeting is held annually to give the Board of Trustees of the Foundation an opportunity to make a report and express their thanks to community contributors and

Senator Nunn was first named to the Senate in 1972 to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Richard B. Russell, and then elected to a full sixyear term of his own. In 1978, he drew 84 percent of the vote and was reelected to a second term.

Prior to his election to the Senate, Nunn served two terms (1968-72) in the Georgia House of Representatives as a delegate from Houston County.

His previous Washington experience included one year of service as legal counsel to the House Armed Services Committee (1962-63).

Senator Nunn serves as the ranking minority member on the Manpower and Personnel Subcommittee for the Senate's Armed Services Committee. In addition, he is the ranking minority member of the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations of Governmental Affairs, and is the ranking member of the minority on the Select Committee on Small Business.

The recipient of numerous awards, a recent honor came out of a Washington radio station's survey of legislative assistants in the Senate. The survey, conducted in December of 1980, found that Senator Nunn ranked among the top ten most effective senators in the 96th Congress. The author and promoter of a number of legislative measures

during his tenure in Washington,

Senator Nunn is widely respected for his efforts. The "Watchdog of the Treasury Award" has been presented to him three times by the Associated Businessmen for his efforts to restrain federal spending, and the Americans for Constitutional Action have presented him with their "Distinguished Service Award" on two occasions.

During 1981, Senator Nunn plans to continue his probe of organized crime activities. The goal of current investigations is to update the McClellan Committee's work in racketeering done in the 1960s, to alert the public and the Congress to the magnitude of the organized crime problem in this country, to determine legal impediments to law enforcement in fighting organized crime, and to consider legislative initiatives to remedy the problem.

Born in Perry, Ga., Sam Nunn attended Georgia Tech from 1956 through 1959, and graduated with honors from Emory University's School of Law in 1962. He is married to the former Colleen Ann O'Brien of Olympia, Washington, and they have two children. Michelle and Brian. To obtain tickets, contact one of the members of the Board of Trustees: Harmon Born of Rex, Bob Benefield of Morrow, Truett Cathy of Hampton, Ernest Cheaves of Forest Park, Tommy Clonts of Jonesboro, Dr. Ernest Dunbar of Morrow, Cam Mitchell of Hampton, Hill Redwine of Fayetteville, Claude Whaley of Jonesboro, or Jim Wood of Forest

For additional information about the Foundation, or the annual meeting and banquet, call the College's Office of Public Information at 961-3535.

Sunday, April 12, 1981

CJC Foundation Makes Mark On Clayton

United States Senator Sam Nunn, a native of Perry, will be the featured speaker at the sixth annual meeting and banquet of the Clayton Junior College Foundation on Friday evening, May 1.

Senator Nunn will address the gathering at the Student Center Building on the campus. Tickets are $8.50 per person, on sale by members of the Foundation's Board of Trustees and at the college.

Nunn, now Georgia's senior senator, follows in the path of some topflight speakers brought to the junior college campus by its

The first program, in 1976, featured Dr. Noah Langdale, president of Georgia State University. Langdale was followed by Gov. George Busbee, 1977; Chief Justice of the Supreme Court H. E. Nichols, 1978; Lt. Gov. Zell Miller, 1979; and last year to the largest crowd ever, former United States Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

This spectacular speaker's forum for the college foundation banquet is an indication of much of the side effects our community receives from the location of the junior college facility in our midst. The cultural and educational advantages of such associations are obvious to the public. But there is more than that. The college foundation is beginning to make its mark on the community, too, in encouraging better quality students to attend college here, and on honoring good service from the local staff and faculty.

Wood

Starting from zero, this group has been able to perfect an annual budget of $28,000 this year. This money is used for scholarships and awards, and benefits a growing number of young people who pursue their studies for two years at Clayton Junior College. The record of achievement since 1974, when the foundation was chartered, speaks for itself. And so does the foundation motto, "In Pursuit of Excellence," an admirable

The annual meeting and banquet also serves as "show time" for the foundation because it can tell community people and leaders what it has been doing with their monies contributed each year for scholarships and other uses. The annual banquet also allows the foundation to express its thanks to community contributors and Clayton Junior College Foundation is the epitome of the soft sell in its bid for community attention. The program is simply laid out to all who will listen, and the need is told. The growing number of supporters attests to the effectiveness of this approach.

For those who wish to put their money to work for quality education on the secondary level, there is no better way to do it. The dividends are multiplied in the educational achievements of our community.

The first scholarship offers by the foundation were aimed at the top students of graduating classes in the area served by the junior college. As more funds have been made available, this scope has been broadened to include other talents and levels of scholastic achievement. The progress has been steady.

The latest goal of the foundation has been a buildup in endowment funds, nonexistent when the organization was formed just seven years ago. This fund has been steadily growing. The donations and contributions have come from individuals, clubs, businesses, corporations, and other charitable foundations who know a good cause when they see it.

This month the foundation also begins a quarterly report, a newsletter which will tell its friends and contributors how the non-profit corporation is spending their donations. It will also be possible to keep people informed about foundation activities, such as this banquet on May 1, and to solicit their continued support.

Local people should be proud of the foundation's work, and they usually are when they know the details. You may want to take part in the annual banquet on May 1, hear Senator Nunn, and learn more about your junior college in the process.

We have made many educational achievements in our community in the past 20 years, and one of the leading accomplishments has been Clayton

Thursday, April 16, 1981

Sen Nunn to Speak at CJC Banquet

Sam Nunn will be the featured speaker at the annual meeting and banquet of the Clayton Junior College Foundation on Friday evening, May 1.

This year's program, the sixth annual event sponsored by the non-profit corporation, will take place in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building. Scheduled to begin at 7 p.m., tickets are currently on sale at $8.50 each from members of service as legal counsel to three times by the Assothe Foundation's Board of the House Armed Services ciated Businessmen for his Trustees, or by calling the Committee (1962-63).

The annual meeting and the College since 1976. At- for the Senate's Armed casions. tended by more than 350 Services Committee. In adarea residents last year dition, he is the ranking to a second term.

Prior to his election to the The author and promoter Senate, Nunn served two of a number of legislative the Senate in 1972 to fill the radio station's survey of lem in this country, to Board of Trustees: Harmon at 961-3535.

United States Senator unexpired term of the late legislative assistants in the Senator Richard B. Russel, senate. The survey, conand then elected to a full ducted in December of six-year term on his own. In 1980, found that Senator 1978, he drew 84 percent of Nunn ranked among the the vote and was reelected top ten most effective senators in the 96th Congress.

terms (1968-72) in the Geor- measures during his tenure gia House of Representa- is Washington, Senator tives as a delegate from Nunn is widely respected Houston County. His pre- for his efforts. The "Watchvious Washington experi- dog of the Treasury Award" ence included one year of has been presented to him efforts to restrain federal determine legal impedi- Born of Rex, Bob Oliver of Senator Nunn serves as cans for Constitutional Ac- in fighting organized crime, the ranking minority mem- tion have presented him and to consider legislative Morrow, Guy Benefield of banquet of the foundation ber on the Manpower and with their "Distinguished initiatives to remedy the Morrow, Truett Cathy of has been a spring feature at Personnel Subcommittee Service Award" on two oc- problem.

thanks to community con- The recipient of numer- alert the public and the and Brian. tributors and supporters. ous awards, a recent honor Congress to the magnitude To obtain tickets, contact banquet, call the College's

Sen. Nunn

ments to law enforcement Morrow, Charles Conklin of

During 1981, Senator 1956 through 1959, and when former Secretary of minority member on the Nunn plans to continue his graduated with honors from Cam Mitchell of Hampton, State Dean Rusk was the Permanent Subcommittee probe of organized crime Emory University's School Hill Redwine of Fayettespeaker, the meeting is held on Investigations of Governactivities. The goal of cur- of Law in 1962. He is ville, Claude Whaley of annually to give the Board mental Affairs, and is the rent investigations is to married to the former Colof Trustees of the Founda- ranking member of the mi- update the McClellan Com- leen Ann O'Brien of Olym- Forest Park. tion an opportunity to make nority on the Select Com- mittee's work in racketeer- pia, Washington, and they a report and express their mittee on Small Business. ing done in the 1960s, to have two children, Michelle tion about the Foundation,

Nunn was first named to came out of a Washington of the organized crime prob- one of the members of the Office of Public Information

Jonesboro, Harry Downs of Hampton, Ernest Cheaves Born in Perry, Nunn at- of Forest Park, Tommy tended Georgia Tech from Clonts of Joneboro, Dr. Ernest Dunbar of Morrow.

> For additional informaor the annual meeting and

Jonesboro, or Jim Wood of

News-Daily Photos by Russe!! Moble

Kawneer Contributes

Wayne Allen (second from right), General Manager of Kawneer's architectural products company in Jonesboro, presents a $1,000 check to Dr. Harry S. Downs, President of Clayton Junior College, while Kawneer personnel manager Jim Stewart (left) and

Dr. Billy R. Nail (right), Dean of the College, look on. The College uses the annual contribution by Kawneer to purchase equipment needed for the instructional

Thursday, April 9, 1981

Raises and Voc-Tech Funding Legislative Prizes For County government officials and a measures passed by the that may come to life when figures. financial boost for Clayton state Assembly this year.

legislators meet in August

Higher salaries for county leading county-oriented over the county—a spectre New U.S. Census Bureau court clerk, tax receiver, increases from the legisla- bringing his annual salary technical school.

Worthy

Cause

W. Cameron Mitchell

(left) represented the

Mitchell Foundation of a $450 scholarship check to Accepting the check was Jim probate court judge, tax ture. Junior College's vocational- However, the spectre of to redraw election district The county commission- missioner and state court Chairman Charley Griswell collector, deputy tax com- County Commissioner to $38,500.

Commission salaries will technical school were the reapportionment still hangs lines in accordance with the ers, the sheriff, superior judges all received salary will get a raise of $3,500, but annual expense allowances will go up from $1,800

nual salaries to $27,515.

The deputy tax commismore per year, or $18,725 instead of $17,500. State Court judges will involved in drug trafficking. get $2,450 more annually, boosting their salaries to $37,430 a year.

000 for the new vocational- County has gained.

Sen. Kyle Cobb sponsored statewide legislation to limit the recirculation of stolen automobile parts.

According to the Cobbsponsored bill, auto parts dealers will have to be The sheriff, superior licensed by the state and a court clerk, tax receiver, 15-member Georgia Bureau probate court judge and tax of Investigation team will collector will get raises of be assigned to make sure $1,800, bringing their an-rebuilt cars are assembled with legitimate parts.

This summer, Cobb will be working on a study sioner will receive $1,225 committee to devise legislation to strengthen regulations and penalties for those

Reapportionment may mean a new Congressman for north Clayton County residents if the Fifth Dis-Clayton Junior College trict has lost population, came out a winner, too, while the Sixth District, with an allocation of $425.- which includes Clayton

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS

April 15, 1981 Evert and Reed in piano recital

Jennifer Evert and lege. Julie Reed of Fayettepiano recital featuring of Gordon and Connie of Stockbridge.

day, March 21 at the competing in the Georville participated in a Jennifer, daughter First Baptist Church gia Music Teachers the winners of the Evert, and Julie, Jennifer was one of ditions in May South Metro Atlanta daughter of Harold three 5th graders se- Wesleyan College. Jennifer was one of ditions in May at Music Teachers Asso- and Jackie Reed, are lected, and Julie was ciation Auditions on two local winners of one of three 4th grade of College Park is the Sunday, April 6 at the S.M.A.M.T.A. pianists chosen as a piano teacher of these Clayton Junior Col- Piano Auditions which winner.

These girls will be Association State Au-

Mrs. Carole Mitchell talented students.

Cheryl Stichweh, Mary Lou Ewald, Brian Germano, Beroset. (SUNPhoto By Judy Hotchkiss) Phil Campbell; (center, 1-r) Carrie Watkins, Chris

SOLOS RATED SUPERIOR—These Fayette County
Junior High School students solos were rated Keith McQuilkin, Alfred Harris, Danny Groover; superior at district band competition recently. They (front, 1-r) Charles Brown, Christy Hendrix, Melissa are (rear, 1-r) Beth McQuilkin, Chris Cambron, Sanders, Wendy Hembree, Stephen Price and Cliff

Students Rated Superior In Solo, Ensemble

Twenty Fayette County Junior High band students and one Fayetteville

Many Lou Ewald; Marsha
Cambron, and Beth Mcand Kim Wheatley.

Quilkin and Julie Ed-Elementary School student Janet Aigner and Beth mondson. received superior ratings on Mowell; Wendy Hembree their solos recently at the and Lynn Carlton; Stanley Sixth District Solo and En- Moore and Alfred Harris; samble Competition at Sherry Bishop and Kim Clayton Junior College. Wheatley; Cheryl Stickweb rated superior were Chris Barge, snare drum; Cliff Beroset, saxophone; Charles Brown, French horn; Phil Campbell, saxophone; Chris Cambron, snare drum; Mary Lou Ewald, flute; Brian Germano, trumpet; Danny Groover, tuba; Alfred Harris, trumpet; Wendy Hembree, clarinet; Christy Hendrix, French horn; Beth McQuilkin, xylophone; Keith Mc-Quilkin, snare drum; Eddie Morgan, saxophone; Dan Odom, saxophone; Maria Price of Fayetteville Elementary, flute; Stephen Price, baritone; Melissa Rhyne, clarinet; Melissa Sanders, saxophone; Cheryl Stichweh, clarinet, and Carrie Watkins, flute.

In duet competition, the following students received superior rating: Doug Kirkley and Brian Ger-

Carrie Watkins, Mary Lou Ewald and Angela Huffman; Lynn Carlton, Dawna Ewald and Cheryl In solo competition, those and Wendy Huffman; Black and Wendy Hembree; Stichweh, Wendy Huffman, Christy Hendrix and Lori Mathis, Kathy Harper Kim Wheatley and Lori Charles Brown; Keith Mc- and Laura Garner, Charyl

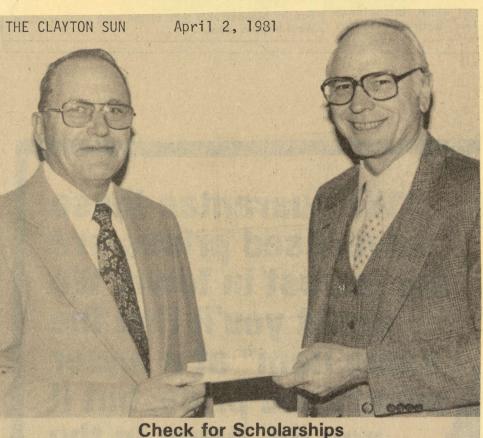

Two quartets received superior ratings. They in-Trios rated superior were cluded Wendy Huffman, Angela Huffman, Cheryl Stichweh and Mary Lou of Kawneer's architectural products company in Jonesboro, presents a $1,000 check to Dr. Harry S. Downs, President of Clayton Junior College, while Kawneer personnel manager Jim Stewart (left) and Wayne Allen (second from right), General Manager Dr. Billy R. Nail (right), Dean of the College, look on. The College uses the annual contribution by Kawneer to purchase equipment needed for the instructional program.

Annual Contribution

Guy L. Benefield (left), a member of the Board of Directors of the C & S Bank of Clayton County, presents a $1,858 check to Dr. Harry S. Downs, president of Clayton Junior College, to be used for the scholarship program sponsored by the Clayton Junior College Foundation, Inc. $1,000 of the contribution went into the Foundation's endowment fund which will provide earnings for the future. The remaining $858 is to fund two scholarships in this year's program. The C & S Bank of Clayton County has contributed almost $7,500 to the Foundation's scholarship program since 1975.

Scholarship Funds

SCHOLARSHIP FUNDS -- Hill R. Redwine (left), President of the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Fayetteville, presents a $300 scholarship check to Ernest Cheaves, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Clayton Junior College Foundation. The contribution goes into the general fund of the Foundation to help support this year's record $29,314 budget.

CJC To Host Runway Talk

By KIRK MARTIN Staff Writer

Atlanta airport officials will hold a public meeting at Clayton Junior College 7:30 p.m. Wednesday to oinform the public on the results of studies of planned airport expansion effects on the surrounding environment.

To be held in the student center auditorium at the college the meeting is one of four being in south Atlanta communities this week. An earlier round of meetings was held to announce plans to expand runway facilities at the airport.

The Wednesday meeting will be used to make public the results of various scientific tests of aircraft noise at points on the ground along the flight paths of aircraft. The meeting will also give citizens a chance to make their feelings known about the planned airport expansion.

Results of computer studies of the loads, speeds and aircraft types of flights in and out of the airport will also be presented to the public at the Wednesday meeting, according to Shirley Harris, director of the environmental assessment team for the runway development project. Atlanta airport officials plan build a fourth runway at the airport. parallel and north of the three existing east-west runways. Also planned are extensions to runway 9L totalling almost 4,000 feet.

Officials of the Atlanta aviation department say that the added runway would help take the strain off existing runway capacity and would keep takeoffs and landings on schedule in the event of foul weather or the need to close one runway for Longer runways are also said to be needed to accommodate the growing number of international flights visiting the airport, providing the longer takeoff space needed for fuelladen aircraft.

Earlier meetings held to announce the building plans brought heavy and bitter criticism from residents of Forest Park, Mountain View, Rex and Ellenwood. Homeowners complained of bothersome aircraft noise, kerosene odors from jet exhaust and oily fallout that covered their homes and cars. Many claimed those factors, especially the noise, had caused them to lose money through declining property values.

Airport officials counter that the airport and its related industries contributed over $2 billion to the Atlanta area economy in 1978 and that the airport industries are the biggest employer in the state.

Clayton Junior College Campus near Morrow. This year the council is sponsoring an art competition in and be prepared for hanging from a peg board or whatever conjunction with the festival. BROWN'S GUIDE TO GEORGIA is providing $100 in cash awards to the winner of the competition. Prizes will be $50 for first place, $30 for second place and hold its Third Annual Festival of Arts Sat., May 2 on the Festival hours will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. There are no entry or admission fees.

Entries For Humanities Festival

$20 for third place.

The Clayton County Arts and Humanities Council will The five rules governing the art competition are: A. All entrants must be residents of Clayton County or must be employed in the county. B. There will be a maximum of five (5) entries per artist. C. All entries must be mounted and on canvas or paper other device that they will be providing for their display. D. The competition will be limited to two-dimensional art to include painting (oils, acrylics, water-color, etc.) or drawings (pen and ink, charcoal, pastels, etc.) Photographs are not eligible to be entered. E. Maximum size: 48" x 72".

In addition to the cash prizes, BROWN'S GUIDE TO

GEORGIA will consider entries for the "BROWN'S GUIDE TO GEORGIA Cover Award" All entiries should be mailed to:

Rob Taylor, Chairman

Clayton Arts and Humanities Council

c/o Clayton Junior College

P.O. Box 285

Morrow, Ga. 30260

Entires may also be delivered to Mr. Taylor at the Dean of Students' Office at the college. Deadline is April 30.

May 22, 1981

Press Run Set May 30

The News-Daily will hold its annual Press Run May 30 to benefit the American Cancer Society at Clayton Junior College.

Featured in this year's Press Run will be a 5,000-meter race, a 10,000meter race and a one mile novice run. Men and women will be able to enter in the races according to their ages, with classifications provided for those under 17, those 18 to 30, those 30 to 50 and those 50 and older. Awards will be given to the first three finishers in each division.

Registration for the race will cost $4, or $5 on the day of the race. Late registration will begin at 7:30 a.m. that morning for the races to begin at 8 a.m. Application forms are available at the News-Daily office, or Clayton Cancer Society, both in Jonesboro.

April 29, 1981

Laurin Tidwell, 27, an Atlanta runner, was the winner of last year's distance event with a time of 16:48 for the three mile event. He outran 178 other participants in the race.

Proceeds from the May 30 race will benefit the Clayton County chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Post Secondary Vocational Education Planned for Area

A series of task force meetings on Vocational-Technical Education programs to be offered at Clayton Junior College were conducted by the two-year institution near Morrow this week.

Several business, industry and professional leaders from throughout the community took part in five different two-hour meetings, scheduled Monday through Friday, February 16-20.

"The information obtained from these group meetings will be added to Labor Department employment statistics and student interest information that we have compiled," according to Dr. Carlos R. Schmitt, Chairman of the Division of Vocational-Technical Education at Clayton Junior College.

"It is our objective to determine employment trends that will help us to establish the programs we April 30, 1981 need to offer." he added.

Each task force group was assigned to look at their specific area of interest and to identify present and future employment opportunities, Dr. Schmitt pointed out. The results of these discussions will help the College in planning vocational-technical programs, some to be offered in September of this year. Other programs will be phased into the offerings as facilities become avail-

Monday's group discussed the needs of business and distribution, while Tuesday's meeting focused on engineering, industrial, and manufacturing. Health services were the scheduled topic of Wednesday's discussion, with public serive, natural sciences and agriculture-business planned for Thursday.

Friday's meeting included area educators discussing the needs for occupational programs.

CJC discusses four-year plan

By Ginger Blackstone The viability of implementing a four-year program at Clayton Junior College will be brought before Fayette County in a review session at McIntosh Amphitheatre Monday.

Beginning at 2 p.m., CJC representatives will discuss whether the school should continue operation as a two-year college, or change to a four-year, granting baccalaureate de-

Dr. Vernon Crawford, Universty System of Georgia chancellor, approved the review in November, 1980, naming CJC as one of the first institutions in the system to undergo such an assessment.

The University System Board of Regents had authorized a new review supported institutions at its September, 1980, meet-

Such reviews will assess the goals, programs and scope of each institution, a process requiring that an examination of the entire college be implemented, including a study of instruction, research and service programs.

Particular attention will be paid to the status of facilities, budgets, students and academic pro-

Fall quarter enrollment at CJC has been at approximately the 3,000 mark for the last five years, according to CJC President Dr. Harry S. Downs, who requested the status change be considered.

"The college has, within easy commuting range, a population in excess of 300,000," Downs said.

There is seemingly an increasing interest on the part of citizens of our community to earn a baccalaureate degree at a place near their homes," he said.

Fayette County citizens are encouraged to attend the Monday meeting at McIntosh, to provide input as well as learn about CJC's possible plans for THE CLAYTON SUN

CJC Four-Year Proposal Studied at Meeting

By TRACY THOMPSON

At a public meeting on the proposal to turn Clayton Junior College into a four-year institution is scheduled for May 5 at the college, CJC spokesman Jerry Atkins announced this week.

The meeting, which will be held in room D-200 on the college campus and which will begin at 9 a.m., is open to any Clayton County resident, Atkins said.

The proposal to turn CJC into a full, fouryear college is pending before the State Board of Regents, Atkins added. The public hearing is part of a lengthy review process mandated by the Board of Regents which will eventually culminate in a report submitted by the college to the board on Oct. 1.

HOWEVER, Atkins said college officials hoped to have the report in much earlier than that--at least by August. "We're asking anyone who has any opinions about the proposal to come to the meeting," he said. "Hopefully we'll be able to generate some new ideas.

The proposal to make the college a fouryear institution was formerly put before the Board of Regents in the fall of 1979, after extensive lobbying efforts by local legislators including State Sen. Terrell Starr, Gov. George Busbee's majority leader in the

IN ORDER to convert to a four-year school, CJC would have to meet criteria established not only by the Board of Regents but by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. Among those criteria are the following standards:

-- At least 40 per cent of a junior college faculty must have done at least one year of graduate study beyond the master's degree

-At least 50 per cent of the faculty of a four-year college should have completed one year of graduate study beyond the master's degree level, while 30 per cent should hold doctorates in their respective disciplines.

Senator Sam Nunn to Adress Clayton College

United States Senator Sam Nunn will be the featured speaker at the annual meeting and banquet of the Clayton Junior College Foundation on Friday evening, May 1.

This year's program, the sixth annual event sponsored by the non-profit corporation, will take place in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building. Scheduled to begin at 7 p.m., tickets are currently on sale at $8.50 each from members of the Foundation's Board of Trustees, or by calling the College at 961-3535 or 961-3531.

The annual meeting and banquet of the Foundation has been a spring feature at the College since 1976. Attended by more than 350 area residents last year when former Secretary of State Dean Rusk was the speaker, the meeting is held annually to give the Board of Trustees of the Foundation an opportunity to make a report and express their thanks to community contributors and supporters.

Senator Nunn was first named to the Senate in 1972 to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Richard B. Russell, and then elected to a full six-year term on his own. In 1978, he drew 84 percent of the vote and was re-elected to a second term.

Prior to his election to the Senate, Nunn served two terms (1968-72) in the Georgia House of Representatives as a delegate from Houston County. His previous Washington experience included one year of service as legal counsel to the House Armed Services Committee

Senator Nunn serves as the ranking minority member on the Manpower and Personnel Subcommittee for the Senate's Armed Services Committee. In addition, he is the ranking minority member on the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations of Governmental Affairs, and is the ranking member of the minority on the Select Committee on

Senator Sam Nunn To Speak At CJC

By ELAINE ALMON Staff Writer

The sixth annual meeting of the Clayton Junior College Foundation will feature Senator Sam Nunn on Friday, May 1.

The program, which includes a banquet, will be held in Room D-200 in the Student Center Building and will begin at 7 p.m.

The annual meeting and banquet of the Foundation has been a spring event at the college since 1976. It was attended by more than 350 area residents last year when former Secretary of State Dean Rusk was the Senator Nunn was first elected to the U.S. Senate in 1972 to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Richard B. Russell. He was then elected to a full six-year term as Senator. Prior to his election to the Senate, Nunn had served two terms in the Georgia House of Representatives as a delegate from Houston County. Born in Perry, Nunn attended Georgia Institute of Technology and graduated with honors from Emory University's School of Law.

In addition to Senator Nunn, the annual banquet program will include musical entertainment by the college students and faculty, a report on the Foundation's programs and goals, and a report on the college in general

U.S. SENATOR SAM NUNN

SENATOR SAM NUNN

Small Business.

The recipient of numerous awards, a recent honor came out of a Washington radio station's survey of legislative assistants in the Senate. The survey, conducted in December of 1980, found that Senator Nunn ranked among the top ten most effective senators in the 96th Congress.

The author and promoter of a number of legislative measures during his tenure in Washington, Senator Nunn is widely respected for his efforts. The "Watchdog of the Treasury Award" has been presented to him three times by the Associated Businessmen for his efforts to restrain federal spending, and the Americans for Constitutional Action have presented him with their "Distinguished Service Award" on two

During 1981, Senator Nunn plans to continue his probe of organized crime activities. The goal of current investigations is to update the McClellan Committee's work in racketeering done in the 1960s, to alert the public and the Congress to the magnitude of the organized crime problem in this country, to determine legal impediments to law enforcement in fighting organized crime, and to consider legislative initiatives to remedy the problem.

Born in Perry, Georgia, Sam Nunn attended Georgia Tech from 1956 through 1959, and graduated with honors from Emory University's School of Law in 1962. He is married to the former Colleen Ann O'Brien of Olympia, Washington, and they have two children, Michelle and

To obtain tickets, contact one of the members of the Board of Trustees: Harmon Born of Rex, Bob Oliver of Morrow, Charles Conklin of Jonesboro, Harry Downs of Morrow, Guy Benefield of Morrow, Truett Cathy of Hampton, Ernest Cheaves of Forest Park, Tommy Clonts of Jonesboro, Dr. Ernest Dunbar of Morrow, Cam Mitchell of Hampton. Hill Redwine of Fayetteville, Claude Whaley of Jonesboro, or Jim Wood of Forest Park.

For additional information about the Foundation, or the annual meeting and banquet, call the College's Office of Public Information at 961-3535.

NEWS/DAILY

Scholarship

G. Robert Oliver (right). representing the Jonesboro law firm of Oliver, Duckworth, Sparger & Winkle, to Guy Benefield, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Clayton Junior College Foundation. The $429 check will fund one of the 66 budgeted scholarships in the Foundation's 1981-82 program of work. Oliver is Vice-Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Check Presented

(L-R) Kawneer personnel manager Jim Stewart looks on as Clayton Junior College President Dr. Harry S. Downs receives a $1,000 check from general manager of Kawneer's architectural products Wayne Allen as dean Dr. Billy R. Nail looks on. The college uses the annual contribution by the Jonesboro firm to purchase equipment needed for instructional program.

Let's Give Respect Where It Is Due

American tradition dictates that we give respect where respect is due. No less a political figure that United States Senator Sam Nunn dwelled on this for a short portion of his speech before the Clayton Junior College Foundation last Friday night.

Nunn mentioned two Georgia political figures, now out of office, who should be remembered for their contributions, one to the current popular notion of holding the line of government spending and the other for government policies which benefit our nation today and will in the future.

The first to be mentioned by Nunn was former President Jimmy Carter of Georgia, defeated by Ronald Reagan in the November 4 last year voting by a substantial margin. But it was Carter, said Nunn, who finally effected an energy policy for the nation after previous presidents had purposely neglected coming to grips with it. They feared the repercussions of the political impact, a fate Carter inherited.

Nunn said Carter came to Washington to work out an energy policy and though he sometimes deviated from his push when other things diverted his attention, Carter always came back.

Wood

The Georgia senator offered figures to back up his plaudits for Carter. He said that U.S. gasoline yearly usuage had declined eight percent and that our oil imports had decreased by 20 percent, significant figures in our balance of payments and our national dependency of foreign oil. "We've turned the corner," Nunn Said.

Nunn predicts that Carter will find history is kinder to him than the voters were last year

The senator also had kind words for former U.S. Rep. Jack Flynt of Griffin, who happened to be in the audience, for his longtime effective work in trying to cut the federal budget when it was not the vogue thing to do as today. Our own personal knowledge of mirable even in the face of some rather overwhelming odds and at-Flynt, you see, used his expertise in defense matters, and his knowledge of the aspects of foreign aid, to cut huge amounts out of the yearly budget which could just as easily have been overlooked. But they saved the tax-

> Despite all the charges and remarks about him, and the decided vote against his re-election, his absence from the Washington scene representing Georgia is the most keenly felt void in the Georgia delega-

Flynt's political career in Congress

attest to this. His persistence was ad-payers money even though most of his ding cuts; then it wasn't. But Jack

Flynt maintained a common sense position never the less. We should give some credit where credit is due to him, even now. There is another figure who looms on the credit list. He is defeated U.S. Senator Herman efforts largely went unrecognized. Today it's popular to be for spen-

Talmadge, as a senior United States senator, made an impact on the Congress and his superior staff work, his own effectiveness, should not be discounted. His void in the Congress on agricultural matters affecting Georgia is already being felt. You just cannot replace such seniority overnight, and Georgians will be shortchanged because of it for years.

Senator Nunn paid tribute to Mrs. Betty Talmadge, who was in the audience, and the senator for their guidance in his first years in the senate. Though divorced now, the pair was instrumental in getting Nunn off to a good start and effective representation on in Washington. Credit that where it's due.

Georgia's congressional delegation has been changed drastically. We have lost valuable seniority, and we have split on the party lines. Looking over the 12 representatives, relatively young all, it is hard to recognize that Georgia once had the most powerful group in Washington, headed as they were by the late Senators Walter George and Richard Russell, and the House delegation dominated by Rep. Carl Vinson.

We were number one then in armed services clout. They were predominant in seniority. But that was yesterday and yesteryear.

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS

Nunn to speak at Clayton Junior ator Sam Nunn will be the featured speaker at the annual meeting and banquet of the Clayton Junior College Foundation on Friday evening, May 1.

This year's program, the sixth annual event sponsored by the non-profit corporation, will take place in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building. Scheduled to begin at 7 p.m., tickets are currently on sale at $8.50 each from members of the Foundation's Board of Trustees, or by calling the College at 961-3535 or 961-3531.

The annual meeting and banquet of the Foundation has been a spring feature at the College since 1976. Attended by more than 350 area residents last year when former Secretary of State Dean Rusk was the speaker, the meeting is held annually to give the Board of Trustees of > first named to the Senate in 1972 to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Richard B. Russell, and then elected to a full sixterm on his own. In 1978, he drew 84 percent of the vote and was re-elected to a second term.

United States Sen- the Foundation an op- recent honor came out portunity to make a of a Washington radio report and express station's survey of legtheir thanks to community contributors the Senate. The Survand supporters.

ranking minority member on the Manpower and Personnel Subcommittee for the Senate's Armed Services Committee. In addition, he is the ranking minority member of the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations of Governmental Affairs, and is the ranking member of the minority on the Select Committee on Small islative assistants in ey, conducted in Dece-Senator Nunn was ember of 1980, found that the Senator Nunn ranked among the top ten most effective senators in the 96th Con-

The "Watchdog of the Treasury Award" has been presented to him three times by the Associated Businessmen for his efforts to He serves as the restrain federal spending, and the Americans for Constitutional Action have presented him with their "Distinguished Service Award" on two occasions.

During 1981, Senator Nunn plans to continue his probe of organized crime activities. The goal of current investigations is to update the McCellan Committee's work in racketeering done in the 1960s, to alert the public and the The recipient of Congress to the magnnumerous awards, a itude of the organized country, to determine legal impediments to law enforcement in fighting crime, and to consider legislative initiatives to remedy the pro-

To obtain tickets, contact one of the members of the Board of Trustees: Harmon Born of Rex, Bob Oliver of Morrow, Charles Conklin of Jonesboro, Downs of Morrow, Guy. Benefield of Morrow, Truett Cathy of Hampion, Ernest Cheaves of Forest Park, Tommy Clonts of Jonesboro, Dr. Ernest Dunbar of Morrow, Cam Mitchell of Hampton, Hill Redwine of Fayetteville, Claude Whaley of Jonesboro, or Jim Wood of Forest Park.

For additional information about the Foundation, or the annual meeting and banquet, call the College's Office of Public Information at 961-3535.

Five students from Riverdale Junior High attended a social science symposium at Clayton Junior College. They took part in activities designed to enrich their understanding in the different areas of the social sciences. Each student who participated was given a certificate. Front row, from left -- Tony Briggs and Angie Humphries; back row-- Ms. Margaret Hansard, social science teacher, Gay Lynn Wood, and Alisa German.

Clayton General Hospital recently honored physicians, hospital staff and volunteers with ten years service at a banquet held at Clayton Junior College. Pictured are 28 of the 36 staff members who were among those honored. They are: From the Central Supply Dept.: Clifford Copeland; -Dietetics: Jewel Dailey, Alma Denney, Doris Whitehead, Nina Elam;-Engineering: William Conner, John Ray;-Mental Health: Judith Emory;-Laboratory: Pat Berry, Virgilia Gilam;-Nursing Service: Marjorie Bailey, Delores Bilskie, Diana Jackson, Martha Maddux, Willie Masingill, Dru Nagle, Claudette Mitcham, Bernice Roberts, Emma Seignious, Mary Norwood, Tara Sikes; Operating Room: Patsy Campbell, Carrie Crowe, Sandra Gregory, Liz Hayes, Yolanda McMillan, Sue Patton, Alice Silvey, Sandra Steed;-Pharmacy: Bob Ordner; - Respiratory Therapy: Rogelio Gomez, Roland Ivey, David Jackson; X-Ray Dept.: Robert H. Kendrick; - Switchboard: Ethen Capps, Joan Slade.

Sandra Steed, Clayton General Hospital Recovery Room supervisor pictured with display among those visited during the hospital's recent Tenth Anniversary

Hopeful NEWS/DAILY May 4, 1981

Sam Nunn Says U.S. Has 'Turned Corner'

By KIRK MARTIN Staff Writer

When U. S. Senator Sam Nunn spoke to the Clayton Junior College Foundation in Morrow Friday night, he promised to make a hopeful speech by "putting the news in its proper perspective."

Nunn then gave the Foundation, which supports enrollment at the college through scholarships to promising students, optimistic news of new actions coming from the federal government aimed at the economy, organized crime,

Nunn said an economic downturn predicted for earlier this year did not come for two reasons. President Ronald Reagan has "captured the imagination of the people" and has gotten the American people involved in regulation of small businesses and other problems plaguing the patching up the economy.

"I think that is a very healthy thing," Nunn said of Reagan's popularity. "We need a president who has the control of the American people."

Nunn named the energy conservation measures of former President Jimmy Carter as the second reason the economy had not sunk as low as predicted. Carter's measures had reduced energy use in the United States by eight percent and imports by 20 percent, Nunn said.

"I have the feeling we have turned the corner," Nunn said of the economic situation.

Nunn praised the Democratic alternative to Reagan's budget cut program, but said that either the Democratic plan or the Senate's even leaner version of the Reagan package could be called "the most fiscally responsible in 35 years.'

Nunn said he thought the strict Reagan budget cuts passed by the Senate would also eventually be passed in the House of Representatives. He also called the present defense budget the first adequate one in many years.

SEN. SAM NUNN SPEAKS AT CJC Has Optimistic View of U.S.

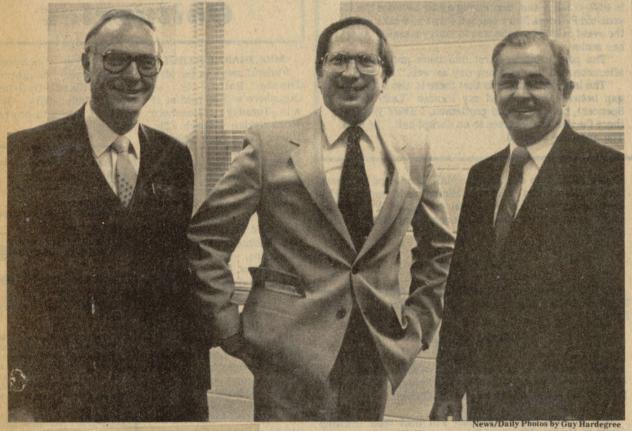

Nunn named several measures pending in Congress that would reduce the burden of regulatory agencies to take special care in handling small corporations and to leave them out of the regulatory net if possible.

Other measures aimed at controlling the power of regulatory agencies could force a major economic study of the consequences of any far-reaching regulation proposed by an administrative department. One would add to the power of Congress to review individual rules before they go into effect.

Nunn said he had worked with congressional subcommittees that have also added to the power of the federal government to fight organized crime. One measure would remove restrictions on the military that would allow it to share intelligence on drug smuggling operations with domestic agencies such as the Drug Enforcement

See NUNN On Page 10

GEORGIA'S SENIOR SENATOR RELAXES PRIOR TO BANQUET AT CJC L-R CJC President Dr. Harry Downs, Sen. Nunn, CJC Foundation Chairman Harmon Born

Continued from page 1

"It is not increasing the rights or authority of the military to gather intelligence," said Nunn. "They still have the same rights, but now they can share their intelligence."

Clayton District Views To Be Sought Monday

By DEBORAH SMITH Staff Writer

Clayton residents will have an opportunity to express their views on proposed reapportionment of state house and senate districts later this month when legislators hold a public hearing in Morrow.

The hearing, scheduled for 2 p.m. Monday, will be held in room D-200 at Clayton Junior College.

Clayton will apparently gain a fifth representative as a result of population growth that occurred in the county since the 1970 census.

Legislators may also recommend that part of the sixth congressional population loss there.

district—of which Clayton is a major than is stipulated by state law as portion—be assigned to the neighboring fifth district, which includes At-

State Sen. Terrell Starr, whose 44th state district includes most of Clayton's 150,000 residents, said earlier this year that the county will probably remain in the sixth district,

The fifth district currently has 422,371 persons living within its boundaries, a number more than 100,000 less There is a "good possibility." Starr explained that the sixth district section of South Fulton County will be added to the fifth district to balance average district size.

The sixth district, conversely, has approximately 624,000 residents, almost 80,000 more than is required.

The average size of state house districts is 30,357 residents, meaning that Clayton's population should receive one more than its current four house representatives.

The reapportionment process is repeated with each new census. Starr

A total of 12 public hearings will be held in Georgia this month to allow public input concerning the proposed

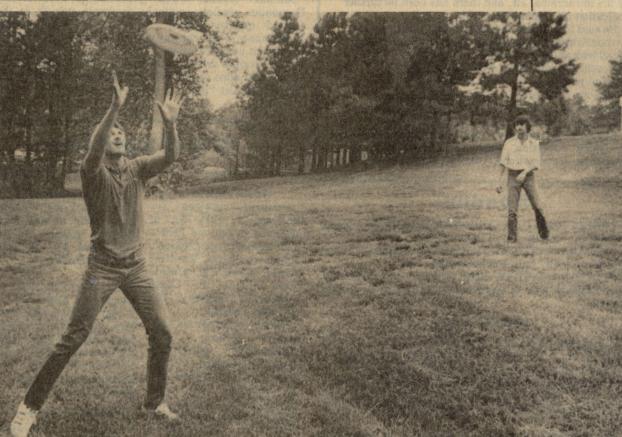

Spring Fever

NEWS/DAILY April 30, 1981

> Several friends enjoy a pleasant day at Clayton Junior College in Morrow, playing with a Frisbee. In the photo at left, Robin Henley, 20, of Riverdale prepares to grasp the flying disc. In the bottom photo, David Howe, 25, left, of Jonesboro, reaches high for the Frisbee thrown by Greg Widner, 20, of Riverdale.

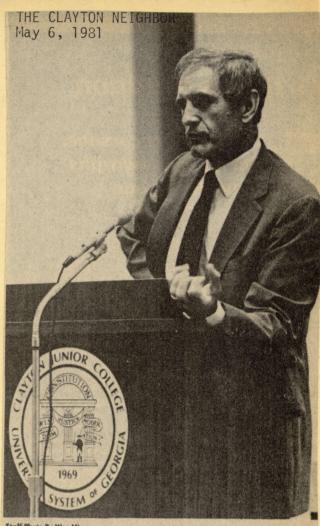

> > News/Daily Photos by Russell Mobley

Celebrating 10 Years THE CLAYTON SUN

Clayton County Hospital Authority members were presented certificates of appreciation by Dennis Scheidt, Administrator, at the hospital's Tenth Anniversary banquet held recently. The wives were given gifts of hospital stationery. From left to right are: (front row) Mr. and Mrs. Orestus Adamson; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Benefield. vice chairman; Mr. Harmon M. Born, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Luther McDowell, treasurer and Mr. and Mrs. James O. Stewart Jr., secretary; (back row) Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Brooks; Dr. and Mrs. Clyde C. Harrison Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Piere and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scroggs.

CARL RHODENIZER IN FAVOR OF FOURTH RUNWAY 'Runway Won't Do Anymore Damage'

Crowd Boos Civic Leader

By DEBORAH SMITH Staff Writer

A prominent civic leader and past-president of the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce was jeered and booed last week when he attempted to speak in favor of a fourth runway proposed by planners at Hartsfield Atlanta

International Airport.

Carl Rhodenizer told fellow residents attending a public hearing held last Wednesday at Clayton Junior College that he was speaking as a homeowner and not as a representative of the chamber.

Rhodenizer, a businessman who has lived in Lake City for the past 10 years, served as chamber president last year and is currently a member of the organization's board of directors.

He also heads the chamber's Clayton Clean and Beautiful committee. Residents attending the Wednesday hearing reacted angrily as soon as Rhodenizer made his first comment supporting the planned runway. As audience members shook their heads, muttered remarks such as "we don't want to hear that," and shifted impatiently in their seats, Rhodenizer noted that the county is "dependant" on the airport for approximately 10,000 jobs. "We've got to see that there are jobs for the future,"

Rhodenizer added. He said he sympathizes with homeowner's in areas such as north Forest Park, where airplane traffic has created a noise problem, and noted that, given the choice, he would opt to have a major airport somewhere besides in the current location. 'But let's face it, the thing is there," Rhodenizer commented. "And many of us have been tolerating it for

'Drop dead," one irate listener, a woman, said loudly, as several low-pitched "boos" sounded in the sparse crowd of less than 100.

As Rhodenizer continued, saying that a fourth runway might not create any additional noise problem for Forest Park, woman asked him to "sit down and shut up," while another comment wondered aloud "how much are they paying him to say that?'

Rhodenizer, overwhelmed by the growing chorus of angry voices, finally had to return the floor to an airport planning official Shirley Harris.

"The point I was trying to make was that a fourth runway won't do any more damage, but might even eliminate some of the heavier traffic (over Clayton County)," Rhodenizer said later.

In a telephone interview from his home on Thursday, Rhodenizer-who has lived in Clayton County a total of almost 30 years-noted that he favors financial aide for residents who wish to remove out of noise impacted

"We should pool our resources and talents to acquire funding to buy property," he elaborated. "The chamber has been working for three years on funding for the Mountain View project.'

NEWS/DAILY May 7, 1981 edistricting Discussion At Clayton Junior

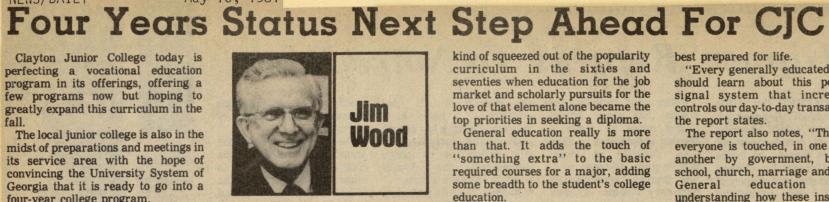

Clayton Junior College today is perfecting a vocational education program in its offerings, offering a few programs now but hoping to greatly expand this curriculum in the

The local junior college is also in the midst of preparations and meetings in its service area with the hope of convincing the University System of Georgia that it is ready to go into a four-year college program.

Both of these developments indicate that the junior college is growing and in the second phase of its growth of service to the community.

We need to remember this because Clayton countians voted a bond issue of five million dollars in the midsixties to get the college site and to start the ball rolling for our first unit of higher education. It appears we may be ready to advance further in the educational accommodations for our people.

This significance for higher education in the south metro area has added appreciation, for general education no less, particularly should we note a report from the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching as reported by United Press International recently.

UPI says the report indicates that general education is coming back into focus as the mainstay of our population and its educational needs. The payoff for the students, says the report, is schooling that enables graduates "to understand themselves, their society and the world in which they live.

General education, or "liberal arts education" as it used to be called, was kind of squeezed out of the popularity curriculum in the sixties and seventies when education for the job market and scholarly pursuits for the love of that element alone became the top priorities in seeking a diploma.

General education really is more than that. It adds the touch of "something extra" to the basic required courses for a major, adding some breadth to the student's college

More and more colleges, so the report states, are trying to inject more of the general education approach into the curriculum. Here's why: there are certain topics that all students should be required to investigate regardless of their individual interest or ultimate area of specialization.

Languages play a role in this overall understanding. Students who understand how language is evolved, how feelings and ideas are conveyed, how numeracy is a symbol system, and how we communicate not only verbally but non-verbally through dance, music and the visual arts, are

"Every generally educated student should learn about this pervasive signal system that increasingly controls our day-to-day transactions,' the report states. The report also notes, "The life of everyone is touched, in one way or another by government, business, school, church, marriage and family. General education means understanding how these institutions originate, how they evolved, grow strong, become weak and sometimes

Thus, Clayton Junior College, conceived to offer students in our residential area a chance to receive the basic core curriculum of education for higher learning, is well prepared for this general education

And whether the student's advance steers him toward the vocational experience or the four-year academic achievement, the college has already earned its status as top quality.

Four years is the next step forward.

Hearing Set On Minority Voting

By ELAINE ALMON redrawing of Georgia's ten congressional districts and the Staff Writer Tuesday in Albany. Many citizens at

Federal requirements for the districts for 236 members of the protection of minority voting strength General Assembly. will be the subject of a public hearing Using 1980 census data, the at Clayton Junior College on May 18. legislative committees of the Georgia This public hearing will be one of a House and Senate also must meet the principle of the "one man, one vote" During the hearing, legislators repeatedly stated that the electoral ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court. power of blacks will not be damaged in Georgia by reapportionment as it was when this state was reapportioned in 1871. Forty one people showed up for the public hearing, but more than a dozen of them were legislators. Senate Reapportionment

Committee Chairman Perry Hudson, D-Hapeville, stated that the census information provides the only uniform statewide method of determining population and residency. "We have no idea at all of diluting minority voting strength."

The first of the hearings was held this hearing expressed the concern that blacks and poor people may have been undercounted by the U.S. Census

According to Linda Meggers, who heads the staff for the reapportionment committee, the word "minority" is defined statewide as meaning "blacks". The 1980 census of Georgians put the number of whites in the state at 3,948,007 and blacks at 1,465,457

The legislative committees-chaired by Hudson in the Senate and Rep. Joe Mack Wilson, D-Marietta, in the House-intend to submit completed redistricting plans when the General Assembly convenes in special session in August.

According to Hudson, the biggest problems are in the second, third and eighth districts of Southwest Georgia. He explained that ideally, population lines would set districts of 546,426 for each congressman-onetenth of the state's population. Legislative districts would ideally have 97,576 constituents in the Senate and 30,357 in the House.

The public hearing scheduled for Clayton County will be held in the Students Center, room D-200, Clayton Junior College, at 2 p.m. on Monday, May 18.

Other hearings will be held in Columbus, Savannah, McRae, Macon, Cartersville, Decatur, Atlanta, Gainesville, Athens, and Augusta through May 27.

series across the state of Georgia to review public opinion on the Bank Supports Foundation

Kenneth Kilpatrick (right), President of the First Bank of Clayton County, presents a scholarship check to Dr. Harry S. Downs, President of Clayton Junior College and a member of the College Foundation's Board of Trustees. The $429 check will fund one of the more than 50 scholarships sponsored by the Founda-

Leadership Clayton Seeks New Participants

The Chairman of Leadership Clayton, announces that the 1981-82 leadership development program has been finalized and applications for participants for next year's programs are being solicited through the Chamber of Commerce. Leadership Clayton, a program for leadership development, is co-sponsored by the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and Clayton Junior

It is a program, Robert C. Bolander announced, specifically designed to produce personal and professional growth for the individual and to assist in achieving the desired community goals for the county. Next year's program includes a variety of general information sessions with community officials and leaders, several skill building sessions and a task force work assignment.

The information sessions include programs on government structure and services, the local economics, a variety of services offered in the county, and a look at Metro Atlanta and long range planning. Skill building sessions include areas in leadership styles and techniques, goal setting, interpersonal skills, public speaking and chairing meetings.

Next year's task force assignment is still in the planning stages, according to Bolander, but it promises to be every bit as challenging as this year's assignment. This year's task force was responsible for initiating what has become the Clayton Clean and Beautiful Committee. Right now, exclaimed Bolander, we are pleased with the initial successes of Leadership Clayton. The immediate impact of the clean community systems program is most gratifying. Even more satisfying, he noted, was the enthusiastic evaluations from this

Glenda Slaughter, one of this year's participants, stated that "Helping others and making Clayton County a better place to live is a richly rewarding task. Leadership Clayton has introduced me to the type of people that are interested in building and providing a greater community. It has instructed me how to go about doing this. The leaders of Clayton County have influenced me by showing me the areas that need work. Leadership Clayton has increased my self-esteem by showing me just how important I am, as an individual that is capable and needed. I recommend this program enthusiastically."

Harold Hollans, Vice President and Secretary of Trust Company Bank of Clayton County, indicated "as a new resident of Clayton I was afforded an excellent opportunity to find out who and what makes the county tick. I know of no better way for individuals in banking, or whatever field, to get to know well those in the county with

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR May 6, 1981 Local Citizens Voice New Round Of Complaints

Staff Writer Planning officials from Hartsfield Atlanta International Airport heard a new round of complaints about airport noise last week as Clayton County residents once again voiced doubts about a fourth runway airport planners hope to build

Residents were asked to present ly attended their views on the runway at a public information session held last Wednesday at Clayton Junior College.

The session, the second in a series environmental assessment process that will determine whether or not a fourth runway is feasible, was sparse-

Those residents who did attend, however, were angry and vocal.

'I just can't believe another runway is the answer until you people buy of hearings which are part of a federal up all the homes affected (by airport Forest Park resident G.J. Miller told airport officials.

continuous." Miller noted.

"I can walk out the door in the morning, and be afraid to strike a match, the kerosene smell is so bad," agreed Charles Smith, another Forest Park homeowner

"At my house, for the last two ning at Hartsfield, assured the approx-for the hearing that airport officials are trying to free $4 billion in federal funds earmarked as aid to noise impacted areas around major airports. Ms. Harris asked members of the audience to review and judge data Shirley Harris, manager of plan- gathered in the environmental assessment's first phases. She also uation of the assessment's progress to her office.

The assessment is currently less than halfway to completion, and two more public hearings are scheduled to be held in Clayton County during the remaining portion of the study.

College Offers Free Service

Dental Hygiene Students Learn In College Clinic

By RICHARD MITCHELL Staff Writer

Believe it or not, there is health care in Clayton County that is administered free to the public.

The department of dental hygiene at Clayton Junior College will clean a persons teeth and check their head, neck, and areas around the mouth for anything that might be wrong.

The work is performed by the dental hygiene students at the

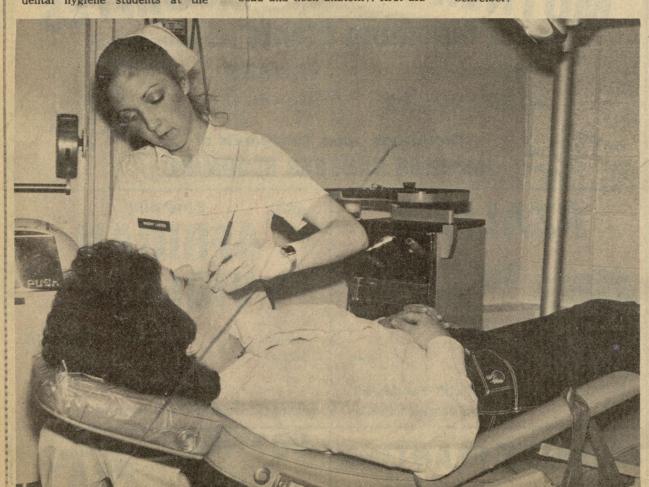

The two-year program at the college leads to an associate of arts degree, and takes a student seven quarters to complete, attending school for two years and a summer in between.

The students spend 60 percent of the time in the clinic, and 40 at lectures, where they take such courses as chemistry, biology, bead and neck anatomy, first aid

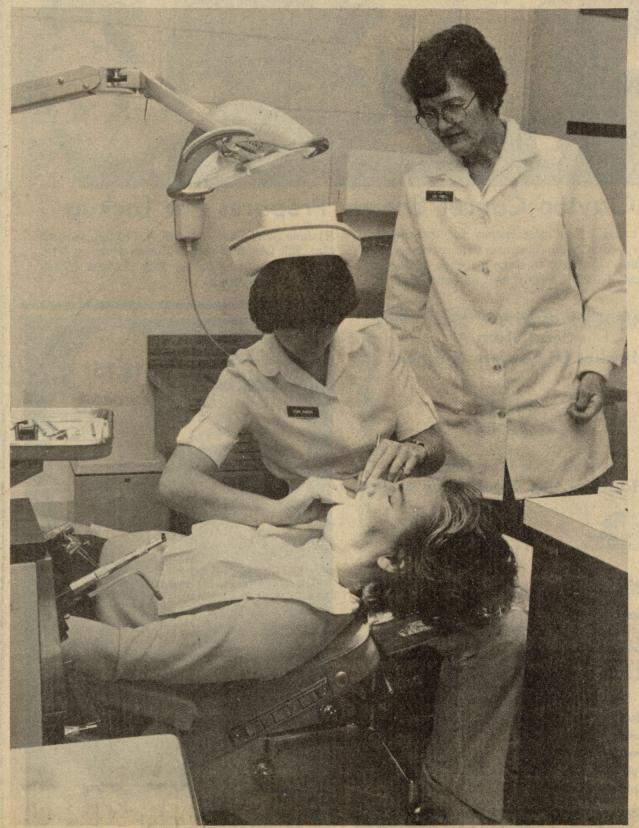

The clinic area at the college bas 16 operating stations with most of the apparatus that is found at a dentist office.

There are two x-ray rooms with lead lined walls and all students wear radiation badges and are monitored month ly.

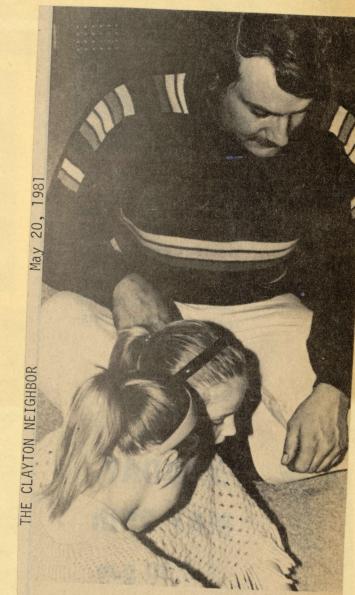

'We're not worried about exposure, as we watch the students very closely," says Dr. Leonard

DENTAL HYGIENE STUDENT SHERRY LASTER PUTS CLASS KNOWLEDGE TO WORK ON PATTY MACKIN The Dental Hygiene Students Work In A Clinic Area That Has 16 Operating Stations

FAYE MOSS OF JONESBORO GETS HER TEETH CLEANED BY STUDENT FRAN SHADDIX OF ELLENWOOD Clayton Junior College Dental Hygiene Instructor Lois Powell Watches The Student At Work

Arts Festival Enjoyed

Clayton residents were treated to an arts festival at Clayton Junior College recently. Here, (L-R) Don Kidd and his daughters, Shelly, 6, and Donna, 4, admire some of the art work. The three are Forest Park residents. (Staff Photo By Wes

Nunn Emphasizes the Positive in Speech to Clayton Junior College Foundation

By CHARLIE SMITH

Vowing to "recognize the good news," Sen. Sam Nunn Saturday night recited a list of bills, programs and coming attractions that Congress and the new Reagan Administration hope to bring to pass in the coming months.

"I think we have turned the corner on the economy," he told a well-heeled audience of some 300 supporters and members of the Clayton Junior College Foundation—a citizens' group that sponsors scholarships for promising county students—at the Founda-

Though he poked fun at the new administration and the Republican majority in Congress, Nunn praised the direction-and often the means—that the administration is taking in its first 100 days.

His list of upbeat changes included bills to fight organized crime, controls on the federal bureaucracy's power to establish "unworkable" rules and regulations, a congressional mood in support of a strong national defense, tax and budget cuts, and an economy that has weathered a downturn and, though shaky, may be in for a

ACCORDING TO Nunn, "We're going to go through some painful experiences," before the economic remedies take effect, but it is necessary, he said, for the country to "take its medicine." Overall, the economy "continues to move forward," he said.

He attributed the-at least partially-positive economic outlook to President Reagan's "capturing the imagination of the country," and to former President Jimmy Carter's energy program.

Of Reagan, he said, "I am delighted that he has the confidence of the American people. We have had a rather beleagured presidency (for the last several years).'

Calling Carter's energy program "a fundamental program worthy of its name," he cited an eight per cent reduction last year in the use of energy and a 20 per cent reduction in energy imports as main catalysts toward boosting the economy.

He agreed that "we must cut taxes" but noted "a couple of risks we have to face," including large federal deficits and the continued high inflation rate.

THE ADMINISTRATION'S tax cut program "presumes people are going to save money on tax cuts," he said, but "if we don't increase our (personal) savings, we're going to see extremely high interest rates and interest rates are doing more to damage the economy than anything else.'

To save the economy, "We need a shift from public spending to private saving," he

Money saved can then be put into plant and equipment moderization and the overall network of American enterprise can be improved, he said.

'We have a real opportunity to change the state of the economy within the next 14 or 15 months," he said.

NEXT TO economic overhaul, Nunn cited law enforcement as the top congressional and national priority.

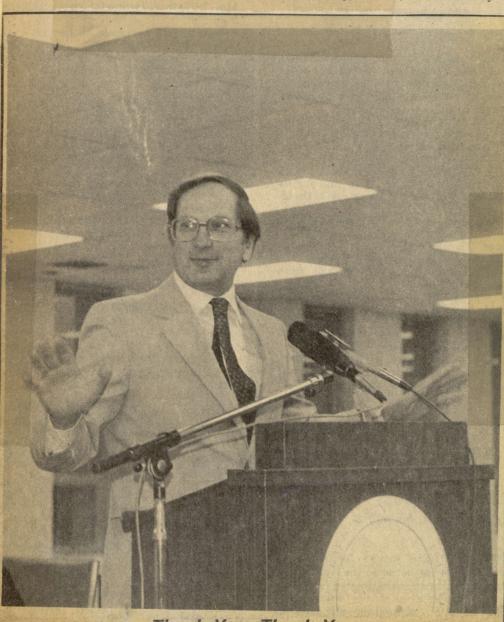

As a step toward reducing the power of organized crime, Nunn cited a bill he introduced and which recently passed the Senate Armed Services Committee that would allow the military to share drug intelligence information with federal and state law enforcement agencies.

"Many times narcotics dealers are better equipped than the law enforcement officials" to deal with drug smugglers and the new law-if passed-will allow information to go further, he said.

However, he said that citizen participation is "absolutely essential" in reducing crime and improving the efforts of law enforcement officials.

NUNN HAD good news for businessmen who complain of being swamped by bureacratic rules and regulations-bills pending in Congress would require cost benefit analysis on any new rules with a "major impact" (more than $100 million) and would give Congress veto power over any rule or regulation before it can be made law. "It's going to take a long time to change the government, but I believe the message from the people has come through—we need less stifling from the bureaucracy," he said. "We have to have a great deal of change," Nunn said of the new Republican directives, but he quoted, possibly a little ruefully, a tombstone inscription which read: "I expected this, but not so soon.'

Thank You, Thank You

Sen. Sam Nunn accepts applause from participants in the Annual Clayton Junior College Foundation Banquet Saturday night. The senator brought reports of good news from Washington. (SUNPhoto by Charlie Smith)

Mostly Clayton

Vacations, Then Books

By DEBORAH SMITH Staff Writer

Clayton Junior College expects almost 500 new students this fall and many of them will be from the ranks is 961-3500.

of the county's spring high school graduates. According to Jerry Atkins, college director of public information, most of these graduates will work or for fall quarter is Sept. 8. vacation during the summer, rather than opting to begin college in June.

'We usually only have about 50 new students for summer quarter," Atkins opoints out. Many of the college's fall freshmen will register with the business department, which is Clayton Junior's 出:largest division. 'We will also be offering our new vocational-technical program," Atkins adds and we're anxious to see how things go. Seniors who aren't quite sure how to go about apply-

"We've had a lot of interest, ing to the college should call the college's office of Admissions and Records for information, Atkins notes. The number at that office

An admissions counselor there can help with the applicant's specific questions, Atkins adds.

The deadline for applying Atkins says, but recommends that interested seniors send the college their applications soon. The deadline for summer quarter is June 2.

Press Run Tomorrow At C.

The annual News-Daily Press Run to benefit the American Cancer Society is scheduled Saturday morning, May 30, beginning promptly at 8 a.m. Runners are to gather in front of the CJC Physical Education Building by 7:30 a.m., with the final half-hour before the race reserved for late registration.

Featured this year are a one mile novice run, and races of 5,000 and 10,000 kilometers. Split times will be called to aid runners.

Men and women will be able to enter in the races according to their ages, with classifications provided for those under 17 years of age, 18 to 30, 30 to 50, and 50 and older. Awards will be given to the first three finishers in each

Registration for the race will be $5 per entry Saturday morning. Application forms are available today at the News-Daily office or at the Clayton Cancer Society office, both in Jonesboro.

Last year's overall winner of the longest race (three miles in 1980) was Laurin Tidwell, 27, of Atlanta. He ran the course in 16:48, beating 178 other participants. Richard Westbrook of Riverdale was second by four strides.

The first female to complete the three mile run was Cathy Weigel, 16, with a time of about 18 minutes. In the novice run of a mile, 12year-old Tim Harris of Morrow and

15-year-old Buc Riverdale finished mine The first female Jennifer Henderson mis with Marcia Trawith I

Four-Year College, Yes; Ivory Tower, No CJC Says

By TRACY THOMPSON

While most business and education leaders in Clayton County favor a proposal by Clayton Junior College administrators to convert the school into a four-year college, they don't want any ivory-tower, liberal arts college in their midst. That was the clear message to CJC officials at a public meeting on the college's four-year proposal held Tuesday morning at the school. The meeting on the proposal, now in the comment-gathering stage in preparation for an Oct. 1 report due to the State Board of Regents, attracted representatives from the county's major employers, as well as representatives from local governments, the public school system and the Chamber of Commerce, said CJC's Director of Institutional Research Dr. Linda Greer.

"THE MAJOR thing that came out was that if CJC becomes a four-year school it should continue to be very communityoriented," said Dr. Greer. "These people were saying they wanted the school to

(L-R) Dr. Harry S. Downs, president of Clayton

Junior College and Sen. Sam Nunn converse with Harmon M. Born, chairman of the board of trustees of the Clayton Junior College Founda-continue working with businesses and high schools. And they want students to continue to be provided with practical work experi-

A major focus of the meeting, she added, was polling some of the county's principal employers to find out what jobs would be available in their companies that would require college graduates with bachelor's

"We want to know where (graduates) will be able to find jobs," she said.

BUT ON THE WHOLE, talk about the four-year proposal was optimistic, she said, stressing the services a four-year school would be able to provide the community-particularly in the area of cultural opportunities such as theater and music.

'The feeling seemed to be it would be good for the community in general," Dr. Greer said.

AS PART of the review process required by the Board of Regents before they can rule on the proposal, college officials have to tion Iric., prior to the foundation's sixth annual meeting and banquet. Nunn was the banquet's submit a list of community needs and how a four-year school could better meet those needs than could a junior college, Dr. Greer

"Right now we're in the process of surveying not just community leaders but our own students and high school students as well,"

The proposal to make CJC a four-year school was formally put before the Board of Regents in the fall of 1979, after extensive lobbying efforts by local legislators, including State Sen. Terrell Starr. A final decision is not expected until next year.

Harry Downs. CJC President

Reapportionment THE HENRY HERALD May 13, 1981 Hearing scheduled at junior college

metro Atlanta area and Monday, May 18, in Room

The Senate and House the sixth congressional Reapportionment Com- district on the planned mittees will conduct a statewide redrawing of congressional and state public hearing for Henry Senate and House politi-County and the south cal districts at 2 p.m.,

Center at Clayton Junior College in Morrow. The Reapportionment

Committees must redraw boundary lines for Georgia's congressional and state Senate and House districts based on the 1980 census. Reapportionment of political districts is under federal law to committees. reflect population shifts

sentation to all voters based on the most recent population data. Governor George Busbee will call a special session of the General Assembly this summer to give lawmakers an opportunity to act on the new reapportionment required every 10 years plans drawn up by the ings which the committees are holding around the state in the congressional districts.

Prior to the start of the hearings, committee members met with U.S. Justice Department officials in Washington to discuss the legal aspects of reapportionment.

Under the Voting The hearing is one of a Rights Act of 1965, Georgia is one of 22 states which must submit reapportionment or election law changes to the Justice Department for approval.

Graduates To Decide On College Or Work

By RICHARD MITCHELL

Staff Writer The 1981 Clayton County senior high school graduates seem to be split in their decisions to attend college this fall or join the labor market.

Don Carey, senior counselor at North Clayton Senior High School says 30 percent of the school's graduates usually go on to a four-year college, while 20 percent enroll at two-year

Elaine Kirkland of Morrow Senior High says 50 percent of the graduating seniors will also attend college, with 35 percent going to a two-year school and the remaining 15 enrolling at a four-year institution. The University of Georgia attracts the greatest amount of North Clayton High graduates, according to Carey. He says Georgia State is the next most popular school, followed by Georgia Tech. "Of course we have a lot of students who go to other schools scattered throughout the state. West Georgia College seems to have the biggest majority of the other schools.' Dan Moon, senior counselor at Jonesboro, says 40 to 45 percent of their graduates will attend college, while Athena Whitlow, the senior counselor at Riverdale Senior High School, predicts only 25 percent will attend college.

Moon says the University of Georgia will attract the greatest amount of Jonesboro's college-bound students, though he feels that "quite a few" will also attend Clayton Junior College.

"We have very few students going out of state," he says. "Probably because of the economy Carey says North Clayton will be sending most of its two-year students to Clayton Junior College, a consequence he also attributes to the econo-

'Students look at four-year schools, but when they see the costs, they usually change their minds and go to Clayton," he says.

'With the schools costing more, it's probably true this year more so than ever," he adds.

Approximately 20 percent of the students at North Clayton will continue their education at vocational schools, while Morrow and Riverdale Senior High Schools expect to have 10 percent of their graduates attend.

Moon says 15 to 20 of their graduates will go to technical school, with the majority attending Griffin Area Tech and Atlanta Area Tech.

guest speaker.

'Justa Light Trim Around the Edges'

AT REAPPORTIONMENT HEARING--- Senate Committee Chairman Perry Hudson of Hapeville responds to a question during Monday's hearing

A total of approximately 1,900

Clayton County public high school seniors received diplomas last week.

Others from Clayton will graduate or have graduated from area private

On the college scene, Clayton Junior about 300 students who have completed two years of study. Others from Clayton are finishing at junior colleges, technical schools and senior

To all the graduates who reside in

Clayton County, we say

congratulations for completing a step in your growth as a person. You have colleges at various locations.

llege will say goodbye June 13 to

NEWS/DAILY June 8, 1981
1981 Graduates

Sixth District Citizens Present their Views to Reapportionment Committees

By CHARLIE SMITH

Like a group of barnstorming aviators, members of the state Senate and House of Reapportionment Committees swooped down into Clayton County Monday and snared a clutch of recommendations from Sixth District citizens, including a brace of earnest pleas from local Republicans for single-member house districts.

The legislators, deep into the business of reapportioning congressional and state Senate and House districts, met with Sixth District voters at Clayton Junior College as part of a 12-stop state tour to gather information and public input concerning where the lines for state and congressional districts should be drawn.

THROUGH THE redrawing of Sixth District lines is a foregone conclusion--since the 1980 district population figure of 624,576 is some 14 per cent above the 546,000-person average district size the legislature is shooting for--just where the new district lines will be drawn has not been decided.

However, the counties most likely to be affected—South Fulton and the agricultural counties in the outlying wings of the district—had the strongest representation Monday, with several pleas coming from

Spalding County and South Fulton citizens. And 11 of the 23 speakers hitched their pleas for remaining in the Sixth District to the wings of Congressman Newt Gingrich's ascendency as a political figure in the

"Gingrich knows our problems and what we need—we want to keep him," Dora Clark of East Point said

THE LEGISLATORS heard statements from three Clayton County Republicans urging single-member legislative districts, and one of them-Tommy Engram of Jonesboro, chairman of the Sixth District Republican Party-hinted that legal action might be in the offing if the request were

"We are totally committed to fighting the issue (multi-member districts) and we will fight all the way to the federal courts if we have no other option," he said.

His efforts were abetted by county Republican Party Chairman Sonja Casey who said that the present multi-member districts "take away all accountability to specific communities.'

"We feel that every community needs representation and we feel that this can best be done with single member districts," she Morrow businessman Johnny White condemned the multi-member districts as "unfair" to the voters—"Nothing about them is fair to the public; everything is fair about single-member districts.'

State Rep. Dorothy Felton, from unincorporated north Fulton County, seconed the Republican criticism, remarking tht multimember representtion tends to "split" a

Legislators in single-member districts "do have more accountability" to their constitutents, she said.

CLAYTON legislators who, at least by implication, came under attack from the single-member district advocates—got votes of confidence from several speakers, including reapportionment committee member Benson Ham, D-Forsyth, who called Clayton's four representatives "four of the best and hardest-working legislators in the

Said Doris Vanhueser, "We like it the way it is now and we would like to keep it that way-I think every citizen in Clayton County is represented.'

Only one speaker seemed to have accepted the inevitability of his county's banishment from the Sixth District-Bill Hughes Jr., a Monticello newspaper publisher, who asked the legislators to place his home county of Jasper into the Eighth rather than the 10th district.

Among those plugging to stay in Gingrich's district were East Point City Councilman and airline pilot Roscoe McMillan, who implored the legislators to "keep our airport community together.'

Pointing out that Gingrich is a member of the House Transportation Committee, Mc-Millan argued that splitting the South Fulton-North Clayton airport community would dilute representation for the commu-

'We would like to keep all these folks under one congressman," he said.

AND NOT every petitioner was com-pletely enamored of Gingrich as the Sixth District congressional representative. According to Seth Cohen of Griffin,

'There are some people down here who don't like Gingrich-he's too conservative." The legislators have until August 24 to put together their state reapportionment

The citizens were welcomed to the meeting by House committee member Rep. Jim Wood and Senate committee member Sen. Terrell Starr. The meeting was chaired by Senate Committee Chairman Joe Mack Wilson, D-Marietta.

Several Clayton County officials attended the meeting, including all four state representatives, both senators, county commissioners Charley Griswell nd Ernest Wright and chief county administrator Milton

PAYING ATTENTION-Legislators, including, Sen. Culver Kidd, right, listen at the Sixth District reapportionment hearing at Clayton Junior College

Max Cleland To Address Leadership Clayton Group

Max Cleland, the youngest man ever to head the Veterans Administration, will be the guest speaker at the June 4th Leadership Clayton Banquet honoring this year's

"Cleland epitomizes the courage and enthusiasm of true leadership,' said Robert Bolander, Chairman of Leadership Clayton. "We're excited that he will be with us next week; it's a quality way to conclude an excellent

Cleland, a recipient of Silver and Bronze Stars for his service with the First Air Cavalry Division in Vietnam, is a former Georgia State Sena or and was a staff member of the U.S. Senate's Committee on Veterans Affairs prior to his nomination by then President Carter to administer the $22 Billion a year Veterans Affairs Office. Such contributions caused Pulitzer Prize winning writer David Broder to recognize Max Cleland as one of those emerging leaders "who may largely determine the direction in which the nation will be headed." Cleland is quoted in Broder's Changing of the Guard: Power and Leadership in America as stating "We're in a totally different era. Then government was a tool for reform

See CLELAND on page 10A

Now government itself has to be

In setting the tone for the Leadership Clayton Banquet, Cleland pointed out that "Leadership is different from management. Leadership encompasses good management but it more...Leadership is by far the igher challenge." That message will be conveyed to this year's honor graduates of the Chamber of Commerce-Clayton Junior College cosponsored leadership development

Graduates of this year's program are: Lena Almon, James Breedlove, Rick Duncan, Rudy Echols, Lawrence Epps, Harold Hollans, Nils Johannesen, Kitty Seabolt, Jerry Nesbitt, Jean Odum, Ted Pylant, Brenda Rayburn, Jerry Sandoval, Glenda Slaughter, Robert Taylor and Victor Varnadoe.

The banquet will be held Thursday, June 4, at 7 p.m. at the Edgewater Country Club. Anyone interested in honoring the participants, Bolander indicated, is welcome to call, by June , the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce (478-6549) to make reservations for the banquet.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION May 19, 1981 Remappers Hear Plea Not To Cut Up

been instilled with much knowledge and hopefully a goodly amount of

But your journeys are really only beginning, toward that goal you have chosen. We hope you will always have goals that force you to strive and extend. We hope you retain your and blend those qualities with wisdom gained by experience and more study.

Yes, more study. Your studies from books may be ending for the most part,

but you should be able to acquire knowledge from the textbook of life.

To all graduates of Clayton County,

from Clayton County, a tip of the hat,

and a hearty congratulations.

By Beau Cutts

Gingrich District

It was supposed to be a public hearing on reapportionment, but the meeting seemed more like a political rally for U.S. Rep. Newt Gingrich, a Carrollton Republican who represents the 6th Congressional District of west central Georgia. A series of pro-Gingrich citizens urged the members of the General Assembly's reapportionment committees not to change the district in a manner harmful to the incumbent.

During the hearing at Clayton Junior College near Morrow, Bob Jackson of Brooks told the legislators, most of whom are Democrats: "I hope the committee will rise above politics. . . . Our district seems to be satisfied with the representation we're getting from Newt Gingrich.' Last November, Gingrich was elected to his second term with 59 percent of the vote. Ronald Radtke, who like Jackson is a Republican, asked that his home county of Spalding and its principal city of Griffin be retained in the 6th Congressional District. "We have a lot in common with such towns as Fayetteville, Carrollton and other communities like McDonough and Jackson," Radtke said.

All of those cities are in the 6th District. The crowd appeared to be composed mainly of Gingrich supporters. According to Tommy Engram, chairman of the 6th District Republican Party, 4,000 postcards were mailed to Gingrich backers urging them to attend the hearing.

A key legislator in the redistricting procedure said privately after the meeting that Gingrich has little to worry about. "He'll probably lose almost all of south Fulton County, but I expect Spalding will stay in," said the veteran legislator. "Since he's over (in population), we'll have to trim some of those outside counties like Jasper."

The 6th District has approximately 14 percent more population than the average will be for Georgia's 10 congressional districts after reapportionment. The legislative committees. operating under federal court mandates flowing from the "oneman, one-vote" concept, will seek no more than a plus or minus 1 percent population deviation for the congressional districts. The standard will be 546,426 people, based on 1980 census data. See REDISTRICT, Page 2-C

Sen. Hudson Addresses Redistricting Hearing

NEWS/DAILY

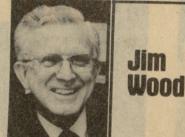

May 7, 1981 A Grand Old College Marks 150 Years

One of Georgia's grand old colleges is marking its sesquicentennial celebration in a series of ceremonies this year. The notation of one hundred and fifty years of growth and achievement began with Honors Day last week and will continue for several weeks at LaGrange College.

This is a fitting celebration for the small Methodist college. Its growth and achievement has been interesting, particularly in the last score of years in the face of difficult inflationary operations for the smaller college.

Georgia, you see, has an abundance of small private colleges which are struggling for continued existence. We must be careful that they do not lose their status and their important place in our higher educational pic-

LaGrange College, for instance, began as a female academy 150 years ago and continued along this course until the 1950s when it went the coed route. Those of you who are familiar with the details of "Gone With the Wind" will remember references to this academy for young ladies.

With the coming of Dr. Waights G. Henry Jr. as college president, the school managed to refurbish its faculty and capital plant, and encourage more young people to attend. The years since have not been without problems, but the steady growth of the college was accomplished. Today, Dr. Walter Murphy is president and enrollment nears the thousand mark.

While Georgia taxpayers maintain a widespread network of colleges, university complexes and junior colleges such as we have in Clayton Junior College, there is a definite place also for the smaller liberal arts colleges in our midst.

Seeing this role, the Georgia

General Assembly has provided tuition equalization grants for youths who want to study at these Georgia colleges. This year the sum was raised to $675 per year; not much but enough to continue encouragement and help for the state's smaller educational units.

Actually, these grants are a good deal for Georgians because costs for a student in the university system are roughly $2,200 each per year. The taxpayers save a sum which would be required if that student went to a state college, and allows a big boost to a diversity of educational opportunities in Georgia.

We must remember, too, that most of these colleges similar to LaGrange were started with church affiliations and continue that allegiance to some extent. Many of them have shared LaGrange College's good fortune in added heavy community support.

In LaGrange, various educational foundations and other local charitable organizations regularly contribute gifts for buildings, endowment enrichment, and faculty recruitment. They enhance the offerings available to Georgia youngsters by giving them. a higher educational choice.

Some students prefer state college educations; others prefer the quieter atmosphere of a private college campus. Georgia has an abundance of both, and we are fortunate in this

LaGrange College is a special place for this writer because of witnessing its growth through the years. Two of our sons have chosen it as the place for their college education and we feel that they have gotten a good education in its classrooms.

The added dimension of church affiliation, in the LaGrange College case one of Methodist association, is an extra value which should be stressed. There are other church affiliated colleges in Georgia which offer this aspect, and many of our state's families consider this very important. We do! We salute LaGrange College. Many students from Clayton County and its neighboring areas have attended there and will be interested in its sesquicentennial progress. Keep up the good work.

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR May 13, 1981 4-Year Idea To Be Made 1982 Start

Staff Writer

Clayton Junior College will learn if it will become a four-year school or stay as a two-year college, by approximately the beginning of 1982.

The feasibility study that is currently being prepared by the school will be turned over to the Sstate Board of Regents Oct. 1 for their decision.

"The study will review how well our current program fits into the needs of the community," says Harry S. Downs, Clayton Junior College President.

"We will be looking into our physical facilities, faculity qualifications and our financial resources," he said. The decision to consider changing the school into a four year college, came from a provision established by the State Board of Regents which requires every institution to undergo a review of their programs and ser-

A requirement was also set up for schools to do a status study every five years, looking into the possibility of becoming a four year college.

Downs said Clayton Junior College wass the first to go through with it. "We've been working hard on the matter the last few months getting the population statistics and assessing programs and the faculty qualiications," he says.

Downs says in the past it has taken two years for a junior college to switch to a four-year status, once they

One Atlanta area junior college that has switched to four years is Kennesaw Collegein Marietta, which was given the okay to convert in 1976 and changed over in 1978.

the college and acting president, their only major addition because of the switch was adding 15 faculty members and increasing the salaries of all the

CJC Stays Objective

On Four-Year Status

Officially, Clayton Junior College is The position of the college, as not for or against changing to a four Downs sees it, is an ethical one. To

of this year.

They did not add any new buildings

Assistant Managing Editor

college Harry Downs stated in an interview with the News-Daily recently that the position of the college is strictly to "serve the communtiy in the best way it can."

review process, but we are not advocating conversion of the college."

He adds, "I would hope the college would evolve into whatever is needed

The review process which the college has requested will be the first of a mandatory study established by the State Board of Regents in December for all state colleges and Downs agrees that most of the information necessary to determine the validity of a change in enrollment status to four years at the college would be included in the study, by the community.

universities.

Said Downs "We have requested a titution. President of the building and library were recently completed, which were planned when the school was a junior college.

It is wrong to think there were no problems because of the switch, "The main thing was we became one of the only colleges in the university system with 7 a.m. classes. Forty three per cent of our classrooms were filled by 7 a.m.," says Huck.

The new academic building with 14 classrooms and four art rooms helped alleviate that, though the classrooms are now 100 per cent filled from 8 a.m.

'Thats something Clayton Junior. College could look forward to having,"

The school is averaging about a 10 percent growth in student enrollment each year, with an increase the first year of 38 percent, rising from 2,400 to

Huck says the key factor in switching to a four-year school was the community support.

'They were very, very important.' Citizen's groups organized and went down to the governor's office for it,'

Because of the change, they eliminated 90 percent of their two year

One organization totally behind Clayton Junior College's possible switch is the Clayton County Chamber

According to Stan May, the Chamber's executive vice-president, they have have advocated the switch for several years.

'We felt all along, that with the According to Eugene Huck, dean of size enrollment at the college, and the anticipated growth of the surrounding areas, we could have a four-year college," he says.

May says the additional students would mean more revenue for the expected to be completed in October four-years, if it is not in the interest of the community, is not the primary function of the state education system. Therefore, while the process of enrollment review, community impact and impact on other institutions is underway, the college will maintain its position of objectivity toward any move to make the college into a four-year institution.

was asked when I came here in 1969

was, 'When will you be four-year?'

enrollment potentials, and some solid study material on community feelings from business leaders etc.," said

Downs, "it is our public trust to provide the educational opportunities

With the procedures outlined by the Regents in their dictum called

'Provision for Alteration of Mission and Status of a System Institution',

Clayton Junior College is on the way to determining their own future. The college is the first Georgia institution of learning to start a study under the

In charge of the study is Dr. Linda Greer of the college's office of Institutional Research, and her job is to gather factual information concerning enrollment, community impact and physical needs, among

The Regents move to establish a procedure for altering the status of an institution may, in part, be based on the political fray which erupted in 1978-79 over the change in status of

Kennesaw Community College (now

Kennesaw College) from a two-year to

The flap occurred over the potential disruption of enrollment to Atlanta's

Georgia State University, and the fight for Kennesaw's status was based on studies undertaken by the college in a free-form attempt to prove the

The current method of assessment established by the Regents will eliminate the political overtones of a change for Clayton Junior College, it is believed by Downs, and certainly all the information needed by the Regents to make a decision affecting the college will be available in the

But the review of the information from the study puts the actual move to a four year status exclusively in the laps of a Regent appointed committee

The findings of the review committee, if called upon by the study results, will then determine if the college is headed for a four-year of educators.

need for the change in status.

other things.

a four-year college.

needed by the community

Said Downs, "The first question I

"Until we have some feedback on

GRIFFIN DAILY NEWS

Betty Taylor: "We would like to maintain and stay in the Sixth District."

Spalding citizens tell revamp panel they want to stay in Sixth District

By CARL ELMORE The message from many Griffin and Spalding County citizens to members of Georgia's house and senate reapportionment committee members was clear: Newt Gingrich is all right with us, and we'd like to keep him as Spalding County's congressman.

Seven local people rose to speak to members of the committee at a public hearing yesterday at Clayton County Junior College held to gather public sentiment on how Georgia's population should be represented.

The hearing was the sixth of twelve to be held around the

"Our constituency appears happy with the representation they've been getting," said Bob Jackson, personnel manager for Thomaston Mills' Griffin division. He is Spalding GOP chair-

"Allow Spalding County to remain part of the sixth (congressional) district," Jackson implored.

Members of the house and senate reapportionment committees are charged with balancing population growth in the state against electoral representation based on new census figures.

Georgia's population has grown some 19 percent since 1970, Sen. Perry Hudson, chairman of the state senate's reapportionment committee told the Counties in north Georgia have generally grown more rapidly than 19 percent, while most counties in South Georgia have grown at a slower pace,

Hudson said. The result, he explained, is that some congressman, state representatives, and state senators are representing either too many or too few people.

Reapportionment is the constitutionally mandated process occurring every 10 years (with the census) to bring the numbers of representatives into balance with the number of people represented, Hudson ex-

"The purpose of our hearings is to have your input," Hudson said. Some 90 to 100 people attended, including Spalding's two state representatives and state senator, John Mostiler, Jim Fortune, and Kyle cobb.

"It was better attended than I had anticipated," Mostiler said. "We had a good delegation from Griffin making statements."

"The overriding thing about reapportionment is the population, the numbers," Mostiler said, adding, "We're caught in a position where there will have to be changes made."

The senior member of the Spalding delegation said his main interest was in keeping the county as near the center of the district as possible.

Mostiler said the federal Justice Department must approve any final reapportionment plans after the state submits

Jackson: "Allow Spalding County to remain part of the 6th them. Georgia, he said, is one of 22 states automatically examined to make sure federal constraints are met.

"We cannot dilute minority influence in the district," Mostiler explained, adding the congressional district must come to within 1 percent of the mandated population figures. The Sixth

Radtke: "If we were to be placed into another congressional district, perhaps we would be placed in a district unlike our

Griffin District should have 546,000 people after reapportion-The Sixth District currently has too many people, Mostiler said, and this is why part of the area must be shifted to other districts. Betty Taylor, Griffin

Republican rose to tell the hearing Griffin and Spalding County "would like to maintain and stay in the Sixth District. She suggested Pike, Lamar, Butts, and Jasper Counties might be switched to another Congressional district, thus bringing the Sixth District closer to the 546,000 figure. Other local delegates told the hearing that Griffin has more in common with smaller communities such as Fayetteville. Carrollton, and McDonougn, than with large cities such as Macon or Columbus. Local insurance man Ronald Radtke told the hearing Griffin should be placed or kept in a district with population areas similar to its own.

Others reminded the committee members that Gingrich's winning majority had grown in two consecutive elections, proving his popularity with the people he represents.

Georgia Chancellor To Give CJC Address

Dr. Vernon Crawford, Chancellor of the University System of Georgia, will deliver the Commencement Address at annual graduation exercises scheduled at Clayton Junior College on Saturday morning, June 13.

Almost 300 students who have completed graduation requirements since last year's ceremony are elegible to participate in the College's 11th annual Commencement. Associate degrees will be awarded by Dr. Harry S. Downs, President of the two-year institution near Morrow.

the College grounds, will begin at 10 a.m. Dr. Raymond L. Hancock, pastor of Pinecrest Baptist Church in Morrow, will deliver the invocation and benediction, and Dr. Billy R. Nail, Dean of the College, will present candidates for graduation. Dr. Crawford was named Chancellor for 11 months. He had served as Vice President for Academic Affairs at the Georgia Institute of Technology from 1969 until taking over as the chief executive officer of the statewide University System. Born in Amherst, Nova Scotia,

Canada, Dr. Crawford received his bachelor's degree from Mount Allison University in Sackville, New Brunswick. He earned a master's degree from Dalhousie University in Halifax, Nova Scotia, and his doctorate from the University of Virginia in Charlottesville

Naturalized as a United States citizen in 1953, he also earned an Professor of Physics, and in 1955, was promoted to the rank of Professor. While teaching physics at Tech, he also served as a research associate at the Georgia Tech Engineering Experiment Station (1951-58); as head of the physics branch of the Experiment Station (1959-61); as Associate Director of the School Physics (1961-64); and as Director of the School of Physics (1964-68).

He was named Dean of the General College in 1968 and served as Acting President in 1969 before assuming the duties of Vice President of Academic Affairs. While serving as Vice President, he twice doubled as an Acting Dean, first for the College of Architecture (1975-76), and then for the College of Industrial Management (1977-78).

The recipient of many honors and recognitions during his educational career, Dr. Crawford has had a number of articles published and holds memberships in several professional and honor society organizations.

DR. VERNON CRAWFORD

He is married to the former Helen Dell Avison, and they have two married daughters.

Saturday's one-hour Commencement ceremony will begin promptly at 10 a.m. and a reception honoring the 1981 graduates will follow. In the event of rain, the annual event will be conducted in the sanctuary of Pinecrest Baptist Church, 6021 Maddox Road, Morrow.

THE FOURYEAR CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE POSSIBILITY IS ONE STEP CLOSER TO REALITY AS SURVEYS BY COLLEGE OFFICIALS ARE COMPLETED THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR May 13, 1981

ollege Listens To Suggestions

By RICHARD MITCHELL

Staff Writer Approximately two dozen Clayton ounty businessmen and women met last week with Clayton Junior College President Harry Downs and completed surveys on turning the school

nto a four-year institution. The group also discussed which programs would be beneficial.

The businessmen answered questions on the job openings they would have in their institutions for the next several years and the college degree they would prefer their employees to

They were also asked their ideas on the "type of four year college "they would like to see

The school's administration is currently preparing a feasibility study, which they will present to the state Board of Regents Oct. They are examining the anticipated population and growth of the area, soliciting the opinions of present high school seniors and Clayton Junior College students and determining the capabilities of their professors and said the school is currently prepare a student for work, rather than futher schooling.

In addressing the business leaders. Downs said they need to project services that are needed in the communi-

We call on you to share your ideas of services a four-year institution should provide to a community," he

Jim Stewart of Kawneer and the president of the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce said Clayton Junior College would need to be more involved with the high school, stressing to the students to attend college. Bob Meyer of the State Farmers'

Market said they would need persons with a degree in agriculture science.

Ann Plant of the Clayton County Department of Family and Childrens Services said graduates should be produced who have an interest in Clayton

'What bothers me is there are a number of people working in Clayton County, but they live in North Atlanta. I think it's because we don't offer enough cultural activities," she said.

Downs said frequent suggestions hears from the community are not to end the school's two-year programs if they go to four-years.

Other suggestions include continuing work in the areas that are of service to the community, such as offering the continuing education and small business courses.

Also, they should maintain the quality of education that won't produce incompedent graduates

'The number one concern I heard is that we remain a community college," he said.

In naming the most important feature the college should have, the group most frequently mentioned a flexable scheduling of classes, an expansion of the night programs and weekend classes to accomodate students

Attorney Don Foster said he would like to see a four-year college establish a unique identity for Clayton

'Clayton County is the poor relative across the tracks from metro-Atlanta. If the college could help the county in upgrading its image, it could help itself," he said

Foster stated that the county needs more cultural activities, which a college could produce, and many persons would come to school here.

Two Jonesboro Jr. High

students took first place awards at the recent Clayton Jr. College Creative Arts Festival. L-R are language teacher Mrs. Carmen Reyes; Alicia Samples, first in first year French composition; Tracy Smith. first in first year Spanish Composition; and principal Travis Vaughn. News/Daily Photo by Russell Moble

Winners

Max Cleland to Speak at Leadership Banquet

Hudson (standing at right) of the Senate address the hearing yesterday at Clayton County Junior College.

Cleland

Max Cleland, the youngest man ever to head Veterans Administration, will be the guest speaker at the June 4th Leadership Clayton Banquet honoring this year's participants. "Cleland epitomizes the courage and enthusiasm of true leadership," said Robert Bolander, Chairman of Leadership Clayton. "We're excited that he will be with us next week; it's a quality way to conclude an excellent program."

nomination by then at the Edgewater Country Bolander indicated, is Chamber of Commerce banquet. President Carter to administer the $22 Billion a year Veterans Affairs Office. Such contributions caused Pulitzer Prize winning writer David Broder to recognize Max Cleland as one of those emerging leaders "who may largely determine the direction in which the nation will be headed.

Cleland is quoted in Broder's Changing of the Guard: Power and Leadership in America as stating "We're in a totally different era. Then government was a tool for reform. Now government itself has to be reformed." In setting the tone for the Leadership Clayton Banquet, Cleland pointed out that "Leadership is different from management. Leadership encompasses good management but if is more...Leadership is by far the tougher challenge. That message will be conveyed to this year's honor graduates of the Chamber of Commerce/Clayton Junior College cosponsored leadership development program. Graduates of this year's program are: Lena Almon, James Breedlove, Rick Duncan, Rudy Echols, Lawrence Epps, Harold Cleland, a recipient of Hollans, Nils Johannesen, Silver and Bronze Stars for Kitty Seabolt, Jerry his service with the First Air Nesbitt, Jean Odum, Ted Cavalry Division in Pylant, Brenda Rayburn, Vietnam, is a former Jerry Sandoval, Glenda Georgia State Senator and Slaughter, Robert Taylor was a staff member of the and Victor Varnadoe.

Jonesboro sits between the chairmen.

U.S. Senate's Committee on The banquet will be held Club. Anyone interested in velcome to call, by June 1, (478-6549) to make Veterans Affairs prior to his Thursday, June 4, at 7 p.m. honoring the participants, the Clayton County reservations for the

June 4, 1981 NEWS/DAILY

CJC Foundation Aids Deserving Students

The quiet constructive work of making this a better community in which to live and work continues. Sometimes it receives little or no notice, sometimes it attracts some attention. One of the good things which has developed in our cimmunity in the last few years has been the work of the Clayton Junior College Foundation. This group of businessmen in our > their efforts are paying off handsomely. The Foundation is now in its seventh year of operation and the major effort of the Board of Trustees has been directed toward providing scholarships for bright and deserving students in our area to attend our local community has sought to make

Clayton Junior College a better

institution of education and we think

The non-profit organization has attempted to assist and support Clayton Junior College in the pursuit of excellence in programs and services, too, and to assist and encourage citizens of the community to support the endeavors. The number

This is the kind of work which just doesn't materialize overnight, but the efforts have borne fruit. During the 1981-82 school year, the Foundation will seek to administer some $29,314

JIM

Wood

for 33 scholarships in their second years, and for $14,157 for 33 new scholarships in the first years. Also a part of the budget is $500 for a students honors program and another $500 for a program to honor the college faculty and staff. Scholarships are aimed at the service area of the college which is considered a south metro spread including Clayton, Henry, Fayette and South Fulton counties. Participating high schools in the program include: Forest Park, Jonesboro, Morrow, North Clayton and Riverdale in the local system; Henry County and Stockbridge from Henry County; Fayette County High School; Briarwood, Campbell, College Park, M.D. Collins, Feldwood, Hapeville, Headland, Lakeshore, Palmetto, Russell and Westwood from the Fulton County system.

A Merit Program also provides awards to the STAR Students from the four-county area of Clayton, Henry, Fayette and Fulton.

The Foundation supports an Honors Day Program at Clayton Junior College where it can recognize and reward students who already have established records of outstanding achievement at the two-year institution. The trustees also recognize the importance of a quality faculty and staff in providing the strong academic atmosphere for students. Awards are provided annually to honor these persons. And through this seven years of existence the Foundation seems to be living to its goal and motto of "In Pursuit of Excellence." The accomplishments have been

Now the Foundation seeks to build endowment that earnings from this fund will be utilized through the years to support the college through programs adopted by the Board of Trustees. The amount in this fund is growing steadily, ironically without too much push from members. However, with the coming of a fouryear status to the Clayton College it is easy to recognize that the Foundation at CJC will be challenged further. The accomplishments are made possible by the generous support of its area citizens and various groups within the community. They have responded in growing amounts through the past seven years. A one-year scholarship to attend classes at Clayton Junior College is only $429 and the two-year awards costs $858. Other amounts can be contributed specifically to the endowment funding, or for other purposes.

Want to help?

Mail your contribution to the Clayton Junior College Foundation, Inc., Post Office Box 285, Morrow,

Junior College Has Speakers Bureau

By RICHARD MITCHELL Staff Writer

Does your civic group want to learn about organic gardens, magic, or opera? If so the Clayton Junior College speakers bureau might be the ones to talk to. The bureau gives programs on most any topic during the day and evening. They usually last 30 minutes to an hour, and are coordinated through the office of communi-

The programs are given by facuilty or staff members and they are in either what they teach, or have a great interest in. Past topics have included such things as Post World War II development patterns in Clayton County.

Women in history, organic whitewater canoeing backpacking and camping. "If we can identify a resource on campus who can fulfill a request, we do it," says Ric Sanchez, Clayton

Junior College's director of community services. "We are able to fill 80 to 90 percent of the request we get," he says.

The speakers usually address civic groups, schools and church groups, and the most requested topic is educational opportunities at Clayton Junior College.

The bureau averages 25 to 30 requests a year, and they recently conducted a symposium with Reynolds Nature Perserve, where they had three speakers. The bureau has been part of the college for as long as its been open, though it has been promoted a lot more in the last two years and there is now more visibility. "We are part of the community. There are resources here, and if civic clubs need information, that is why we're here." says Sanchez.

Other organziations that the bureau has served has been Cub Scout Packs, homemakers clubs, senior citizens clubs and the Rotary Club

News/Daily Press Run

(Above) Racers take on rolling course at Clayton Community College Saturday during the 1981 News-Daily Press Run. (Left) Riverdale track coach Richard Westbrook crosses the finish line in second place for the (Right) young Nancy Perkins (7 months) appears to be checking off the names of the local contestants of the race. Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dana Perkins of

Day At The Races Proves Hot, Rewarding...

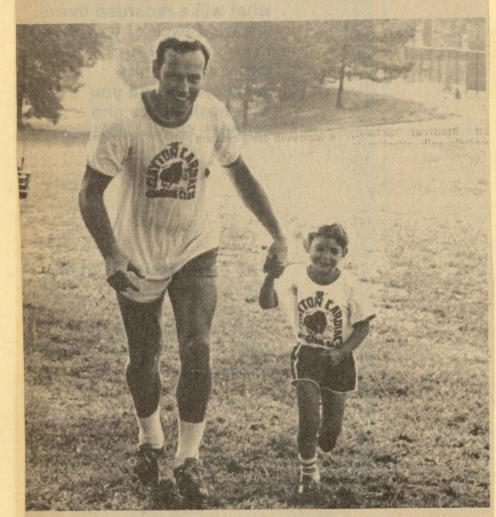

(Above) Chris Power took first place in the mile run as did Lori Bell for the girls. (Left) June Boyles of Riverdale placed first for women in the six mile run, while (Right) Bill Brackin and Jodina Smith earn trophies presented by Jim

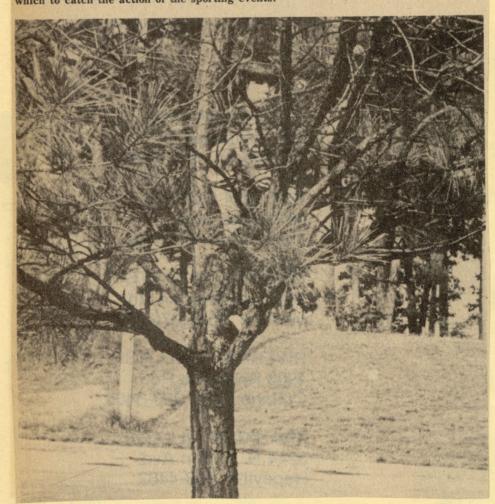

...And Just Plain Fun

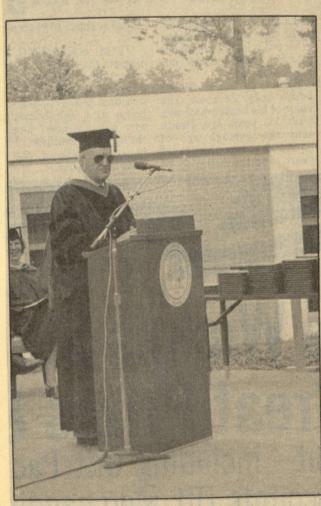

(Above) Scott Irwin and son Jacob, age 5, complete the one mile race in a time of 9:48. The Press Run has traditionally been a family event even though some outstanding running has been timed for the six, three and one mile courses. (Below) Randy Rysedorph, the eightyear-old son of Ken Rysedorph of Riverdale chose a rather unusual vantage point from

NEWS/DAILY Saturday

CLAYTON COUNTY JUNIOR COLLEGE'S 11th annual commencement will be conducted outside on the college grounds, beginning at 10 a.m. on Saturday, June 13. Students who have completed course requirements during the 1980-81 year will be honored. In the event of rain, the graduation ceremony will be conducted in the sanctuary of the Pinecrest Baptist Church on Maddox Road in Morrow.

CJC Turns Out 260 Grads Graduates

Dr. Vernon Crawford

By SHARON ENGELHART

University System of Georgia, keynote which ended the ceremony. speaker at the 11th annual commencement their years of endeavor.

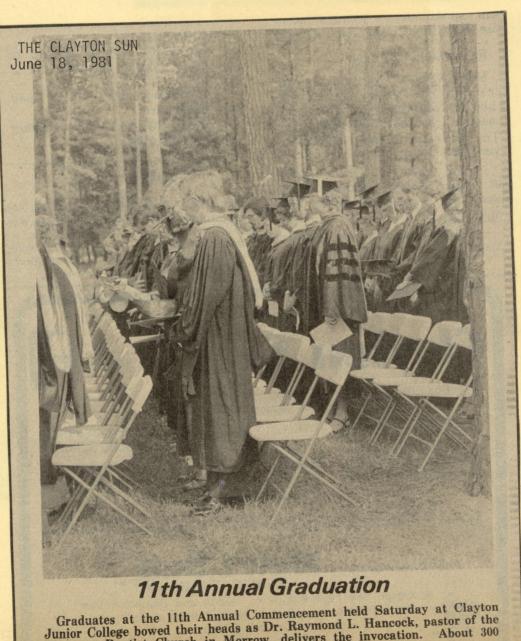

designated seats on the campus and proud took over the position as chief executive parents and friends snapped photographs. officer for the state-wide University system. He told the class that their future holds Dr. Billy R. Nail, Dean of the College, what they make of it.

college grounds with Dr. Raymond L. degrees.

Hancock, pastor of Pinecrest Baptist Church in Morrow giving the invocation. Dr. Vernon Crawford, Chancellor of the Dr. Hancock also gave the benediction,

President of the College Dr. Harry exercises held Saturday at Clayton Junior Downs spoke to the students and then College, congratulated the graduating class introduced Crawford. Crawford has been of 260 students and wished them the best in serving on the Board of Regents since May 20, 1980 and served as acting Chancellor for Crawford commended the students for 11 months. From 1969 he served as Vice completing graduation requirements and President for Academic Affairs at the watched as the students filed into their Georgia Institute of Technology until he presented the 260 candidates for graduation, which included 20 students graduating with The ceremony began at 10 a.m. on the honors, and Downs awarded them with their Graduates at the 11th Annual Commencement held Saturday at Clayton Junior College bowed their heads as Dr. Raymond L. Hancock, pastor of the Pinecrest Baptist Church in Morrow, delivers the invocation. About 300 students received associate degrees. (SUNphoto by Sharon Engelhart).

Dr. Crawford to speak

at Clayton commencement

Dr. Vernon Crawford, Chancellor of the University System of Georgia, will deliver the Commencement Address at annual graduation exercises scheduled at Clayton Junior College on Saturday morning, June

Almost 300 students who have completed graduation requirements since last year's ceremony are elegible to participate in the College's 11th annual Commencement. Associate degrees will be awarded by Dr. Harry S. Downs, President of the two-year institution near Morrow. The ceremony, sche-

Dr. Crawford

Commencement ceremony will begin promptly at 10 a.m. and a reception honoring the 1981 graduates will follow. In the event of rain, the annual event will be conducted in the Sanctuary of Pinecrest Baptist Church; 6021 Maddox Road, Mor-duled outside on the College grounds, will begin at 10 a.m. Dr. Raymond L. Hancock, Pastor of Pinecrest Baptist Church in Morrow. will deliver the invocation and benediction, and Dr. Billy R. Nail, Dean of the College, will present candidates for graduation

More Than 160 Run Hot Race

By PHILIP H. JONES Assistant Sports Editor

More than $600 was raised Saturday for the American Cancer Society by Clayton Countians participating in the annual News-Daily Press Run.

A total of 159 people registered for the six mile, three mile and novice one mile road races which were held on the campus of Clayton Junior College.

Hugh Toro of Forest Park was the overall winner in the six mile race with a timing of 35:22. June Boyles of Riverdale was the first female to complete the six mile course finishing the race with a timing of 46:23. Thirteen-year-old Brian Cobb of Stockbridge was the youngest runner to finish the six mile race. Cobb completed the course in 45:35, while 61-year old Patrick Stone of Forest Park was the oldest competitor in the 10 kilometers race.

"It was a well organized race, but it was also very hot," Toro said after winning the six mile race. "I think I'll just rest the rest of the day and maybe lay in the pool."
In the 5,000 kilometers race, Bill

Brackin of Riverdale placed first with a timing of 16:02, while Jodina Smith of Jonesboro was the first female to complete the three mile course with a timing of 19:26. Tenyear-old Mark Tolcher was the youngest competitor in the road race going the distance in 22:00. Sixty-two-year-old Charles Levis was the oldest runner in the 5,000 kilometers race completing the course in 22:45. In the one mile novice run, Chris Powder placed first with a timing of 5:25.

Senior citizens, young adults and children were able to enter the races according to their ages, with classifications provided for those under 17 years of age, 18 to 30, 30 to 50, and 50 and older. Awards were given to the first three finishers in each division. Trophies and ribbons were presented by News-Daily Publisher Jim Wood who thanked all the participants on behalf of the American Cancer Society. Wood also extended his appreciation to the Clayton Amateur Radio Club for their help and supervision of the course.

HUGH TORO TAKES TOP HONORS Publisher Jim Wood Presents Trophy

NEWS/DAILY Leaders

Leadership Clayton Group Honored

Staff Writer

Max Cleland, former national Veterans Affairs Office administrator, told a group of graduates of the Chamber of Commerce Leadership Clayton workshop that they must meet the "challenge to community leadership" posed by Reagan administration budget cuts.

Cleland was speaking at a dinner held at the Edgewater Country Club in Jonesboro to honor 15 graduates of the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce's 10-month leadership skill-building program. Jim Breedlove, spokesman for the graduates, said in September the group was given a copy of a consulting firm's 1979 image study of Clayton County and told meaningful.

It would be virtually impossible to eliminate airport noise or change the people of Clayton County or change the character of the county as a transportation center, Breedleve said. So the group decided to concentrate on the physical appearance of the county. The result was the launching of Clayton Clean and Beautiful, a program aimed at raising public interest in a litterfree community.

Enrollees in this year's Leadership Clayton program met once each month to participate in seminars on various services and processes of local government, public speaking and conducting of meetings and other skills needed to be an effective leader.

Graduates of the program for this year are Lena Almon, James Breedlove, Rick Duncan, Lawrence Epps, Harold Hollans, Nils Johansen, Kitty Seabolt, Jerry Nesbit, Jean Odum, Ted Pylant, Brenda Rayburn, Jerry Sandoval, Glenda Slaughter, Robert Taylor and Victor Varnadoe.

Cleland, an Army veteran, told the graduates that his own style of leadership is strongly influenced by the military.

'I began to realize that the Army didn't have all the answers as far as leadership," Cleland said. Leaders in a community setting would not have the structured setting of the Army and must learn to be effective in

See LEADERS on page 9

Job Fair Scheduled At CJC

In an attempt to help fill a shortage of teachers in the state that has caused an estimated 5,000 vacancies in state school systems, state school administrators will hold the first of several summer job fairs Wednesday at Clayton Junior College.

The job fair, one of eight planned for this year, will run from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and representatives from school systems from all areas of Georgia will be present to interview interested persons.

Recent college graduates, out-ofstate teachers, teachers wishing to relocate or those returning to teaching after several years' absence are invited to the fair, designed to bring instructors needing work and school officials needing teachers together. Julie Elfman, teacher recruiter for the Georgia Department of Education, said, "A teacher who is looking for a job can go almost anywhere in Georgia-the choice is theirs.'

> Vacancies have been reported in almost every school system in the state and the competition for teachers among school systems is such that the tentative 1981-82 budget for Clayton County schools contains salary increases for beginning teachers designed to make county schools competitive with surrounding

Five of the eight proposed job fairs will be held at Clayton Junior College: on June 24, July 29, August 26, Sept. 30 and Dec. 9. Three are planned for the Savannah Area Vocational-Technical School, Savannah, on July 31, Aug. 28

Leaders-

Continued from page 1

that unstructured environment, he said.

Cleland predicted that implementation of President Ronald Reagan's streamlined budget policies would bring financial "chaos" to state and local governments. Local leaders will be forced to find alternate financing for local public programs or let them die, he said.

"In this conservative period, conversion to individual action is highly touted," Cleland said. "We're going to have to put up or Cleland, a disabled veteran of the Vietnam War, recently resigned as the administrator of the Office of Veterans Affairs. prior to being named to that position by former President Jimmy Carter, he served for a time in the Georgia Senate and led an unsuccessful campaign for lieutenant governor.

THIS WEEK June 24, 1981

Clayton graduates Fayette students

Twenty-seven students from Fayette County were among the 259 students who received associate degrees during annual commencement exercises at Clayton Junior College June 13.

Among the graduates were 17 from Fayetteville and eight from Peachtree

Graduates from Peachtree City were Carol Ann Bergholt, Alice K. Bowers, Sharon Kay Boyd, Cora Jean Dunbar, Vera Anne Fricano, Linda H. Graham, Deborah S. Van't Wout.

Fayetteville graduates included Freddie Warren Bishop, Shirley Rivers Bissell, Judith Karen Bramlett, Kris Elaine Creecy. Laura Delane Dollar, Barbara Ann Hicks, Debbie Lynn Hogan, Connie Lane Mason, Jerrie Lynn Mayfield, Susan Virginia Mc-Elroy, Tommy Carlton Mc-Lendon, Michael P. Merrell, Julie Carol Rogers, Shirley Jean Taylor, Donna Padgett Thiraveja, William C. Turbyfield and Emory Lee Stanford, and Brenda Jean Veal.

UGA Chancellor to Address Clayton Junior Graduates Dr. Vernon Crawford, Chancellor by the Board of an instructor at Mount Alli- and served as Acting Presi- College of Industrial Man- and honor society organiza- a.m. and a reception honor-

Chancellor of the University System of Georgia, will deliver the Commencement Address at annual gradua-year's ceremony are eligible system. to participate in the Colmencement. Associate degrees will be awarded by Dr. Harry S. Downs, President of the two-year institution near Morrow.

The ceremony, scheduled grounds, will begin at 10 a.m. Dr. Raymond L. Hancock, Pastor of Pinecrest Baptist Church in Morrow. will deliver the invocation and benediction, and Dr. also earned an honorary School of Physics (1961-64); Billy R. Nail, Dean of the Doctor of Laws degree from and as Director of the College, will present candidates for graduation.

tion exercises scheduled at President for Academic Af- versity, and as a research Clayton Junior College on fairs at the Georgia Insti- assistant at the Naval Re-Saturday morning, June 13. tute of Technology from search Establishment of Almost 300 students who 1969 until taking over as Canada. Late in the dec- (1975-76), and then for the ship in several professional will begin promptly at 10 have completed graduatin the chief executive officer of ade, he became a graduate

Born in Amherst, Nova Dr. Crawford joined the lege's 11th annual Com- Scotia, Canada, Dr. Craw- faculty at Georgia Tech in ford received his bachelor's 1949 as an Associate Profesdegree from Mount Allison sor of Physics, and in 1955, University in Sackville, was promoted to the rank of New Brunswick. He earned Professor. While teaching a master's degree from Dal- physics at Tech, he also housie University in Halioutside on the College fax, Nova Scotia, and his ciate at the Georgia Tech doctorate from the Univer- Engineering Experiment lottesville. States citizen in 1953, he Associate Director f the Mount Allison University. School of Physics (1964-68). Dr. Crawford entered the He was named Dean of Dr. Crawford was named field of education in 1937 as the General College in 1968

after serving as Acting 1940's, he served as a grad-Chancellor for 11 months. uate assistant and later a He had served as Vice lecturer at Dalhousie Unirequirements since last the state-wide University teaching assistant at the University of Virginia.

served as a research assosity of Virginia in Char- Station (1951-58); as head of physics branch of Experi-Naturalized as a United ment Station (1959-61); as dent in 1969 before assum- agement (1977-78). ing the duties of Vice President of Academic Affairs.

The recipient of many honors and recognitions former Helen Dell Avison, the annual event will be While serving as Vice Presi- during his educational ca- and they have two married conducted in the Sanctuary dent, he twice doubled as reer, Dr. Crawford has had daughters. an Acting Dean, first for the a number of articles pub- Saturday's one-hour Church, 6021 Maddox

College of Architecture lished and holds member- Commencement ceremony Road, Morrow.

ing the 1981 graduates will He is married to the follow. In the event of rain, of Pinecrest Baptist Clayton adds Vo-Tech programs

New programs in data processing, electronics technology, office administration, word processing, and practical nursing have been approved for Clayton Junior College.

Included in the college's new division of Vocational - Technical Education, the new programs will be offered at the beginning of fall quarter classes in September.

Successful completion of the two-year programs approved will lead to the Associate in Applied Science Degree, and certificates will be issued for one-year programs. During the last several months, college officials rhave conducted an extensive study -- including va series of task force ≡ meetings with area business, industrial and professional leaders -- to determine the most appropriate programs to be offered by the new division during the first year.

All vocational-technical programs will be operated and funded in accordance with an existing agreement between the Board of Reш gents of the University 王 System of Georgia and the State Department of Education.

In addition to the new programs, a number of existing ones already being offered by the college will be transferred into the new division, giving it a solid base of proven academic success from which to build.

Vocational - technical education programs to be offered this fall include: -Data Processing, with both a one-year certificate and a two-year degree program;

-- Electronics Technology, with both a one-year certificate and a twoyear degree program; -- Practical Nursing, a one-year certificate program which qualifies the graduate to take the Georgia Board of Nursing licensed practical nurse (LPN);

--Office Administration, a two-year degree program;

--Office Practices, oneyear certificate programs with specializations in word processing, clerical, and stenographic skills;

--General Secretarial Studies, a two-year degree program; --Legal Secretarial Studies, a two-year program. With the exception of word processing, the options in Office Practices and the two programs in Secetarial Studies were transferred from the college's Business Division.

Vocational - technical programs will be integrated into the present structure and programming of the college, and the new programs will be offered in existing facilities on the 163-acre campus.

The college will continue to offer freshman and sophomore programs in major fields of study which are common to all state-supported institutions in Georgia.

Other "career programs" offered by the college are in accounting, aviation administration, banking and finance. business, criminal justice, dental hygiene, medical laboratory technology, music, and nursing.

Students interested in fall quarter enrollment in vocational - technical classes should contact the college's Office of Admissions and Records (961-3500) or the Vocational-Technical Education Division (961-3415).

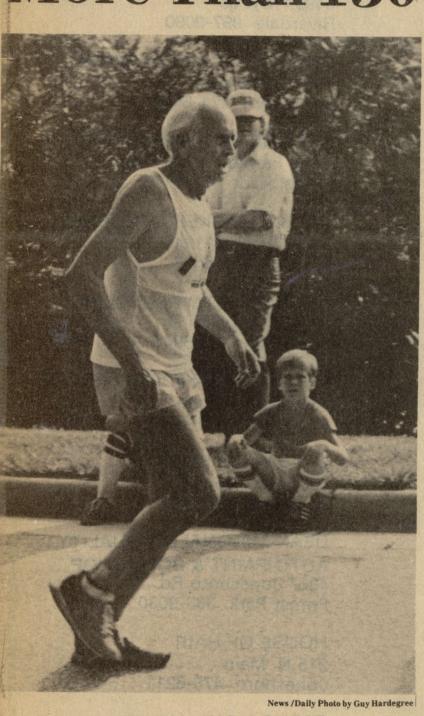

HUGH TORO CROSSES FINISH LINE IN 10,000 METER RACE SATURDAY

BILL BRACKIN USED THE 5,000-METER RACE TO WORK ON HIS SPEED Brackin, Who Will Run In The Peachtree Road Race, Took First On The 5,000-Meter Course

Toro, of Forest Park, Was One Of 159 Runners In Press Run's Three Races At CJC June 1, 1981 More Than 150 Runners Compete In Press Run

FOREST PARK'S PATRICK STONE FINISHES 10,000-METER RUN Stone, 61, Was Oldest To Complete The 10,000-Meter Course

By PHILIP H. JONES Assistant Sports Editor

Saturday turned out to be a "moving" experience for more than a 150 Clayton Countians who participated in the annual News Daily Press Run on the campus of Clayton Junior College.

The day was also a rewarding occasion as proceeds form the sixmile, three-mile and one-mile races were donated to the American Cancer Society. A total of 159 people registered for the early morning races, raising more than $600.

Senior citizens, young adults and children were able to enter the races according to their ages, with classifications provided for those under 17 years of age, 18 to 30, 30 to 50, and 50 and older. Awards were given to the first three finishers in each

Hugh Toro of Forest Park was the overall winner in the longest race of the day, the 10,000 meter run, with a first-place timing of 35:22. June Boyles of Riverdale was the first female to complete the six-mile race. She ran the course in 46:23. 13-year old Brian Cobb of Stockbridge was the youngest runner to finish the six-mile race. Cobb completed the course in 45:35, while 61-year-old Patrick Stone of Forest Park was the oldest competitor in the road race. Stone, who said he runs an average of eight miles per day, completed the 10,000 kilometers race with a timing of 42:31. After completing the course, Stone offered, "I'm 61, but I feel like 81."

In the 5,000 meter race, Bill Brackin of 16:02, while Jodina Smith of Jonesboro was the first female to complete the course finishing the three-mile run in 19:26. 10-year-old Mark Tolcher was the youngest competitor in the road race with a timing of 22:00, while 62-year-old Charles Levis was the oldest runner. Levis completed the course in 22:45.

In the one-mile novice run, Chris Powder placed first with a time of

"It was a well organized race, but it was also very hot," Toro said after winning the six-mile run. "I think I'll just rest the rest of the day and maybe

Toro, at age 27, said he runs a road race almost every other weekend during the summer months. He added he runs between 80 and 90 miles per week which averages out to be about 13 miles per day. During the months when Toro is not competing in road races he is a teacher at Fountain Jr. High. Toro is also the track coach at Babb Junior High and head coach of the Forest Park Senior High cross country team.

"I hope we were able to raise some money for the Cancer Society," he "I've been in more of these things for cancer than I can remember.

Toro said his next road race will probably be the Peachtree Road Race in Atlanta. 33-year-old Bill Brackin, the first place winner in the three-mile race, also plans on competing in the Peachtree Road Race. Brackin said one of the reasons he competed in the News-Daily Press Run was to help prepare himself for the Atlanta race.

"I usually run in the 10,000 meter races," Brackin said. "But I wanted to step down the distance today and work on my speed. I'm trying to get ready for the Peachtree Race, that's the next one for me."

Like Toro, Brackin also said it was a very hot race.

"It was hot and very humid. The race was very hilly and there weren't too many places to coast, but it's a good place to run. I used to run the course here last fall.'

Brackin added he runs at CJC and he usually averages about 10 miles

Trophies and ribbons were presented by News-Daily Publisher Jim Wood who thanked all the participants on behalf of the American Cancer Society. Wood also extended his appreciation to the Clayton Amateur Radio Club for their help and supervision of the course.

News/Daily Photo by Guy Hardegree

JODINA SMITH OF JONESBORO COMPLETES 5,000-METER RUN

Exaltation

(Above) Graduation ceremonies for those receiving degrees from Clayton Junior College took place Saturday with Valerie Bahr of Jonesboro shown taking her diploma from college president Harry Downs. (Below Left) Valerie admires her diploma and contemplates her new degree in business administration. She graduated with honors. (Below Right) Kris Creecy of Fayetteville played a dual role as she graduated and supplied some of the music for the ceremony. Kris is a music

News/Daily Photo by Guy Hardegree

Clayton Junior College Holds June Graduation

By KIRK MARTIN Staff Writer

Graduation ceremonies were held Saturday for 260 Clayton Junior College students who had finished their two-year program of studies at the college near Morrow. The robed graduates assembled on a grassy lawn in the heart of the campus at 10 a.m. Saturday to hear an address by Dr. Vernon Crawford, chancellor of the University System of Georgia. Enduring hot temperatures and oppressive humidity, the graduates were presented by college dean Dr. Billy Nail. After Nail certified that the students had completed their course of studies at the college, they were awarded associate's degrees by Clayton Junior College President Dr. Harry Downs.

The graduating class of 260 students, which included 20 who were graduating with honors, is the 11th group to graduate from the state-operated institution

Commencement speaker Crawford joined the faculty of Georgia Tech in 1949. He'had been born in Nova Scoti and had attended Canadian schools before completing h doctorate at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville.

Crawford rose to be vice president of academic affairs Georgia Tech and served more than once as dear various colleges within the university. He has been chancellor of the state university system for 11 months

New Voc-Tech Programs Approved at CJC

processing, electronics tech- ers-to determine the most tion, word processing, and practical nursing have been during the first year. approved for Clayton Junior tember. Successful comple- cation. tion of the two-year programs approved will lead to cates will be issued for one- offered by the College will a two-year degree program;

sive study-including a ser- build. ies of task force meetings Vocational-technical edu-

New programs in data trial and professional lead- fered this Fall include:

All vocational-technical programs will be operated ogy, with both a one-year Included in the College's and funded in accordance certificate and a two-year new Division of Vocational- with an existing agreement degree program; Technical Education, the between the Board of Renew programs will be of- gents of the University Sys- one-year certificate profered at the beginning of tem of Georgia and the gram which qualifies the Fall Quarter classes in Sep- State Department of Edu- graduate to take the Geor-

the Associate in Applied new programs, a number of (LPN); Science Degree, and certifi- existing ones already being be transferred into the new During the last several Division, giving it a solid months, College officials base of proven academic with specializations in word have conducted an exten- success from which to processing, clerical, and

-Data Processing, with nology, office administra- appropriate programs to be both a one-year certificate offered by the new Division and a two-year degree pro-

-Electronics Technol-

gia Board of Nursing exam-

-Office Practices, one-163-acre campus. year certificate programs program: and. -Legal Secretarial word processing, the op- aprofessional training.

transferred from the col- ministration, banking and lege's Division of Business. grams will be integrated medical laboratory technolination to become a Li- into the present structure ogy, music and nursing. IN ADDITION to the censed Practical Nurse and programming of the Additional programs omore programs in major made available.

tions in Office Practices Other "career programs" and the two programs in offered by the college are in signed in cooperation with -Practical Nursing, a Secretaries Studies were accounting, aviation adfinance, business, criminal Vocational-technical pro- justice, dental hygiene, college, and the new pro- within the new Division of -Office Administration, grams will be offered in Vocational-Technical Eduexisting facilities on the cation will continually be developed and added to the curriculum as needs are The college will continue identified and additional to offer freshman and soph- facilities and funding is fields of study which are In addition, faculty Reeves serves as the In--General Secretarial common to all state-sup- within the new Division will structional Coordinator.

Studies, a two-year degree ported institutions in Geor- provide specialized shortgia. Vocational-technical term training programs for offerings and other two-year current and potential em-Studies, a two-year degree "career programs" combine ployees of both new and regular college courses with existing businesses and in-With the exception of specific professional or par- dustries. Programs for the up-grading and/or training of employees will be deleaders in the business com-

Students interested in fall quarter enrollment in vocational-technical classes should contact the college's Office of Admissions and Records (961-3500) or the Division of Vocational-Technical Education (961-

Dr. Carlos R. Schmitt is Chairman of the new Division, and Dr. D. William with area business, indus- cation programs to be of-

THE FAYETTE SUN June 25, 1981 CJC Graduates So. Fulton, Fayette Students

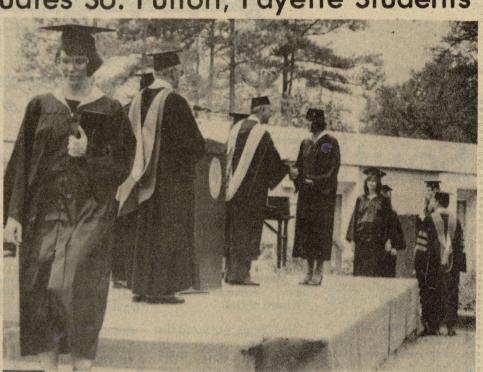

county area were among the 259 graduates to receive Associate Degrees during the Commencement exercises conducted at Clayton Junior College on Saturday morning, June 13.

East Point graduates were Pamela Lynn Archer, David Lee Barber, Thomas J. Barry, Jr., Gene Sherman Baugh, Sr., Beth Ann Brayton, Nina Karen Bristol, Teresa Lee Ennis, Katherine Ann Halm, Linda Ann Haynes, Roberta Harris Hensley, Clare Elizabeth Knuerr, Laura Lynn Miller, Byron Clark Nelson, Norris J. Polley, Carol Agnes Pou, and Meta Blackmon Thompson.

Graduates from College Park were Stephanie Downs Bray, Darrell Mark Cook, Joann Johnson Everett, Vanessa Lynn Faison, Rodney K. Farris, Paul John Gasper, Robert Joseph Hicks, Charles Gregory Kelley, Kelley Ann Quinn, Dee Gaile Stegall, Katherine E. Stinson, Mark Richard Tiedemann, Shirley Truss, Robyn Katrina Upchurch, and Lori Elaine Walters.

Graduates from Fairburn were Timothy E. Dinsmore, Deborah A. Duncan, Susan Thomas, and Susannah Claire Tyson.

Hapeville graduates inluded Jeffery Lamar Allen,

CJC GRADS-Marcia C. Bond of Hapeville clutches her Associate Degree as she leaves the stage while Mary Ann Bowen of Jonesboro receives her's from Dr. Harry S. Downs during graduation ceremonies at Clayton Junior College on Saturday morning, June 13. Also greeting the graduates was Dr. Vernon Crawford, chancellor of the University System of Georgia and commence-

Fayetteville graduates in- Lendon, Micheal P. Mer-

Steven Eugene Warlick. Bishop, Shirley Rivers Bis-Also included were Sandra sell, Judith Karen Bram-Denese Barnes, Cecile lett, Kris Elaine Creecy, Demmon Taylor and Sher- Laura Delane Dollar, Barrill W. Thornton of Union bara Ann Hicks, Debbie City, and Morris Sammons Lynn Hogan, Connie Lane Mason, Jerrie Lynn Mayfield, Susan Virginia Mc-Elroy, Tommy Carlton Mc-

Shirley Jean Taylor, Donna Padgett Thiraveja, William C. Turbyfield, and Brenda

Graduates from Peachtree City were Carol Ann Bergholt, Alice. Bowers, Sharon Kay Boyd, Cora Jean Dunbar, Vera Anne Fricano, LInda H. Graham. Marcia Charlene Bond, and cluded Freddie Warren rell, Julie Carol Rogers, Deborah S. Van't Wout. Emory Lee Stanford, and

THE CLAYION NEIGHBUK

June 24, 1981 Business Programs Approved For Vocational/Technical School

New programs in data processing, electronics technology, office administration, word processing, and practical nursing have been approved for Clayton Junior

Included in the college's new Division of Vocational/Technical Education, the new programs will be offered at the beginning of fall quarter classes in

Successful completion of the two-year programs approved will lead to the Associate in Applied Science Degree and certificates will be issued for one-year

During the last several months, college officials have conducted an extensive study—including a series of task force meetings with are business, industrial and professional leaders-to determine the most appropriate programs to be offered by the new division during the first year.

All vocational/technical programs will be operated and funded in accordance with an existing agreement between the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia and the State Department of Education.

In addition to the new programs, a number of existing ones already being offered by the college will be transferred into the new division, giving it a solid base of proven academic success from which to build. Vocational/technical education programs to be offered this fall include data processing, with both a oneyear certificate and a two-year degree program. Practical nursing, a one-year certificate program which qualifies the graduate to take the Georgia Board of Nursing examination to become a Licensed Practical Nurse (LPN); and office administration, a two-year degree program. Other programs are office practices, one-year certificate programs with specializations in word processing, clerical, and stenographic skills; general secretarial studies, a two-year degree program: and legal secretarial studies, a two-year degree program. With the exception of word processing, the options in Office Practices and the two programs in secretarial studies were transferred from the college's Division of Vocational-technical programs will be integrated into the present structure and programming of the College, and t new programs will be offered in existing facilities on the 163-acre campus.

The college will continue to offer freshman and sophom programs in major fields of study which are common to all state-supported institutions in Georgia.

Vocational-technical offerings and other two-year "career programs" combine regular college courses with specific professional or paraprofessional training.

Other "career programs" offered by the college are in accounting, aviation administration, banking and finance, business, criminal justice, dental hygiene, medical laboratory technology, music and nursing.

Additional programs within the new Division of Vocational/Technical Education will continually be developed and added to the curriculum as needs are identified and additional facilities and funding is made

Leadership Clayton Graduates Honored

More than 75 business civic and governmental leaders gathered at the Edgewater Country Club Thursday evening, June 4 to honor 15 individuals who just completed the ten month Leadership Clayton program for 1980-81.

In monthly meetings the participants were involved in programs including government, economics, the criminal justice system and planning. There were also personal skill building workshops. In addition the group took on, as task force project, achieving the goal of Clayton County becoming certified in the Georgia Clean and Beautiful Program.

Former Veterans Affairs Office Administrator, Max Cleland, praised the group for their concern and willingness to become involved in their community. He explained, Continued on Page3

Leadership Clayton

Continued from Page 1

"leadership is different from management. Leadership encompasses good management, but it is more . . . leadership is by far the tougher challenge. He charged the group to continue their efforts in becoming leaders in their community. Receiving certificates as graduates from this year's program were: Lena Almon, James Breedlove, Rick Duncan, Lawrence Epps, Harold Hollans, Nils Johnannesen, Kitty Seabolt, Jerry Nesbitt, Jean Odum, Ted Pylant, Brenda Rayburn, Jerry program, co-sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and Clayton Junior College, is chaired by Robert C. Bolander. "We are very proud of this group," he stated. "They have been enthusiastic and are already becoming involved in community projects. The achievement of Clayton County being certified in the Clean and Beautiful Program shows their ability to reach a major goal.'

Sandoval, Glenda Slaughter, Robert Taylor and Victor Varnadoe.

Glenda Slaughter, one of Max Cleland addresses those gathered at the Leadership Clayton Banquet.

The Leadership Clayton

the graduates, explained that, "Leadership Clayton has introduced me to the people in the community who are interested in building a better community and has shown me the ways to do the job, Another graduate, Harold Hollans says, "this program has given me an excellent opportunity to find out who and what makes this county tick. It is also an excellent way in which to get to know

Although this graduation ceremony completed the current program year, preparations are well underway for the 1981-82

Leadership Clayton graduates; (front row, left to right), Ted Pylant, Glenda Slaughter, Brenda Rayburn, Jean Odum and Jerry Nesbitt; (back row, left to right), Robert Taylor, Lawrence Epps, Harold Hollans, James Breedlove, Victor Varnadoe and Rick Duncan. Not Pictured: Lena Almon, Niles Johanasen, Jerry

Clayton Junior Fees Going Up

By RICHARD MITCHELL Staff Writer

Clayton Junior College will raise tuition fees five percent for in-state and 10 percent for non-residents beginning in the fall quarter.

Tuition costs will rise from $135 to $142 per quarter for the in-state students and from $220 to $242 for the non-It is the first tuition increase at

Clayton Junior College since the summer of 1980, where fees for full-time residents were raised from $112 to The increases were announced by the State Board of Regents and will affect all the junior colleges in the State University System. "We were caught flatfooted. We had no idea the increases were coming," says Jerry Atkins, Clayton Junior College director of public informa-The fees pertain to all full-time students or those who take 12 hours or more of classes and does not include the $8 student activity fee.

Despite the increase, the tuition at Clayton Junior College is still less than at the other Atlanta area schools. Georgia Tech and the University of Georgia each had an increase from $236 to $248 and the Medical College of Georgia went from $567 to $595.

Georgia State University, which charges by the hour, went from $15.75 to $16.50.

Atkins says the increase is for think it will affect the school's enrollment.

"I hope it won't. Past increases have not made a difference that we could pinpoint," he says. Atkins says all state institutions are funded by taxes and they try to keep a 75 percent tax and 25 percent student fee ratio. 'We dropped down to 20 percent for the student fees recently and we're

Atkins says the increase is just for trying to keep it above that," he says.

tuition, as the cafeteria and bookstore

are both self-sustaining.

TUITION HIKES WAS NOW Clayton Junior Instate $142 Non-Resident $220 $242 $236 $248 Georgia Tech $236 $248 Medical College of Georgia $567

(Per Hour) $15.75 $16.50

Banding Together:

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR

June 24, 1981

26 Clayton Students Take Trip To University of Georgia Music Workshop Following Event Here By RICHARD MITCHELL junior and senior high school The camp was held last again next year," he says. eight graders and no sen-

Staff Writer The second annual Clay- Junior College Jazz Enton County Band-A-Rama semble. has been termed "a good success" and succeeded in versity of Georgia high College and the Clayton tee chairman for the Bandschool music workshop.

raising money to send 26 sored by the Forest Park Ellis, Forest Park Rotary county students to the Uni- Rotary Club, Clayton Junior Club member, and commit-

County Board of Education, A-Rama. Held at Tara Stadium in and enough money was "We used Clayton Junior bands, as well as the Clayton week. "The Rotary Club and band directors from each of the various schools all con-

The festival was spon- tributed a lot," says "T"

Jonesboro, the Band-A- raised to send each of the College's staging and the to enhance the program here tem. Rama featured music from students to the one week sound shelves came from for the future. That's why most of Clavton County's camp at a cost of $160 each. the schools. We hope to do it vou see so many seventh and camp from Adamson Junior eight grade clarinet and grade sassoon

Each of the students were iors," he says. picked by their school's band director, based on their abil- tors was Dr. William Swor, ity, character and leader- music director at North

"It was a very hard choice. There were so many Band-A-Rama was Lloyd excellent members," says Tarpley, coordinator of in-"One of the purposes was Clayton County School Sys-

Clayton Senior High School. A co-chairman for the strumental music for the Students picked for the Hudden in eight grade flute grade bass clarinet. One of the camps direcand Michelle Wilhoit in eight grade clarinet.

G.P. Babb Junior High School students selected were Kim Knight in eight grade bass clarinet and Michell Goolsby in ninth grade flute.

At Pointe South Junior High School, Carla Eden in eight grade trumpet DiGiacomo was selected in and Barry Lloyd in eighth

School students were Pilar

Band members selected at Jonesboro Senior High

Forest Park Senior High School students were Melissa Middlebrooks in 10th grade bass clarinet and

Bart Jones in 11th grade

School were Debbie De-Loach in 11th grade flute and Rebecca Gunn in 10th grade bass clarinet. Mundy's Mill Junior High

High School were Jennifer Diane Mitchell in eighth Clayton County Youth Symphony members selected were Lisa Gant in eighth grade violin and Aprille Williams in 10th grade viole.

Georgia State

Most CJC Graduates From Clayton Schools

Students from a 14-county area were among the 259 graduates to receive Associate Degrees during annual Commencement exercises conducted at Clayton Junior College on June 13.

More than half of the graduates were from Clayton County, including 42 from Jonesboro, 32 from Riverdale, 21 from Forest Park, 15 from Morrow, eight from Rex, seven from Lake City, five from College Park, five from Conley, four from Ellenwood, and one each with Atlanta, Hapeville, Hampton, and Fayetteville home addresses.

Jonesboro graduates were: Valerie Ann Bahr, Ellen Louise Baird, Mary Ann Edwards Bowen, Michael David Chapman, James Lynn Cottingham, Russell Way Cottingham, Cathy Jane Crumley, Cynthia L. Edmondson, Randall Monroe Evans, Dan Howard Fields, Kimberly Ann Harbin, Judith Kay Hawkins, Robert Glenn Hepler,

William Thomas Jenkins, Angela Williams Keyser, Charles Donald Kight, Sandra Lynn Landers, Sherry Lea Laster, Mary Jo Little, Thayron J. Manning;

Ellen Louis McDonald, Michelle Anne Monteau, Susan Hadley Olsen, Lucille Lynne Philpot, Barbara D. Reeves, Patti Lynn Scott, Walter N. Sellers, Louise Thomas Smith, Deidre Diane Stewart, Ronald Harry Stewart, Sandra Renee Stewart,

Robert J. Sturdevant, Cathy E. Taylor, Steven Teske Valita Allynne Tice, Toni Adaire Tidwell, Turza Kitchens Tucker, Eugene C. Walling Jr., Daniel Joseph Ward, Michele Hagist White, Shirley M. Williams, and Linda Kay Yates. Riverdale graduates included: Laura Lynne Burnett, R. Renee Butts, David W. Dixon, Betty Hill Dunalp, Jeffrey Lamar Durham, Sandra Smith Ellard, Charles Dennis

English, Suzette Scaggs Escoe, Mark A. Farmer, Audrey K. Fetterman, James A. Finan Jr., Julie Kaye Garner, Mark Robert Gradolph, Jean Ann Gunn, Harold Pettey Hildreth, Brenda Jean Howse, Delano Wesley

Keheley, Lisa Delee Landgrebe; Martha S. McCook, Shirley Mae Murphey, Philip Alan Nelson, Carol Kay Peterson, Steve B. Rasmussen, Olivia H. Robinson, Helen Smith Rohrl, Larry Alan Rutledge, Morris Sammons, Gerald G. Sidler, Michael Alan Sidler, Lois D. Stallings, Dixie Marie Steele, and Raymond Wilson Weber

Forest Park graduates were: James P. Carreker, Marie Irene Cottrell, Wendell Lee Cushing, Leslie Howard Dial, Lucia Anne Emery, Wanda C. Fisher, Allen Joseph Gates. Iris Gene Gibbons, Stephen Douglas Honea, Jodi Kay Johnson, Janice Ellen Kelly, Tae Il Sin Kemph, William Eugene Lyerly, Susan Anne Myers, Linda Moon Potts, Brenda Lee Roche, Kathy Lynn Sledge, Lydia Cutchin Starke, Susan Meggs Tanner, Janet Inez Wheeler, and Tammie Doreen White.

Morrow residents on the graduate list included: Katherine A. Bland, Lori Evelyn Butler, Geraldine Champion, Larry Wayne Ferguson, Ann Vaughn Grantham, Rodney Douglas Hanson, Angela Prince Holcombe, Lea Ann Kelley, Jacqueline Morrison, Charlene Faye Murray, Stephen Gary Pierce, Ann Renner, Peggy C. Schroeder, and Laurie Shirley.

Included from Rex were: Mary Elizabeth Batten, Robin Ipock, Ronald I. Kemp, Deborah E. Markham, Randy Bruce Smith, Kathy Lynn Thurman, Jane Gravitt Trippe, and Deborah Jean Watts. Lake City residents were: Rufus Aldrich Bryant, Donna J. Burris, Laurie Susan Gunter, Victoria Rae Loftfield, Teresa Lois Miller, Susan Lynn Snead, and Chul Hui Yu.

College Park residents from Clayton County included Michelle Elise Hawkins, James F. King IV, Jane McElhannon Lee, Richard Allen Marsh, and Jeffrey Albert Swagger Students from Conley were Cheri Denise Dean, James Larry McDearis, Myra J. Roberts, Kimberly Dee Taylor, and Winnie McCray Thacker.

Ellenwood students on the graduation list were Jean E. Bowen Jeri Lynn Landers, Nancy Carol Lyle, and Frances Lee Shaddix. Other Clayton Countians on the list were William K. Barber of Atlanta, Marilyn Joan Smith of Hapeville, and Amy Lynn Humphreys of Hampton, and Suzanna Lynn Adams of Fayetteville.

GRADUATE-Marcia C. Bond, of Hapeville, clutches her associate degree as she leaves the stage while Mary Ann Bowen, of Jonesboro, receives hers' from Dr. Harry S. Downs during graduation ceremonies at Clayton Junior College on Saturday morning, June 13. Also greeting the graduates was Dr. Vernon Crawford, Chancellor of the University System of Georgia and Commencement Speaker.

CJC Posts List of Local Graduates

annual Commencement exercises conducted at Clayton Junior College on Saturday morning, June 13.

More than half of the graduates were from Clayton County, including 42 from Jonesboro, 32 from Riverdale, 21 from Forest Park, 15 from Morrow, eight from Rex, seven from Lake City, five from College Park, five from Conley, four from Ellenwood, and one each with Atlanta, Hapeville, Hampton, and Fayetteville home addresses.

JONESBORO graduates

Valerie Ann Bahr, Ellen Louise Baird, Mary Ann Edwards Bowen, Michael David Chapman, James Lynn Cottingham, Russell Way Cottingham, Cathy Jane Crumley, Cynthia L. Edmondson, Randall Monroe Evans, Dan Howard Fields, Kimberly Ann Harbin, Judith Kay Hawkins, Robert Glenn Hepler, William Thomas Jenkins, Angela Williams Keyser, Charles Donald Kight, Sandra Lynn Landers, Sherry Lea Laster, Mary Jo Little, Thayron J. Manning;

Ellen Louis McDonald,

Students from a 14- Michelle Anne Monteau, Alan Rutledge, Morris Hanson, Angela Prince Hol- Myra J. Roberts, Kimberly county area were among the Susan Hadley Olsen, Lu- Sammons, Gerald G. Sid- combe, Lea Ann Kelley, Dee Taylor, and Winnie cille Lynne Philpot, Bar- ler, Michael Alan Sidler, Jacqueline Morrison, Char-Associate Degrees during bara D. Reeves, Patti Lynn Lois D. Stallings, Dixie lene Faye Murray, Stephen Ellenwood students on Scott, Walter N. Sellers, Marie Steele, and Raymond Gary Pierce, Ann Renner, the graduation list were Louise Thomas Smith, Deidre Diane Stewart, Ronald Harry Stewart, Sandra Tidwell, Turza Kitchens Tucker, Eugene C. Walling Jr., Daniel Joseph Ward, Michele Hagist White, Shirley M. Williams, and Linda Kay Yates.

> RIVERDALE graduates included:

Laura Lynne Burnett, R. Keheley, Lisa Delee Landg- Doreen White.

Helen SMith Rohrl, Larry Grantham, Rodney Douglas James Larry McDearis, degrees.

Wilson Weber. FOREST PARK gradu-Renee Stewart, Robert J. ates were: James P. Car-Sturdevant, Cathy E. Tay- 12ker, Marie Irene Cottrell, were: Mary Elizabeth Bat- on the list were William K. lor, Steven C. Teske, Valita Wendell Lee Cushing, Lesten, Robin Ipock, Ronald I. Barber of Atlanta, Marilyn

Allynne Tice, Toni Adaire lie Howard Dial, Lucia Kemp, Deborah E. Mark- Joan Smith of Hapeville, Sun Community Life

Laurie Shirley.

society, clubs, religion, features

Sandra Smith Ellard, Douglas Honea, Jodi Kay Deborah Jean Watts. Lake ville. Charles Dennis English, Johnson, Janice Ellen City residents were: Rufus Suzette Scaggs Escoe, Mark Kelly, Tae Il Sin Kemph, ALdrich Bryant, Donna J. Jr., Julie Kaye Garner, Moon Potts, Brenda Lee Mark Robert Gradolph, Roche, Kathy Lynn Sledge, Jean Ann Gunn, Harold Lydia Cutchin Starke, Pettey Hildreth, Brenda Susan Meggs Tanner, Janet Jean Howse, Delano Wesley Inez Wheeler, and Tammie

Morrow residents on the Martha S. McCook, Shir- graduate list included: Kaley Mae Murphey, Philip tharine A. Bland, Lori Eve- Richard Allen Marsh, and tion were presented by Dr. Alan Nelson, Carol Kay lyn Butler, Geraldine Jeffery Albert Swagger. Peterson, Steve B. Rasmus- Champion, Larry Wayne

Hawkins, James F. King mencement address. IV. Jane McElhannon Lee, Candidates for gradua-

sen, Olivia H. Robinson, Ferguson, Ann Vaughn were Cheri Denise Dean, Downs, President, awarded

Renee Butts, David W. Anne Emery, Wanda C. ham, Randy Bruce Smith, Amy Lynn Humphreys of Dixon, Betty Hill Dunlap, Fisher, Allen Joseph Gates, Kathy Lynn Thurman, Hampton, and Suzanna Jeffrey Lamar Durham, Iris Gene Gibbons, Stephen Jane Gravitt Trippe, and Lynn Adams of Favette-

McCray Thacker.

Landers, Nancy Carol Lyle,

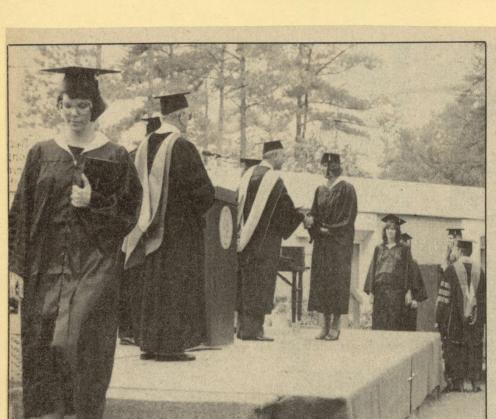

and Frances Lee Shaddix.

Peggy C. Schroeder, and Jean E. Bowen, Jeri Lynn

INCLUDED from Rex Other Clayton Countians

APPROXIMATELY 1,-A. Farmer, Audrey K. Fet- William Eugene Lyerly, Burris, Laurie Susan Gun- 000 graduates, faculty terman, James A. Finan Susan Anne Myers, Linda ter, Victoria Rae Loftfield, members, and friends gath-Teresa Lois Miller, Susan ered outside on the College Lynn Snead, and Chul Hui grounds for the Saturday morning ceremony. Dr. Ver-College Park residents non Crawford, chancellor of from Clayton County in- the University System of cluded Michelle Elise Georgia, delivered the Com-

> Billy R. Nail, Dean of the Students from Conley College, and Dr. Harry S.

FACULTY

8

STAFF

CJC Honors 5, 10-Year Workers

Twenty members of the faculty and staff at Clayton Junior College have received service awards at the twoyear institution

Honored by the Board of Trustees of the Clayton Junior College Foundation, all faculty and staff members who completed either ten years or five years of uninterrupted service to the College between July 1, 1979, and June 30. 1980, received awards.

Guy L. Benefield and Ernest L. Cheaves represented the Board of Trustees at the awards presentation. Each recipient of an award received a service award certificate plus a dinner for two at one of three participating restaurants: the New Moon Chinese Restaurant in Jonesboro, the Sizzler Family Steak House on Jonesboro Road near Southlake Mall, and Coco's at Southlake.

Recipients of ten year awards were: Harriet T. Aiken, resceptionist; Robert C. Bolander, dean of students and assistant professor of history; Dr. James E. Bright, assistant professor of mathematics; Kathryn N. Donovan, assistant professor of nursing; Dr. Rebecca A. Halyard, associate profes-sor of biology; Dr. Dennie R. Kelley, assistant professor of physical education; Dr. Miriam P. Pery, associate professor of biology; Annette B. Satterfield, director of admissions and registrar; and Alvin T. Wallace, maintenance worker.

Five-year award winners were: Dr. Catherine C. Aust, assistant professor of mathematics; Martha O. Beliveau, assistant professor of business education, Gwendolyn G. Bell, public services librarian; William M. Gore, instructor of music; J. Daniel Hardage, assistant professor of business education; Dr. James C. Kropa, assistant professsor mathematics;

Priscilla G. Marsh, office supervisor for the Office of Community Services; Frank Orr, plumber in Plant Operations; Ricardo D. Sanchez, director of the Office of Community Services; Geraldine Smith, custodian in Plant Operations: and Vennie E. Walden, secretary in the Office of Public Infor-

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR

Clayton Junior College faculty and staff who received five-year service awards from the Clayton Junior College Foundation recently were, left to right: front row-Guy L. Benefield, a member of the Board of Trustees, Martha O. Beliveau, Gwendolyn G. Bell, William M. Gore, and Vennie E. Walden; second row-

FIVE-YEAR SERVICE WINNERS-Members of the Dr. Catherine C. Aust, Priscilla G. Marsh, J. Daniel Hardage, Ricardo D. Sanchez, and Ernest L. Cheaves, member of the Board of Trustees; third row-Frank Orr, Dr. James C. Kropa, and Dr. Harry S. Downs, President of the College. (Not pictured was Geraldine Smith.)

TEN-YEAR SERVICE WINNERS-Members of the field, Dr. Rebecca A. Halyard, Harriet T. Aiken, and Clayton Junior College faculty and staff who received Ernest L. Cheaves, a member of the Board of ten-year service awards from the Clayton Junior Trustees; back row - Kathryn N. Donovan, Dr. James College Foundation recently were, left to right: front E. Bright, Alvin T. Wallace, Dr. Dennie R. Kelley, row - Guy L. Benefield, a member of the Board of and Dr. Harry S. Downs, President. (Not picture was Dean Robert C. Bolander.)

Promoted

(L-R) Clayton Junior College Dean Dr. Bill R. Nail congratulates faculty members William M.

Gore, Dr. Herietta C.

Miller, Jeannine Morrison and Dr. Eugene A.

Hatfield for receiving promotions by the col-

Huss Nears Internship End at CJC

Robert W. Huss, a can-didate for the doctorate in higher education at the University of Georgia, is nearing the end of an administrative internship at Clayton Junior College.

An assistant director of housing at the University. Huss began his internship June 16 and will remain at the two-year institution near Morrow through Aug. 32. He is serving the office of the dean of the college.

Huss has been observing and participating in the overall academic programming in the twoyear setting at Clayton Junior College. During his zinternship, he has studied the total adminstration, both academic and student Saffairs.

Huss received his bachelor's degree in Sbacteriology from Iowa State University and a master's degree in college student personnel services from the University of Northern Iowa. He held administrative positions at Iowa State, Northern Iowa, the University of North Dakota, and the University of Northern Colorado before joining the staff at the University of Georgia in

At UGA he coordinates all student life, financial, and maintenance programs in a residence hall area of approximately 3,000 students. Huss, his wife, Joanne, and children, Jeanine and Andrew, live on Spalding Circle in Athens.

MARCIA TRAWICK OF MORROW

A total of 178 runners participated Saturday in the second annual News-Daily Press Run to benefit the Clayton County Unit of the American Cancer Society. Dr. Avery Harvill was race director, and he and Mrs. Bobbie Tarantine, executive director of the local cancer society, coordinated the event. They expressed appreciation to volunteers who helped with the run, including Libby Griswell, Becky Wright, Joe Vance, Tom Collins, Tommy Clonts, John Maner, Ernest Wright, Ralph McDuffey, Greg Sims, Roby Tarantine, and Dawn Tarantine.

"Without the help of these very dedicated people we could not have had such a great run," said Mrs. Tarantine. "Everyone carried out their duties

HENDERSON WAS FASTEST GIRL IN NOVICE RACE Wood (R) Presents Trophy As Harvill Looks On

Library dedication 1980 scheduled Sunday

dedication service will be during a campaign that held at Cochran Public started in February 1977. Library in Stockbridge The state then gave Sunday, 3:00 p.m. The matching funds of an public is invited to attend estimated $112,000 and the dedication program construction of the Cochand tour the library, ran Public Library began located on North Henry in the fall of 1978.

Boulevard. Library, costing in excess Jones Construction of $250,000, was named Company in Griffin while after Mr. and Mrs. Larry architect for the job was Cochran who donated the firm of Bilbro, land valued at $50,000 for Spanger and Manley, also the library use.

In addition, the Cochdollar more than $50,000 reading area and meeting

An open house and County Library Board

The library was built in The Cochran Public a year's time by J.A. of Griffin.

The 5,000 square foot ran's matched dollar for library that contains a raised by the Henry room opened in January with a book capacity of 20,000 volumes.

Richard E. Barham, Chairman of the Henry County Library Board will preside at the dedication ceremony

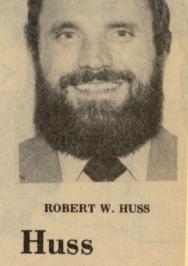

Sunday. Chairman of Henry County's Board of Education W.Cameron Mitchell will introduce speaker, Dr. Harry S. Downs, President of Clayton Junior College.

Dr. Howard F. Baker, Superintendent of Henry County Schools will accept the library key.

The staff of Cochran Public Library consists of County Librarian Terry Rowe, aides Deborah Barlow and Carol Hughes and CETA aide Pamela George.

Cochran Public Library is open 1:00 until 5:00 p.m. Monday through Wednesdays, 9:30 a.m. until 8:00 p.m. Thursdays, 9:30 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. Fridays, and 9:30 a.m. until 12 noon Saturdays.

The Stockbridge library is one of three located in Henry County. The other two are Alexander Public Library in McDonough and Fortson Public Library in Hamp-

Ending Internship At CJC

· Robert W. Huss, a candidate for the doctorate in higher education at the University of Georgia, is nearing the end of an administrative internship at Clayton Junior College.

An assistant director of housing at the University, Huss began his internship on June 16 and will remain at the two-year institution near Morrow through August 22. He is serving in the Office of the Dean of the College.

Having experience in student personnel service areas on four-year and university campuses, Huss has been observing and aparticipating in the over-all academic programming in the two-year setting at Clayton Junior College. During his internship, he has studied the total administration, both academic and student affairs.

Huss received his bachelor's degree in bacteriology from Iowa State University and a master's degree in college master's degree in zervices z student personnel services from the University of Northern Iowa. He held administrative positions at Iowa State, Northern Iowa. the University of North Dakota, and the University of Northern Colorado prior to joining the staff at the University of Georgia in

> At the University, he coordinates all student life, financial, and maintenance programs in a residence hall area of approximately 3,000 students.

> Huss, his wife Joanne, and children, Jeanine and Andrew, live on Spalding Circle

Digging into Past Is a Three-Man Job

Three Clayton Junior Colege history professors who launched last April are compiling a comprehensive history of Clayton researching the period County are pleased with the community response they have received in recent

Dr. Hatfield is between about 1820 when the Indians controlled the territory until Reconstruction; Dr. Wilborn is handl-'We've had a good ing the period between municipalities for all resi-

The historical project was The book will be more than a recitation of famous battles, prominent families, and historic homes. The three authors will try to identify the forces that shaped the development of the county and its

Sun Community Life

society, clubs, religion, features

response from a lot of Reconstruction (about 1870) dents. people," said Dr. Eugene until World War II; and Dr. Hatfield, one of the Rice will write about events researchers. "Several local that have occurred since organizations have offered World War II. their cooperation and a number of people have calwe have gotten.'

Dr. Hatfield is working on the project with Dr. Robert H. Welborn and Dr. Bradley R. Rice. Three general periods of Clayton County history are being explored, that have occurred since pleased with the help that Clayton County from its County. origins to the present," Dr.

present a balance of social, economic, and political developments, placing the county in the context of with one author responsible state, regional, and national

What the trio of history professors envision is a book of 150 to 250 pages that would be the starting point "WHAT WE propose is a for all readers interested in led. We've been very comprehensive history of the history of Clayton on.

> "We will try to dous amount of community project," Dr. sworn said. ment what's already going photographs.

Bradley R. Rice, Eugene A. Hatfield, Robert H. Welborn

While the three authors mer when community people with diaries, docudo not plan a picture book, "WE NEED a tremen- the work will be illustrated with photos that comple- ing the year as the trio works us make the history as acsupport to complete this ment the text. "We already toward a rough draft curate and revealing as poshave a copy of a Civil War deadline set for the end of sible to give us a call.' "We want to encourage the map," Dr. Hatfield pointed next summer. community's interest in out, stressing the need for "We will be going any be reached through the local history and to comple- additional maps and place to talk with people Division of Social Sciences response began to surface.

THE PROJECT really County's history," Dr. Hatstarted to develop this sum- field added. "We encourage ments, letters, photos, and Research will continue dur- other items that would help

The three professors may with knowledge of Clayton (phone 961-3460)

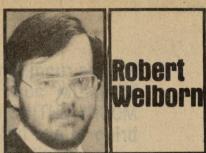

NEW HEAD-Barbara McCant, a member of the nursing faculty at Clayton Junior College since September, 1976, has been named Head member of the nursing ig of the Department of Nursing at the two-year institution near Morrow.

London, Edinburgh, and Bristol hum with activity, and while certain

They say that travel is broadening traditional industries such as shipbuilding are in a state of depression, agriculture and the construction industry are in good shape. Their major economic problems now are the same as ours, inflation and a deepening recession. And they aren't handling the problem any better than we are, for their inflation rate is still judged to be running at about 20 percent for the current year.

The British press is another item of interest for most Americans, due to its style and variety. On a daily basis in London you can read some of the best and worst newspapers to be found in the English speaking world. The sex and scandal sheets of England, which appear daily, make their American counterparts, issued weekly and found mainly at grocery store check-out counters, seem rather tame. And if sex and scandal are not to your liking, then thereis always the Time, the Guardian, or the Daily Telegraph, each of which contains some of the best analytical reporting to be found in either Europe or the U.S.A. The provincial press is still healthy as well, with each city of any size having its own paper.

One item that most Americans find quite pleasant is the relative lack of violent crime. Even London, with its 7 million people, is a safer city to walk in than Atlanta. And the number of murders in the entire United Kingdom (55 million population) is running at the same level as murders for the population). We have along way to go before we can consider ourselves as peaceful.

But there is one item of everyday life in Britain that was surely designed for the frustration of foreigners and that is the pay phone. The best advice to give someone who wishes to use such a device is to write a letter. Not only do you have a time limit for long distance calls, but local calls also have a time limit of about two minutes. As your time limit is about to expire, you hear a buzzing, which means you have about 10 seconds to feed more coins into the machine or the line will go dead. No doubt all of this whirring, buzzing, jingling, and sudden silence is as disconcerting to the party being called, as it is for the caller. Perhaps this is why you never have to wait in line at a phone booth, after a few experiences I imagine most people give up and try mental telepathy.

(Robert Welborn is an assistant professor of history at Clayton Junior College and regular columnist in the News-Daily. The opinions expressed here are his own and do not necessarily represent those of the returning June 24, the cost Dr. Welborn 474-8797 (after of the tour is $1,610 and 3 P.M.) or A La Carte includes round-trip airfare Travel 875-8747. Deadline Atlanta to Amsterdam, for reservations is May 1. double-occupancy hotel accomodations, breakfast and dinner each day, all land transportation, guided tours, and much more. Cities to be visited in-

Welborn To Sponsor Tour

Dr. Robert H. Welborn, clude Amsterdam, Cologne, assistant professor of his- Bonn, Luxembourg, Paris, tory at Clayton Junior Col- and Brussels. Last summer, ledge and A La Carte Travel Dr. Welborn lead a tour of Service are sponsoring an England and Scotland and 11-day tour of Europe this this trip promises to be just summer, "Highlights of Eu- as lively and educational.

For more information and Departing June 14 and a complete brochure call

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR July 9, 1980 People Wrapup

College Faculty Given Awards

faculty and staff at Clayton Junior College have received service awards at the two-year institution. Recipients of 10 year awards were Harriet T.

Twenty members of the Aiken, receptionist; Robert C. Bolander, dean of students and assistant professor of history; Dr. James E. Bright, assistant professor of mathematics; and Kathryn N. Donovan, assistant professor of nursing.

> Other recipients of 10 year awards were Dr. Rebecca A. Halyard, associate professor of biology; Dr. Dennie R. Kelley, assistant professor of physical education; Dr. Miriam P. Perry, associate professor of biology; Annette B. Satterfield, director of admissions and registrar; and Alvin T. Wallace, maintenance worker

Five year award winners were Dr. Catherine C. Aust, assistant professor of mathematics; Martha O. Beliveau, assistant professor of business education; Gwedolyn G. Bell, public services librarian; William M. Gore, instructor of music; J. Daniel Hardage, assistant professor of business education; and Dr. James C. Kropa, assistant professor of mathematics.

Other five year award recipients were Priscilla G. Marsh, office supervisor for the office of community services; Frank Orr, plumber in plant operations; Ricardo D. Sanchez, director of the office of community services; Geraldine Smith, custodian in plant operations; and Vennie E. Walden secretary in the office of public information.

CJC Dean Chairs University Panel

Robert C. "Bo" Bolander, Dean of Students at Clayton Junior College, has been elected to chair the Administrative Committee on Student Affairs for the University System of Georgia during the coming year. The Administrative Committee is composed of Dean's of Students of all 33 institutions in the University System.

The committee functions as an advisory council to University System Presidents and the Board of Regents. Major responsibilities deal with a wariety of student services, including admissions, student retention, student activities, academic advisement. financial aid, counseling, testing, student housing, discipline and veterans' services

Dean Bolander served on the University System Administrative Committee of Student Affairs executive board from 1974-1978, and during 1979-80, he served as the committee's chairman-elect. During those years, he chaired a variety of task forces for the Dean's of Students. In describing plans for 1980-81, Dean Bolander stressed that the Advisory Committee would "be assessing and evaluating the role of student services in meeting the demands of students for the decade of the 1980's.'

Such reassessment and evaluation will include examining the implications of the recently completed University System report on academic advising, the Regents' Test administration and implications, admissions, and affirmative action.

"Attention will continue to be paid." he stressed, "to the myriad of government regulations regarding consumerism, financial aid guidelines, veterans' benefits and the

Another responsibility to be actively pursued, will be to work with student government leaders from the 33 state institutions in the area of leadership development and effective student input into the various University System decision-making processes.

ROBERT BOLANDER

N/D Press Run On Saturday Will Aid Clayton Cancer Unit

By ELAINE ALMON Staff Writer

The Press Run registration fee is $4 today, but it will increase to $5 on Saturday, July 12, the day of the race. "Representatives from the Clayton County office of the American Cancer Society will have tables set up to take care of last-minute registration," said Mrs. Bobbie Tarantine, executive director of the local cancer society. Mrs. Tarantine met with volunteers Dr. Avery Harvill, Mrs. Becky Wright and Robert Keller at the finish line near the News-Daily offices Thursday night to make final plans for the race. The group noted that police and race workers would be stationed along the course and traffic is not expected to be a problem.

"When people get together to help us (the cancer society), we try and do all we can to help them by giving as Today is the last day to register for the News-Daily Press much of our time as we can to these projects," she added. All the proceeds from the race will go toward helping the cancer society meet its goal of $100,000. The 1979 Press Run raised almost $700. "We hope that we will be able to top that this year," commented Mrs. Tarantine. Temperatures of around 100 degrees all week may threaten to carry over to the weekend, but Mrs. Tarantine is optimistic. "With luck, the heat will not be against us. Of course the early time is in our favor. The one-mile movice race begins at 8 a.m. The 5,000 meter, or 3-mile, race will start at 8:30 a.m. Day-of-the-race registration will begin at 7 a.m. Parking will be available at the First United Methodist Church of Jonesboro and at the First Baptist Church of

PRESS RUN VOLUNTEERS MAKE PLANS NEAR RACE FINISH LINE Left To Right, Keller, Harvill, Tarantine and Wright

County

DeKalb

Fayette

Fulton

Henry

Gwinnett

Rockdale

Clayton's Taxable Sales Increase 21.3 Percent

By KIRK MARTIN Staff Writer

Clayton County ranks third among metro-Atlanta counties and sixth in the state in the percentage of increase in taxable sales between first quarter 1979 and first quarter 1980, according to figures compiled by the Georgia Department of Revenue and published by the state Chamber of Commerce.

The figures show that $155,011,000 worth of business was done during the first quarter of 1980, up 21.3 percent over the $127,024,000 total for the same period in 1979. In the Atlanta area, Clayton is behind only Gwinnett, which increased at a rate of 24.2 percent and Rockdale, which rose by 32.6 percent. The average rise in taxable sales across the state was 13.2 percent.

Other counties around the state with taxable sales that increased at a sharper rate than Clayton's were Sumter at 36.7 percent, Jaspet at 50.8 percent and Banks at 71.7

The tax is collected at a rate of three percent, or at four percent where a local-option sales tax or special tax such as that collected for MARTA, from each retail business in the state. Usually the taxes are paid one month at a time before the twentieth day of the following month, according to Paul Mangold, who compiled the figures in the revenue research section of the Georgia Department of Revenue. Some very small businesses remit their taxes quarterly, he said.

To call the taxable sales figure a retail sales figure would not be accurate, according to Mangold. The taxable sales figure also includes the use tax of gas, electricity and other home utilities, as well as that on other items. Any person who is purchasing a product for final consumption must pay: the tax on it, but wholesale trade of goods is exempt.

'Buying has continued to be good and we have several large businesses," said Stan May, executive vice president Clayton Chamber of Commerce. "Retail sales overall have continued to grow at an annual rate of 15 to 24 percent." But May admitted that part of the 21.3 percent in the dollar value of taxable sales was due to the inflation rate. "There is no question that a large part of that reflects the inflation rate," said May. "But, inflation wouldn't account for all of that.

"At March when the credit controls were applied the national inflation rate was 18.1 percent," said Dr. Doris Cash, professor of economics at Clayton Junior College. Assuming that this inflation rate was fairly uniform on all goods and products the true rate of growth in business activity would be only three to four percent, she said.

Cash. "In fact, net retail sales are down in the second quarter of the year.' Dr. Cash believes the inflation rate in Clayton County may not have been quite as high as that in other parts of the country. But, the lack of a consumer price index for only the Clayton County area makes it impossible to know for "Only a small portion of that is an increase," said Dr.

"Clayton County may have been less," she said. "I don't believe our mortgage rates went quite as high. In recent weeks, retail sales have dropped so low in some metro-Atlanta shopping centers that merchants are banding together to issue coupons to customers who will sure what the overall inflation rate was in this area.

ome to the shopping centers, said Dr. Cash. National research done recently by the U.S. League of Savings Associations shows that the demand for mortgages on houses is beginning to increase slightly. The greatest demand is said to be in the Northeast, followed by the South. May confirms that sales of homes in Clayton County are beginning to get moving after being stalled by inflation and high mortgage rates.

"There has been some increase in the past few weeks." he said. "There is an indication that some real estate is beginning to move. I think this trend will continue.'

"I have seen a boom in new house sales since mid-May." said Ed Bouvette, a Riverdale realtor and builder and publicity chairman of the Clayton Board of Realtors. "I have sold 40 houses since then. I have never seen it any better than it is right now.'

Bouvette said that his small development company has 10 houses under construction at this time with nine of those houses already sold. Even expensive houses have been selling fairly well, although Bouvette said that he has now switched to construction of less expensive homes.

"Most sales are to first-time buyers," he said. "Local people are not moving up because of the difference they see between what they are paying now and what they would

Many first-time home buyers are making their purchase of a new home with the help of a subsidy from the Federal Housing Administration. The FHA subsidies are limited to families with incomes between 11,500 and 20,000 depending on the number of dependents in the family, according to Bouvette. The family may make monthly payments of $236 to $300 on the FHA plan where the payments would otherwise by $450 to $530 on the same hou According to Bouvette, many houses already built before the housing slump hit stood empty for a long time, but were quickly purchased when home buying picked up. Now the number of houses for sale are reduced he said. "The hardest thing we've got to do right now is to locate the merchandise to sell," he said.

Metro Taxable Sales

First Quarter

127,824

363,180

742,908

12,218

1,342,348

23,316

25,049

Change

21.3%

15.4%

12.9%

13.1%

14.5%

24.2%

16.1%

32.6%

First Quarter

1980

155,011

418,933

838,661

13,822

1,537,055

165.101

27,065

33,206

Figures are Georgia taxable sales by county in 1,000s.

Cancer Awards

August 19, 1930

The Clayton County unit of the American Cancer Society held its annual awards luncheon Aug. 18 at the Hungry Bull Restaurant in Forest Park. Guest speaker for the event was Dr. Billy Nail(R), dean of Clayton Jr. College. Pictured from left are: Clair Telley, executive secretary of the Clayton unit; Lou Hisel, educational funds crusade chairman; Sharon Camp, 12, daughter of Mrs. Gail Camp of College Park; and Dr. Nail.

News-Daily Photo by Guy Hardegree

RHONDA SHANEY

Rhonda Shaney Near End Of PR Internship At CJC

dale, a senior at Georgia sister, Pam, still live in Southern College, is nearing Riverdale.

Rhonda Shaney of River- Riverdale. Rhonda and her

the end of a public relation She received an Associate internship at Clayton Junior Degree in Business Ad-A graduate of North Junior College in 1978 and Clayton Senior High, Miss will be awarded a CJC, she has been involved Shaney is the daughter of Bachelor's Degree in in all phases of public rela-Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Speech, with an emphasis in tions Shaney of Charlotte, North Public Relations, from news writing, photography

Miss Shaney began her public relations internship at the two-year institution near Morrow on June 16 ministration from Clayton and will remain there through August 15. While at work, including Carolina, and formerly of Georgia Southern this and film processing. graphics layout and design, and general office duties.

> A Clayton Junior College Foundation Merit Scholarship recipient from North Clayton Senior High, she serves as a secretary for Georgia Southern's chapter of Public Relations Student Society of America.

at all, he says.

By DEBORAH SMITH Staff Writer Piano teacher Mike Dorough shows his adult students that it's Dorough teaches Clayton Junior College's non-credit beginning and advanced piano classes for adults.

never too late to become a musi-

His courses cost $30, and provide 20 hours of instruction

Considering the average cost of private lessons today, Dorough calls his classes "a real bargain." It is not necessary, therefore, to invest a great deal of time or money just to determine whether or not a person likes playing the piano, Dorough says. Many of his students are middle-aged or retired and have had no previous musical education

"I teach the class as if they know nothing," Dorough notes. Using electric pianos and

MIKE DOROUGH EXPLAINS COUNTING FUNDAMENTALS AND HOW NOTES REPRESENT RYTHMIC VALUES

The Forest Park Teaches Non-Credit Piano Classes At Clayton Junior College

tice at the same time, in the same room, without distracting one an-

After learning the basics in Dorough's classes, many continue taking lessons from a private

"I keep the local piano teachers supplied with students," Dorough

Older people sometimes believe only a youngster can successfully learn to play a musical instrument, but Dorough calls this idea a

"Adults are more motivated to learn than young people, on the average, perhaps because the cost of the lessons is coming out of their own pocket," he says.

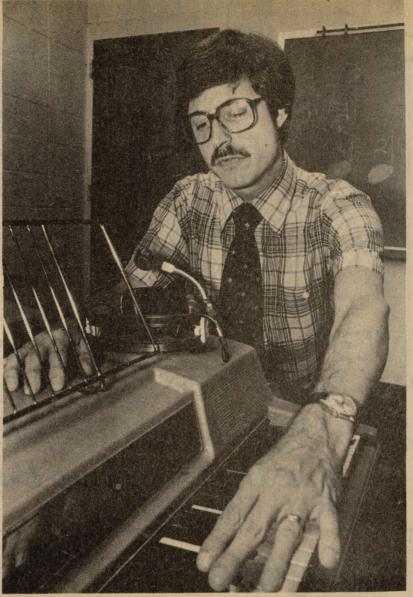

"One of the best students I ever had was a woman who was retired from banking," Dorough adds.

He has seen older students with no previous training progress to playing classical piano pieces within a relatively short period of time, he points out.

Dorough and his wife, Peggy, live in Forest Park with their daughter, Jackie, 5.

Dorough is the choral director at Morrow Junior High School and also the organist and director of music for Living Word Lutheran Church, in Jonesboro.

Persons interested in his classes, may contact the Community Services department at Clayton

LAYOUT OF KEYBOARD IS EXPLAINED TO STUDENTS IN HIS CLASS Mike Dorough's Students Learn To Play Electronic Piano

Clayton History

Community Project Has Strong Response

A strong community response has been of great help in compiling a comprehensive history of Clayton County, according to Dr. Eugene Hatfield, one of three Clayton Junior College history professors working on the project. "We've had a good response from a lot of people," Dr.

Hatfield said. "Several local organizations have offered their cooperation and a number of people have called. We've been very pleased with the help that we have got-

Dr. Hatfield is working on the project with Dr. Robert H. Welborn and Dr. Bradley R. Rice. Three general periods of Clayton County history are being explored with one author responsible for each.

Dr. Hatfield is researching the period between about 1820 when the Indians controlled the territory until Reconstruction; Dr. Welborn is handling the period between Reconstruction (about 1870) until World War II; and Dr. Rice will write about events that have occurred

What we propose is a comprehensive history of Clayton County from its origins to the present," Dr. Rice said. "We will try to present a balance of social, economic, and political developments, placing the county in the context of state, regional, and national history.'

The book will be more than a recitation of famous battles, prominent families, and historic homes. The three authors will try to identify the forces that shaped the development of the county and its municipalities for all residents.

What the trio of history professors envision is a book of 150 to 250 pages that will be the starting point for all readers interested in the history of Clayton County.

"We need a tremendous amount of community support to complete this project," Dr. Welborn said. "We want to encourage the community's interest in local history and to complement what's already going on.'

While the three authors do not plan a picture book, the work will be illustrated with photos that complement the text. "We already have a copy of a Civil War map," Dr. Hatfield pointed out, stressing the need for additional maps and photographs. The historical project was launched last April with a fourpart local history series sponsored through the College's Office of Community Services. The program. entitled "To Preserve and Protect," was anchored by the three professors along with Dr. Hardy Jackson, Chairman of the Division of Social Sciences, and Dr. David Lewis of Auburn University who was one of the co-authors of the recent history of Delta Airlines.

The project really started to develop this summer when community response began to surface. Research will continue during the year as the trio works toward a "rough draft" deadline set for the end of next summer.

"We will be going any place to talk with people with knowledge of Clayton County's history," Dr. Hatfield added. "We encourage people with diaries, documents, letters, photos, and other items that would help us make the history as accurate and revealing as possible to give us a

The three professors may be reached through the Division of Social Sciences (phone 961-3460) at Clayton

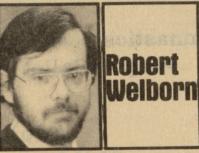

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE HISTORY PROFESSORS STUDY CLAYTON COUNTY'S PAST From Left, Dr. Bradley R. Rice, Dr. Eugene A. Hatfield, Dr. Robert H. Welbori

Detroit Rock And New York Jazz

Senator Kennedy's speech on Tuesday evening to the Democratic convention certainly roused the faithful, but it will be interesting to see how closely the Carter campaign actually adheres to the ideas set forth by Kennedy

Kennedy was obviously trying to establish himself as the true spokesman for the liberal wing of the party and also to push Carter and his aides further leftward by showing the depth and extent of support for liberal programs among the delegates at the convention.

It was his best strategy, for with the question of the nomination already settled by the vote on Monday night, the only remaining issue was how feverently would the Kennedy supporters endorse Carter's candidacy.

According to the polls, Carter is going to need all the help he can get against Reagan, thus the lukewarm acceptance or enthusiastic support of some 1,400 former Kennedy delgates is not to be dismissed lightly. After all, most of the delegates in New York are active members or hold leadership positions in county or state Democratic committees all over the country: they represent the hard core of party organization. Carter cannot afford to have a sizable number of these people sit this one out or express open resentment against him on prime time television.

But Carter faces a major problem over the question of liberal support for candidacy, for the overall tone of this election year is conservative. To assure himself of the endorsement of the left wing of his own party might be to alienate himself from a majority of the voters, if that has not already occurred. How liberal can he become, and still have any hope of blunting the attacks upon Big Government that are sure to come from Reagan and Bush? It is an interesting, but certainly not an enviable, dilemma.

As the convention ends, the two parties are going into the campaign with a number of similarities, but also some significant differences in their platforms. Carter will try to minimize the differences, while Reagan will try to exaggerate them. There will also be considerable emphasis on personality and personal qualifications, and by November the mud will probably be flying rather thick.

Reagan's main line of attack will focus on Carter's supposed liberalism, the inability of liberal solutions to solve the nation's problems, and the general incompetence of the present administration.

Carter will run on the actual and imaginary accomplishments of his first four years, the pressing nature of the foreign and domestic problems facing us and the need for continuity in leadership, and the general unsuitability of a former actor and governor to take on the job of President. There will also be hints about the problem of Reagan's age, but Carter will probably leave this to Mondale and other supporters.

Through the mist of such rhetoric, the voters in November will be faced with a difficult choice. Is neoconservatism of the Reagan variety what this nation needs to solve its most pressing problems of economic stagnation and foreign challenges by the Soviet Union and third world nationalism? Can Carter overcome his record of inconsistency and provide capable leadership? And what solutions does either candidate have for the question of how to deal with a guide, if not lead, an independent Congress that owes little to the incumbent and nothing at all to the

These are the real issues of 1980 and let's hope we make the right decision.

NEWS/DAILY December 19, 1980 CJC Names Vo-Tech Education Chairman

A chairman for the newly-formed Division of Vocational-Technical Education at Clayton Junior College has been named, according to Dr. Billy R. Nail, Dean of the College. Dr. Carlos R. Schmitt, who has directed the South Technical Education Center in Boynton Beach, Florida, since August of 1975, will assume his new duties at Clayton Junior College on December 1. His appointment was approved at the November 12 meeting of the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia.

The Division Vocational-Technical Education, authorized on July 1 of this year, will be jointly operated and funded in accordance with an existing agreement between the Board of Regents and the State Board of Education.

Decisions on the development of vocationaltechnical programs have not been made, but college officials anticipate such offerings to be available for students by September of next year. New programs will be designed to add to the offerings of the College's existing one-year and two-year occupational programs.

Born in Keyesport, Illinois, Dr. Schmitt earned both his bachelor's and master's degrees from Murray State University in Murray, Kentucky. He obtained his doctorate in industrial education from Michigan State University. For almost two years, he served as supervisor of production and engineering for Pontiac (Michigan) Tool Company, coordinating staff activities in designing, engineering, cooperation with the purchasing product components, manufacturing, assembling, and installing large milling machines

Dr. Schmitt became a 'national teaching fellow" with the Division of Technology at Lansing (Michigan) Community College where he taught technical drafting courses and supervised open laboratories for day and evening adult education students.

Dr. Carlos R. Schmitt New Vocational Education

At Clayton Junior College, Dr. Schmitt's responsibilities will include all aspects of planning and implementing vocationaltechnical programs. He will work with community residents in identifying needed programs and short courses, develop the contest of such programs, schedule facilities, order equipment, and recruit faculty and students.

A primary emphasis will be given to involving representatives of business and industry in this process, and coordinating programs with existing high school vocationaltechnical programs.

Faculty within the new division will provide specialized short-term training programs for current and potential employees of both new and existing businesses and industries. Programs for the upgrading and/or retraining of employees will be designed in business community to help employees perform at higher or more efficient levels.

Vocational-technical education programs will be integrated into the present structure and programming of the College. Graduates of two-year programs offered by the new division will receive the Associate in Applied

Funds

NEWS/DAILY

September 9, 1980

Clayton United Way Effort Underway

By ELAINE ALMON Staff Writer

The Clayton County Advisory Committee for the United Way Monday announced its 1980-81 fund-raising campaign plans.

Ric Sanchez, chairman of the committee, said that the United Way has been experiencing some difficulty with the fund-raising campaign this year as a result of the recession in the national

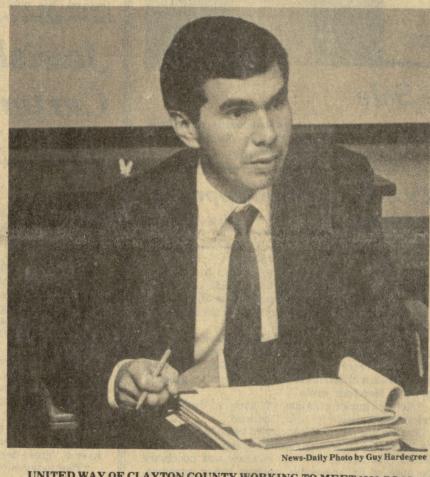

The United Way has set a goal this year of $19,200,000 in order to meet the needs of residents of the metro Atlanta area. "I confess," said Sanchez, "I was pessimistic when the goal figure was announced, but as we carry on this campaign, I grow more and more optimistic.' United Way Board of Directors

Sanchez explained that the derived the goal figure through a new approach this year. "In the past, we have set our goal, then trimmed our needs to fit into that figure. This year, we have come up with a figure based on our needs. As a result, United Way may not meet its campaign goal for the first time in 17 years.'

Charlie Michel of the Lockheed Corporation said that he was experiencing a great deal of difficulty, not in finding volunteers for United Way, but in working with small businesses in collecting donations. He blamed the problem on the failure of United Way organizations to get the word back to the people about the needs of their community.

Dave Young, of the IBM Corporation, works with small businesses through the "Metro

UNITED WAY OF CLAYTON COUNTY WORKING TO MEET 1980 GOAL Ric Sanchez, Advisory Committee Chairman, Now Optimistic About Donations

Nineties." He substantiated Michel's statement. "I work with businesses that only make donations under $200. I find it very hard to get more donations. If we can let the people know what United Way really is, what the HELP-number is and exactly what our services are, we will be more likely to get them to say yes to a donation.

the United Way Staff, closed the committee meeting with the announcement that the United Way will be sponsoring a booth in Southlake Mall on Sept. 27 and 28 as part of a "Thank You Fair" for donors and participants in the United Way. All 54 agencies of the metro Atlanta United Way will be represented at the Fair.

Henry Zimmer, a member of

Sanchez Honored Incoming Clayton County United Way Chairperson Jim Stewart (left) of Morrow thanks outgoing 1980 chairperson Ric Sanchez for his work in this year's United Way fund drive. Sanchez was honored Monday during a presentation at Clayton Junior College in Morrow.

Three Clayton Junior College history professors. who are compiling a comprehensive history of Clay-ton County, say they have received positive communty

sponse from a lot of people."

says Dr. Eugene Hatfield,

one of the researchers.

"Several organizations have offered their cooperation and a number of people have project with Dr. Robert H.

Welborn and Dr. Bradley R.

Three general periods of Hatfield is researching the period between about

1820 when the Indians controlled the territory until

Reconstruction and Welborn is handling the period between Reconstruction until

Rice will write about events that have occurred

The three authors will try to identify the forces that shaped the development of the county and its municipalities for all residents. 'We need a tremendous amount of community support to complet this project." Welborn says.

'We want to encourage the community's interest in local history and to complement what's already going sponsored through the college's office of Communi-

Research will continue during the year as the professors work towards a rough draft deadline set for place to talk with people with knowledge of Clayton County's history," Hatfield

added. "We encourage people with diaries, documents,

letters, photos and other items that would help us

make the history as accurate and revealing as pos-

To contact the professors, persons may call the Division of Social Science at sible to give us a call."

"We will be going any

the end of next summer.

ty Services.

The historical series

Clayton County history are being explored.

World War II.

since World War II.

Hatfield is working on the

'We've had a good re-

response in recent weeks.

Three Professors Writing Clayton History Book

(L-R) DR. BRADLEY RICE, DR. EUGENE HATFIELD, DR. ROBERT WELBORN The Three Professors Are Composing A Clayton County History Book

McCant to head nursing at CJC

Barbara Heard Mc- number of hospitals and Cant, a member of the health care facilities in nursing faculty at providing on-the-spot Clayton Junior College clinical training for nurssince September, 1976, ing students. Mrs. Mchas been named Head of Cant will be responsible the Department of Nurs- for selecting and recoming at the two-year insti- mending clinical affilitution near Morrow.

her new duties with the such off-campus institustart of the Fall Quarter tions

A native of Dothan, received her master's Atlanta Georgia in 1978.

instructor of medical- Quarter each year. surgical nursing at St. Joseph's Infirmary Nursing Program may School of Nursing, and as a staff nurse at hospitals examination of the in Dothan, Alabama; Tuskegee, Alabama; Tacoma, Washington; and at the V.A. hospital in

As Head of the Depart-Mrs. McCant will work Leader for the Cub Scouts with the nursing faculty and is a member of the and college administra- Cascade United Methotors in providing effective dist Church and Alpha instruction in nursing Kappa Alpha Sorority. courses. She will recruit new members of the Dr. William McCant, a nursing faculty as veterinarian, live in needed, advise students, southwest Atlanta with recommend courses to be their two children: taught each quarter, and Vincent, 10, a 6th grader; develop budget requests and Tracey, 8, a third for the Department.

ates, and with coordi-Mrs. McCant will begin nating programs with

The two-year Nursing Alabama, Mrs. McCant Program at Clayton earned her bachelors Junior College has been degree in nursing from designed to meet the Tuskegee Institute in expressed need for Alabama in 1964, and nurses in the south metropolitan degree in nursing from area. Men and women the Medical College of who desire a career in nursing may enroll in the Prior to joining the CJC six-quarter program, faculty, she served as an beginning with the Fall

> A graduate of the petition to take the Georgia Board of Nursing, and successful completion of the examination licenses him or her as a Registered Nurse.

Mrs. McCant serves as ment of Nursing at CJC, a Den Mother and Pack

She and her husband, grade student at West The Collge works with a Manor Elementary.

Shaney Finishes CJC Internship

dale, a senior at Georgia Southern College, is nearing the end of a public relations internship at Clayton Junior

A graduate of North Clayton Senior High, Miss Shaney is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Shaney, of Charlotte, N.C., and formerly of Riverdale. Rhonda and her sister, Pam, still live in Riverdale. She received an associate degree in business administration from Clayton Junior College in 1978 and will be awarded a bachelor's degree in speech, with an emphasis in public relations, from Georgia Southern this month.

Miss Shaney began her public relations internship at the two-year-institution near Morrow on June 16 and will remain there through Aug. 15. While at CJC, she has been involved in all phases of public relations

Rhonda Shaney, of River-work, including news Georgia Southern's chapter ale, a senior at Georgia writing, photography and of Public Relations Student film processing, graphics Society of America. layout and design, and general office duties.

An intramural sports participant in college, she is a A Clayton Junior College member of Gamma Beta Foundation Merit Phi Society and has Scholarship recipient from provided volunteer service North Clayton Senior High, for the Georgia Lung Asshe serves as secretary for sociation.

March 29; 1981 Grand Jury Issues Murder Indictment

By CARL HOOVER Staff Writer

A 23-year-old Jonesboro woman was indicted for murder Thursday by a Clayton County grand jury on the charge that she allegedly shot and killed her husband, 24-year-old Edwin Breton Floyd, in their apartment on Marion Lynn Floyd of 661 Sherwood Dr., Apt. G-4, was accused of shooting her husband in the abdomen and neck with a .38 revolver at approximately 12:30 a.m. Dec. 27.

Clayton County police were called to the scene by someone who reported hearing gunshots from the Floyd's apartment. They arrived on the scene a little before 1 a.m. to find Mr. Floyd dead from gunshot wounds.

Mrs. Floyd was apprehended shortly afterward and charged with the murder of her husband. The shooting is believed to have stemmed from 'domestic problems", according to a police spokesman. The weapon used is thoughtito be one Mrs. Floyd carried on her job as a security officer.

Mrs. Floyd is presently out on $10,000 bond. No trial arraignment date has been set as of yet in Clayton County Superior Court.

CJC's Bolander Named To State Dean's Group

dean of students at Clayton Junior College, has been elected to chair the Administrative Committee on Student Affairs for the University System of Georgia during the coming year. The Administrative Committee is composed of deans of students of all 33 institutions in the University System. The committee functions as an advisory council to University System Presidents and the Board of Regents. Major responsibilities deal with a variety of student services, including admissions, student retention, student activities, academic advisement, financial aid, counseling, testing, student housing, discipline and veterans' ser-

DEAN Bolander served on the University System be actively pursued, will be Admiminstrative Committee of Student Affairs executive board from 1974-1978, and during 1979-80, he served as the committee's development and effective chairman-elect. During student input into the

In describing plans for 1980-81. Dean Bolander stressed that the Advisory Committee would "be assessing and evaluating the role of student services in meeting the demands of students for the decade of the

Such reassessment and evaluation will include examining the implications of the recently completed University System report on academic advising, the Regents' Test administration and implications, admissions, and affirmative

"ATTENTION will continue to be paid," he said, "to the myriad of government regulations regarding consumerism, financial aid guidelines, veterans' benefits and the like."

Another responsibility to to work with student government leaders from the 33 state institutions in the area of leadership those years, he chaired a various University System variety of task forces for the decision-making processes.

Top CJC Nurse See Page 5A

Tuesday, September 2, 1980 McCant Named CJC Nursing Department Head

Barbara Heard McCant, faculty, she served as an a member of the nursing faculty of Clayton Junior College since September, of the Department of nurse at hospitals in institution near Morrow. Mrs. McCant will begin start of the Fall Quarter classes. A native of Dothan, Alabama, Mrs. McCant earned her bachelors degree in nursing from Tuskegee Institute in Alabama in 1964, and received her master's degree in nursing from the Medical College of Georgia

Prior to joining the CJC recommend courses to be instructor of medicalsurgical nursing at St. Joseph's Infirmary School 1976, has been named Head of Nursing, and as a staff Nursing at the two-year Dothan, Alabama; Tuskegee, Alabama; Tacoma, Washington; and her new duties with the at the V.A. Hospital in Decatur.

> As head of the Department of Nursing at CJC, Mrs. McCant will work with the nursing faculty and college administrators in providing effective instruction in nursing courses. She will recruit new members of the nursing faculty as needed, advise students.

taught each quarter, and develop budget requests for the Department.

The College works with a number of hospitals and health care facilities in providing on-the-spot clinical training for nursing students. Mrs. McCant will be responsible for selecting and recommending clinical affiliates, and with coordinating programs with such off-campus institutions.

The two-year Nursing Program at Clayton Junior College has been designed to meet the expressed need for nurses in the south Atlanta metropolitan area. Men and women who desire a career in nursing may enroll in the six-quarter program, beginning with the Fall Quarter each year. A graduate of the Nursing Program may petition to take the examination of the Georgia Board of Nursing, and successful completion of the examination licenses him or her as a Registered Nurse.

Mrs. McCant serves as a Den Mother and Pack Leader for the Cub Scouts and is a member of the Cascade United Methodist Church and Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority.

She and her husband, Dr. William McCant, a veterinarian live in southwest Atlanta with their two Manor Elementary.

BARBARA McCANT

children Vincent, 10 a 6th grader; and Tracey, 8, a third grade student at West

Set Dec. 1

Chief Named For New Job

A chairman has been named for the newly-formed Division of Vocational-Techin Boynton Beach, Fla., will Junior College according to assume his new duties at

CLAYTON NEIGHBOR

DR. CARLOS SCHMITT Will Head Vo-Tech School

who has directed the South Technical Education Center Clayton Junior College on His appointment was approved at the November meeting of the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia.

The division of vocational-technical education, authorized on July 1, will be jointly operated and funded in accordance with an existing agreement between the Board of Regents and the State Board of Education.

At Clayton Junior College, Dr. Schmitt's responsibilities will include all aspects of planning and implementing vocational-technical programs. Vocational-technical education programs will be integrated into the present

TO BEGIN SEPT. 22

THE CLAYTON SUN

September 4, 1980

CJC Names New Nursing Department Dept. Head

Barbara Heard McCant, a CJC faculty, she served as the nursing facility and col- with a number of hospitals faculty at Clayton Junior College since Sept. 1976, has been named head of the Department of Nursing at the two-year institution near Morrow.

Mrs. McCant will begin her new duties with the start of the full quarter classes. ment of Nursing at CJC, the department. BEFORE joining the Mrs. McCant will work with THE COLLEGE works The two-year nursing program may petition to Cascade United Methodist Hospital in Decatur.

member of the nursing an instructor of medical- lege administrators in and health care facilities in surgical nursing at St. providing effective instruc- providing on-the-spot Joseph's Infirmary School of tion in nursing courses. She clinical training for nursing Nursing, and as a staff nurse will recruit new members of students. Mrs. McCant will at hospitals in Dothan, Ala., the nursing faculty as be responsible for selecting Tuskegee, Ala., Tacoma, needed, advise students, and recommending clinical Wash., and at the V.A. recommend courses to be affiliates, and with coortaught each quarter, and dinating programs with As head of the Depart- develop budget requests for such off-campus institutions.

College has been designed to Georgia Board of Nursing. meet the expressed need for and successful completion of nurses in the south Atlanta metropolitan area. Men and women who desire a career in nursing may enroll in the six-quarter program, beginning with the fall quarter Den Mother and Pack

A graduate of the nursing and is a member of the the examination licenses him or her as a Registered Mrs. McCant serves as a Leader for the Cub Scouts

program at Clayton Junior take the examination of the Church and Alpha Kappa

She and her husband. Dr. William McCant, a veternarian, live in southwest Atlanta with their two children: Vincent, 10, a sixth grader; and Tracey, eight, a third grade student at West Manor Elementary.

Barbara McCant

THE CLAYTON SUN CJC Intern Completes Rotation

September 26, and will end fall quarter.

his duties on Friday, Dec. During his internship at Student Society of America.

nearing the end of a public Institute in Hinesville, and phases of public relations, relations internship at a resident of midway, Purser including news writing, Clayton Junior College. will qualify for his photography, layout and Purser, 25, began his in- bachelor's degree in speech, design and printing. At ternship in CJC's Office of with an emphasis in public Georgia Southern, he is a Public Information on relations, at the end of the member of Kappa Sigma

Georgia Southern College, is A graduate of Bradwell has been involved in all

CJC Professors: Carter Made Right Choice

By ELAINE ALMON Staff Writer

The most outstanding factor in the Reagan-Anderson debates Sunday night was the absence of President Carter, according to three political science instructors at Clayton Junior College, but two of the three professors add Carter made the best political decision by staying out.

"Actually," said Dr. Joseph S. Trachtenberg, "Carter can make a good argument that he didn't suffer, but others can make an equally good argument that he did. Carter believes that by appearing, he may confirm opinion polls which say that Anderson will take votes away from Carter." Dr. Trachtenberg added that Carter made a practical gamble. "He thinks that Reagan is the only opponent who is significant in this race. He almost

Dr. Brad Rice, assistant professor of history and political science in-structor agreed. "I think that Carter suffered a blow to his image by not showing up for the debate, but politically, it was a good move. For every one vote Anderson can take from Reagan, he can take two from Carter. I think that Carter was smart

Dr. Hugh Arnold, assistant professor of political science took a different view of Carter's move.

to stay away.'

"Carter suffered political damage by staying out of the debate. The voters will have the perception that Carter was afraid to defend his record." Arnold added that Carter did not suffer at the hands of his opponents because of his absence.

Dr. Trachtenberg said that he noticed each man in the debate mentioned Carter's absence three times. "I think it was to show that .Carter is not playing fair."

Dr. Arnold said that he believes there was no victor in the debate, although Anderson and Reagan brought out no new issues. However, Anderson gained equal footing in the race and proved that he was not a spoiler or a disgruntled Republican loser. Reagan gained something just by showing up when Carter didn't."

Dr. Rice stated that there was no winner because the debate hinged on the viewer's perspective. "If you were for Reagan when you started watching the debates, you were for Reagan when they were over. The same for Anderson. There was just nothing in the debate to make you sit up and say, 'Wow, I'm going to vote for that guy!

"Neither man lost," said Trachtenberg. "but Reagan gained more." He explained that Reagan had a better command of the facts than did Anderson. "He took things in stride. He also had a 'presidential air' about him. But Reagan was still friendly and informal. He was also very careful not to take a position on issues where he had already secured

All three instructors agreed that, basically, the debates served to clarify each man's position on the issues. "It helped the voters who weren't sure of the issues," said Dr. Rice, " but the people who have kept up with the political scene really got nothing out of the debate."

New Social Sciences Faculty Members

Quarter classes. From left are: M. Louise Bill, was Maj. Michael Grady, Army ROTC.

-- New faculty members in Clayton Junior College's

Division of Social Sciences paused during an orientation to the campus recently prior to the start of Fall

Quarter classes. From left are: M. Louise Bill

New faculty members in Clayton Junior College's Criminal Justice; Lt.C. Nils P. Johannesen, Army Division of Social Sciences paused during an orienta- ROTC; Sgt. Douglas R. Williams, Army ROTC; and tion to the campus recently prior to the start of Fall Dr. Hugh M. Arnold, Political Science. Not present

(Criminal Justice), Ltc. Nils Johannesen (Army

ROTC), Sgt. Douglas R. Williams (Army ROTC), and

Dr. Hugh M. Arnold (Political Science). Not present

was Maj. Michael Grady (Army ROTC).

Campaign Checks

Georgia Democratic Party chairman Marge Thurman was in Jonesboro Wednesday evening at Clayton Democratic headquarters to bestow campaign funds from the state headquarters to several area Democratic candidates. Left to right seated are: Rep. Jim Wood, District 72 composing Clayton and Fayette counties; Jean Keeley of East Point; Bev Ingram of Fairburn; and Wes Lord, Sixth District Democratic

Chairman. Left to right standing are: Robert B der, chairman of the Clayton Democratic exe committee; Rept. Greg Pilewicz of East Point; 7 Rigsby of South Fulton County; Rep. Nathan K Newnan; Dock Davis, candidate for the Sixth seat in Congress; Marge Thurman; Sen. Kyl Griffin; and Rep. Gerald Johnson of Carrollto

Business, Science, Math Faculty Members

New faculty members in Clayton Junior College's Division of Business and Division of Natural Sciences and Mathematics paused to get to know one another recently. Pictured from left are: Dr. Larry H. Arjomand, Business; Ernestine J. Reese, Dental Hygiene; Jo Ann Baker, Mathematics and Steven C. Hunt, Accounting. Not present was Jean B. Berry, Nursing.

Bolander On Regional Board

Robert C. "Bo" Bolander, Dean of Students at Clayton Junior College, has been appointed to serve as the State of Georgia's representative to the Southern Regional Heart Association Evaluation Board.

Dean Bolander, a long-time member of the Clayton County Heart Unit, beagan his work for the Heart Association as the county's Heart Sunday Chairman in the early 1970's. Subsequently, he served as Chairman of the local heart unit for three years and as Chairman of the Metropolitan

Atlanta Heart Fund Drive. In 1978, Dean Bolander was elected to fill an unexpired term to the State Board of Directors of the Georgia Heart Association, and the following year was elected to a full three-year term. He currently is serving as one of 15 laypersons from throughout the state on the board. The Southern Regional Heart Evaluation group is responsible for both standards certification and program assessment of the eight state heart associations in the southern region. The evaluation team serves both as consultant and evaluator of fund raising efforts, community programs, administration and planning process, public relations, and research. "The opportunity to share ideas through visits of other state heart associations created an excellent forum for a regional sharing of philosophies and successful techniques," Dean Bolander said.

See BOLANDER on page 3

ROBERT BOLANDER

Continued from page 1

"The end goal of the process," he continued, "was to insure effective, efficient, and cohesive programs by each state. Such programs would help reach the Heart Association's goal of reducing premature death and disability from cardiovasculars diseases.'

New SBDC Director Named at CJC

named for the Small Busi-

St-Germain

A new director has been ness Development Center quartered in the offices of can Business Law Associa- provided by the Small Busi-

Division of Business. George L. St-Germain, owners. who has served as the coor-College since 1978, assumed row on March 25. sources of the College, the firms in Rhode Island, New courses. University System of Georgia, and other agencies D.C. available to small businesses in the south metropolitan Atlanta area. Head-(SBDC) at Clayton Junior the Division of Business, tion, the Georgia Associa-ness Administration (SBA) College, according to John the Center provides countion of Marketing Educa- and other federal and state Feathers, Chairman of the seling assistance and short tion, and the Association of agencies. courses for small business MBA Executives.

St-Germain, a native of Rhode Island, earned a Monique, 13, an 8th grader; reer business programs at bachelor's degree in politi- and Pierre, 8, a 3rd grader. Emanuel County Junior cal science and a master's degree in management from his new duties at the two- Providence College. In adyear institution near Mor- dition to his teaching expe- for identifying problems rience at Emanuel County and needs of small busi-The SBDC, formally and Holliston (Maine) Junopened by Clayton Junior ior College, he has held a College in August of 1978, is number of financial and ual consultation, work- merce. designed to make the re- management positions with York, and Washington, Exchange Club, the Ameri- new and existing services campus.

He and his wife, Felice, have two children: As Director of Clayton Junior College's SBDC, St-Germain will be responsible nesses, and responding to these by providing individshops, seminars and network of statewide Small A bilingual speaker with Business Development Cen-series of non-credit short courses, provided at a nominal fee for area small business owners. The series, offered through the College's Office of Community Services, is co-sponsored by the SBA and the Clayton County Chamber of Com-

In addition to offering free counseling services, the Center sponsors a quarterly

For more information about services offered by As a part of a larger the SBDC, call St-Germain at 961-3414, or visit the Center in Room C-11 of the a French background, St-ters, the SBDC serves as a Academic Building on the Germain is a member of the location for the delivery of Clayton Junior College

Bolander 11, 1980 Appointed

Robert C. "Bo" Bolander, Dean of Students at Clayton Junior College, has been appointed Georgia's representative to the Southern Regional Heart Association Evaluation Board.

Dean Bolander, a longtime member of the Clayton techniques," Dean Bolander County Heart Unit, began said. his work for the Heart Association as the county's Heart Sunday Chairman in the early 1970's. Subsequently, he served as Chairman of the local heart unit for three years and as reach the Heart As-Chairman of the sociation's goal of reducing Metropolitan Atlanta Heart premature death and dis-Fund Drive.

In 1978, Dean Bolander diseases. was elected to fill an unexpired term to the State Board of Directors of the Georgia Heart Association, and the following year, was elected to a full three-year term. He currently is serving as one of 15 laypersons from throughout the state.

The Southern Regional Heart Evaluation group is responsible for both standards certification and program assessment of the eight-state heart associations in the southern region. The evaluation team serves both as consultants and evaluators of fund raising efforts, community programs, administration and planning process, public relations, and research

"The opportunity to share ideas through visits of other state heart associations created an excellent forum for a regional sharing of philosophies and successful

"The end goal of the process," he continued. "was to insure effective, efficient, and cohesive programs by each state. Such programs would help ability from cardiovascular

CJC News/dally Monday, November 17, 1980 CJC Names Chairman Of New Vo-Tech Division

DR. CARLOS SCHMITT

A chairman for the newly-formed Division of Vocational-Technical Education at Clayton Junior College has been named, according to Dr. Billy R. Nail, Dean of the College.

Dr. Carlos R. Schmitt, who has directed the South Technical Education Center in Boynton Beach, Florida, since August of 1975, will assume his new duties at Clayton Junior College on Dec. 1. His appointment was approved at the Nov. 12 meeting of the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia.

The Division of Vocational-Technical Education, authorized on July 1 of this year, will be jointly operated and funded in accordance with an existing agreement between the Board of Regents and the State

Board of Education. Decisions on the development of vocational-technical programs have not been made, but college officials anticipate such offerings to be available for students by September of next year. New programs will be designed to add to the offerings of the College's existing one-year and twoyear occupational programs.

Born in Keyesport, Illinois, and a 1959 graduate of Carlyle, Illinois, High School, Dr. Schmitt earned both his bachelor's and master's degrees from Murry State University in Murry. Kentucky. He obtained his doctorate in industrial education from Michigan State University.

Dr. Schmitt taught an undergraduate course in the Department of Industrial Arts at Murray State while serving as a graduate assistant, and later taught a variety of junior and senior high school industrial arts courses in Ortonville, Michigan. While at the Michigan high school, he served as program coordinator for the business education, home economics, industrial arts, and fine arts program

For almost two years, he served as supervisor of production and engineering for Pontiac (Michigan) Tool Company, coordinating staff activities in designing, engineering, purchasing product components, manufacturing, assembling, and installing large milling machines.

Dr. Schmitt became a "national teaching fellow" with the Division of Technology at Lansing (Michigan) Community College where he taught technical drafting courses and supervised open laboratories for day and evening adult education students. He served as a graduate assistant and later as an instructor at Michigan State University. As a graduate assistant, he was responsible for developing and testing an in-service teacher education program for new health occupations teachers in community colleges and area vocational centers. As an instructor, he served on a research team that Vocational-Technical Education Personnel Development Study.

conducted Michigan's statewide

During the early 1970's, Dr. Schmitt joined the School of Education at Florida International University in Miami where he served as one of several team members assigned to complete the academic programs and procedural planning for the opening of the new state university. His responsibilities at South Technical Education Center in Boynton Beach have been to bring together an initial staff for the opening of this new post-secondary educational institution. Among his assignments were the selection and training of staff, curriculum development, writing grant proposals, budget development, and the development of community awareness of the Center.

During his five years there, the Center has grown to include about 1,500 students, 60 full- ime employees, and an additional 30-to40 part-time

At Clayton Junior College, Dr. Schmitt's responsibilities will include all aspects of planning and implementing vocational-echnical programs. He will work with community residents in identifying needed programs and short courses, develop the content of such programs, schedule facilities order equipment, and recruit faculty and students.

A primary emphasis will be given to involving representatives of business and industry in this process, and coordinating programs with existing high school vocational-technical programs.

Faculty within the new division will provide specialized short-term training programs for current and potential employees of both new and existing businesses and industries. Programs for the upgrading and-or retraining of employees will be designed in cooperation with the business community to help employees perform at higher or more efficient levels.

Vocational-technical education programs will be integrated into the present structure and programming of the College. Graduates of two-year programs offered by the new division will receive the Associate in Applied Sciences degree

CJC Selects New Voc-Tech Director

been named chairman of the newly-formed Division of Vocational - Technical Education at Clayton Junior College, according to Dr. Billy R. Nail, Dean of the college.
Dr. Schmitt, who has directed the South

since August of 1975, will assume his new duties at University System of program areas. Georgia.

Education, authorized on July 1 of this year, will be jointly operated and funded Decisions on the development of vocationaltechnical programs have not been made, but college officials anticipate such offerings to be available for stuyear. New programs will be designed to add to the offerone-year and two-year oc- dents. cupational programs.

Illinois, and a 1959 graduate of Carlyle, Illinois, High School, Dr. Schmitt earned Michigan State University.

Dr. Carlos R. Schmitt has Technical Education Center variety of junior and senior During the early 1970 s, in Boynton Beach, Florida, high school industrial arts Dr. Schmitt joined the courses in Ortonville, School of Education at Michigan. While at the Florida International Clayton Junior College on Michigan high school, he University in Miami where December 1. His appoint- served as program coor- he served as one of several ment was approved at the dinator for the business team members assigned to November 12 meeting of the education, home economics, complete the academic Board of Regents of the industrial arts, and fine arts programs and procedural

> For almost two years, he the new state university. The Division of served as supervisor of Vocational - Technical production and engineering for Pontiac (Michigan) Tool Company, coordinating staff activities in designing, in accordance with an ex- engineering, purchasing the Board of Regents and manufacturing, assembling, the State Board of Educa- and installing large milling machines.

"national teaching fellow" with the Division of budget development, and Technology at Lansing the development of com-(Michigan) Community munity awareness of the College where he taught dents by September of next technical drafting courses and supervised open laboratories for day and to include about 1,500 stuings of the College's existing evening adult education stu-dents, 60 full time

He served as a graduate Born in Keyesport, assistant and later as an in- instructors. structor at Michigan State University. As a graduate assistant, he was responsiboth his bachelor's and ble for developing and tained his doctorate in in- in community colleges and dents in identifying needed' vocational dustrial education from area vocational centers.

Dr. Schmitt taught an un- Schmitt served on a programs, schedule division will provide dergraduate course in the research team that con-facilities, order equipment, Department of Industrial ducted Michigan's and recruit faculty and stu-Arts at Murray State while statewide Vocational- dents. serving as a graduate assis- Technical Education Per- A primary emphasis will employees of both new and structure and programming tant, and later taught a sonnel Development Study. be given to involving existing businesses and in- of the College.

planning for the opening of

His responsibilities at South Technical Education Center in Boynton Beach have been to bring together an initial staff for the opening of this new postisting agreement between product components, secondary educational institution. Among his assignments were the selection and training of staff. Dr. Schmitt became a curriculum development, writing grant proposals, Center.

During his five years there, the Center has grown employees, and an additional 30-to-40 part-time

At Clayton Junior College, Dr. Schmitt's responsibilities will include programs and short courses, As an instructor, Dr. develop the content of such

Carlos Schmitt

all aspects of planning and representatives of business master's degrees from testing an in-service teacher implementing vocational- and industry in this process, Murray State University in education program for new technical programs. He will and coordinating programs Murray, Kentucky. He ob- health occupations teachers work with community resi- with existing high school technical programs. Faculty within the new specialized short-term training programs for current and potential dustries. Programs for the upgrading and/or retraining of employees will be designed in cooperation with the business community to help employees perform at higher or more efficient levels.

Vocational - technical education programs will be integrated into the present

Point/Counterpoint

THE CLAYTON SUN

ourselves or to pull the been quietly planning to appoint his liberal cronies to enough key committee positions to block major legislation, even if we build a voting majority of conservative Democrats and

We can react to this in with...or two ways. We can try to around...O'Neill, or we can take him on in a battle for are duty bound to try to replace him, either with a Republican or with a conser-

In such a fight for the lose based on our ability to convince conservatives to vote according to principle, rather than voting to keep

We've got to be sure that the constituents of every Democrat who claims to be servative in reality, or only in name. You can't claim to be a conservative and vote for the leadership that is trying to block the reforms through the Congress, while be sure that if we fail,

Reagan.

you claim to be in favor of.

O'Neill because he is a parvative Democrat.

tisan leader.

Republicans.

But, in reality, he has country out of trouble.

Replace Tip O'Neill as Speaker of the House

Newt Gingrich

Although I am a Republican, I very well might vote for a Democrat as Speaker of the House. Let me explain.

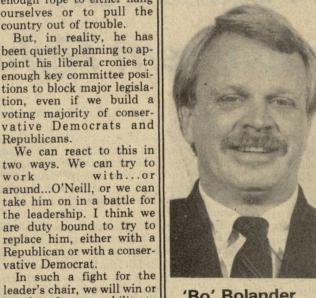

The euphoria in evidence among conservatives followa conservative know what ing this year's election is a the battle is about, and are little like the way Br'er Fox watching to see whether the and Br'er Bear must have person they elected is a confelt right after they flung Br'er Rabbit into the briar

If we let the American public think for one minute that the government is in conservative hands, then we deserve the strong liberal comeback that is bound to occur in 1982.

some conservative reforms True, a conservative is in the White House and a conservative majority in the Senate. But the House is still controlled by House Ame Speaker Tip O'Neill. it is O'Neill is a liberal of the same school as Ted Kennedy and George McGovern, and his power is second only to that of the President.

If one listens to Tip's recent statements in news accounts, one can hear the plaintive cry of Br'er Rabbitt..."Please, oh please, don't throw me in that briar

O'Neill has made a great public display of cooperation with the Reagan game plan. "We'll give them

'Bo' Bolander

How Machiavellian! How neatly Machiavellian. Even before the action begins, find a fall guy. Find someone to blame your failures on even before your programs and ideas can be udged on their merits. Misdirection in football may occasionally be good strategy when the basics fail to win. Misdirection in politics should be unacceptable in politics even when there is nothing else available with which to win. Misdirection in politics is If we can't replace but a smokescreen covering

O'Neill, then our job is to be the absence of substance. diplomatic enough to get | The column opposite this tries to raise an issue which is typical Machiavellian at the same time fighting to misdirection. Tip O'Neill is not the issue. Such an at-America knows whose fault | tempt to create it is but to puff smoke. The real issue is whether Further complicating the battle will be the fact that or not the newly elected the conservatives will not | President and Congress can always agree. I was elected | find appropriate answers to by our district, the Sixth of today's problems. What Georgia, not by Ronald ideas - what programs -Reagan. And I plan to reprewill work to solve our sent our district, not Ronald economic problems, our energy difficulties and our There will be times when concerns about America's those of us who are strength in world affairs.

Republicans and conser-The only way to cure the vatives must bell public's frustrations - so cheerleading critics of the President. It's much better November voting behavior if we tell Reagan when he is is to find those answers. Presumably, he means (See GINGRICH, Page 5B) Far better than prematurely creating Machiavellian misdirec-

O'Neill Flap a Smokescreen

sues before us.

But, if Congressional leadership is an issue - and, perhaps, it should be - why is our Congressman searching for national headlines with spurious attacks on Tip O'Neill?

As a Republican, our representative should be looking to his own party's leadership for the next two years. Press headlines recently screamed "Hopes for majority in '82 heat battle for GOP House leader." Two Republicans sought to lead their colleagues. The newspapers described one as "an expert parliamentarian who knows how....to use the legislative process to get what oftentimes isn't there on a straight call of the roll." His opponent was reported as one who would 'rely on media hype and excessive oratory rather than legislative know-how to push the Republican cause in the House. The producer beat the puffer. But who did our Congressman support - and which style is he likely to continue to emulate these next two years?

Answers to those questions may be important to us in the Sixth district, but the real issues for America still center around the complex problems of economics, energy and foreign policy. Can our leadership begin to find some solutions during the next two years?

Will our representative be clearly reflected in their a producer, helping to develop sound, positive solutions? Or will he be a Far better than mere puffer with more

Leadership Clayton Plans For 1981-'82

The Chamber's Leadership Clayton Task Force has already begun plans for the 1981-82 program year. Task Force members, considering promotional materials are (left to right); Glenda Slaughter, Rick Sanchez, Jerry Nesbitt, Jean Bing and D. J.

Swaney Named Head Of CPR Committee

County EMT Sgt. Gus Swaney has been chosen to head the recently established community-wide citizens CPR task force in Clayton.

The task force is comprised of representatives from virtually every facet of Clayton County life who have united in an effort to establish a community wide CPR program

Swaney as chairman of the task force will be assisted in leading the endeavor by David Elster of Georgia Power, vice chairman; Pam Dague of Owens-Illinois, recorder; and advisory board members Don McIntire of Southern Bell, Scott Speir of the Clayton Public Health Department, Roger Brown of the Forest Park Fire Department, Tim Manning of the Riverdale Fire Department, Dr. Avery Harvill of Clayton Junior College, Milly Stull of Clayton General Hospital, Charles McGivern of the Red Cross and Bettielu Conaway of the Clayton County Government.

The Clayton County Heart Unit is spearheading the creation of the CPR task force, though the CPR group is autonomous with the citizens themselves running the show and the originators serving as advisors and counselors.

CPR, or Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation, combines mouth-tomouth resuscitation and chest compression as basic life support for cardiac arrest.

The idea behind the CPR thrust is to get enough people trained as CPR instructors so that a massive training program can get underway and eventually every household in Clayton would have at least one person who knows how to administer CPR.

Acknowledging that goal will take time to accomplish, the CPR group is starting out to achieve at least a portion of the dream: to train enough folks so that there is at least one person in every business, grocery, restaurant, school, church, civic club, etc. who can perform and-or teach

Swaney noted that it will take three things basically to achieve the CPR goal: manpower, money and committment.

He added that "local businesses could help greatly by committing themselves to having their employees involved in the program and CPR trained and by providing money to purchase CPR training equipment. Swaney said he was pleased with the initial response to the CPR program from such supporters as Georgia Power, Southern Bell. Kawneer, Sherwin Williams, Forest Park and Riverdale and the county fire departments, the Red Cross and the various health related agencies. "It's not going to be an easy task, but I am confident that because of the enthusiasm of the people working with the task force, we will be able to reach our goal," he commented.

he hoped the task force would have the local CPR program formulated and the massive training effort ready to

By the first of the year, Swaney said

For information on the citizens CPR task force, Swaney can be reached at

-Anniversary January 26, 1981

Clayton library board chairman Lee Philmon points out several interesting photos in a display of old photographs Saturday at the Jonesboro library's 40th anniversary open house. With Philmon are library board members Tamer Swiney (C) and Mrs. Marion McKown. The photographs were provided by Ella Catherine Carnes Romeo (not pictured) of Jonesboro.

member Marjorie Christian (L), Taylor's wife Connie, and Jonesboro library supervisor Estelle Lantzy. The Taylors were among guests at the library's open house

Clayton County library board's newest member is CJC

faculty member Robert J. Taylor, seen with board held Saturday. Guests enjoyed cookies and punch provided by the Jonesboro Women's Club, who ever since the library's opening in 1941 have devoted countless hours of volunteer work.

New Building To Rise

NEWS/DAILY

April 5, 1981

Chick-fil-A Offices To Move

The locally based Chick-fil-A Corporation Monday will mark the groundbreaking for its planned $7.5 million administrative complex with a chicken marathon featuring contestants named for local celebrities. The new 110,000-square-foot national headquarters will be located off Buffington Road about four and a half miles southwest of the Atlanta airport, in unincorporated southwest Fulton County.

S. Truett Cathy, founder and president of the Chick-fil-A company and a Clayton County resident, calls the planned five-story office building "more than the fulfillment of a dream.

Cathy originated the filleted breast of chicken sandwich over 20 years ago and has built his company into a system of residents with over 200 locations in 27 states across the nation. Cathy bagan his career in restaurants in Hapeville.

Purposely located close to the international airport, the new headquarters will house about 100 administrative employees as well as a national training center for the chain. Data processing, accounting and advertising departments will also be located at the new 75-acre headquarters site. Cathy will kick off the celebration of the groundbreaking for the new headquarters at noon Monday while surrounded by a variety of state and local officials.

At 12:30 p.m., 36 chickens will be launched over a 24-meter marathon course in what the company bills as "the nation's first chicken marathon." Each of the chickens will race in the name of a local celebrity, including such persons as state Rep. William Lee, state Commissioner of Agriculture Tommy Irvin, and several press and sports figures.

The namesake of the winning chicken will receive a $500 check in his or her name for the winner's favorite

Chick-fil-A outlets are most often located in large shopping malls and generally avoid free-standing locations. All Chick-fil-A locations, including the original store at Greenbriar Shopping Center, remain

Chick-fil-A sales in 1980 were $79 million and will reach $110 million by the end of this year, according to company reports.

In 1981, Chick-fil-A is opening 50 new units in major regional shopping malls throughout the country. Chickfil-A currently has 200 units in 27 states, with 23 locations in Georgia, 14 in the metro Atlanta area.

The heaviest concentration of units is the 35 in Texas, with Florida ranking second with 26 units.

The new administration building is expected to be completed in March. 1982 according to founder Truett Cathy. Projection are that close to 375 employees will be based at the headquarters six years from now.

Designer of the headquarters complex is the Atlanta architectural firm of Smallwood, Reynolds, Stewart, Stewart and Associates, Inc. Hardin International, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Ira H. Hardin Company of Atlanta, is general contractor. Landscape architect is Roy Ashley and Associates, Inc., also of Atlanta.

THE NEWS/DAILY January 22, 1981 Racquetball

An Exciting Trend In Indoor Sport

By CINDY JERNIGAN Feature Editor

Being the energetic, never-tiring Americans that we are, we've been known to try just about anything to get our bodies into shape.

First there came tennis, and then there was jogging, and who could forget disco (unfortunately)? Last year, the rage was roller skating and I know quite a few people who almost didn't live to tell about "hotrolling" through Atlanta's Piedmont Park.

For years to come, those folks will be able to tell when rain is on its way from the pain in their once broken bones.

The newest ordeal we're putting our bodies through is racquetball and Clayton Countians are no exception when it comes to enthusiasm for this fast-paced and often grueling game.

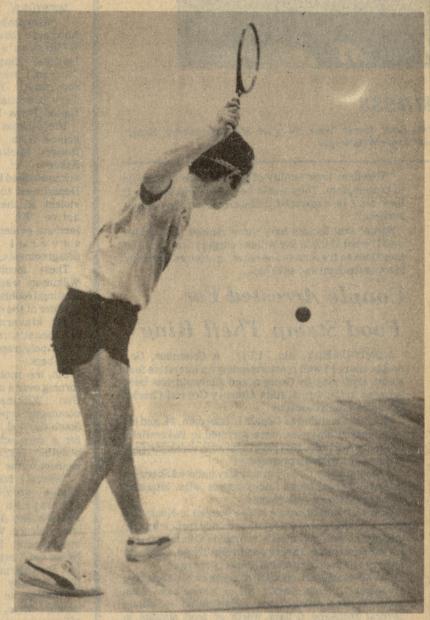

Racquetball is a lot like handball and bears a resemblance to tennis, except you don't have a net to put the ball over. You aim for the wall in front of you and your opponent takes the ball on the bounce, hopefully before it hits the floor

In racquetball, only the server can score and the game is played to

The above is a simplified version of the game. There are, of course, plenty of rules and regulations that govern racquetball. For instance, upon returning the ball you can bounce it off any wall you choose, as long as it finally bounces off the wall in front of you. With all of this bouncing, you can imagine how fast the game goes. The ball is so fast that it's difficult for television cameras to pick up See RACQUETBALL On Page 8

STEVE GAGLIANO LEANS INTO A SERVICE The Peachtree City Resident Enjoys The Game

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE DEAN OF STUDENTS ROBERT BOLANDER RELAXES Looks On A Racquetball Match From The Lobby Of The Southlake Club

-Racquetball-

News-Daily Photo by Russell Mobley

JEFF COOK OF MORROW ON THE WEIGHT MACHINE Weight Room Is One Feature Of Racquetball Club

Continued from page 1A

an image.

You can also imagine how much energy racquetball players put into their game. When you play an hour of racquetball, that's it," says Dale Hemke of Jonesboro. "This stuff is great, but it will wear you out quickly.'

Hemke is one of the nearly 2,000 patrons of Morrow's Southlake Racquetball Club on Mt. Zion Road.

According to John Cozad, manager of the club, people from all over metro Atlanta, have "gone crazy" over racquetball

The Southlake club opened last July with the backing of Cozad and five other local investors. According to the manager, the group wanted to develop a recreation facility for local investors saw racquetball as a fairly safe risk.

"This club was needed long before it was built," says Jeff Cook of Morrow, a racquetball player who also Illinois. enjoys weight lifting at the Southlake facility.

"Until it opened, my 14year-old son, Brian, and I had to drive to the other side students are in shape, you of town to play," he says. Not everyone belonging to the club plays racquetball. racquetball, one word of Evelyn Kennedy, 58, of Morrow jogs three or four days a week on the club's your opponent between the indoor running track and eyes. takes advantage of the whirlpool.

play racquetball, tho b says Mrs. Kennedy, v husband, Ernest, is al patron of the club. Terry and Frances B of Riverdale say they tr play racquetball at le once a week to "relea frustration". The newlyweds say the game also offers them ful good exercise and an activit they can enjoy together. Racquetball really offers a boost to tennis players and runners who don't enjoy jogging in the cold. "I'm primarily a runner," says Steve Gagliano of Peachtree City. "But I'm not much of a cold weather runner and racquetball keeps me in shape. Carolyn Ghelardini, the 24year-old pro at the Southlake club, has more requests for racquetball lessons than she families to enjoy and the can handle these days, according to Cozad.

Ms. Ghelardini was the natural collegiate champion in racquetball in 1978 while attending the University of

also teaches She racquetball at DeKalb

Junior College. Whether or not all her can bet she is.

If you plan to try caution might keep you from knocking yourself out hitting

Wear goggles and keep your eye on the ball...if you "I want to learn how to can see it after the serve.

CJC Names Vocational Coordinator

An instructional coordinator has been named for the newly-authorized Division of Vocational-Technical Education at Clayton Junior College. Dr. D. William Reeves, formerly the project director for the State Department of Vocational Technical Education in Stillwater, Oklahoma, joined the Clayton Junior College faculty in early May.

Serving under Dr. Carlos R. Schmitt, Chairman of the new Division, Dr. Reeves is assisting in the identification, development and implementation of both long and short-range programs to be offered by the two-year institution near Morrow. Vocational-technical programs will be added to Clayton Junior College offerings beginning with the start of Fall Quarter classes in September. Programs still being identified will be funded jointly by the State Board of Education and the University System

Dr. Reeves will work with the effective instructional techniques, and will plan and coordinate course scheduling. He will be responsible for the development of special grants to secure funding for vocationaltechnical programs and will participate in the planning and development of annual program

A native of Lexington, Missouri, Dr. Reeves earned both his bachelor's degree in education and master's degree in vocational education from Central Missouri State University. He obtained his doctorate in vocational administration from the University of

He served as a teacher and coordinator of vocational education for the public schools in Marshall, Missouri, before becoming director of the Area Vocational-Technical School there. During the six years prior to joining the Oklahoma State Department, he served as the director of Vocational Educational Programs at Division's faculty in developing Central Missouri State University.

DR. WILLIAM REEVES

Dr. Reeves and his wife, Sharon, have one daughter, 12-year old Ann Kathryn, a student at Lake Harbin Elementary School in Morrow.

volved in the statewide ef- Evaluation Board.

fort, also. Clayton enjoys the unique professionals (to the Board Clayton Heart volunteers representing the State of community (the state Board is the state representative to years in Clayton and do not confine their labors to Georgia to the Southern of Directors has 15 lay the Evaluation Board. "But the local area, but are in- Regional Heart Association members and 15 medical if you're talking about the members), that may not others who're put there -"If you're talking about sould like much, cause considering the number of As a matter of fact, the concentration of medical you're always going to have other Heart Units and several of those," explained volunteers around the state position of having two of Directors) or the Robert "Bo" Bolander of then you've got to admit the members on the State Board concentration of Atlantans Morrow, who serves on the local area has attracted from the Atlanta business State Board of Directors and some attention by having two of us there at state level. Bolander and Clayton Junior College's Dr. Avery Harvill both serve on the GHA's State Board of Directors. Harvill also serves as the state CPR chairman and Bolander this year was named to represent Georgia on the Evaluation Board, a group responsible both standards certification and program assessments of the eight state Heart Associations of the Southern Region.

Since he has begun his work on the Evaluation Board, Bolander says he has "learned more about the why's and wherefore's of the Georgia Association than in all the years before.

The four year committment on the Evaluation team will have Bolander assisting in the evaluation of other states' operations and assessing where those states' are in relation to the expectation of American Heart and serving as the spokesman for the policies, procedures, and programs of the Georgia Affiliate - areas which vary a great deal from state to state.

Bolander said it has taken this opportunity to observe state Association's for him to come into a new appreciation of the Georgia Affiliate and the Clayton

"When you look at our programs over the past five compare that with what is typically done on the community level, and the sheer numbers of people reached, its overwhelming compared areas," he commented.

Heart Associations. Bolander's next responsibility will be spring and summer reaffiliation to those reached in other reviews of several southern

DR. AVERY HARVILL-State Board of Directors, State CPR Chairman

State Board of Directors, Southern Regional Advisory

Chick-fil-A Opens New Building Today

Groundbreaking begins today for the new $7.5 million headquarters of the Chick-fil-A Corporation, one of the nation's fastest growing fast-food chains, to be located near the intersection of I-85 and I-285 South in Fulton County.

S. Truett Cathy, the 60-year-old president of the company and resident of Clayton County, will join state and local officials at noon today in ceremonies marking the start of construction of the new office complex.

The five-story administrative complex will serve as the company's national headquarters upon its expected completion in March, 1982. The headquarters' location and ceremonies will be off Buffington Road about four and a half miles southwest of Hartsfield International Airport.

A major feature of the groundbreaking is the "chicken marathon," in which 36 chickens, with the name of a prominent personality, will race 24 meters. The winning chicken will bring $500 in its celebrity's name to the favorite charity of the celebrity.

Personalities represented include: Georgia governor George Busbee, Clayton County state representative William Lee, state commissioner of Agriculture Tommy Irvin, NBC television weathercaster Willard Scott, Atlanta Falcon quarterback Steve Bartkowski, the anchormen of Atlanta's three television networks, and two Atlanta columnists Lewis Grizzard and Ron Hudspeth, among

The new company headquarters will replace its present office buildings in Hapeville, on Virginia Avenue. Cathy predicts the construction of the administrative complex will have an "important impact" in the south Atlanta area.

He expects that within the next six years staff at the new location will increase from approximately 100 administrative employees to about 375. Included in that number are personnel for data processing, marketingadvertising, accounting, training and corporate management for Chick-

The fast-food operation got its start more than 20 years ago when Cathy, seeking a novel menu item for his Hapeville cafe, The Dwarf House, created a boneless chicken fillet sand-

Since that time, Cathy has expanded his organization to include approximately 200 units in 27 states ranging from New Jersey to California with $79 million in sales last year.

Sanchez Leaving CJC To Take GSC Position

and president of the Georgia Florida. He is currently Adult Education Association, will head Georgia Southern College's Division, beginning August assistant director of

A native of Key West, appointment with the Ricardo D. Sanchez, and masters degree in Education. He was named community services director curriculum and instruction Community Services for Clayton Junior College from the University of Director in 1978. pursuing his doctorate at Outstanding Young Men of

Sanchez came to Clayton selection to Leadership Continuing Education Junior College in 1974 as Atlanta, Sanchez has been community services, a joint Florida, Sanchez earned his University of Georgia's Way, the Atlanta Regional bachelor's degree in English Center for Continuing Honored as one of the Georgia State University. America and recognized by active in civic affairs in Clayton County including leadership in the United Commission, the Clayton County Arts and Humanities Council, the Clayton County Private Industry Council,

RICARDO D. SANCHEZ

CJC Names New Director For Small Business Center

A new director has been named for the Small Business Development Center (SBDC) at Clayton Junior College, according to John Feathers, Chairman of the Division of Business.

George L. St-Germain, who has served as the coordinator-instructor ___ of the career business programs at Emanuel County Junior College since = 1978, assumed his new duties at the two-year institution near Morrow on March 25.

The SBDC, formally opened by Clayton Junior College in August of 1978, is designed to make the resources of the College, the - University System of Georgia, and other agencies available to small businesses in the south metropolitan Atlanta area. Headquartered in the offices of the Division of Business, the Center provides counseling assistance and short courses for small business

St-Germain, a native of Rhode earned a bachelor's degree in and a master's ment from an to his

and needs of small businesses, and responding to these by providing individual consultation, workshops, seminars and courses.

As a part of a larger network of statewide Small Business Development Centers, the SBDC serves as a location for the delivery of new and existing services provided by the Small Business Administration (SBA) and other federal and state agencies.

In addition to offering free counseling services, the Center sponsors a quarterly series of noncredit short courses, provided at a nominal fee for area small business owners. The series, offered through the College's Office of Community Services, is co-sponsored by the SBA and the Clayton County Chamber of

For more information about services offered by the SBDC, call St-Germain at 961-3414, or visit the Center in Room C-11 of the Academic

GEORGE ST-GERMAIN Building on the Clayton Junior College

New SBDC Director Named at CJC A new director has been ness Development Center quartered in the offices of can Business Law Associa- provided by the Small Busi-(SBDC) at Clayton Junior the Division of Business, tion, the Georgia Associaness Administration (SBA) named for the Small Busi-College, according to John the Center provides countion of Marketing Educa- and other federal and state

St-Germain

Division of Business.

George L. St-Germain, owners. who has served as the coordinator/instructor of the carow on March 25.

University System of Georgia, and other agencies D.C. available to small businesses in the south metropolitan Atlanta area. Head-

Feathers, Chairman of the seling assistance and short tion, and the Association of agencies. courses for small business MBA Executives.

reer business programs at bachelor's degree in politi- and Pierre, 8, a 3rd grader. Emanuel County Junior cal science and a master's his new duties at the two- Providence College. In adrience at Emanuel County and needs of small busi-College in August of 1978, is number of financial and ual consultation, work-merce. designed to make the re- management positions with shops, seminars and sources of the College, the firms in Rhode Island, New courses. York, and Washington,

Germain will be responsible

As a part of a larger the SBDC, call St-Germain network of statewide Small at 961-3414, or visit the A bilingual speaker with Business Development Cen- Center in Room C-11 of the a French background, St- ters, the SBDC serves as a Academic Building on the Germain is a member of the location for the delivery of Clayton Junior College

In addition to offering He and his wife, Felice, free counseling services, the St-Germain, a native of have two children: Center sponsors a quarterly Rhode Island, earned a Monique, 13, an 8th grader; series of non-credit short courses, provided at a nom-As Director of Clayton inal fee for area small busi-College since 1978, assumed degree in management from Junior College's SBDC, St. ness owners. The series, offered through the Colyear institution near Mor- dition to his teaching expe- for identifying problems lege's Office of Community Services, is co-sponsored by The SBDC, formally and Holliston (Maine) Junnesses, and responding to the SBA and the Clayton opened by Clayton Junior ior College, he has held a these by providing individ- County Chamber of Com-

> For more information about services offered by Exchange Club, the Ameri- new and existing services campus.

Heart Association Rescue Classes Assembled

Staff Writer

Dr. Avery Harvill, P.E.D. of Morrow is among several volunteers who are planning a state CPR training workshop to be held at Rock (ECC) Committee.

Eagle March 6 and 7. Dr. Harvill is a physical education instructor at Clayton Junior College and the chairman of the Heart Association's state Emergency Cardiac Care

Other members of the planning committee for the workshop are Carolyn Rentz, R.N., East Point; Robert Finegan, M.D., East Point; and Robert T. Sessions, M.D.

Marietta, all members of the ECC executive committee. Over 100 of the top CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) trainers in Georgia will meet at Rock Eagle to learn new and better ways to teach CPR techniques. The second annual CPR Update-Recertification Workshop for affiliate faculty and instructortrainers is co-sponsored by the Georgia Affiliate of the and the Emergency Health Georgia Affiliate works across the state who will be technique used when inhalation. Department of Human per Georgia household. Resources.

"Our first statewide successful," said Dr. director of trainers and instructors." year are trained as CPR students. basic rescuers under the standards of the American attend are key American

Section of the Georgia toward a goal of one rescuer

Guest speakers at the workshop will be Dallas P. workshop last year was very Jankowski of Atlanta, DHR's Harvill. "It allowed us to Emergency Health Section, upgrade 36 instructor- who will give an update on trainers to the level of Emergency Medical affiliate faculty, to recertify Services (EMS) in Georgia; 13 faculty and 16 instructor- and Billy Gober, Ed.D. of trainers, and to update and Dekalb County, chairman of recertify 114 instructor- the Georgia Affiliate's CPR 993 in Schools working group, who will discuss the status of About 30,000 Georgians a teaching CPR to school

Among those planning to American Heart Association Heart Association as the Red Cross trainers from standards. Those attending the workshop will also be viewing a video tape presentation outlining common teaching mistakes. focation, choking, elec-

updated on new teaching "sudden death" occurs, most often from heart attack, but also from poisoning, drowning, suf-CPR is an emergency trocution, and smoke

Carla M. Sturdivant

Carla M. Sturdivant, a senior Communication Arts major at Georgia Southern College, is nearing the end of her public relations internship at Clayton Junior College.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Sturdivant, Jr., of Conyers, Carla will graduate from Georgia Southern on June 13. She has been serving her internship in Clayton Junior College's Office of Public Information since March

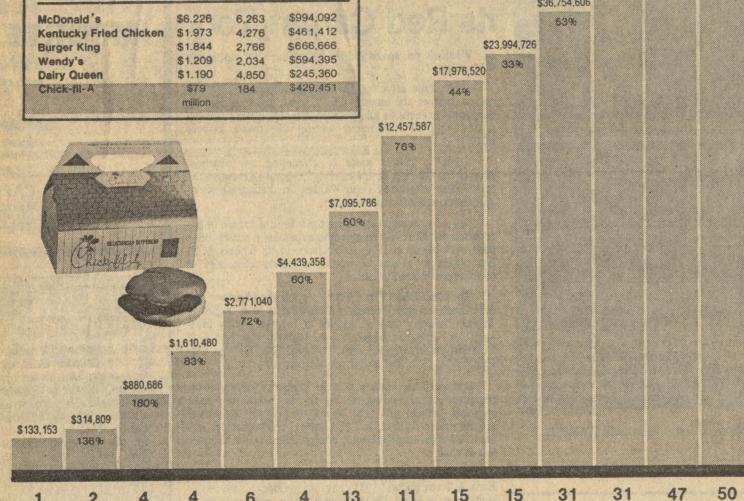

During her internship, she has been involved in all phases of public relations, including news writing, photography, graphic arts and design, and the planning of special events. A graduate of Rockdale County High School, Carla has served as membership chairman and vice president of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority at Georgia Southern. A member of the Public Relations Student Society of America, she has served as treasurer of Georgia Southern's chap-

b-fil- Sales and percentage increase $79,018,976 43% Top five U.S. fast-food franchised restaurants $55,404,949 Sales (billions) Units per unit 1980 $36,754,606 $994.092 McDonald's $6.226 6,263 53%

The man behind Chick-fil-A's rise

By COLLEEN TEASLEY

Units

His closest business associates and even Truett Cathy admit he didn't know he was creating a national fast-food chain when he started the Chick-fil-A company 14 years ago.

Cathy, today 60 and president of the Atlanta-based chain of 193 restaurants in 27 states, did know he had a tasty product - a boneless, skinned chicken breast coated with his secret seasonings and fried for four minutes in

A patent lawyer told him he couldn't patent a food, so he misspelled chicken filet, patented the name Chick-fil-A and had himself a product

At first he was satisfied with selling rights to the chicken breast in a bun to restaurants in and around Atlanta, where he grew up. But he soon became miffed at restaurant cooks who wouldn't follow the preparation procedures he had developed during 16 years as cook and owner of the small Dwarf House restaurant he had opened in 1951 to feed workers at Hapeville's Ford Motor Co. factory across the street.

Almost by default, Cathy got into the fastfood business. In 1962, his second Dwarf restaurant, this one in Forest Park, burned. Both res- Chicken franchise, Cathy got out. taurants were serving full menus in addition to Cathy's Chick-fil-A sandwich.

He had an idea that self-service restaurants were the coming thing. He recruited Jimmy Collins, a salesman who had been selling him restaurant equipment, to design a self-service restaurant to replace the burned one.

It didn't work. "We went from table service to self-service and my regular customers didn't like it," Cathy said. "Often when they came in, sat down expecting to be served, and found it was self-service, they just got up and

When his friend, Ted Davis, offered to lease the building for Atlanta's first Kentucky Fried

The original franchise offer sign

"After all, I had a $90,000 note at the bank," said Cathy, very much the financial conservative. Ever since he was 8 and living in Atlanta's Techwood Homes public housing project, Cathy had a knack for business. He bought six-bottle cartons of Cokes for a quarter and sold them door to door for a nickel apiece. He would pocket the 5-cent profit until he could afford to buy a case of Cokes for 80 cents. Selling 24 Cokes for a nickel apiece gave him a 40cent profit. He padded his income by eventually opening a drink stand and adding Nugrape and Orange Crush to his stock and by working as a paper boy for The Atlanta Journal. The second youngest of seven children,

Cathy was born in Eatonton, Ga., but moved to Atlanta when the Depression forced his father to the city and a job as a small-time insurance

During his childhood, his family rented houses in Atlanta's West End and his mother took in boarders to keep the family afloat.

"I remember Sunday dinners when mother served fried chicken," he recalls. "The chicken breast was always the first piece the adults took and by the time us kids got our turn there were only necks and chicken feet left."

Cathy, who now lives the good life on a 262-acre farm in Clayton County where he and his wife, Jeannette, raised three children and where he enjoys his hobby of dirt-bike riding, ner feast that eluded him as a child.

When he was 25 and home from the Army and World War II, Cathy and his younger brother Ben pooled their resources, which amounted to $4,000, and borrowed another $6,600 from First National Bank of Atlanta to open the Dwarf House restaurant. A few years later Ben and Cathy's only other brother, both pilots, were killed in a private plane crash. It was from that first restaurant that Truett Cathy built his company that this year is expected to grow to 234 units with $110 million in sales. The corporate strategy is to have 500 restaurants within the next six to 10 years. Construction is under way on a $7.5 million corporate headquarters that will sit in the middle of 75 acres near Harstfield Airport to replace Chick-fil-A's cramped offices now in a string of houses and pre-fab buildings in Hape-Through the years, Cathy has made some wise calls. In the 1960s, when McDonald's and the other fast-food chains were building free-standing units on almost every corner in See CATHY, 2D

Truett Cathy runs his 193-unit brood like a mother hen

By COLLEEN TEASLEY

The takeover attempts started only a year after Chick-fil-A opened its first res-

The first suiter was the Morrison's cafeteria chain wanting to expand into fast foods. Over the years, Truett Cathy's fledgling Atlanta chicken sandwich company was wooed by Servomation Corp. of Greenwich, Conn., Burger King and Steak N

Cathy, who likes being boss, admits he came close to selling at least once. But, in the end, his answer was always the same,

And he says he'll never take his company public. "Why should he when he can finance the company's growth 70 percent out of cash flow and only 30 percent out of debt?" said Chick-fil-A Executive Vice President Jimmy Collins.

Like a mother hen, Cathy keeps charge of the business he started from a stove in his small Dwarf House restaurant across the street from the Ford Motor Co. factory in Hapeville south of Atlanta. Other than a few shares given to relatives, the private company's stock belongs to

Since 1967, when he opened the Chickfil-A prototype in Greenbrier Mall on Atlanta's southside, Cathy's brood has grown to include 193 units in 27 states. Nine units out of a planned 50 have opened this year and another 50 are planned for next year. Sales, which have increased an average of 71 percent each year, are expected to reach $110 million this year.

These days, the pecking order may be changing. "Instead of people wanting to buy us out, some are wanting us to buy them," said Cathy, obviously pleased with the way things turned out.

If you pick at him, you might get him to admit to taking some pleasure at seeing the fast-food giants, Burger King, McDonald's and Wendy's, rushing to market in the past year or so with their own versions of the fried boneless chicken breast sandwich that he developed more than a dec-

For now, Cathy and his No. 2 man, Jimmy Collins, say the company is on a fast-track timetable that leaves little time or money for takeover plans.

"There are about 500 shopping mall locations in the U.S. we want and we are in 200 of those now," Collins said. "Our new construction is proceeding at 30 to 50 a year. We see for the foreseeable future that it will take us a long time to fill up those malls. If and when we do that, we might look at freestanders, but that's in the five to 10 year range.'

What Chick-fil-A has "on a back burner of the mind," Collins said, is a possible expansion into freestanding restaurants. Until now, all the standard Chick-fil-A units have been located in shopping malls.

The company has three maverick restaurants that are freestanding and serve such items as hamburgers and hot dogs in addition to the standard Chick-fil-A menu of chicken sandwiches, cole slaw, french fries and lemon pie. These three were among the company's first restaurants and are kept on more out of sentiment than anything else.

"We've never closed a unit," Cathy likes to say.

The three freestanding restaurants, however, serve as testing grounds for what could be the direction Chick-fil-A goes in the future. "With freestanders, it appears you have to add more to the menu," Col-

A prototype for what could be the second generation Chick-fil-A restaurant doesn't exist, Collins said, but it likely would be similar to the present operation of Cathy's first restaurant, the Dwarf House that still sits across from the Ford plant.

New Small Business Development Center Director Named

A new director has been named for the Small Business Development Center (SBDC) at Clayton Junior College, according to John Feathers, Chairman of the Division of Business

George L. St-Germain, who has served as the coordinator/instructor of the career business programs at Emanuel County Junior College since 1978, assumed his new duties at the two-year institution near Morrow on March 25.

The SBDC, formally opened by Clayton Junior College in August of 1978, is designed to make the resources of the College, the University System of Georgia, and other agencies available to small businesses in the south metropolitan Atlanta area. Heacquartered in the offices of the Division of Business, the Center provides counseling assistance and short courses for small business bachelor's degree in political science and a master's degree in management from Providence College. In addition to his teaching experience at Emanuel County and Holliston (Maine) Junior College, he has held a number of financial and management positions with firms in Rhode Island, New York, and Eashington, D.C.

St-Germain, a native of Rhode Island, earned a

As Director of Clayton Junior College's SBDC, St-Germain will be responsible for identifying problems and needs of small businesses, and responding to these by providing individual consultation, worships, seminars and courses.

As a part of a larger network of statewide Small Business Development Centers, the SBDC serves as a location for the delivery of new and existing services provided by the Small Business Administration (SBA) and other federal and state agencies.

In addition to offering free counseling services, the Center sponsors a quarterly series of noncred short courses, provided at a nominal fee for area small business owners. The series, offered through the College's Office of Community Cervices, is co-sponsored by the SBA and the Clayton County Chamber of

George L. St. Germain New SBDC Director

For more information about services offered by the SBDC, call St-Germain at 961-3414, or visit the Center in Room C-11 of the Academic Building on the Clayton Junior College

Clayton Junior Faculty/Staff Honored

the faculty and staff at member of the plant opera-Clayton Junior College have received service awards at the two-year institution.

Honored by the Board of Trustees of the Clayton Junior College Foundation, all faculty and staff members who completed either 10 years or five years of uninterrupted service to the College between July 1, 1980 and June 30, 1981, received awards.

Ernest L. Cheaves, Thomas B. Clonts, and Dr. Ernest A. Dunbar represented the Board of Trust- Gregory S. Kordecki, assistees at the recent awards ant professor of business o presentation. Each recipient honored received a J. Manning, assistant pro-"service award" certificate plus a "dinner for two" at one of three participating the department of nursing; restaurants: The New Moon Chinese Restaurant in Jonesboro, the Sizzler Family ing: Dr. Sharon M. Mullis, Steak House on Jonesboro Road near Southlake Mall, and Coco's at Southlake.

Recipients of ten-year awards were: Dr. Frederick Goldbert, assistant professor of English; Dr. Avery H. Harvill, professor of physical education; Doris A. Holloway, associate professor of to the director of learning music; Beatrice J. Langley, resources; and Ms. Betty J. a member of the food services staff; Ruby C. Litzen- plant operations staff. berger, secretary to the Dean of the College; and, Dr. Elizabeth H. Marshall, associate professor of his-

Five-year award winners College Foundation.

Twenty-four members of included: Jennette Allen, a tions staff; Katrina Barnes, assistant professor of nursing; Harold Carmichael, a member of the plant operations staff; Dr. C. Blaine Carpenter, associate professor of biology; Tommie De-Weese, secretary in the college bookstore; Robert A. Harrell, media services coordinator; E. Bill Hart, director of the department of public safety; Dr. Eugene A. Hatfield, assistant professor of history; administration: Dr. Willie fessor of psychology; Bar-bara H. McCant, head of

Dr. Henrietta C. Miller, assistant professor of readassistant professor of English; Dr. William A. Pasch, assistant professor of english; Mr. Ted L. Ray, sergeant in the department of public safety; Dr. Bradley R. Rice, associate professor of history; Ms. Winnie M. Thacker, secretary Thomas, a member of the

The faculty/staff honors program is one of three primary functions sponsored by the Clayton Junior

Officers Of The 1980-81 Clayton Cancer Unit Standing (L-R) Al Hammack, Howell B. Cox, Tommy Clonts; Seated (L-R) Bobbie Tarantine And Vivian Cox: Dr. Edgar Grady (Not Pictured)

May 21, 198

Fifteen Eagles Scouts of Boy Scout Troup 115 of Rex were honored at a ceremony recently. Pictured from left are: Jeffy Adkins, Erin Murphy, Tony Wyatt, David Wilson, Sonny Copelan, Angelo Woop, Steve Adkins, Kyle Rowan, Danny Jeffries, Kouis

Wood, Terry Elder, Gene Evans, Frank Wood, and Ricky Cornelius. At right is Harmon Born. Sponsored by Clayton County Fire Station Number 2, the troup is led by Scoutmaster Tom Murphy.

Leadership Conference

In their March meeting, participants in the Leadership Clayton program heard from top individuals involved in local social service and education agencies. Reviewing the programs of the Department of Family and Childrens Services is its Director, Ann Plant (right), and Rick Duncan. Leadership Clayton is sponsored jointly by the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and Clayton Junior

NEWS/DAILY April 16, 1981 Confederate Daughters

Plan Holiday Festivities

United Daughters of the Con- Mrs. Ada Blanchard. "Miss federacy on Saturday, April Kitty" Walker, recently 12th filled the meeting area deceased real daughter, was at Sambo's making the awarded a memorial as a possible change in meeting past president of the Georgia places to Stately Oakes next division and a member of the year even more attractive. local chapter. Plans for the Confederate Memorial Day service, April the local Children of the Con-26th at 2:30 p.m. at the federacy Chapter and newly Jonesboro Confederate appointed Historian of the Cemetery were approved. Georgia division, presented Mrs. Ruby Acker has ar- a program about Sam Davis ranged for military crosses who in 1863 was hung as a to be presented to Gaines spy although he served only Jinks, Sr. and Gaines Jinks as a courier. His bravery Jr., W. W. Mundy Jr. and and devotion to duty were Charles Jackson. President exemplified in his final state-Barbara Fuller also an- ment, "I was doing my duty, nounced the opening of the now you do yours.' Atlanta Historical Society's The hostesses Mrs. Frank Civil War Museum on Basler, Miss Jean Holland, Memorial Day.

make reservations for the Mary Wallace provided atnoon June Jefferson Davis tractive decorations for the luncheon at the Edgewater Easter season including bun-Country Club ($5.50). Dr. ny brooches and pastel Clizabeth Marshall, History sherbert. Professor at CJC, will be the The next meeting will be speaker. Mrs. C. E. Johnson held May 9th at Sambo's. asked for the names of Members will share family potential members in Rome, reminiscences of the War. Gainesville and Carrollton Storytellers so far are Mrs.

potential members as well Norman Wingette.

The April meeting of the as our two real daughters, Frankie Lyle chapter of the Mrs. Nellie Chosewood and

Ray Foster, president of

Mrs. Lucille Irwin, Mrs Members were asked to Phena Johnson and Mrs.

for the formation of Thomas Waller, Mrs. P. A. Hicks, Mrs. Faustine Woot-Mrs. Warren Cooper was ton, Mrs. Kathy Wise and approved as a new member. Mrs. Ruby Acker. Hostess Julie Jackson and Holly will be Mrs. C. E. Lamb, Brannon were presented as Mrs. A. B. Smith and Mrs.

Cathy Receives Bar Association's Bell Award

By CHARLIE SMITH

Truett Cathy, president and for the courts, and founder of Chick-fil-A, stimulating a deeper sense Inc., was presented the of individual responsibility Clayton County Bar to the end that citizens Association's Liberty Bell Award Friday at the association's annual Law Day luncheon in Jonesboro.

The award ceremony was the climax of Law Day activities for the Bar Association, activities which included courthouse tours, a radio talk show, and speeches to high schools and nursing homes. Law Day Chairman Joseph Todd praised Cathy for his contributions to the county, including his work with young people. "Truett has devoted his time and his financial resources to the betterment of Clayton County," Todd The Liberty Bell Award recognizes service promoting a better understanding of democratic government, encouraging greater respect for the law recognize their duties as well as their rights, con-tributing to the effective functioning of American institutions of government and inculcating a better understanding and appreciation of the rule of law.

Of his activites on behalf of young people in Clayton County, Cathy said, "I just find that young people these days are seeking direction if people are there to give them direction."

Cathy's 28-state chicken sandwich chain grew out of a single resturant in he started in Hapeville in 1946. He is a trustee of Mercer University, Clayton Junior College Foundation and Christian City.

Married to the former Jeannette McNeil, Cathy lives on a farm in Hampton.

Truett Cathy

NEWS/DAILY June 7, 1981

Leadership Clayton

Leadership Clayton participants were honored Thursday night. L-R front row are Ted Pylant, Glenda Slaughter, Brenda Rayburn, Jean Odum and Jerry Nesbitt. L-R back row are Robert Taylor, Lawrence

Epps, Harold Hollans, James Breedlove, Victor Varnadoe, Rick Duncan. Not pictured are Lena Almon, Niles Johansen, Jerry Sandoval, and Kitty Seabolt.

Riverdale Runner Wins Spring Trot Race

Managing Editor

Riverdale Sr. High cross country runner Tim Upham, 18, of Jonesboro last weekend ran a strong race to take the second annual Reynolds Nature Preserve Spring Trot with a time of Second was Ronald Gaff, 47, of Boston, Mass. with a clocking of 15:10. Ray Fitzgerald, 32, of Riverdale was

The race was billed as 5,000 meters in length, but many of the runners said the course appeared to be a few hundred yards short of its announced

First female to finish the course was Kathy Johnston of Decatur, a teacher at Clayton Junior College. She was fifth overall with a time of 17:13.

Trophies and medals for the race were donated by the Jonesboro Jaycees, with Mike Albea, club president, and Ronny Davis, project chairman, heading the contribution by the Jaycees.

Paul Edwards.

DIVISION WINNERS

MALES 15 AND UNDER-Mike Mears, first; Andy Silbernagel, second; Kevin Hudson, third. 16-21--Tim Upham (first overall); Robert Mainwaring; Mark Munson;

22-34--Ray Fitzgerald (third overall); Timothy Jones, Warren Gronbach. 35-49--Ronald Gaff (second overall); Woodrow Hudson; Albert FEMALES 15 AND UNDER-Cindy Wright, first; Heather Bainbridge, second. 22-34--Kathy Johnston (fifth overall); Louise Shaw; Helene Dockery. 35-49--Carole Brady; Carol O'Neal

SPRING TROT MEDALISTS: L-R Front-Kevin Hudson, Robert Mainwaring, Tim Upham. Mike Mears, Kathy Johnston, Cindy Wright, Heather Bainbridge. L-R Back-Woodrow Hudson, Mark Munson, Ron Gaff, Ray Fitzgerald, Andy Silbernagel, Louise Shaw, Robert Shaw, Timothy Jones. Not pictured-Paul Edwards, Warren Gronbach, Helene Dockery, Carole Brady, Carol

At Court Of Honor

NEWS/DAILY

Scout Troop Presents Awards

Boy Scout Troop 915, Harrell M. (Marty.) Paul, sponsored by the First Bank son of Mrs. Frances Paul, of Clayton County, presented Morrow; and Scott P. four Eagle Scout Awards, McElroy, son of Dr. and Mrs. one Life Scout Award, and one Star Scout Award at a Morrow. Court Honor held at the The Eagle Award was Philadelphia Presbyterian presented to Todd Church in Forest Park last

Receiving the rank of William Steigerwald, sons of Steigerwald by Milton McDonald, Director of Services for Exceptional Eagle Scout were John Todd Children for the Clayton Steigerwald and Scott County School System. Scoutmaster John James R. Bankston, Steigerwald gave the charge Chairman of the Troop

Troop 915, presented the Smith, Mark Welch and award to Marty Paul and Randy Bankston served as Scott McElroy, and David Hawkins, Principal of Babb Junior High School, presented the award to Scott Steigerwald.

Ken George, Scout Executive for Tara District of the Atlanta Area Council, spoke on the meaning of the Eagle Scout Badge, and Mr. and Mrs. John T. Assistant Scoutmaster and to the Eagle Scouts. Eagle Committee, presided at the Steigerwald, Forest Park; former Scoutmaster of Scouts Mark Smith, Clay Court of Honor.

the Honor Guard.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Welch of Morrow, received the rank of Life Scout, and David A. Koehler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Koehler of Forest Park, received the rank of

Dr. Elliott McElroy,

BOY SCOUT TROOP 915 COURT OF HONOR-Front row, L-R: Scott Steigerwald, David Hawkins, Todd Steigerwald, Milton McDonald, Marty Paul, Ray Bankston, Scott McEiroy. Back row, L-R: John Steigerwald, Mrs. John Steigerwald, Mrs. Frances Paul, Mrs. Elliott McElroy, Dr. Elliott McElroy.

Vo-Tech Instructional Coordinator Named At CJC

An instrtuctional coordinator has been named for the newlyauthorized Division of Vocational-Technical Education at Clayton Junior College.

Dr. D. William Reeves, formerly the project director for the State Department of Vocational Technical Education in Stillwater, Oklahoma, joined the Clayton Junior College faculty in early May.

Serving under Dr. Carlos R. Schmitt, Chairman of the new Division, Dr. Reeves is assisting in the identification, development and implementation of both long and shortrange programs to be offered by the twop-year institution near Morrow.

Vocational-technical programs will be added to Clayton Junior College offerings beginning with the start of Fall Quarter classes in September. Programs still being indentified will be funded jointly by the State Board of Education and the participate in the planning University System of Georgia.

Dr. Reeves will work with the Division's faculty in developing effective instructional techniques, and will plan and coordinate course scheduling. He will be responsible for the development of special grants to secure funding for vocational-technical programs and will University.

Dr. William Reeves Vo-Tech Instructional Coordinator

He served as a teacher and coordinator vocational education for the public schools in Marshall, Missouri, before becoming director of the Area Vocational-Technical School there. During the six years prior to joining the Oklahoma State Department, he served as the director of Vocational Educational Programs at Central Missouri State and development of annual

A native of Lexington.

Missouri, Dr. Reeves

earned both his bachelor's degree in education and master's degree in vocational education from Central Missouri State University. He obtained his doctorate in vocational administration from the University of Missouri.

program plans.

Dr. Reeves and his wife. Sharon, have one daughter, 12-year old Ann Kathryn, a student at Lake Harbin Elementary School in

Ten Years Of Service

Six members of the faculty and staff at Clayton Junior College who had completed ten years of service at the twoyear institution, were honored by the Clayton Junior College Foundation recently. Seated from left are Dr. Frederick Goldberg, Dr. Avery Harvill, Doris Holloway, Beatrice Langley, Ruby Litzenberger, and Dr. Elizabeth service.

Marshall. Standing are members of the Foundation's Board of Trustees (fromleft), Ernest L. Cheaves, Dr. Ernest A. Dunbar, Thomas B. Clonts, and Dr. Harry S. Downs, President of the College. Also honored were 18 members of the faculty and staff who had completed five years of

Clayton Junior College Names Vo-Tech Instructional Coordinator

Dr D. Williams Reeves has been and implementation of both long named instructional coordinator for and short-range programs to be the newly-authorized Division of offered by the two-year institution Vocational-Technical Education at near Morrow. Clayton Junior College.

Vocational-technical programs Serving under Dr. Carlos R. will be added to Clayton Junior Schmitt, Chairman of the new College offering beginning with the Division, Dr. Reeves is assisting in start of Fall Quarter classes in the indentification, development September.

Clayton Junior Honors Staff

Twenty-four members of awards were: Dr. Frederick the two-year institution.

Honored by the Board of uninterrupted service to the College between July 1, 1980 and June 30, 1981, received awards.

Ernest L. Cheaves, Thomas B. Clonts, and Dr. Ernest A. Dunbar represented the Board of Trustees at the recent awards presentation. Each recipient honored received a "service award" certificate plus a "dinner for two" at one of three participating restaurants: the New Moon Chinese Restaurant in Jonesboro, the Sizzler Family Steak House on Jonesboro Road near Southlake Mall, and Coco's at Southlake.

the faculty and staff at Goldberg, Assistant Clayton Junior College have Professor of English; Dr. received service awards at Avery H. Harvill, Professor of Physical Education; Ms. Doris A. Holloway, Associate Trustees of the Clayton Junior College Foundation,

Manager

Professor of Manager,

Beatrice J. Langley, a member of the Food bers who completed either Litzenberger, Secretary to the Dean of the College; and, Dr. Elizabeth H. Marshall, Associate Professor of > Five-year award winners include: Ms. Jennette Allen, a member of the Plant Operations staff; Ms. Katrina Barnes, Assistant Professor of Nursing; Mr. Harold Carmichael, a member of the Plant Operations staff; Dr. C. Blaine Carpenter, Associate Professor of Biology; Ms. Tommie DeWeese, Secretary in the College Bookstore.

Mr. Robert A. Harrell, Mr. E. Bill Hart, Director of Recipients of ten-year the Department of Public Professor of History; Ms. annually.

Abby Holbert, Editor

Safety; Dr. Eugene A. Winnie M. Thacker, Hatfield, Assistant Professor Secretary to the Director of of History; Mr. Gregory S. Kordecki, Assistant Ms. Betty J. Thomas, a Professor of Business member of the Plant Administration; Dr. Willie J. Manning, Assistant Professor of Psychology; Ms. Barbara H. McCant, Head of the Department of Nursing. Sergeant in the Department of the Foundation's "pursuit Media Services Coordinator; of Public Safety; Dr. of excellence" effort which Bradley R. Rice, Associate totals more than $28,000

Secretary to the Director of Learning Resources; and Operations staff.

The faculty-staff honors program is one of three primary functions sponsored by the Clayton Junior College Foundation. An on-Dr. Henrietta C. Miller, going scholarship program, Assistant Professor of which provides 31 new Reading; Dr. Sharon M. scholarships to outstanding Mullis, Assistant Professor area students each year, and of English; Dr. William A. a student honors program Pasch, Assistant Professor for continuing students at the of English; Mr. Ted L. Ray, two-year institution are part

STUDENTS

CIC Posts Enrollment Figures

Students from a 23 ounty area are attending vinter quarter credit classes at Clayton Junior College, according to Annette B. Satterfield, Director of Admissions and Registrar.

Of the 2,707 students taking classes, slightly more than 58 percent of them (1,-575) are Clayton Countians. Fulton County students number 575, Fayette Countians total 220, and 176 Henry County residents are

Other counties represented include DeKalb with 32 students, Rockdale with 30, Spalding and Coweta with 24 each, Cobb with 16, Douglas with 10, and 13 others with fewer numbers. The four-county area of Clayton, south Fulton, Fayette and Henry contributed just over 94 percent of the total enrollment. The quarterly report showed that 61.3 percent of the student population are enrolled in day or mostly day classes, 1,660 to 1,047 who are taking night or mostly night classes.

Women students outnumbered their men counterparts 1,597 to 1,110 and 75 percent of the students are unmarried (2,020 single to 687 who are married). Classes for the quarter opened in early January and will continue until the last in of final examinations which are given on March 20. Spring quarter classes will begin the following week.

FAYETTE AND SOUTHSIDE SUN

161 Students On Dean's List For Spring Quarter At CJC

Clayton Junior College has Hall, Deborah A. Johns, Ruth P. Jackson, Sandra L. Windom. named 161 students to the Spring Quarter Dean's List, including 94 from Clayton

Jonesboro residents included on the list were Nelta C. Alexander, Valerie A. Bahr, Maria V. Bobo, Mary Ann E. Bowen, Nelson A. Burke, Sharon G. Cantrell, Judy K. Carmickle, Robert T. Denham, Donald L. Heldt, Mary C. Krakeel, Sandra L. Landers, Deborah

Y. Massey; Malline W. Overstreet, Judith K. Paleveda, Alice V. Phillips, L. Dianne Phillips, Lucille L. Philpot, Jerry R. Preston, Jeanie H. Sartwell, Walter N. Sellers, Linda J. Sharpe, Anne G. Stewart, Janice A. Tittle, John D. Vogtner, and Shirley M. Williams.

Included on the honor list from Riverdale were Ruby L. Dowdy, Carol A. Dunkelberger, Michele F. Hagist, Debbie L. Hunter, Patty G. Lambert, Lisa D. Landgrebe, Julia M. McLean, Jacqueline Morrison, Kathie W. Nordan, Essie V. O'Connor, Ronald H. Pyle, Mary L. Ray, Julie M. Rayburn, Karen L. Reid, Helen S. Rohrl, Lois D. Stallings, Judith P. Wayda, and Michael Wilson.

Honorees from Forest Park included Claudia A. Davis, Suzette S. Escoe, Karen S. Gardner, Kelly L.

12/4/80

Jeanette Croley Wear

has completed the training course at Delta

Air Lines' Training

School at Hartsfield Atlanta International Airport and is now a

Delta flight attendant assigned to the airline's Atlanta flight attendant base. Mrs. Wear is a 1970 graduate of North Springs High School and attended the University of Tennessee and Clayton Junior College. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack

Glenn Croley of

Atlanta, she resides in East Point with her husband, Andrew

Thomas Wear.

Dianne E. Love, Karen B. Mayberry, Mikki S. Miller, Douglas R. Powell, Lani L. Ray, Brenda L. Roche, Louise M. Shaw, Lydia C. Starke, Cynthia Stein, and

College Park residents listed were Melody J. Burnett, Robert

Martha B. Wilson.

King, Paul L. Marchbanks, Also included on the honor Darrell A. Reid, J. Cecilia list were Jillana B. Bowen, Ridenhour, Linda J. Rioux, Gail C. Hubbard, Victoria and Jeffery A. Swagger.

were Katharine A. Bland, Ellenwood residents Jean E. Carolyn W. Bowen, Lester B. Elliott, Alice England, Gregory T. Findley, Harriet residents Cheri D. Dean, A. Lawson, Timothy S. Mary C. Lipscomb, and Lummus, Carla Crawford, Nathie J. Fields, McCullough, W. Dolores Denholm and Henrietta J. Ruby L. Henning, Robert H. Perkins, Arlene B. Royer, Johnson of Rex; and Rocky Hoover, Robert E. Hyde, Ann D. Schley, and Donna L. G. Autrey of Lovejoy.

R. Loftfield, and Wanda B. Included from Morrow Rogers, all from Lake City; Bowen, Jeri L. Landers, and Leslie L. Smith; Conley Kathy M. Reese; Beth A.

Fayette Students Top

Clayton Junior College Names Spring Dean's List

Shirley R. Bissell,

Wallace A. Bittner,

Judith K. Bramlett,

Laurie E. Bray, Kathy A. Brown, Sherilan K.

Chaplin, Pamela S.

Kilgroe, Jean J. Loefer,

Kathy C. Maddock, Rick

Clayton Junior College has named 161 students to the Spring Quarter Dean's List, including 25 from Fayette County.

Heading the honor list, named by Dr. Billy R. Nail, Dean of the College, were 15 students from Fayetteville, eight from Peachtree City, and one each from Tyrone and Woolsey.

C. Stanley, Shirley J. Taylor, Brenda J. Veal, and Betty J. Waddell. Peachtree Ctly residents honored were Cynthia A. Clark, Vera Fayetteville honorees A. Fricano, Cheryl D. included on the list were Garfield, Linda H. Suzanna L. Adams, Graham, Jennifer E. Wesley H. Bethea, Stanford, and Mary M. Turner. Also included were Diane L. Crumpton of Tyrone and Deborah Snead of Woolsey.

To make the Dean's List, a student must maintain a grade point average of 3.6 or higher out of a possible 4.0 for the quarter.

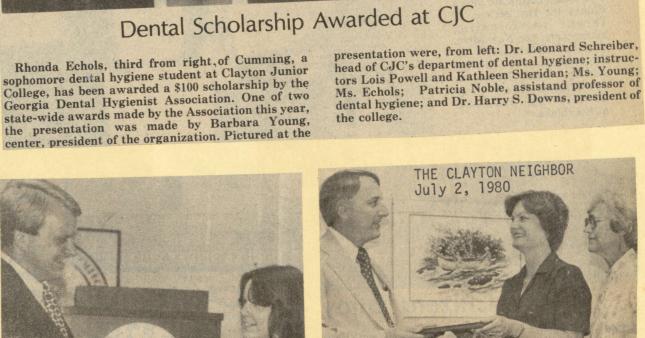

The Spring Quarter, which attracted 2,485 students to Morrow campus, began in March and ended in June.

Lions' Scholarship

Keith McBroom, center, of Morrow, is this year's recipient of the Morrow Lions Club one-year scholarship to Clayton Junior College. Keith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin McBroom, right, and is a 1980 graduate of Morrow Senior High School. Presenting the scholarship on behalf of the club is Morrow Lions Club President Ray Huls, left. Also at the presentation during a recent meeting of the club is Phil Lauria, a former president of the club and former district deputy governor of Lions District 18E. Lauria is a member of the East Point Lions Club.

July 3, 1980

She's Outstanding

THE CLAYTON SUN

(L) Robert C. Bolander, dean of students at Clayton Junior College, presents the 'outstanding student leadership award to Teresa Greer of Conley. A journalism major, Miss Greer served as editor of the student newspaper 'The Bent

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR Feb. 11, 1981

College Attracts 2,707 Students

Students from a 23-county area are attending winter quarter credit classes at Clayton Junior College, according to Annette B. Satterfield, director of admission and

Of the 2,707 students taking classes, slightly more than 58 percent or 1,575 of them are Clayton Countians. Fulton County students number 575, Fayette Countians total 220, and 176 Henry County residents are

(L-R) JOHN FEATHERS AWARDS LYDIA STARKE (Far Right) Frances Bowen At Presentation

She Wins Award

Lydia C. Starke, a legal secretary major at Clayton Junior College, has been named recipient of the annual Wall Street Journal Student Achievement Award.

A resident of Forest Park, Mrs. Starke received the award recently from John E. Feathers, chairman of the division of business at the two-year institution. Mrs. Starke was selected by recommendations of the faculty. Her 3.9 grade point average and her community involvement played a major role in her selection, according to a spokesperson for the college. "She is our first secretarial winner of this award," Feathers said, pointing out that past winners traditionally have been business management majors. The award consists of a specially designed silver madal and a one year subscription to the Wall Street

Mrs. Starke's husband, Wendell, who is in the nvestment business, won the same award in 1963 while a student at Auburn University Honored on the dean's list for four consecutive quarters, Mrs. Starke is a member of the Phi Phi Chapter of Phi Beta Lambda, the college's business club. During the past year, she served as secretary of Phi

Beta Lambda and entered state competition for the local

Henry has 176 at CJC

MRS. WEAR

COMPLETES TRAIN-

Students from a 23 county area are attending Winter Quarter credit classes at Clayton Junior College, according to Annette B. Satterfield, Director of Admissions and

- Registrar. Of the 2,707 students > taking classes, slightly more than 58 percent of them (1,575) are Clayton Countians. Fulton County students number 575. Fayette Countians total 220, and 176 Henry County residents are enrolled.

Other counties represented include DeKalb with 32 students, Rockand dale with 30, Spalding and Coweta with 24 each, Cobb with 16, Douglas with 10, and 13 others with fewer numbers. The four-county area of -Clayton, south Fulton,

Fayette and Henry contributed just over 94

percent of the total enrollment.

Henry students on dean's list

Henry County.

Included on the honor list, named by Dr. Billy Kitty C. Payton. R. Nail, Dean of the Stockbridge residents the quarter. were Clara S. Cardell. early December. 1980.

Clayton Junior College Montine B. Cheeks, and has named 184 students to Mindaile E. Clotfelter, the Fall Quarter Dean's while residents from List, including ten from Hampton on the honor list were Tamara K. Chaffin, Brenda G. Jackson, and

To make the Dean's College, were four stu- List, a student must dents from Stockbridge, maintain a grade point three from McDonough average of 3.6 or higher and three from Hampton. out of a possible 4.0 for named were Pamela L. The Fall Quarter. Donald, Sharon A. Jack- which attracted 2,977 son, Barbara P. Johnson, students to the Morrow and Ramona K. Uecker. campus, began in Sep-Named from McDonough tember and ended in

Peggy Carter of Locust Grove received state and national recognition for her skill in practical nursing during the Olympics for vocational technical school students. Earlier this year, she was named GOAL (Georgia Occupational Award of Leadership) student for the state. One student from each votech school is chosen to compete. Mrs. Carter, 25, represented Griffin Vo-Tech.

Native of Atlanta, Mrs. Carter became interested in nursing while working as a medical assistant for a city doctor. Although the physician offered to train her, Mrs. Carter decided to attend a vocational technical school.

She started at Atlanta Tech before moving to Locust Grove with her husband, Clarke. She transferred to Griffin Tech because of the school's reputation in nursing. Mrs. Carter will graduate from Griffin Tech August 29 and join the staff at Henry General Hospital as an emergency room nurse. During her time at Griffin Tech, she served as volunteer for the Henry County Emergency Medical Ser-

In the Fall, she will be commuting to Clayton Junior College for an advanced Emergency Medical Technician class not offered at Griffin

NEWS/DAILY 10/1/80 REBECCA WILLIAMS Chuck Conklin, Chairman, announces the election of Mrs. Rebecca Williams to Banking Officer by the Board of Directors of the Trust Company Bank of Clayton County. Mrs. Williams joined Trust Company Bank of Clayton County in October of 1978 and since April of 1980 has been serving as Manager of the Riverdale Branch. Prior to joining Trust Company Bank of Clayton County, Mrs. Williams served as a loan teller with M. S. Bailey and Son, Bankers in Clinton, South Carolina.

Mrs. Williams is a graduate of Morrow Senior High School, Clayton Junior Williams and her husband

Economics and Business Administration from Furman University in 1976. Mrs. College, and received a reside in Morrow.

The Hospital Authority recently established a scholarship fund for student nurses at Clayton Junior College. Scholarships are $1,000 per year, repayable in cash, or by service to the hospital with one year of service for each $1,000 grant. Pictured from left to right are: Ron Glann, employment supervisor at

Clayton General, scholarship recipients Judy Brown and Sharon Leisy, Dean Bo Bolander, dean of students at CJC, recipients Sarah Baker and Deborah Thomas, the first applicant to receive a scholarship. (SUNphoto by Sharon Engelhart)

NEW BUSINESS CLUB-Newly-elected officers of the Phi Beta Lambda Business Club at Clayton Junior College are, from left, Lynn Davis of Forest Park, president; Margaret Walker of East Point, treasurer; and Cathy Smith of College Park, vice president.

HOSTAGES (L-R) DRIVER, AUTRY AND WEAVER Mock Bank Robbery Hostages Are Released jointly enrolled in credit man Scholar Program," the two students have elected courses at the College which also serve to satisfy high

Jointly enrolled are Kevin

S. Dorris of Jonesboro Senior

High and Anthony L. Coryell

of Riverdale Senior High.

Dorris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Louis Dorris of

Eagle Drive in Jonesboro, and Coryell is the son of Mr.

and Mrs. Roderick L.

Coryell of Old Post Road in graduation

Quarter.

school

13 countians

Clayton Junior College

has named 161 students to the Spring Quarter

Dean's List, including 13

Heading the honor list,

from Henry County.

onamed by Dr. Billy R.

Nail, Dean of the College, were nine students from Stockbridge, two from

Hampton and one each from Locust Grove and Stockbridge residents

named to the honor list were Marijo T. Carnes.

Marla J. Cochran, John

E. Evans, Robbie L.

Frizzell, Barbara P.

Reach, and Bonnie W.

Others honored from

Henry County included

Peggy

James

McDonough.

Johnson,

Puckett,

> Vinson.

on CJC list

requirements.

Two High School

Summer Program

Two high school seniors . Offered in cooperation

Education, the Freshman

, seniors an opportunity to programs. Students who satisfactorily complete courses earn transferable college credit while also fulfilling high school graduation requirements.

Students who meet the admission requirements of the Freshman Scholar

Program may enroll at

Clayton Junior College

during the quarter following completion of their junior year in high school, or any subsequent academic

Complete information about the program is avilable from high school

counselors or from the Office of Admissions and Records

unior College.

(phone 961-3500) at Clayton from Clayton County are with local Boards of courses at Clayton Junior Scholar Program provides

College during the Summer outstanding high school

Enrolled in the "Fresh- accelerate their educational

Seniors In CJC

Police Experience Real Life Drama

Staff Writer

'Just as long as you stay down, still and calm, nothing will happen," the masked gunman told the bank employees stretched out on the floor.

'You, get up," another robber told one teller. He held the woman in front of him as he moved to stand by a bank door.

If all this sounds like dialogue from a television

College's drama department played the "bad guys" for a SWAT team exercise at the Clayton County Bank on Lake Harbin Road in Mor-The mock robbery took place last Wednesday, com-

Holloway and Steve Graver,

from Clayton Junior

plete with guns (loaded with blanks), smoke bombs and helicopters. It was an opportunity for the Clayton County Police's 13-man SWAT team to practice both its ability to handle negotiations for hostages and its capability for subduing dangerous criminals. Police representative Capt, William Rowell said the team had participated in a similar exercise with the Atlanta Police Department last year. While Clayton County policeman Lee Lantzy watched through the lens of a videotape camera and local television reporters moved quietly about, the three students walked calmly into the bank and began filling out deposit slips. Suddenly they whipped

Halloween masks out of a paper bag and pushed handguns into the faces of tellers Morri Smith, Dianne Driver and David Shedd The three were ordered to stretch out, face down, on the bank floor. Branch Manager Connie Weaver and secretary Merry Autry were told to leave their desks and join their co-workers.

A few minutes later the robbers were communicating via walkie-talkie to Clayton County Police, who convinced them, eventually, to give up peacefully.

No shots were fired during this drill, but a second exercise ended violently. Hostages were not involved in this incident, which was supposed to take place during a night robbery. The drill began when Graver, waving a pistol, ran to one of the bank's doors and velled in mock surprise, "There's a police car out

Firing, he tried to escape by running out into the parking lot, only to be "killed" by a barrage of shots from hidden SWAT team mem-

Lyons and Holloway barricaded themselves behind teller's windows and waited. while a police helicopter roared overhead and the SWAT team creeped up to the building.

THE FAYETTE SUN May 7, 1981

JANICE HOVDE of East Point, has been enrolled in the Freshman Scholar Program at Clayton Junior College. A senior at Headland High School, Janice has been able to accelerate her educational program by electing courses at the college which also satisfy high school graduation

Phillip S. Findley and Brenda G. Jackson, both of Hampton; Sylvia S. Burch of McDonough; and Bertha D. Jones of Locust Grove.

Clayton Jr. Posts Gain In First-Time Students More than a third of the students enrolled in fall area of Clayton, south Douglas, and lesser numbers credit programs, but day quarter credit programs at Fulton, Fayette and Henry Clayton Junior College are continues to contribute taking classes at the two- more than 94 per cent of the year institution near total enrollment. There are Newton, Pike, Troup, and Morrow for the first time.

report, released by Annette (21.7 per cent), 241 from B. Satterfield, director of Fayette County (8 per cent), tion, 1,767 to 1,210, and that educational needs of the admissions and registrar, and 183 from Henry (6.1 per almost three quarters of the community within comshows that 1,102 of the 2,977 cent). students enrolled in credit classes are new students.

Fall quarter classes began from a 22-county area, in-in late September and will cluding 42 from DeKalb, 28

1,733 Clayton residents Union. enrolled (47 per cent of the The quarterly enrollment total), 648 Fulton countians that women outnumber evening programs.

Students are enrolled married). continue into early from Rockdale, 27 from since opening in September, University System of Spalding, 22 from Coweta, 1969, the College offers both Georgia.

from Butts, Carroll, Clay, Gilmer, Gwinnett, Hall,

The report also showed remaining 1,127 taking men in the student populastudents enrolled are single (2,192 are single and 785 are classes continue to lead in numbers. During the fall Lamar, Meriwether, quarter, 1,850 students are enrolled in day, or mostly day, classes, with the Open to meet the muting distance of the College campus, Clayton Junior College remains the largest of the 15 junior NOW IN its 12th year colleges operated by the

New Officers

Newly-elected officers of the Phi Beta Lambda Business Club at Clayton Junior College are Lynn Davis, Forest Park, president; Margaret Walker, East Point, treasurer; Cathy Smith, College Park, vice-president. Not pictured is Robin Griffin, Riverdale, secretary.

SGT. JOE REYNOLDS ACTS AS HOSTAGE NEGOTIATOR Clayton County Police Test Their Abilities

TEHRAN - The death of deposed Shah

Tehran Radio said there was jubilation

Mohammed Reza Pahlavi "will have no effect" on the fate of the 52 American hostages.

said a spokesman for Iranian President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr. Another spokesman said

Parliament still must settle the hostage issue.

throughout Iran over the death in Egyptian exile Sunday of the man it called "the bloodsucker of the century," but there was no hint his dying might speed the release of the Americans, who began their 268th day in cap-

Iran "will not change its stand by even an inch with the death of Mohammad Reza," Tehof killing the shah, French radio reported. The radio, in an interview in Tehran Sunday with a spokesman for the militants, quoted him as saying, "Our position on the hostages has not man said. "We demand the restitution of his buried Tuesday with "full honors" in a mosque housing the remains of modern Egyptian four children by the exiled monarch were with him during the final hours at Maadi Military

Not a single world leader, except for Egyptian President Anwar Sadat who granted the shah refuge, will attend the funeral of the former arbiter of the vast oil wealth that made rulers vie for the good will of Iran's

"No heads of state — even if anyone asks," Sadat said of the funeral plans.

"We shall apologize politely because we received him and shall bid him farewell,"

Sadat said, explaining that the shah requested a simple funeral but Sadat would offer a funeral befitting "a chief of state."

But Richard Nixon flew to Paris Monday

en route to Cairo for the funeral. Nixon said the trip was his public acknowledgement of the shah's long friendship with America personal sympathy and a demonstration of deep appreciation by one American citizen for the loyal friendship and support which the shah extended to the United States."

Bakhtiar, said the ex-monarch's death could

"facilitate" the release of the American cap-from President Carter's press secretary Jody Powell, who said: "I think it is almost impossible to predict what the effect will be, if any,

Some Iranian students in Atlanta say the shah's death won't make any difference in the

The holding of the hostages has nothing to do with having the shah or not," Javad Mirzai, an electronics student at Georgia Tech, said Sunday night. "The people are holding the hostages in order to complain about American foreign policy. The Iranian people have been enduring United States imperialism for the past 30 years - until they get some kind of assurance that that will not happen again, they zamir, a student at Clayton Junior College, "is a disagreement with American foreign policy

- a disagreement with the view that Ameri-

An Atlanta attorney who visited Teheran last winter agreed with the Iranian students.

Former state Rep. Clint Deveaux, one of 49

Americans who met with some of the hostages and their captors during a 10-day visit last February, said the shah's death "makes it easier" for the militants to consider releasing

the hostages but leaves additional conditions nations, died of heart failure and internal bleeding, with his last words, according to

"Please agree on a (treatment) program as quickly as possible and let me know."

The shah, who had at least three operations in Egypt and was confined in the Maadi

military hospial the last 31 days of his life, lapsed into a coma Sunday morning and died at 9:50 a.m. local time (3:50 a.m. EDT) despite massive blood transfusions and efforts to revive him with electric shocks, an official

"Circulatory shock," eventually killed Pahlavi, one of the attending Egyptian doctors

The shah, wasted by cancer and at least five operations in 18 months of exile in five

"The real issue," said Saeid Roushan-on the fate of the Americans."

will not release the hostages.

can interests are all that matter."

for their release unchanged.

Egyptian report said.

Egyptian medical sources, pleading:

hostage situation.

He said he went to Cairo "as a mark of

The shah's last prime minister, Shahpour

The only White House comment came with America.

changed with the death of the shah.

The militants accused the United States

"We do not want his body," the spokes-

The shah died in Cairo Sunday and will be

His wife, Empress Farah Diba, and her tivity Monday.

"King of Kings."

ran Radio declared.

Shah's Death

Doesn't Alter

Iran's Position

THE ATLANTA JOURNAL

Masked Gunmen Were Clayton Junior Students

RICHARD HOLLOWAY, HOSTAGE CONNIE WEAVER

70 From Clayton County

THIS WEEK

County students.

Clayton Junior College

Winter Quarter Dean's List included 20 Fayette

Peachtree City residents

attaining the honor were

Alice K. Bowers, Janet M.

Boyce, Cynthia A. Clark.

Vera A. Fricano, Linda H.

Graham, Jennifer E. Harris, Martha E. Landsiedel

Trisha M. Green of

Woolsey was named, as were Fayetteville residents

Francine M. Baer, Laurie

E. Bray, Kris E. Creecy,

Barbara A. Green, Jean J.

and Sarah R. Viall.

April 29, 1981

Loefer, Craig McDuffie, Cynthia L. Ratzman, Gary

N. Royal, Thomas M.

and Gail W. Wornstaff.

Turner, Brenda J. Veal

CJC dean's list released

October 1, 1980

CJC Names Summer Dean's List

named 108 students to the Summer Quarter Dean's John K. Corpening, Pamela List, including 70 from Clayton County.

Included on the honor list, named by Dr. Billy R. Nail, Dean of the College, were 23 sutdents from Jonesboro, 14 from Riverdale, 10 from College Park, nine from Morrow, eight from Forest Park, three from Rex, two from Ellenwood, and one from Lake City. Jonesboro students named were Valerie A. Bahr, Mark Michele Phillips, Katherine Bennett, Judy K. Car- E. Stinson, Julia A. Thornmickle, Jacqueline G. Combs, James L. Cottingham, Gary R. Davis, Morrow were Jean S. Kevin S. Dorris, Arolue Flemmen, Kathy L. Gradolph, Steven F. Graver, Kathy B. Lane, James A.

Glenn R. Hammond, Robert C. Johnson, James C. Keyser, Sandra L. Landers, Delores W. Noah, Lucille L. Philpot, Jerry R. Preston, Linda S. Reagin, Lisa R. Searcy, Lea S. Sorrow, James B. Stanley, Deidre D. Stewart, and Tammy . L.

Honored students from and Martha B. Wilson.

S. Couch, Donna C. Knowles, David J. Lofe, Laurie C. McKee, Julia M. McLean, Edith M. Mullin, Annette P. Plunkett, Jean M. Potter, Lake City.

Julie M. Rayburn, Helen S. Rohrl, and Desma S. Stokoe. College Park students named were Julie E. Abrahamson, Sharon R. Cleveland, Ruth P. Jackson, Charlene E. Johnson, Sandra L. King, Lynette N. Leech, S.

ton, and Britt C. Wilson. Named to the list from Armstrong, Ann V. Grantham, Lenora J. Holloway, Martin, Glenda C. Nail, W. Dolores Perkins, Tanna L. Revennaugh, and Gail H.

Listed from Forest Park were Patricia S. Britt, Martin A. Demerich, Evelyn E. Hines, Angela G. Lee, Deanna L. Page, Monique R. Pinson, Janet I. Wheeler,

Clayton Junior College has Riverdale were R. Renee Other Clayton Countians student must maintain a mamed 108 students to the Butts, Brenda J. Collins, named were Connie C. grade point average of 3.6 or grade point average of 3.6 or George, Sue W. Lebrun, and higher out of a possible 4.0 Beryle B. Tylar, all of Rex; for the quarter. The Summer Quarter, Jean E. Bowen and Richard

A. Knowles of Ellenwood; which attracted 1,216 and Malia D. Brumley of students to the Morrow campus, began in June and

CIC Students

Present

Concert

Clayton Junior College music students will be presented in two recitals at the two-year institution near Morrow next week. Students will be presented in an 8:30 p.m. performance on Tuesday, March 10, and during a 10 a.m. recital on Wednesday, ≺March 11.

d Both presentations will be шgiven in the Lecture Hall (Room G132) and will be open to the public.

NEWS/DAILY September 28, 1980

Receive Scholastic Loans

Recipients of the Clayton General Hospital Nursing Scholarship Program have been awarded a $1,000 Scholarship to Clayton Junior College's Nursing Program. Among those receiving the scholarships are (standing left to right) Nancy Lyle, Linda Graham, Katherine Bland, Trudy Manzo. Seated (Left to right) are Mary Knowles, Patricia Icenhour, and Janice Malcolm.

Clayton Hospital Gives Loans Under Financial Aid Program

By ELAINE ALMON Staff Writer

The Clayton General Hospital Authority has established a scholastic loan fund for student nurses at Clayton Junior Debora Thomas of Jonesboro is the first applicant to receive a loan under the new financial aid program at Clayton Junior College in conjunction with Clayton General Hospital.

Miss Thomas was to receive the loan on Sept. 5. She is presently working as a nursing assistant in Pediatrics at the hospital and has been accepted for the Clayton Junior College nursing program for this term. She has been a lifelong resident of Clayton County.

At the present time, 19 scholastic loans have been awarded by the hospital.

The Hospital Authority established a scholarship fund for student nurses at Clayton Junior College for the first time this year. The loans are $1,000 per year, for students enrolled in the college nursing program with preference given to applicants who are already employed at the Following graduation, loans are repayable in cash, or by service in the hospital with one year of service for each

Scholarship payments are made by Clayton Junior College in equal amounts for fall, winter, and spring quarters for nursing students in good standing. The program is monitored by Ms. Connie King, director of financial aid at the college, who currently reports a number of applications in hand available

February 5, 1981 Fayette Students Make CJC Honor List

has named 184 students to E. Bray, Phyllis C. Burruss, Gail W. Wornstaff. the Fall Quarter Dean's Sherilan K. Chaplin, Carol List, including 24 from A. Holland, Michael R.

Holmes, Jacquelyn J. Fayetteville residents Kerlin, Jean J. Loefer, named were Wesley H. Daniel H. Platt, Cynthia L. Bethea, Marcia H. Bozone, Ratzman, Gary N. Royal,

Clayton Junior College Judith K. Bramlett, Laurie Thomas M. Turner, and Named from Peachtree City were Cynthia A. Clark, Vera A. Fricano, Cheryl D. Garfield, Linda H. Graham, Marilyn K. Hare, Jennifer

E. Harris, and Roberta K.

Also included on the honor list were Diane L. Crumpton of Tyrone and Deborah L. Snead of

To make the Dean's List, a student must maintain a grade point average of 3.6 or nigher out of a possible 4.0

South Fulton Students Named To

Dean's List

Clayton Junior College has named 184 students to the Fall Quarter Dean's List, including 39 from the south Fulton County area.

South Fulton County area.

College Park residents Hammed were Jeannie C. Austin, Phyllis P. Beacham, Jimmie A. Blount, Mary C. Brooks, Laura L. Burnett, Eileen S. Cannington, Hubert E. Crocker, Vanessa L. Faison, Michelle E. Hawkins, Pamela A. Hendrix, Robert J. Hicks, Gail A. Hoggard, Ruth P. Jackson, Alan R. Johnson, Deborah E. Markham, S. Pamela W. McCrae, and Carol A. Ratliff.

Named to the honor list from Hapeville were Marcia C. Bond, Martha D. Burel, Lesa L. Burnett, Lloyd R. © Campbell, Lonxie L. Melancon, and Randy J.

Were Stephanie D. Bray, Suzanne L. Dunn, Brenda S. Etris, and Gary A. Osborne, while residents of Fairburn honored were Lisa K. McElwaney, Sharon F. Mobley, and Meta B. Thompson.

Local Students CJC Freshman Scholars

Three of 17 area high school seniors who are jointly enrolled at Clayton Junior College entered the special program at the start of winter quarter classes in January.

New entrants into the Freshman Scholar Program, offered by the College in cooperation with local Boards of Education, are:

—William Hubbard, of Fayetteville, a senior at Fayette County High School;

—Mark Richard Munson,

—Mark Richard Munson,
of Riverdale, a senior at Riverdale Senior High School; and,
—Brian F. Hendrix, of

Fairburn, a senior at Campbell High School.

The Freshman Scholar Program offers outstanding high school seniors with an opportunity to accelerate their educational programs by electing courses at the College which also serve to satisfy high school gradua-

Students who meet the Admission requirements of the special program may enroll at Clayton Junior College during any quarter following the completion of their junior year in high school.

Outstanding high school seniors interested in the program should contact their high school counselor for complete information.

College Student Chosen

A Clayton Junior College student has been nominated for the 1981 Harry S. Truman Scholarship.

Janice A. Tittle, 34, of Jonesboro, a political scicence major, was nominated "in recognition of academic performance and commitment to government service."

A graduate of Forest Park Senior High School and Ca resident of Clayton County Offor 22 years, Mrs. Tittle was Hnamed the assistant secretary for the February term Wof the Clayton County Grand Jury.

Married and the mother of one child, she has been employed as a secretary with the Clayton County Board of Education for seven years.

She has been a student at Clayton Junior College since the fall of 1977 and has been included on the dean's list for several quarters.

In addition, Mrs. Tittle was included on the national dean's list for 1979-80.

A Mock Bank Robbery That Worked

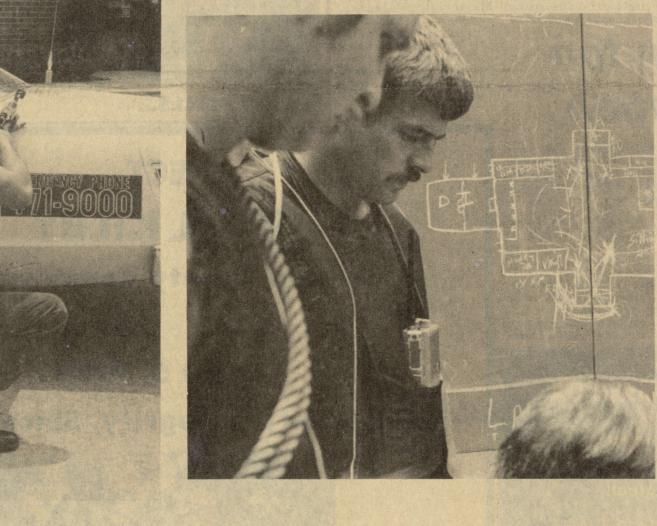

It was a game of cops and robbers last week, but the game was deadly serious-even if the situation wasn't real. The occasion was a training exercise by the Clayton County Police Department SWAT (Special Weapons and Tactics) Team, in which would-be robbers at the Clayton County Bank on Lake Harbin Road in Morrow were confronted by police in two mock situations, one in which the robbers took hostages during the bank's business hours, and one in which the robbers were surprised inside the bank attempting to open the vault before employees arrived. Bank employees and drama students from Clayton Junior College participated in the training exercise, and representatives from several metropolitan Atlanta police departments were there to watch. At right, Sgt. Joe Reynolds (with walkie-talkie) negotiates with the robbers inside the bank, while at left Sgt. Leroy Lantzy, director of the Clayton County Police Regional Academy, operates the videotape machine. At bottom right, Assistant Clayton County Police Chief F.D. McCoy, left, surveys the smoke-filled bank after the SWAT Team rushed the robbers' stronghold. (SUNphotos by Tracy Thompson)

SUNPhotos by Tracy Thompson

In Clayton Police Practice

Bank Robbers Hold Morrow Hostages

growing no better. Three armed thugs held employees of the Clayton County Bank on

The situation was bad, and Lake Harbin Road in Morrow as hostages, after being foiled in attempts to flee the scene by quick reactions from local

> 'ON THE GROUND', WAYNE HORNE ORDERS Thugs Graver, Hollway And Lyons Give Up

Tension vibrated in the air, but finally the bandits attempted to escape from the captured by alert law enforcement officers. Another case that ended in triumph--but with a few twists of fate might have ended in tragedy. As indeed it did, in another version of the script used by three actors from the Clayton confines of the bank, only to be quickly surrounded and who staged the mock bank robbery to give Clayton County police's swat team true-to-life practice in the situations surrounding armed robberies. Clayton firemen aided by videotaping movements of officers involved in the mock crisis.

News/Daily Photos By Guy Hardegree

'DON'T MOVE OR YOU'RE DEAD' Hollway Tells Mgr. Connie Weaver

NEWS/DAILY 5/7/81 Clayton Students At Home

More than half of the students enrolled in Spring Quarter credit classes at Clayton Junior College are Clayton County residents, and almost 94 percent of the student population are from the four-county area of Clayton, south Fulton, Fayette and Henry.

Of the 2,429 students enrolled in credit classes, 1,406 are from Clayton County, according to a report released by Annette B. Satterfield, Director of Admissions and Registrar. Another 503 students list Fulton County as their residence, while 211 are from Fayette County and 155 are Henry Countians.

The quarterly report includes students from a 22county area, including 30 from Rockdale, 29 from DeKalb, 25 from Coweta, and Slightly over 60 percent of the student population are female students, and 73 percent of the total are unmarried. About half the students are freshman, 34 percent are sophomores, and the remaining enrollees carry various other classifications.

A unit of the University System of Georgia, Clayton Junior College offers classes

Police SWAT Team Was Impressive In Tactics CJC Reports 1,102 New Students

More than a third of the students enrolled in Fall Quarter credit programs at Clayton Junior College are taking classes at the two-year institution near Morrow for the first

The quarterly enrollment report, released by Annette B. Satterfield, student intern for the next degree in business ad-

Business Administration two years she has worked and is majoring with weekends at Southlake Mall

U.G.A. Marketing Club, volved in various promo-and the American tions which are sponsored

Marketing Association. She by the Mall. She will be plans to complete her writing press releases and college career in June of this feature stories, radio and

Director of Admissions and Registrar, shows that 1,102 of the 2,977 students enrolled in credit classes are new Fall quarter classes began in late September and will continue into early December.

The four-county area of Clayton,

CJC Grad Interns at Southlake

Melinda Keller, a senior McDonough and an honor sful completion of Mall rom the University of graduate from McDonough promotions.

Christian Academy. She

holds an associate of arts

ministration from Clayton

Junior College. For the past as a night receptionist for

Ms. Keller will be in-the management office.

south Fulton, Fayette and Henry continues to contribute more than 94 percent of the total enrollment. There are 1,733 Clayton residents enrolled (47 percent of the total), 648 Fulton countians (21.7 percent), 241 from Fayette County (8 percent), and 183 from Henry (6.1 percent). Students are enrolled from a 22county area, including 42 from DeKalb, 28 from Rockdale, 27 from Spalding, 22 from Coweta, 16 from Cobb, 11 from Douglas, and lesser numbers from Butts, Carroll, Clay, Gilmer, Gwinnett, Hall, Lamar, Meriwether, Newton, Pike, Troup, and Union.

The report also showed that women out-number men in the student population, 1,767 to 1,210, and that almost three quarters of the students enrolled are single (2,192 are single and 785 are married).

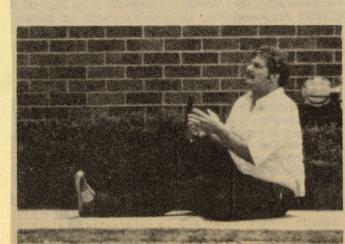

Now in its 12th year since opening in September, 1969, the College offers both a day and evening offering of credit programs, but day classes continue to lead in numbers. During the Fall Quarter, 1,850 students are enrolled in day, or mostly day, classes, with the remaining 1,127 taking evening programs.

Opened to meet the educational needs of the community within commuting distance of the College campus, Clayton Junior College remains the largest of the 15 junior colleges operated by the University System of Georgia.

OFFICERS MAKE THE ASSAULT Sgt. Jim Reonas, Ofc. Tommy Wright

WOUNDED GUNMAN STEVE GRAVER Accurate Clayton Police Fire Strikes

April 28, 1981

Student Officers

Two recently-elected officers to the Cabinet of Student Administrators (CSA) at Clayton Junior College are pictured with Robert C. Bolander, Dean of Students. Sharie Helton (left) of Newnan was elected Treasurer and Laurie Beck (right) of Ellenwood was named President.

NEW OFFICERS--Newly-elected officers of the Phi Beta Lambda Business Club at Clayton Junior College are (left to right): Lynn Davis of Forest Park, president; Margaret Walker of East Point, treasurer; and Cathy Smith of College Park, vice president. Not pictured was Robin Griffin of Riverdale, secretary,

CLAYTON OFFICER CALLS FOR BACKUP UNIT Officer R.S. Trimble On The Walkie-Talkie

'Dead' Bank Robber Adorns Sidewalk

year. Ms. Keller is a native of and assisting in the succestelevision advertising copy, from the University of Georgia, joins the Southlake

Mall Marketing Office as a ten weeks. She is presently enrolled in the School of emphasis on communica-

She is a member of the CJC names dean's listing Clayton Junior College has named 184 students to the fall quarter dean's list.

Hare, Jennifer E. Harris J. Loefer, Daniel H. Platt.

including 24 from Fayette On the honor list were sey. 15 students from Fayetterille, seven from Peachtree City and one each from Woolsey and Tyrone. Named from Peachtree City were Cynthia A. Burruss, Sherilan K. Clark, Vera A. Fricano, and Roberta K. Newman. Also included on the honor list were Diane L. Crumpton of Tyrone and Deborah L. Snead of Wool-

Fayetteville residents named were Weselty H. Bethea, Marcia H. Bozone, Judith K. Bramlett, Laurie E. Bray, Phyllis C. Chaplin, Carol A. Holland, Cheryl D. Garfield, Linda Michael R. Holmes, H. Graham, Marilyn K. Jacquelyn J. Kerlin, Jean Cynthia L. Ratzman, Garys N. Royal, Thomas M. Turner and Gail W. Worn-

Keller

To make the dean's list, a student must maintain a. grade point average of 3.6 or higher out of a possible 4.0 for the quarter.

high schools in Clayton Talent Scholarships," and County have received two- 1980 STAR Student Awards.

Funded by the Clayton graduation ceremonies

Junior College Foundation, conducted by various high

Inc., scholarships were schools last spring, are provided in three areas: designed to recognize and

LORI ALLEN

LINDA BERL

VICKIE GILPATRICK

year scholarships to attend

JULIE CRANE

Clayton Junior College.

"Merit" scholarship

winners, announced during

PAM GOSSAGE

EightGet CJC Scholarships

Junior College.

county area.

program.

three in the "talent"

School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orion Allen of Scholarships" include:

CYNTHIA MILLS

"Foundation Merit reward outstanding area Riverdale. She plans to Foundation's Board of 1980 graduating classes of Scholarships," "Foundation students for their record of major in urban living.

academic achievement in -Julie Marlene Crane, a All scholarships funded by high school studies. Awards graduate of Jonesboro the Foundation are two-year are provided for the highest Senior High School, is the awards in the amount of ranking graduates of high daughter of Mr. and Mrs. $858, covering the cost of schools in a four-county area A.P. Crane of Jonesboro.

who elect to attend Clayton -Paula Christina Eckman, years of study at Clayton a graduate of Forest Park Junior College. "Talent" scholarship Senior High School, is the recipients are selected on the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. in this year's program will basis of their talent and David Copeland of Forest achievements in a number of Park.

tuition and fees during two

Joining the 19 new students be students who entered college a year ago and will

Since its founding in September of 1974, the Board of Trustees of the Foundation has supported a annual budget of $1,700 to its

All programs supported by

--Vickie Ann Gilpatrick, a be entering their second year graduate of North Clayton of study. selected fields, and awards are automatically made available to the STAR Senior High, is the daughter students from the fourof Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Gilpatrick of College Park. This year's list of She plans to major in recipients includes five in business administration.

the "merit" program and -Cynthia Yvonne Mills, a program featuring student graduate of Morrow Senior scholarships. The program, High and a teacher which also includes funds to Recipients of 1980 "Merit education major, is the honor outstanding students daughter of Mr. and Mrs. and members of the faculty -Alison Lori Allen, a Robert E. Mills of Ellen- and staff, has grown from an graduate of Riverdale High wood.

Recipients of 1980 "Talent record high of over $28,000. Scholarships" are:

-Linda Jean Berl, an art the Foundation are funded (medical illustration) totally by contributions, and major, is the daughter of all contributions to the non-Elizabeth Janes of Morrow. profit corporation are tax She is a graduate of Terry deductible. Parker High School. -- Terry Dwayne Durden, a Forest Park. He is a graduate of Forest Park Senior High. -- Pam Gossage, a nursing major and a graduate of Forest Park Senior High, is computer science major, is the son of Doris Durden of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gossage of Forest The new awards are included in a $28,456 budget approved by

Area Students Receive Two-Year Scholarships

Clayton Junior College.

Scholarships" were Alison Lori Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orion Allen of Riverdale; Julie Marlene ates of high schools in Clay- of $858, covering the cost of Mrs. A. P. Crane of tend Clayton Junior College. years of study at Clayton Jonesboro; Paula Christina Eckman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Copeland of Forest Park; Vickie Ann Gilpatrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gilpatrick; and Cynthia Yvonne Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Mills of El-

Recipients of the "Talent Scholarships" were Linda Jean Berl, daughter of Elizabeth Janes of Morrow: Terry Dwayne Durden, son of Doris Durden of Forest Park; and Pam Gossage. daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gossage of Forest

Funded by the Clayton Junior College Foundation Inc., scholarships were provided in the three areas of 'Foundation Merit Scholarships," "Foundation Talent Scholarships," and 1980 STAR Student Awards.

'Merit' scholarship winners, announced during 1980 graduating classes of ducted by various high basis of their talent and high schools in Clayton schools last spring, are de- achievements in a number County have received two-signed to recognize and re- of selected fields, and year scholarships to attend ward outstanding area stu- awards are automatically dents for their record of made available to the STAR Recipients of the "Merit academic achievement in high school studies. the highest ranking gradu- year awards in the amount Crane, daughter of Mr. and ton County who elect to at- tuition and fees during two students from the area.

All scholarships funded Awards are provided for by the Foundation are two-"Talent" scholarship re- Junior College.

NEWS/DAILY

Sixteen area high school seniors are jointly enrolled in credit classes at Clayton Junior College, according to Judy C. Nichols, Counselor in the Office of Admissions and Records Enrolled in the "freshman scholar program," the

PAULA ECKMAN

outstanding high school seniors have elected courses at the two-year College which also will serve to satisfy high school; wood High School; graduation requirements. -- Cynthia R. Booker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Booker of Ellenwood

High School; Curtis Thompson of McDonough and a senior at School;

Henry County High; -William C. Crane, Jr., senior at Morrow High School;

School; -Peter K. Gehrke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Gehrke of Jonesboro and a senior at

Morrow High School; -- Lorraine S. Kipp. daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kipp of Morrow and a senior at Morrow High

-- Frieda A. Underwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Underwood of Morrow and a senior at

Morrow High School; --Lisa D. Bowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bowman of Jonesboro and a senior at Jonesboro High School;

-- Kevin S. Dorris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Dorris of Jonesboro and a senior at Jonesboro High School; -Manning J. Hicks, III. son of Mr. and Mrs. Manning senior at Jonesboro High -- Doris A. Stephens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stephens of Union

City and a senior at Feld-

Hicks, II, of Jonesboro and a and a senior at Stockbridge High School; Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Riverdale High School; and Program is offered by the McBroom of Morrow and a -R. Ward Sellers, II, son of senior at Forest Park High Mrs. Dell R. Thomas of

-- Anthony L. Coryell, son Coweta High School.

--Susan L. Ferguson, James Henderson of daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fairburn and a senior at Walter Ferguson of Morrow Riverdale High School;

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie White of -Thomas W. McBroom, Jonesboro and a senior at of Mr. and Mrs. Roderick A student who meets the Program may enroll at school graduation -- Susan I. Henderson, Clayton Junior College requirements.

daughter of Mr. and Mrs. and a senior at Forest Park -- Edward L. White, son of Senoia and a senior at East son of Mr. and Mrs. William Coryell of Jonesboro and a admission requirements of transferable college credit Crane of Morrow and a senior at Riverdale High the Freshman Scholar while also fulfilling high during the quarter following the completion of his or her junior year in high school, or during any subsequent academic quarter.

The Freshman Scholar College in cooperation with local Boards of Education to satisfactorily completes such courses to earn

Discuss Classes With High School Students Ferguson, Henderson, Bowman And Dorris

Georgia Gibbs of Jonesboro has been selected as a finalist in the 1981 Miss Georgia-USA pageant scheduled for the Peachtree Plaza February 28 through March 1. The winner will represent Georgia in the Miss USA pageant May 7. Miss Gibbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Gibbs, Sr., is a graduate of Jonesboro Senior High School. She is presently attending Clayton Junior College.

Nineteen Students Given CJC Scholarships

Nineteen students from Scholarships are: the 1980 graduating classes county area of Clayton, Henry, Fayette, and south Fulton have received two- nathy, of Brooks; year scholarships to attend Clayton Junior College.

provided in three areas: urban living; Foundation Merit Scholarships," "Foundation Talent Scholarships," and High School, the daughter 1980 STAR Student of Mr. and Mrs. Jay W. Awards.

MERIT scholarship wingraduation ceremonies conducted by various high of Mr. and Mrs. William schools last spring, are Donald Chaffin, of reward outstanding area jor in physical therapy; students for their record of are provided for the highest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. ranking graduates of high A.P. Crane, of Jonesboro; schools in the four-county area who elect to attend Clayton Junior College.

the basis of their talent and and Mrs. David Copeland, achievements in a number of Forest Park; of selected fields, and awards are automatically a graduate of North Clayton made available to the STAR Senior High, the daughter of students for the four-county Mr. and Mrs. J.W.

THIS year's list of business administration; recipients includes 12 in the -Brenda Hoffman, a merit program and seven in graduate of Stockbridge High School; the talent program. High School and a business Recipients of 1980 Merit major, the daughter of

-Janice Anne Aber- Stockbridge; of high schools in the four- nathy, a graduate of Fayette

-Alison Lori Allen. graudate of Riverdale High Funded by the Clayton School, daughter of Mr. and Junior College Foundation, Mrs. Orion Allen, of River-Inc., scholarships were dale. She plans to major in Baggett. She plans to major in elementary education; -Tamara Kay Chaffin, a ners, announced during graduate of Henry County of Fairburn; High School, the daughter designed to recognize and Hampton. She plans to ma--Julie Marlene Crane, a academic achievement in graduate of Jonesboro high school studies. Awards Senior High School, the

-PAULA Christina Eckman, a graduate of Talent scholarship Forest Park Senior High recipients are selected on School, the daughter of Mr.

-Vickie Ann Gilpatrick, Gilpatrick, of College Park. She plans to major in

-Cynthia Yvonne Mills, County High School, the a graduate of Morrow Senior daughter of Robert L. Aber- High and a teacher education major, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Mills, of Ellenwood;

-Angela De Ramsey, a graduate of Palmetto High School, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy J. Ramsey, of -Lisa Ann Baggett, a Palmetto. She is majoring in graduate of M.D. Collins medical technology; > graduate of Campbell High High School; School, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gerald Sledge,

-Angela Lynn Tucker, a Hapeville High School graduate and a dental hygiene major, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Belton Tucker, of Hapeville; Recipients of 1980 Talent Scholarships are: -Donna Jean Barnett, a computer science major and of Mr. and Mrs. C.E.

Barnett, of Stockbridge; (medical illustration) ma-Morrow. She is a graduate of Junior College.

Terry Parker High School; pre-medicine major, the son will be students who entered of Oscar W. Carter, of college a year ago and will Fayetteville. He is a be entering their second graduate of Fayette County year of study. Almost 50

-TERRY Dwayne classes.

Nancy Kelley, of Durden, a computer science major, the son of Doris September of 1974, the Durden, of Forest Park. He Board of Trustees of the Senior High: -Pam Gossage, a nursing scholarships. The program, major and a graduate of which also includes funds to Forest Park Senior High, honor outstanding students the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gossage of Forest Park:

-Daniel James Ivester, a its record high of over music major, the son of Mr. $28,000. and Mr. James C. Ivester, of College Park. He is a by the Foundation are -ALAN Gerald Sledge, a graduate of M.D. Collins funded totally by contribu-> who lives with her husband, are tax deductible. Robert E. Tipton, in Decatur. Enrolled in the College's dental Hygiene program, she is a transfer student from Virginia Western Community College.

THE NEW awards are included in a $28,456 budget approved by the Foungraduate of Stockbridge dation's Board of Trustees High School, the daughter for the 1980-81 year. All scholarships funded by the Foundation are two-year -Linda Jean Berl, an art awards in the amount of $858, covering the cost of jor, the daughter of tuition and fees during two Elizabeth Janes, of years of study at Clayton

Joining the 19 new stu--Harold Keith Carter, a dents in this year's program scholarship recipients are enrolled in Fall Quarter

Alan Sledge

Linda Berl

Cynthia Mills

Julie Crane

Terry Durden

Pam Gossage

Lisa Baggett

Alison Allen

David Ivester

Sixteen High Schoolers are CJC Freshman Scholars

Sixteen area high school Ellenwood, and a senior at seniors are jointly enrolled Stockbridge High School; in credit classes at Clayton Junior College, according to Judy C. Nichols, counselor in the Office of Admissions and Records.

Enrolled in the Freshman Scholar Program, the out- son of Mr. and Mrs. William standing high school seniors have elected courses at the two-year College which also School: will serve to satisfy high ments.

STUDENTS enrolled in the program include: -Cynthia R. Booker, William Kipp, of Morrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. and a senior at Morrow High

Marcus Booker, of

-Carla J. Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Thompson, of Mc-Donough, and a senior at Henry County High;

-Lisa D. Bowman, -William C. Crane, Jr., Crane, of Morrow, and a senior at Morrow High High School; -Peter K. Gehrke, son of

of Jonesboro, and senior at Morrow High School; -Lorraine S. Kipp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bowman, of Jonesboro, and a senior at Jonesboro

Underwood daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. James

Underwood, of Morrow, and a senior at Morrow High senior at Jonesboro High -Manning J. Hicks, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manning Hicks, II, of Jonesboro, and a senior at Jonesboro

Feldwood High School;

-Susan L. Ferguson, daugher of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ferguson, of Morrow, and a senior at senior at Riverdale High of the Freshman Scholar Program is offered by the ments. Forest Park High School;

-Thomas W. McBroom, -Kevin S. Dorris, son of son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mr. and Mrs. Emmett McBroom, of Morrow, and a school graduation require- Mr. and Mrs. Hans Gehrke, Dorris, of Jonesboro, and a senior at Forest Park High

> -ANTHONY L. Coryell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Coryell, of Jonesboro, and a senior at Riverdale High School;

-Doris A. Stephens, -Susan I. Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

City, and a senior at burn, and a senior at River- Senoia, and a senior at East completion of his or her satisfactorily completes dale High School; -Edward L. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Coweta High School.

A STUDENT who meets academic quarter. White, of Jonesboro, and a the admission requirements The Freshman Scholar school graduation require-

-R. Ward Sellers, II, son Clayton Junior College dur- local Boards of Education to Harry Stephens, of Union James Henderson, of Fair- of Mrs. Dell R. Thomas, of ing the quarter following the enable the student who during any subsequent transferable college credit

junior year in high school, or such courses to earn while also fulfilling high

NEW OFFICERS-The College Political Union at Clayton Junior College recently elected new officers. From left: John Lee, co-director; Sam Hinegardner, campus activities director; Steve Rasmussen, co-

director; Anna Smalley, secretary; Kerry Doyal, publicity chairman and Gwen Martin, treasurer. (SUNphoto by Sharon Engelhart)

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR 2/18/81 Clayton Junior Lists Achievers

Clayton Junior College has named 119 Clayton County students to the fall quarter dean's list.

Jonesboro residents named were Nelta C. Alexander, Randall E. Ball, Thomas J. Bell, Barbara J. Campbell, Judy K. Carmickle, Charles T. Carter, Carolyn W Castleberry, Jacqueline G. Combs, Kathleen B. Crawford, Linda B. Fritts, Judith K. Hawkins, Nan G. Johnson, Bettie J. King, Sandra L. Landers and Sherry L. Laster.

Others were Lynne C. Lively, Donna G. Lowe, Loreen G. Malphurs, Lucille L. Philpot, Linda J. Presley, Robin S. Rawls, Jackie W. Reece, Angela A. Roberts, Glenda L. Slaughter, James L. Steele, Robert J. Sturdevant, Toni A. Tidwell, Janice A. Tittle, Rhonda Q. Wheeler, Sharon L. Williams and Winona L. Wilson. Named to the honor list from Riverdale were Dana M. Armes, Pamela S. Couch, Mary E. Dubson. Pamela D. Frazier, Debra A. Green, Robin L. Griffin, Ruby A. Hickox, Brenda J. Howse, Debbie L. Hunter, Donna C. Knowles, Cindy K. Langham, Karen J. Loughman, Shirley M. Murphey, Philip A. Nelson, Essie V. O'Connor, Ronald H. Pyle, Helen S. Rohrl, Lois D. Stallings, Desma S. Stokoe, Carole J. Stroud, Elizabeth K. Thompson and Brenda B. Trice.

Forest Park students named were Dart A. Absher, Joan J. Cushing, Mary J. Cypress, Kevin J. Day, Barbara A. Demerich. Suzzette S. Escoe, Dianne E. Love, Thomas M. Patterson, Michelle M. Pinson, Christina L. Ridgeway, Louise M. Shaw, Kathy L. Sledge, Lydia C. Starke, Toro W. Torres. Jill M. Waldrop, Lynda D. Walker, Janet I. Wheeler and Tammie D.

Morrow residents included were Cathy C. Allen, Katharine A. Bland, Carolyn W. Bowen, Judy M. Brown, Ann V. Grantham, Sheila A. Hathorn, Elizabeth A. Jones, Harriet A. Lawson. Timothy S. Lummus, Paula D. Mitchell, Donna M. Padgett, Deborah K. Rawlins, Linn W. Rueter, Dorothy O. Schreiber, Glenda W. Stanford, Connie B. Tyler, Gail H. White and Thomas E. Zaworski.

College Park residents named were Jeannie C. Austin, Phyllis P. Beacham, Jimmie A. Blount, Mary C. Brooks, Laura L. Burnett, Eileen S. Cannington, Hubert E. Crocker, Vanessa Faison, Michelle E. Hawkins, Pamela A. Hendrix, Robert J. Hicks, Gail A. Hoggard, Ruth P. Jackson, Alan R. Johnson, Deborah E. Markham, Pamela W. McCrae and Carol A.

Also included were Rex residents William D. Bulloch, Pam Copelan, Kerri L. Davis, Beth A. Denholm. Beverly F. Earl, and Elissa S. Holder; along with Patricia N. Berryman and Janet L. McPherson of Lake City.

JOINT ENROLLEES-Four of the 16 high school seniors enrolled in college credit classes at Clayton Junior College talked with their faculty advisors, Dr. Brooke Pridmore, left, and Dr. Jim Bright, second from left, recently. Taking college courses that also satisfy high school requirements, the students are (from left) Susan Ferguson, of Forest Park High School, Susan Henderson, of Riverdale High, Lisa Bowman and Kevin Dorris, both from Jonesboro

CJC Winter Quarter Dean's List Posts 184 Names

has named 184 students to Wilson. the Fall Quarter Dean's List, including 119 from Clayton County.

Included on the honor list, M. Armes, Pamela S. named by Dr. Billy R. Nail, Couch, Mary E. Dubson, dean of the college, were 31 Pamela D. Frazier, Debra A. students from Jonesboro, 22 Green, Robin L. Griffin, from Riverdale, 18 from Ruby A. Hickox, Brenda J. Forest Park, 18 from Howse, Debbie L. Hunter, prow 17 from College Donna Park, seven from Rex, and two each from Lake City,

Jonesboro residents Essie V. O'Connor, Ronald named were Nelta C. Alex- H. Pyle, Helen S. Rohrl, Cypress, Kevin J. Day, Bar- Toro W. Torres, Jill M. Brown, Ann V. Grantham. Blount, Mary C. Brooks. and Elissa S. Holder; along early December, 1980. Thomas J. Bell, Barbara J. Campbell, Judy K. Carmickle, Charles T. Carter, Carolyn W. Castleberry, Jacqueline G. Combs, Kathleen B. Crawford, Linda B. Fritts, Judith K. Hawkins, Nan G. Johnson, Bettie J. King, Sandra L. Sanders, Sherry L. Laster; Lynne C. Lively, Donna

Lowe, Loreen G. Malphurs, Lucille L. Philpot, Linda J. Presley, Robin S. Rawls, Jackie W. Reece, Angela A. Roberts, Glenda L. Slaughter, James L. Steele, Robert J. Sturdevant, Toni A. Tidwell, Janice A. Tittle, Rhonda Q. Wheeler, Sharon L.

College Enrollment High Here

More than half of the students enrolled in spring quarter credit classes at Clayton Junior College are Clayton County residents, and almost 94 percent of the student population are from the four-county area of Clayton, South Fulton, Fayette and Henry.

rolled in credit classes, 1,406 are from Clayton County, Z according to a report released by Annette B. Satterfield, director of admissions and registrar. Another 503 students list Fulton County as their residence, while 211 are from 무 Fayette County and 155 are

Of the 2,429 students en-

Palmetto Student Honored

Henry Countians.

Three Clayton Junior College students won awards at the Phi Beta Lambda statewide competition held in Atlanta

Bobbie Scott of Stockbridge and Karen MacMahon of Jonesboro each won first place awards in the annual competition and Janice Peek of Palmetto took a third place award.

NAMED to the honor list and Brenda B. Trice. from Riverdale were Dana Langham, Karen J. Loughman, Shirley M. Murphey, Philip A. Nelson,

Elizabeth K. Thompson,

Clayton Junior College Williams, and Winona L. Lois D. Stallings, Desma S. bara A. Demerich, Suzzette Waldrop, Lynda D. Walker, Stokoe, Carole J. Stroud, S. Escoe, Dianne E. Love, Janet I. Wheeler, and Tam-Thomas M. Patterson, mie D. White.

Sun Community Life

society, clubs, religion, features

Forest Park students Christina L. Ridgeway, cluded were Cathy C. Allen, dents named were Jeannie named were Dar A. Absher, Louise M. Shaw, Kathy L. Katharine A. Bland, Joan J. Cushing, Mary H. Sledge, Lydia C. Starke, Carolyn W. Bowen, Judy M. Beacham, Jimmie A. Denholm, Beverly F. Earl, in September and ended in

Sheila A. Hathorn, Laura L. Burnett, Eileen S. with Patricia N. Berryman Elizabeth A. Jones, Harriet Cannington, Hubert E. and Janet L. McPherson, of Lawson, Timothy S. Lummus, Paula D. Mitchell, Donna M. Padgett, Deborah K. Rawlins, Linn W. Rueter, Ruth P. Jackson, Alan R. Lipscomb, of Conley. Dorothy O. Schreiber, Dorothy O. Schreiber, Johnson, Deborah E. To make the Dean's List, Glenda W. Stanford, Connie Markham, Pamela W. a student must maintain a B. Tyler, Gail H. White, and McCrae, and Carol A. grade point average of 3.6 or

Crocker, Vanessa L. Faison, Lake City, Jean E. Bowen Michelle E. Hawkins, and Cynthia Y. Mills, of Pamela A. Hendrix, Robert Ellenwood, and Cheri D. J. Hicks, Gail A. Hoggard, Dean and Mary C.

Also included were Rex for the quarter. residents William D. Bulloch, Pam Copelan, attracted 2,977 students to

The fall quarter, which

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS

February 11, 1981

Hubbard's a Fayette CJC Freshman Scholar

entered the special program at the start of Winter Quarter classes in January.

the Freshman Scholar the College in cooperof Education, are:

William Hubbard of Fayetteville, a senior at Fayette County High School; Mark Richard Munson of Riverdale, a senior at Riverdale Senior High School; Brian F. Hendrix of Fairburn, a senior at Campbell High School. Freshman Scholar Program offers outstanding high school seniors with an opportunity to accelerate their educational programs by electing courses at the College which also serve to satisfy high school graduation requirements.

Students who meet the admission requirements of the special program may enroll at Clayton Junior College during any quarter

Three of 17 area high following the compleschool seniors who are tion of their junior year jointly enrolled at in high school. The 14 Clayton Junior College other students currently enrolled in the program entered during the Fall Quarter.

Outstanding high New entrants into school seniors interested in the program Program, offered by should contact their high school counselor ation with local Boards for complete information.

Bobbie Scott of Stockbridge was one of three Clayton Junior College students to win awards in the Phi Beta Lambda statewide competition recently in Atlanta. Miss Scott won a first place award and will compete in the national competi-# tion July 5-8 in Chicago. ш She will be competing in the accounting I competition. All of the winners are members of the Clayton Junior College

Phi Beta Lambda business club.

Dean's List

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS February 25, 1981

Clayton Announces Fall Academic Honors List

Clayton College has named 184 students to the Fall Quarter Dean's List, including 24 from Fayette County.

Included on the honor list, named by Dr. Billy R. Nail, Dean of the College, were 15 students from Fayetteville, seven from Peachtree City and Fayetteville residents named were Wesley H. Bethea, Marcia H. Bozone, Judith K. Bramlett, Laurie E. Bray, Phillis C. Burruss, Sherilan K. Chaplin, Carol A. Holland, Michael R. Holmes, Jacquelyn J.

Kerlin, Jean J. Loefer,

Daniel H. Platt, Cyn-

N. Royal, Thomas M. L. Crumpton of Tyrone Turner, and Gail W. Wornstaff.

Named from Peachtree City were Cynthia A. Clark, Vera A. Fricano, Cheryl D. Garfield, Linda H. Graham, Marilyn K. Hare, Jennifer E. Harris, and Roberta K. Newman.

Also included on the thia L. Ratzman, Gary honor list were Diane and Deborah L. Snead of Woolsey.

To make the Dean's List, a student must maintain a grade point average of 3.6 or higher out of a possible 4.0 for the quarter.

The Fall Quarter, which attracted 2,977 students to the Morrow campus, began in September and ended in early December, 1980.

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS February 18, 1981

Fayette Students Top CJC Enrollment Listing Students from a 23-

attending Quarter credit classes at Clayton Junior College, according to Annette B. Satterfield, County Director of Admis- number 575, Fayette sions and Registrar.

area are dents taking classes, Winter slightly more than 58 percent Countians.

(1,575) are Clayton Countians total 220,

THE CLAYTON SUN 5/7/81 CJC Posts Enrollment Figures

Clayton Junior College are and 18 from Spalding. and almost 94 per cent of of the student population the student population are are female students, and 73 from the four-county area of per cent of the total are un-Clayton, south Fulton, married. About half the Fayette and Henry.

enrolled in credit classes, 1,- carry various other 406 are from Clayton classifications. County, according to a report released by Annette System of Georgia, Clayton B. Satterfield, director of Junior College offers classes admissions and registrar. on a quarterly basis, beginn-Another 503 students list ing in June, September, Fulton County as their January, and March each residence, while 211 are year. from Fayette County and 155 are Henry Countians. its 12th year of service to the cludes students from a 22- area.

More than half of the stu- county area, including 30 dents enrolled in Spring from Rockdale, 29 from Quarter credit classes at DeKalb, 25 from Coweta, Clayton County residents, Slightly over 60 per cent

students are freshman, 34 per cent are sophomores, Of the 2,429 students and the remaining enrollees

A unit of the University

The college is completing The quarterly report in- south metropolitan Atlanta

Henry Countians attend CJC

students enrolled in spring quarter credit classes at Clayton Junior College are Clayton County residents, and almost 94 percent of the student population are from the four-county area of Clayton, south Fulton, Fayette and Henry. Of the 2,429 students enrolled in credit classes,

1,406 are from Clayton

THE HENRY HERALD May 6, 1981

More than half of the County, according to a 22-county area, including remaining enrollees report released by Annette B. Satterfield, Director of Admissions and Registrar. Another 503 students list Fulton County as their residence, while 211 are from Fayette County and 155 are Henry Countians.

includes students from a sophomores, and the lanta area.

30 from Rockdale, 29 carry various other clasfrom DeKalb, 25 from sifications. Coweta, and 18 from of the student population are female students, and 73 percent of the total are March each year. The The quarterly report man, 34 percent are south metropolitan At-

A unit of the University

System of Georgia, Clayton Junior College offers Slightly over 60 percent classes on a quarterly basis, beginning in June, September, January, and unmarried. About half College is completing its the students are fresh- 12th year of service to the County residents are enrolled. Other counties represented include De-Kalb with 32 students, Rockdale with 30, Spalding and Coweta with 24 each, Cobb

with 16, Douglas with 10, and 13 others with fewer numbers. The four-county area of Clayton, south Fulton, Fayette and Henry contributed just over 94 percent of the total enrollment. The quarterly report showed that 61.3 percent of the student population are enrolled in day or mostly day classes, 1,660 to 1,047 who are taking night or mostly night classes. Women students outnumbered their men counterparts, 1,597 to 1,110 and 75 percent of the students are unmarried (2,020 single and 687 who are married). Classes for the quarter opened in early January and will continue until the last of final examinations are given on March 20. Spring Quarter classes will begin the following week.

Fall Quarter Dean's List,

Included on the honor list, Dean of the College, were 31 from Riverdale, 18 from Tammie D. White. Forest Park, 18 from Morrow, 17 from College Park, seven from Rex, and two each from Lake City, Ellenwood, and Conley. Jonesboro residents named were Nelta C. Alexander, Randall E. Ball, Thomas J. Bell, Barbara J. Campbell, Judy Carmickle, Charles T. Carter, Carolyn W. Castleberry, Jacqueline G. Combs, Kathleen B. Crawford, Linda B. Fritts, Judith K. Hawkins, Nan G.

Sandra L. Landers, Sherry L. Laster; Lynne C. Lively, Donna G. Lowe, Loreen G. Malphurs, Lucille L. Philpot, Linda J. Presley, Robin S. Rawls, Jackie W. Reece, Angela A. Roberts, Glenda L. Slaughter, James L. Steele, Robert J. Sturdevant, Toni A. Tidwell, Janice A. Tittle, Rhonda Q. Wheeler, Sharon L. Williams, and Winona L.

Named to the honor list from Riverdale were Dana M. Armes, Pamela S. Couch, Mary E. Dubson, Pamela D. Frazier, Debra A. Green, Robin L. Griffin, Ruby A. Hickox, Brenda J. Howse, Debbie L. Hunter, Donna C. Knowles, Cindy K. Langham, Karen J. Loughman, Shirley M. Murphey, Philip A. Nelson, Essie V. O'Connor, Ronald H. Pyle, Helen S. Rohrl, Lois D. Stallings, Desma S. Stokoe, Carole J. Stroud, Elizabeth K. Thompson, and Brenda B.

Forest Park students named were Dart A. Absher, Joan J. Cushing, Mary J. Cypress, Kevin J. Day, Barbara A. Dimerich,

named 184 students to the Love, Thomas M. Patterson, Michelle M. Pinson, including 119 from Clayton Christina L. Ridgeway, Louise M. Shaw, Kathy L. Sledge, Lydia C. Starke, named by Dr. Billy R. Nail, Toro W. Torres, Jill M. Waldrop, Lynda D. Walker, students from Jonesboro, 22 Janet I. Wheeler, and

Morrow residents included were Cathy C. Allen. Katharine A. Bland, Carolyn W. Bowen, Judy M. Brown, Ann V. Grantham, Sheila A. Hathorn, Elizabeth A. Jones, Harriet A. Lawson, Timothy S. Lummus, Paula D. Mitchell, Donna M. Padgett, Deborah K. Rawlins, Linn W. Rueter, Dorothy Schreiber, Glenda W. Stanford, Connie B. Tyler, Gail H. White, and Thomas

College Park residents Johnson, Bettie J. King, named were Jeannie C. Austin, Phyllis P. Beacham, Jimmie A. Blount, Mary C. Brooks, Laura L. Burnett, Hubert E. Crocker, Vanessa S. Holder; along with attracted 2,977 students to L. Faison, Michelle E. Patricia N. Berryman and the Morrow campus began in Hawkins, Pamela A. Janet L. McPherson of Lake September and ended in Hendrix, Robert J. Hicks, City, Jean E. Bowen and early December, 1980. Gail A. Hoggard, Ruth P. Cynthia Y. Mills of Pamela W. McCrae, and of Conley.

Carol A. Ratliff. L. Davis, Beth A. Denholm, for the quarter.

Jackson, Alan R. Johnson, Ellenwood, and Cheri D. Deborah E. Markham, Dean and Mary C. Lipscomb

To make the Dean's List, a Also included were Rex student must maintain a residents William D. grade point average of 3.6 or Bulloch, Pam Copelan, Kerri higher out of a possible 4.0

Clayton Junior College has Suzzette S. Escoe, Dianne E. Eileen S. Cannington, Beverly F. Earl, and Elissa The Fall Quarter, which

Greg Kordecki From left, Instructor of Business Administration at Clayton Junior College; Steven Hunt, Temporary Instructor of Accounting at CJC; Dart Absher of Morrow, winner of $1,000; and Lynne Lively of Jonesboro, winner of $75.

Morrow Student Scores Highest In Accounting

A sophomore accounting major at Clayton Junior College has been awarded $1,000 after scoring the highest in statewide competition conducted by the Atlanta Chapter of the Georgia Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Dart Absher of Morrow posted the highest grade during competition held at Georgia State University in March. Award winners were determined on the basis of scores recorded on a one-hour achievement test for first year accounting students, developed by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

A total of $3,000 was given to the top 13 students during an awards program in April. Second place paid $750, the third place winner received $500, and ten honorable mentions claimed $75 each.

Lynne Lively of Jonesboro, also a sophomore at the two-year institution near Morrow, was one of the honorable mentions to receive $75 awards.

Students who had completed the first two accounting principles courses offered by colleges or universities in the metro Atlanta area were eligible for the com-

NOMINATION-Janice A. Tittle received the Harry S. Truman Scholarship nomination certificate from Harry S. Downs (right), President of Clayton Junior College, while Robert C. Bolander, Dean of Students, looks on.

Student Nominated For Scholarship

A Clayton Junior College with the Clayton County student has been nominated Board of Education for for the 1981 Harry S. seven years. She has been a Truman Scholarship from student at Clayton Junior Jonesboro, a political on the Dean's List for science major, was several quarters. nominated "in recognition In addition, Mrs. Tittle of academic performance was included on the and commitment to govern- National Dean's List for ment service.'

A graduate of Forest Park nominated for the 1980-81 Senior High School and a award. resident of Clayton County for 22 years, Mrs. Tittle was various political campaigns, named the assistant she also has served during a secretary for the February number of fund raising ac-Term of the Clayton County College since the Fall of Janice A. Tittle, 34, of 1977 and has been included

1979-80 and has been

A volunteer worker for tivities for the American Cancer Society and has Married and the mother been a volunteer worker for of one child, she has been the Reynold's Nature employed as a secretary Preserve Fox Trot.

CJC Student Selected For Award Tryout

A Clayton Junior College student has been nominated for the 1981 Harry S. Truman Scholarship from Georgia. Janice A. Tittle, 34, of Jonesboro, a political science major, was nominated "in recognition of academic performance and commitment to government service." A graduate of Forest Park Senior High School and a resident of Clayton County for 22 years, Mrs. Tittle was named the assistant secretary for the February Term of the Clayton County Grand Jury.

Married and the mother of one child, she has been employed as a secretary with the Clayton County Board of Education for seven years. She has been a student at Clayton Junior College since the Fall of 1977 and has been included on the Dean's List for several quarters.

In addition, Mrs. Tittle was included on the National Dean's List for 1979-80 and has been nominated for the 1980-81 award.

Scholarship Nominee

Janice Tittle (center) received the Harry S. Truman Scholarship nomination certificate from Harry S. Downs (right), President of Clayton Junior College, while Robert C. Bolander, Dean of Students, looks on.

STUDENT OFFICERS ELECTED—Two recently-elected officers to the Cabinet of Student Administrators (CSA) at Clayton Junior College are pictured with Robert C. Bolander, Dean of Students. Sharie Helton (left) of Newnan was elected Treasurer and Laurie Beck (right) of Ellenwood was named President.

Miss Clayton County Contest Gets First Entrants

Four young hopefuls have daughter of Mr. and Mrs. music major at the Universtuding business education. of Jonesboro High School producer announced.

The four are: Donna Lynn Sapp, Megan Holland. amonta Jill Wallace, and Georgia Diane Gibbs.

bies include roller skating, American High Schools. dancing and baton twirling.

old, the daughter of Mr. and in 1978. MS. HOLLAND, 18, is Mrs. H. D. Wallace of the daughter of Mrs. Anne Forest Park and a graduate already applied as contes- John Westley Sapp of Forest sity of Georgia. During high While at Forest Park High, and is now attending tants to the 1981 Miss Park. During her 3 years at school, she was a member of she was a member of the Clayton County Pageant, Forest Park High, she was a the all state choir, and listed homecoming court in 1976 ambition is to transfer to a Darrel Hopson, pageant majorette. Some of her hob- with Who's Who of and 1977, and was the princess in 1978. She was ca major in Psychology and selected as the outstanding become a child psychologist. Ms. Wallace is 20 years senior by the student body

Ms. Gibbs is 18 years old, selected for Who's Who. Ms. Sapp is a graduate of Holland of Jonesboro and a of Forest Park High School. the daughter of Mr. and Forest Park High School, graduate of Jonesboro High She is currently enrolled at Mrs. Donald J. Gibbs of She is 18-years-old and the School. She is currently a Clayton Junior College Jonesboro. She is a graduate contestants who will com- Atlantic City, N.J. in scholarships in addition to at 471-3834 or 478.000

Clayton Junior College. Her four year college where she She was a varsity cheerleader at Jonesboro

These young ladies are

County Pageant to be held compete in the national become Miss America. July 25, at Jonesboro Junior Miss American Pageant. makes our pageant one that High School, Hopson said.

year in Columbus.

the first of an anticipated 14 state crown will carry it to poise, experience, and win Jonesboro, GA 30236, or call pageant in the Clayton, stated. THE WINNER of the Henry and Fayette County Miss Clayton County area that can qualify a girl Pageant will enter the Miss to compete in the Miss formation about the Georgia Pageant held each Georgia Pageant," Hopson pageant or to enter, contact stressed.

The girl who captures the "The chance to gain Donough St., Suite 200,

"The Miss Clayton attracts many talented County Pageant is the only young ladies," Hopson

> Deadline for entries this year is May 15. For more in-Darrel Hopson, 149 S. Mc-

Three Clayton High School Seniors Start Early At CJC

Five of 18 area high school seniors who are jointly enrolled at Clayton Junior College entered the special program at the start of Spring Quarter classes in

New entrants into the Freshman Scholar Program, offered by the College in cooperation with local Boards of Education, are: -- Douglas A. Drew of Forest Park, a senior at Forest Park Senior High

-- Janice Hovde of East Point, a senior at Headland High School;

Forest Park Senior High School: -Karen Elaine Norred of

Riverdale, a senior at Riverdale Senior High School: and -- Joseph G. Sewell of High School. The Freshman Scholar Program offers outstanding by electing courses at the College which also satisfy requirements.

high school seniors with an admission requirements of program entered during the opportunity to accelerate the special program may their educational programs enroll at Clayton Junior College during any quarter following the completion of high school graduation their junior year in high school. The 13 other students

Fall or Winter Quarters.

Outstanding high school seniors interested in the their high school counselor -Kenneth B. Jones II of Students who meet the currently enrolled in the for complete information.

NEWS/DAILY May 10, 1981 Students

Honored

Clayton Jr. College students hold their Phi Beta Lambda awards won recently in state competition. L-R are Janice Peek of Palmetto, third in Business Communication; Bobbie Scott of Stockbridge, first in Accounting I; Karen MacMahon of Jonesboro, first in Corresponding Secretary; and Frances Bowen, CJC Business Education assistant professor.

Three CJC Students Win Business Awards

MacMahon of Jonesboro competition.

Three Clayton Junior each won first place awards College students won in the annual competition awards at the Phi Beta and Janice Peek of Palmetto Lambda statewide took a third place award.

competition held in Atlanta

Both Ms. Scott and Ms.

MacMahon will wear their Bobbie Scott of Georgia crowns into Phi Stockbridge and Karen Beta Lambda's national CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE

Clayton Junior College has named 119 Clayton County residents to its winter quarter Dean's List. The Jonesboro residents named were Nelta C. Alexander, Valerie A.

Judith K. Baker, Kimberly H. Bedford, Mary L Bennett, Sandra P. Blalock, Mary E. Bowen, Ronald L. Brinkman, Jacqueline G. Combs, James o Cottingham, Russell W. _ Cottingham, Julie M. Crane, Kathleen B. Crawford, Angela M. Diamon, Linda B.

Deborah H. Glaze, Phyllis M. Griffith, Nan G. Johnson, Rommie Johnson, Donald R. Kemp, Lynne C. Lively, -Donna G. Lowe, Kimberly A Morrissey, Becy J. Nauck, Kathleen K. Morris, Alice V. Phillips, Lucille L. Philpot, Linda S. Reagin, William G. Sanderfer, and Jeannie H. Sartwell are also from

Jonesboro. Other Jonesboro residents named to the list were Janie B. Scarborouh, Betty M. Sibley, Howard M. Strader, Robert J. Sturdevant, Debra L. Taylor, Mary E. Tilghman, Janice A. Tittle, Kim R. Walling, Michael K. Wells, Rhonda Q. Wheeler, and Emma J. Woodruff.

Named to the list from Morrow were Cathy C. Allen, Katherine A. Bland, Carolyn W. Bowen, Charles E. Brooks, Scott A. Brown, Geraldine Champion, Donald L. Cooper, Ann V. Grantham, Margaret Grasso, Elizabeth A. Jones, Lea A. Kelley, Paula C. Kendrick, Timothy Lummus, and Donna McCarney.

Also named from Morrow were Jennifer L. Nabors, Donna M. Padgett, Jacqueline C. Peak, W Delores Perkins, Nancy A. Peterson, Deborah K. Rawlins, Ann Reener, Allen C. Sutliff, Connie B. Tyler, Robert L. Wantland, Gail H. White, and Thomas E. Zaworski.

Riverdale students named to the list were Alison L. Allen, Laura L. Burnett, Suzette S. Escoe, Audery K. Fetterman, Diane P. Goss, Alberta D. Harrison, Robert K. Hollis, Debbie L. Hunter. Patty G. Lambery, Karen J Loughman, Kelly McAleece, Richard McConnell, Julia M McLean, Shirley M. Mur phey, Philip A. Nelson, Essie V. O'Connor, Helen S. Rohri Frank R. Sawyer, Lois D. Stallings, Diane B. Thacker, and Elizabeth K. Thompson.

Forest Park residents named include Dart A Absher, Michele A. Bailey, Maire I. Cottrell, Mary J Cypress, Dennis C. Davis Eric M. Garrett, Joann Johnson, Jodi K. Johnson, Christina L. Ridgeway, T. Janic Robertson, Louise M Shaw. Robert F. Tilson Jr. and Jill M. Waldrop.

Also included on the list were Cheri D. Dean, Martin A. Demerich, and Kathy M. Reese, all of Conley; Willard R. Atkinson, Joseph A. Veerkamp, and Patricia W. Wingard, all of Rex: Michael T. Brawley and Karen A. Keheley of Ellenwood, and Patricia N. Berryman of the Winter Quarter Dean's Knuerr, Meta B. Thompson List, including 31 from the and Janice M. Tritt of East south Fulton County area. Point. College Park residents Union Citians named named were Mary J. were Sandra D. Barnes, Anderson, Vanessa L. Stephanie D. Bray, Brenda Faison, Pamela A. Hendrix, S. Etris, Gary A. Osborne Ruth P. Jackson, Alan R. and Lois L. Shelnutt, while Johnson, Charlene E. residents of Hapeville Johnson, Jane M. Lee, honored Marcia C. Bond, Barry G. Sikes. were William K. Barber, dents honored Mark E. Mary D. Huggins, Dennie R. Vogtner, Charles S. Kelley, Deborah J. Taylor Abraham, and Kevin D. and Nancy B. Wilson: along Thames.

THE CLAYTON SUN CJC Announces Students On Dean's List

Clayton Junior College with Mary A. Delashmit, has named 180 students to Allyn D. Grindle, Clare E.

Anthony A. Myers, and Martha D. Burel, Kathie I. Granger and Ethel V. Atlanta students named Miller, and Fairburn resi-

THE HENRY HERALD April 29, 1981 Eight on CJC list

the winter quarter dean's Stockbridge were Barlist, including eight from bara P. Johnson, Brenda Henry County.

College, were three stu- Jane G. Winkle. dents each from McDon- To make the dean's list, ough and Stockbridge, a student must maintain and two from Hampton. a grade point average of named were Clara S. possible 4.0 for the Cardell, William E. Haw- quarter.

Clayton Junior College kins, III, and Denese A. has named 180 students to Rodgers. Named from L. Roberts, and Ramona Included on the honor K. Uecker, while Hamplist, named by Dr. Billy ton residents honored R. Nail, Dean of the Kamara K. Chaffin and

McDonough residents 3.6 or higher out of a

Clayton Jr. College Enrolls Students In Advanced ROTC

New Army Program

Larry Greene of College lieutenant. Park and Douglas Legg of East Point recently became the first students at Clayton Junior College to contract into Army Advanced Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC). The two were sworn in by LTC Nils Johannesen, Professor of Military Science at Georgia State University, during ceremonies at the two-year institution. Based on a new ruling by students may become eligible for Advanced ROTC while attending a junior college of the University System of Georgia. Upon completion of all ROTC requirements, they will be Army National Guard year in college. commission as a second

Both Greene and Legg are entering a program that offers a commission after only two years. Since both have prior service in the military, they were not required to take the two-year

Basic ROTC course.

According to LTC Johannesen, other college students eligible for this advanced placement include those who have participated in high school JROTC the Department of Army, programs, or who are members of the Reserves or National Guard. Through this program, a college freshman with JROTC or prior service may work toward a Reserve or National Guard commission offered an Army Reserve or at the end of their sophomore

Upon completion of a four-desired. Reserve or National Guard duty with no more than a three-month active duty obligation can be guaranteed. Army ROTC is a coeducation leadership and management development program that leads to a commission in the active Army, Army Reserve or Army National Guard. It is oriented toward the citizensoldier who spends from three months to three years on active duty and then pursues a civilian career with part time participation in the Guard or Reserve.

The ROTC Program at Clayton Junior College is a cross-enrollment with Georgia State University. Major Michael Grady and SFC Douglas Williams are full-time ROTC instructors on the CJC campus.

Many Advanced ROTC students also participate in the Simultaneous Membership Program (SMP). Relatively new, this program allows a college student to simultaneously participate in Advanced ROTC and the Army Reserve or National Guard.

year degree, they may then this combination program Guard or Reserve. request active duty if are excellent. During two Upon commission years in Advanced ROTC, an individual can reasonably expect to earn $2,500 from ROTC and an additional $2,800 from his officer one weekend per month and least six quarters of trainee duties with the have a two week annual

Upon commissioning in the year. Guard or Reserve, a student second lieutenant. Guard to participate in Advanced and Reserve personnel meet training requirement each

ROTC as long as they have at undergraduate or graduate

The new Department of would earn $1,800 a year as a Army ruling allows students the colleges or universities of the University System of Georgia.

Previously, a student was required to have six quarters

CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE STUDENTS GO ADVANCED ARMY ROTC L-R Are Larry Greene, Douglas Legg, Taking Oath From Ltc. Nils Johannesen

New Student Officers at CJC

Two recently elected officers to the Cabinet of Student Administrators (CSA) at Clayton Junior College are pictured with Robert C. Bolander, dean of students. Sharie Helton, left, of Newnan, was elected treasurer and Laurie Beck, right, of Ellenwoood, was named president.

Art On Exhibit

Thomas Daughtry (left), Assistant Professor of Art at College's Library. Miss Fene, a graduate of Clayton Junior Clayton Junior College, and Sandy Fene of Jonesboro look over a collection of her art works which are on exhibit in the College, currently is attending the University of Georgia.

Collection On Exhibit

(L-R) Thomas Daughtry, assistant professor of art at Clayton Junior College and Sandy Fene of Jonesboro look over a collection of her art works. which are on exhibit in the college's library. Miss Fene, a graduate of Clayton Junior College. currently is attending the University of Georgia.

Nomination:

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR

April 29, 1981

College Studies Fulfilling Gap In Life Of Forest Park Wife, Mother And Worker

By RICHARD MITCHELL

of these "jobs" upon her.

Staff Writer Janice Tittle is a Forest Park wife, mother, worker and student, who is successful despite having all.

A Clayton Junior College student, she was nominated for the 1981 Harry S. Truman Scholarship. The award is for political science majors who are in at least the last quarter of their sophomore grade point average. According to the committee that nominated her, Mrs. Tittle was picked "in recognition of academic performance and com-

year, and have attained a high mitment to government service." The award is given to one student from each state in the country. and covers the expenses for the completion of the student's educa-

Mrs. Tittle was only student from Clayton Junior College to be nominated for the award. She has worked full-time for the Clayton County Board of Education for the last seven years, as secretary to the director of pupil personnel services, and started school at Clayton Junior College in 1977.

"I felt there was a big gap in my life, and school was the best way of doing something meaningful," she

She says she began taking five hours of classes per quarter, as it took a while to "juggle it with my job and raising my son," she says. One of the stipulations of the award is that the winner must be involved in government work after they finish school. This poses no problems for Mrs. Tittle, as she has plenty of experience with government of work, and plans on continuing in it, whether she wins the award or not. During the past 10 years she has worked on the political campaigns of Dock Davis, Commission Charley Griswell, Bob Maddox, Betty Talmadge and State Rep. Jimmy Benefield.

JANICE TITTLE

Gap In Life Fulfilled

She feels becuse her husband, Tim, works at the Clayton County Courthouse and is constantly associated with politicans, her interest in government work has increased.

"Everything in everyones life revolves around the political system, whether its local, state or national," she says.

"In our government system, anyone who wants to can have some imput," she says.

Mrs. Tittle says working for the Clayton County Board of Education has increased her knowledge of government work, as it has shown her how people lobby for needs and how things are changed

She says her 11-year-old son, Derek, a student at Kilpatrick Elementary School is also very knowledgeable on politics.

"I think he's so interested, as his father and I are around it so much. He can't help but get some information," she says.

A graduate of Forest Park Senior High School, Mrs. Tittle has lived in Clayton County for 22

She plans to continue her education at Georgia State University this fall, where she will be a junior. Other than school, Mrs. Tittle enjoys sewing, reading and entertaining persons at her home.

"It's about all I ever have time

"Right now I still have a lot of areas to explore. "I prefer to work on a state or local level when I finish school since my husband is employeed in

(R) DR, HARRY S. DOWNS PRESENTS (C) JANICE A TITTLE WITH CERTIFICATE AS ROBERT BOLANDER LOOKS Mrs. Tittle Received The Harry S. Truman Scholarship Nomination For Her High Grade Average

HE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR April 29, 1981

Cabinet Officers Elected

Two students have been elected to the Cabinet of Student Administrators at Clayton Junior College. (L-R) Newly elected treasurer Sharie Helton stands with Robert C. Bolander, dean of students; and newly elected president Laurie Beck of Ellenwood.

CJC Grad Art on Display

Thomas Daughtry, left, assistant professor at art at Clayton Junior College, and Sandy Fene, of Jonesboro, look over a collection of her art works on exhibit in the College's Library. Miss Fene, a graduate of Clayton Junior College, attends the University of Georgia.

FROM EAST POINT, COLLEGE PARK

THE CLAYTON SUN

April 30, 1981

Local CJC Students Aim For ROTC Program

Larry Greene of College Park and Douglas Legg of East Point became the first students at Clayton Junior tary Science at Georgia freshman with JROTC or cation leadership and man-cross-enrollment with Geortage at Georgia freshman with JROTC as long as they have College to contract into State University, during prior service may work to- agement development pro-Army Advanced Reserve ceremonies at the two-year ward a Reserve or National gram that leads to a com-Officer Training Corps institution recently.

> the Department of Army, in college. students may become eligi- Upon completion of a toward the citizen-soldier ble for Advanced ROTC four-year degree, they may who spends from three while attending a junior col- then request active duty if months to three years on lege of the University Sys- desired. Reserve or Na- active duty and then purpletion of all ROTC re- more than a three-month part-time participation in quirements, they will be offered an Army Reserve or Army National Guard commission as second lieuten-

Both Greene and Legg are entering a program that offers a commission after only two years. Since both have prior service in the military, they were not required to take the two-year Basic ROTC course.

ACCORDING to LTC Johannesen, other college students eligible for this advanced placement include those who have participated in high school JROTC programs, or who sworn in by LTC Nils Jo- National Guard. Through be guaranteed. hannesen, Professor of Mili- this program, a college Army ROTC is a coedu-

(ROTC). The two were members of the Reserves or active duty obligation can

Based on a new ruling by end of their sophomore year Army Reserve or Army National Guard. It is oriented gia State University. Guard commission at the mission in the active Army, students also participate in $2,500 from ROTC and an studies remaining in one of tively new, this program the Guard or Reserve. allows a college student to in Advanced ROTC and the student would earn $1,800 a. ers remaining at a particutem of Georgia. Upon com- tional Guard duty with no sures a civilian career with Army Reserve or National

The ROTC Program at fits of this combination pro- Army ruling allows students Clayton Junior College is a gram are excellent. During to participate in Advanced ROTC, an individual can at least six quarters of un-Many Advanced ROTC reasonably expect to earn dergraduate or graduate simultaneously participate the Guard or Reserve, a required to have six quart-the Simultaneous Member- additional $2,800 from his the colleges or universities ship Program (SMP). Rela- officer trainee duties with of the University System of

Upon commissioning in Previously, a student was year as a second lieutenant. lar institution, a limitation Guard and Reserve person- that blocked junior college nel meet one weekend per students from entering Admonth and have a two week vanced ROTC after their annual training require- first quarter since most attend for only six quarters.

TAKING THE OATH-LTC Nils Johannesen, Professor of Military Science at Georgia State University, administers the oath to Larry Green (left) of College Park and Douglas Legg of East Point as the two became the first Clayton Junior College students to contract into Advanced ROTC training.

ART WINNERS-Rob Taylor (left), chairman of the Clayton County Arts and Humanities Council, presents three Clayton Junior College students with cash awards for their winning entries at the recent Festival of Arts. Receiving awards were, from left, Teddi Kemph, first place; Linda Pollok, second; and Carol Vogtner, third. They were pictured before Kemph's painting "Facts of

Clayton Junior Names Students to Winter Quarter Dean's List Clayton Junior College has named 180 students to have not have not named by Dr. Billy R. mon, Linda B. Fritts; Nail, dean of the college, were 41 students from Jofrom Ellenwood, and one from Lake City. ander, Valerie A. Bahr, Judith K. Baker, Kimberly H. Bedford, Mary L. Bennett, Sandra P. Blalock, Mary E.

Clayton County.

Included on the honor list Crawford, Angela M. Dia- Woodruff.

Becky J. Nauck, Kathleen K. Morris, Alice V. Phillips,

Jonesboro residents Lucille L. Philpot, Linda S. named were Nelta C. Alex- Reagin, William G. Sander- Lummus, Donna R. McCar- McConnell, Julia M. Mcfer, Jeannie H. Sartwell; from Morrow were Cathy C. nesboro, 26 from Morrow, Phyllis M. Griffith, Nan G. Carolyn W. Bowen, Charles Lively, Donna G. Lowe, ald L. Cooper, Ann V. Lea A. Kelley, Paula C. Kendrick, Timothy S.

the Winter Quarter Dean's James L. Cottingham, Rus- A. Tittle, Kim R. Walling, Deborah K. Rawlins, Ann Thompson. List, including 119 from sell. W. Cottingham, Julie Michael K. Wells, Rhonda Reener, Allen C. Sutliff, M. Crane, Kathleen B. Q. Wheeler, and Emma J. Connie B. Tyler, Robert L. Wantland, Gail H. White, Named to the honor list and Thomas E. Zaworski. Riverdale students DEBORAH H. Glaze, Allen, Katherine A. Bland, named were Alison L. Allen, Laura L. Burnett, 21 from Riverdale, 13 from Johnson, Rommie Johnson, E. Brooks, Scott A. Brown, Suzette S. Escoe, Audrey Forest Park, nine from Col- Donald R. Kemp, Lynne C. Geraldine Champion, Don- K. Fetterman, Diane P. Goss, Alberta D. Harrison. ley, three from Rex, two Kimberly A. Morrissey, Grantham, Margaret Robert K. Hollis, Debbie L. Grasso, Elizabeth A. Jones, Hunter, Patty G. Lambert, Karen J. Loughman, Kelly R. McAleece, Richard E. Philip A. Nelson;

M. Strader, Robert J. Stur- Donna M. Padgett, Jacque- S. Rohrl, Frank R. Sawyer, Charlene E. Johsnon, Jane

FOREST PARK residents included were Dart A. Absher, Michele A. Bailey, Marie I. Cottrell, Mary J. Cypress, Dennis C. Davis, Eric M. Garrett, Joann Johnson, Jodi K. Johnson, Christina L. Ridgeway, T. Janice Roberson, Louise M. Shaw, Robert F. Tilson, Jr., and Jill M. Waldrop.

College Park residents named were Mary J. Ander-Lean, Shirley M. Murphey, son, Vanessa L. Faison, Pamela A. Hendrix, Ruth P. Betty M. Sibley, Howard JENNIFER L. Nabors, Essie V. O'Connor, Helen Jackson, Alan R. Johnson, Conley residents Cheri D. Dean, Martin A. Demerich, Berryman of Lake City. and Kathy M. Reese; along To make the Dean's List, pus, began in January and with Willard R. Atkinson, a student must maintain a ended in March.

ALSO included were and Karen A. Keheley of The winter quarter,

dents to the Morrow cam-

Ellenwood, and Patricia N. which attracted 2,707 stu-

First CJC Students Enter Advanced ROTC Training

Larry Greene of College mission as a second lieuten- at the end of their sopho-Park and Douglas Legg of ant. East Point became the first Army Advanced Reserve sworn in by LTC Nils Jo-hannesen, Professor of Military Science at Georgia State University, during ceremonies at the two-year institution recently. Based on a new ruling by the Department of Army, students may become eligible for Advanced ROTC while attending a junior college of the University System of Georgia. Upon completion of all ROTC requirements, they will be Army National Guard com-

Both Greene and Legg students of Clayton Junior are entering a program that College to contract into offers a commission after only two years. Since both Officer Training Corps have prior service in the (ROTC). The two were military, they were not required to take the two-year Basic ROTC course.

ACCORDING to LTC students eligible for this advanced placement include those who have participated in high school JROTC programs, or who are members of the Reserves or National Guard. Through this program, a college freshman with JROTC or prior service may offered an Army Reserve or work toward a Reserve or National Guard commission more year in college. four-year degree, they may Georgia State University. more than a three-month on the CJC campus. active duty obligation can be guaranteed.

Army ROTC is a coedu-Johannesen, other college cation leadership and management development program that leads to a commission in the active Army, in Advanced ROTC and the Army Reserve or Army National Guard. It is oriented toward the citizen-soldier months to three years on active duty and then pursues a civilian career with part-time participation in the Guard or Reserve.

THE ROTC PROGRAM tional $2,800 from his offiat Clayton Junior College is

Upon completion of a a cross-enrollment with then request active duty if Major Michael Grady and desired. Reserve or Na- SFC Douglas Williams are tional Guard duty with no full-time ROTC instructors Many Advanced ROTC students also participate in the Simultaneous Membership Program (SMP). Relatively new, this program allows a college student to simultaneously participate Army Reserve or National Guard.

The financial benefits of who spends from three this combination program are excellent. During two vears in Advanced ROTC, an individual can reasonably expect to earn $2,500 from ROTC and an addi-cer trainee duties with the Guard or Reserve.

Upon commissioning in the Guard or Reserve, a student would earn $1,800 a vear as a second lieutenant. Guard and Reserve personnel meet one weekend per month and have a two week annual training requirement each year.

THE NEW DEPART-MENT of Army ruling allows students to participate in Advanced ROTC as long as they have at least six quarters of undergraduate or graduate studies remaining in one of the colleges or universities of the University Sytem of Georgia.

TAKING THE OATH -LTC Niles Johannesen, Professor of Military Science at Georgia State University, administers the oath to Larry Green (left) of College Park and Douglas Legg of East Point as the two became the first Clayton Junior College students to contract in Advanced ROTC training.

THE FAYETTE SUN June 4, 1981

Local CJC Students Earn Scholarships

Two local students re- College; Ms. Faye T. Barr, ceived cash awards and Chairman of the Academic were among 30 who were Honors Committee; and honored with scholarship Ms. Annette B. Satterfield, achievement awards at Director of Admissions and Clayton Junior College's Registrar, made the presenseventh annual Academic tation. Honors Convocation on Wednesday, May 27. Cash award winners in- academic achievement, included sophomore Jean Ja- cluding all students at the cobs Loefer of Fayetteville, and freshman Gary Neal Royal of Fayetteville. Cash consecutive quarters. Acaawards, totaling $500, were demic discipline award winprovided by the Clayton ners and members of Phi Junior College Foundation, Theta Kappa, the National Representing the Founda- were recognized. tion were Board of Trustee members Ernest L. Cheaves point average in all work attempted.

Achievement award win-Billy R. Nail, Dean of the Loefer of Favetteville.

A number of other students were recognized for College who had made the Dean's List for two or more Junior College Society, also Scholarship achievement winners Clayton Junior Col and Thomas B. Clonts. lege's 1981 Academic Hon Foundation award winners ors Convocation were: Fran, compiled a perfect 4.0 grade cine M. Baer of Fayette ville; Laurie Ellen Bray of Fayetteville; Cynthia A. Clark of Peachtree City; ners accomplished at least a Mary Ann Delashmit of 3.8 grade point average East Point; Vera Anne Friafter completing at least 30 cano of Peachtree City; quarter credit hours, 15 of Alan Ray Johnson of Colwhich had to be at CJC. Dr. lege Park and Jean Jacobs

Two Clayton Junior College students have become the first students at the college to contract into the Army Advanced Reserve Office Training Corps (ROTC). (L-R) Larry Greene of College and Douglas Legg of East Point are sworn in by Lt. Col. Nils Johannesen, professor of Military Science at Georia State University, during ceremonies at the two-year institution recently. Based on a new ruling by the Department of Army, students may become eligible for advanced ROTC while attending a junior college of the University System of Georgia.

Scores Highest

_ Dart Absher, a Sophomore accounting major at Clayton Junior College, has been awarded $1,000 after scoring the highest in state-wide competition conducted by the Atlanta Chapter of Georgia Society of Certified Public Accountants. (L-R) Greg Kordeki, instructor of business administration at the college; and Steven Hunt, temporary instructor of accounting, congratulate Dart and ш Lynne Lively of - Jonesboro, who received $75 for honorable men-

Art Awards

Rob Taylor (left), Chairman of the Clayton County Arts and Humanities Council, presents three Clayton Junior College students with cash awards for their winning entries at the recent Festival of Arts. Receiving awards were, from left, Teddi Kemph (first place), Linda Pollok (second), and Carol Vogtner (third). They are pictured before Kemph's painting "Facts of Life."

THE CLAYTON SUN

May 21, 1981

J'Boro Students Wins Wall Street Journal Award

Lynne Lively of Jonesboro has been awarded the 'Wall Street Journal Student Achievement Award' at Clayton Junior College. An accounting major, Ms. Lively was selected by the faculty of the Division of Business, based on her outstanding academic achievements and overall student accomplishment. Her competition included Clayton Junior College business majors.

Awarded a year's sub-scription to "The Wall Street Journal," Ms. Lively also will receive a designed silver medal.

OUTSTANDING BUSINESS STUDENT-Lynne Lively (left) of Jonesboro talks about her wall Street Journal Student Achievement Award with Frances Bowen (right), Assistant Professor of Business Education, and John Feathers, Chairman of the Division of Business.

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR May 20, 1981

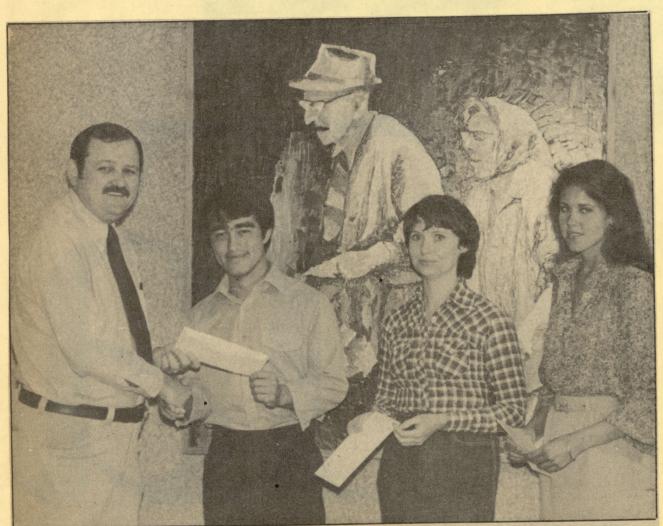

Student Wins Wall Street Award

(L-R) Lynne Lively of Jonesboro talks about her Wall Street Journal Achievement Award to John Feathers, chairman of the division of business at Clayton Junior College; and Frances Bowen, assistant professor of business education. An accounting major, Ms. Lively was selected by the faculty of the Division of Business, based on her outstanding academic achievements and over all student accomplishment. She was awarded a year's subscription to "The Wall Street Journal" and a silver medal.

Students pass exam

Alice K. Bowers and Carol A. Bergholt of Peachtree City and Jerrie Mayfield of Fayetteville. Clayton Junior College students enrolled in the m Dental Hygiene Program, w have passed the National Board Exam.

Along with 21 fellow students, the three will take the State Board Exam at Emory University June 11. Successful completion of that exam will allow the students to become licensded practicing hygienists in Georgia.

Winning Art Entries

THE CLAYTON SUN May 21, 1981

Rob Taylor, left, chairman of the Clayton County Arts and Humanities Council, presents three Clayton Junior College students with cash awards for their winning entries at the recent Festival of Arts.

Receiving awards were, from left, Teddi Kemph (first place), Linda Pollok (second), and Carol Vogtner (third). They were pictured before Kemph's painting

Artists Win Cash Awards In Festival Competition

Three Clayton Junior College students have received cash awards ities Council Chairman Rob Taylor presents awards to first for their winning art entries in the Festival of the Arts placer Teddi Kemph, second placer Linda Pollok and third placer competition sponsored by the Clayton County Arts and Human- Carol Vogtner. tities. (L-R) Chairman of the Clayton County Arts and Human-

Dean's List Released By College

Clayton Junior College has named 180 students to the winter quarter dean's list, including 119 from Clayton County. Included on the honor list, named by Dr. Billy R. Nail, Dean of the College, were 41 students from Jonesboro, 26 from Morrow, 21 from Riverdale, 13 from Forest Park, nine from College Park, three from Conley, three from Rex, two from Ellenwood, and one from Lake Jonesboro residents named were Nelta C. Alexander, Valerie A. Bahr, Judith K. Baker, Kimberly H. Bedford, Mary L. Bennett, Sandra P. Blalock, Mary E. Bowen, Ronald L Brinkman, Jacqueline G. Combs, James L. Cottingham, Russell W. Cottingham, Julie M. Crane. Kathleen B. Crawford, Angela M. Diamon and Linda B. Fritts.

Others are Deborah H. Glaze, Phyllis M. Griffith. Nan G. Johnson, Rommie Johnson, Donald R. Kemp, Lynne C. Lively, Donna G C Lowe, Kimberly A. Morrissey, Becky J. Nauck, Kathleen K. Morris, Alice V. Phillips, Lucille L. Philpot, Linda S. Reagin, William G. Sanderfer and Jeannie H.

Sartwell. Also, Janie B Scarborough, Betty M. Sibley, Howard M. Strader, Robert J. Sturdevant, Debra E. Taylor, Mary E. Tilghman, Janice A. Tittle, Kim R. Walling, Michael K. Wells, Rhonda Q. Wheeler and Emma J. Woodruff. Named to the honor list from Morrow were Cathy C. Allen, Katharine A. Bland, Carolyn W. Bowen, Charles ш E. Brooks, Scott A. Brown,

☐ Geraldine Champion, Donald L. Cooper, Ann V. Grantham, Margaret Grasso, Elizabeth A. Jones, Lea A. Kelley, Paula C. Kendrick, Timothy S. Lummus and Donna R. McCarney. Included are Jennifer L. Nabors, Donna M. Padgett, Jacqueline C. Peak, W. Dolores Perkins, Nancy A. Petersen, Deborah K. Rawlins, Ann Reener, Allen C. Sutcliff, Connie B. Tyler, Robert L. Wantland, Gail H. White and Thomas E

Zaworski. Riverdale students named were Alison L. Allen, Laura L. Burnett, Suzette S. Excoe, Audrey K. Fetterman, Diane P. Goss, Alberta D. Harrison, Robert K. Hollis, Debbie L. Hunter Patty G. Lambert, Karen J. Loughman, Kelly R. McAleece, Richard E. Mc-Connell, Julia M. McLean, Shirley M. Murphey and Philip A. Nelson.

Also, Essie V. O'Connor. Helen S. Rohrl, Frank R. Sawyer, Lois D. Stallings, Diane B. Thacker, and Elizabeth K. Thompson

Forest Park residents included were Dart A. Absher, Michele A. Bailey, Marie I. Cottrell, Mary J. Cypress, Dennis C. Davis, Eric M. Garrett, Joann Johnson. Jodi K. Johnson, Christina L. Ridgeway, T. Janice Roberson Louise M. Shaw, Robert Tilson Jr. and Jill M. Waldrop.

Residents named from the Clayton County part of College Park were Mary J. Anderson, Vanessa L. Faison, Pamela A. Hendrix, Ruth P. Jackson, Alan R. Johnson, Charlene E. Johnson, Jane M. Lee, Anthony A. Myers and Barry G.

Dental Hygiene Students To Take State Board Exam

enrolled in the dental hygiene program at Clayton Junior College have passed the National Board Exam, according to Dr. Leonard K. Schreiber, Supervising Dentist and Head of the Department of Dental completing their seventh Marietta; Carol A. Bergholt quarter of study in the two- of Peachtree City; Alice K. year program, will take the Bowers of Peachtree City;

All sophomore students State Board Exam at Emory Elizabeth Byelick of University on June 11. Successful completion of that examination will allow the students to become a licensed practicing dental hygienist in the State of Georgia.

Students included were Sandra D. Barnes of Union The 24 students, currently City; Cynthia Bearden of Lilburn; Suzette S. Escoe of Riverdale; Vanessa I. Faison of College Park.

Judith Fodor Segars of Norcross; Melba L. Freeman of Lilburn; Katrina U. Lamb of Conyers; Sherry L. Laster of Jonesboro; Cynthia A. Leech of Atlanta; Jerrie Mayfield of Fayetteville; Cindy L. Moore of Tucker; Judy P. Morris of Gainesville.

Debbie J. Pierce of Stone Mountain; Nubia Piraquive of Dunwoody; Linda K. Potts of Forest Park; Lecis M. Rogers of Doraville; Frances L. Shaddix of Ellenwood; Traci R. Thompson of Lilburn; Brenda K. Wilson of Milner; Loria L. Wofford of Cleveland; and Kimberly L. Wood of Conyers.

Honors Day Celebration

Susan Croft, an English teacher at Jonesboro Senior High, gives the honors address at the Seventh Annual Academic Honors Convocation for Clayton Junior College Wednesday morning. (Left) Thirty-one students were honored at the ceremony. Ms. Croft was a member of the first class at CJC (1969).

Clayton Junior Students Win Awards

Three Clayton Junior College students won awards at the Phi Beta Lambda statewide competition in Atlanta. (L-R) Janice Peek took third place, Bobbie Scott took first place as did Karen MacMahon of Jonesboro. (Far Right) Frances Bowen is the assistant professor of business education at the college. Ms. Scott and Ms. MacMahon will wear their Georgia crowns in Phi Beta Lambda's national competition scheduled July 5 through 8 in Chicago.

Cecelia Vaughn (left), program coordinator for the Adult Rehabilitation Center in Forest Park, presents a certificate of appreciation to Marilyn Thomas, president of the freshman nursing class at Clayton Junior College. Ms. Vaughn, a Registered Nurse and a graduate of the Clayton Junior College Nursing Program, recognized the students for volunteering their services at the Forest Park Center. Looking on are Barbara McCant (right), Head of the College's Department of Nursing, and Nursing faculty members Kathryn Donovan (second from left) and Katrina Barnes (center).

NEWS/DAILY June 9, 1981

Scholarship Winner

Cathy McKenzie, 1981 graduate of Jonesboro Sr. High School, has been awarded a $300 scholarship by the Clayton County Educators Association to attend Clayton Jr. College. Ms. McKenzie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Condle McKenzie of Morrow. The scholarship is awarded on the basis of high gradepoint average to a high school graduate who intends to become a teacher, and is the only scholarship made by the CCEA.

Hygiene Students Pass National Exam At Clayton Junior

the National Board Exam, son of College Park; according to Dr. Leonard K. Judith Fodor Segars of Schreiber, Supervising Den- Norcross; Melba L. Freetist and Head of the De- man of Lilburn; Katrina U. partment of Dental Hy- Lamb of Conyers; Sherry L.

rently completing their sev- Jerrie Mayfield of Fayetteenth quarter of study in the ville; Cindy L. Moore of two-year program, will take Tucker; Judy P. Morris of the State Board Exam at Gainsville; Emory University on June Debbie J. Pierce of Stone 11. Successful completion of Mountain; Nubia Piraquive that examination will allow of Dunwoody; Linda K. the students to become a Potts of Forest Park; Lecis hygienist in the State of Frances L. Shaddix of El-of Peachtree City; Alice K. yers.

All sophomore students Bowers of Peachtree City; enrolled in the Dental Hy- Elizabeth Byelick of Lilgiene Program at Clayton burn; Suzette S. Escoe of Junior College have passed Riverdale; Vanessa I. Fai-

Laster of Jonesboro; Cyn-The 24 students, cur- thia A. Leech of Atlanta;

icensed practicing dental M. Rogers of Doraville; lenwood; Traci R. Thomp-Students included were son of Lilburn; Brenda K. Sandra D. Barnes of Union Wilson of Milner; Loria L. City; Cynthia Bearden of Wofford of Cleveland; and Marietta; Carol A. Bergholt Kimberly L. Wood of ConFayetteville, Morrow Students Get Awards

NEWS/DAILY

Top Students Honored For Performances

included among 30 who were honored with scholarship achievement awards at Clayton Junior College's seventh annual Academic Honors Convocation on Wednesday, May 27.

C. Susan Croft, a member of the English faculty at Jonesboro Senior High School and a 1971 honor graduate of Clayton Junior College, delivered the Honors Address at the annual event, held to honor students with high-ranking academic grades.

Cash award winners were sophomore Jean Jacobs Loefer of Fayetteville, and freshman Gary Neal Royal of Fayetteville, Louise cash awards and were Park, and Gail Hood White of Morrow. Cash awards. totaling $500, were provided by the Clayton Junior College Foundation, Inc.

> Foundation were Board of Trustee members Ernest L. Cheaves and Thomas B. Clonts. Foundation award winners compiled a perfect 4.0 grade point average in all work attempted. Achievement award > winners accomplished at least a 3.8 grade point average after completing at least 30 quarter credit hours, 15 of which had to be at CJC. Dr. Billy R. Nail, Dean of the College; Ms. Faye T. Barr,

Director of Admissions and Registrar, made the presentations.

A number of other students were recognized for Representing the academic achievement, including all students at the College who had made the Dean's List for two or more consecutive quarters. Academic discipline award winners and members of Phi Theta Kappa, the National Junior College Honor Society, also were recognized. Scholarship achievement winners at Clayton Junior Loefer of Fayetteville; College's 1981 Academic Honors Convocation were:

Francine M. Baer of Chairman of the Academic Fayetteville; Laurie Ellen

Bulfin of Douglasville; Judy Kay Carmickle Jonesboro; Tamara Kay Chaffin of Hampton; Cynthia A. Clark of Peachtree City; Jacqueline Green Combs of

Jonesboro; Mary Ann Delashmit of East Point; Vera Anne Fricano of Peachtree City; Debbie Lynn Hunter of Riverdale; Gail Dover Jackson of Rex; Alan Ray Johnson of College Park; Sandra Lynn Landers of Jonesboro; Lynne Cochran Lively

Jonesboro; Jean Jacobs Richard E. McConnell of Riverdale; Joyce Atkinson Morris of Forest Park;

W. Delores Perkins of Honors Committee; and Ms. Bray of Fayetteville; Scott Morrow; Lucille Lynne

Four students received Moseley Shaw of Forest Annette B. Satterfield, Brown of Morrw; Terri Gay Philpot of Jonesboro; Helen Smith Rohrl of Riverdale; Gary Neal Royal of Fayetteville; Jeanie H. Sartwell of Jonesboro; Louise Mosely Shaw of Forest Park; Robert J. Sturdevant of Jonesboro; Elizabeth K. Thompson of

> Brenda Adams Tipton of Decatur; Gail Hood White of Morrow; Brenda Kay Wilson of Milner; and Thomas Edward Zaworski of

Riverdale:

AWARD WINNERS (L-R) GARY NEAL ROYAL, LOUISE SHAW AND GAIL WHITE Were Congratulated By Foundation Trustees Ernest Cheaves and Thomas Clonts

NEWS/DAILY 5/25/81

Essay Winner

Lynne Lively Jonesboro (left), discusses her winning essay from the National Association of Accountants undergraduate manuscript contest with Greg S. Kordecki, Instructor of Business Administration at Clayton Junior College. Ms. Lively, a sophomore accounting major at the two-year institution near Morrow, received the award from the Atlanta Central Chapter of the National Association.

Sherri Rich joins Herald

the staff of Henry County

Sherri Rich has joined Herald as a news and sports writer.

Miss Rich is a 1981 graduate of the University of Georgia where she received an ABJ in Newspapers. She is a 1978 graduate of Morrow Senior High School and attended Clayton Junior College before transferring to the University of Georgia.

While at the University of Georgia, she was a staff writer on the student newspaper Red and Black.

A Georgia Merit Scholar, she is a member of Sigma Delta Chi. Miss Rich enjoys read-

Sherri Rich ing, jogging and sports.

(L-R) GARY NEAL ROYAL, LOUISE MOSELEY SHAW AND GAIL HOOD WHITE CONGRATULATED BY ERNEST L CHEAVES, THOMAS B. CLONTS
The Three Clayton Junior College Students Received Cash Awards During The Academic Honors Convocation At The College

HONORS SPEAKER (C) C. SUSAN CROFT IS FORMER CLAYTON STUDENT (L) President Harry S. Downs And Program Chairman Faye Barr

College Honors

Achievers

Four students received cash awards and were included among 30 who were honored with scholarship achievement awards at Clayton Junior College's seventh annual Academic Honors Convocation on May grades.

C. Susan Croft, a member of the English faculty at Jonesboro Senior High School and a 1971 honor graduate of Clayton Junior College, delivered the Honors Address at the annual event, held to honor students with high-ranking academic grades.

Cash award winners were sophomore Jean Jacobs Loefer of Fayetteville, and freshman Gary Neal Royal of Fayetteville, Louise Moseley Shaw of Forest Park, and Gail Hood White of Morrow.

Cash awards, totaling $500, were provided by the Clayton Junior College Foundation Inc.

Representing the Foundation were Board of Trustee members Ernest L. Cheaves and Thomas B. Clonts.

Foundation award winners compiled a perfect 4.0 grade point average in all work attempted.

Achievement award winners accomplised at least 3.8 grade point average after completing at least 30 quarter credit hours, 15 of which had to be at the college.

Dr. Billy R. Nail, dean of

Dr. Billy R. Nail, dean of the college; Ms. Faye T. Barr, chairman of the academic honors committee; and Ms. Annette B. Satterfield, director of admissions and registrar, made the presentations.

A number of other students were recognized for academic achievement, including all students at the college who had made the dean's list for two or more consecutive quarters.

Academic discipline award winners and members of Phi Theta Kappa, the National Junior College Honor Society, also were recognized.

Scholarship achievement winners at Clayton Junior College's 1981 Academic Honors Convocation were Scott Brown of Morrow, Judy Kay Carmickle of Jonesboro and Jacqueline Green Combs of Jonesboro.

Others are Debbie Lynn Hunter of Riverdale, Gail
Dover Jackson of Rex, Alan Ray Johnson of College Park, Sandra Lynn Landers of Jonesboro, Lynne Cochran Lively of Jonesboro, Richard E. McConnell of Riverdale and Joyce Atkinson Morris of Forest Park.

Also, W. Dolores Perkins of Morrow, Lucille Lynne Philpot of Jonesboro, Helen Smith Rohrl of Riverdale, Jeanie H. Sartwell of Jonesboro, Louise Moseley Shaw of Forest Park, Robert J. Sturdevant of Jonesboro and Elizabeth K. Thompson of Riverdale.

Others are Gail Hood White of Morrow and Thomas Edward Zaworski of Mor-

In Appreciation

Cecelia Vaughn, left, Program Coordinator for the Adult Rehabilitation Center in Forest Park, presents a certificate of appreciation to Marilyn Thomas, president of the freshman nursing class at Clayton Junior College. Ms. Vaughn, a Registered Nurse and a graduate of the Clayton Junior College Nursing Program, recognized the students for volunteering their services at the Forest Park Center. Looking on are Barbara McCant, right, head of the college's department of Nursing, and nursing faculty members Kathyrn Donovan, second from left, and Katrina Barnes, center.

ACTIVITIES

Clayton Junior College will play host to another in a long string of political speakers when Dock Davis visits

there July 8. Davis, who is a candidate for the Sixth District U.S. Representative seat which will be open this November and who is running against Jim Huffman for a chance to unseat incumbent Newt Gingrich, will deliver a speech in Room B-12 beginning at 10:00 a.m.

He is scheduled to talk for approximately 30 minutes and then field questions from the audience.

The appearance by Davis is the latest in a series sponsored by the CJC College Political Union, a 60-member club which was formed this spring. According to Dr. Joe Trachtenberg, a co-advisor to the organization, the purpose of this new Union is to arouse student interest and promote political activity at Clayton.

Despite its brief existence, the group has managed to turn the college into something of a local political forum. Such figures as Senator Herman Talmadge, Dawson Mathis and Mack Mattingly have graced the campus, as has Norman Underwood.

The Union has sponsored a voter registration drive and will conduct a straw vote before the presidential election this fall. A recent speech by former Republican Presidential hopeful Philip Crane drew the largest audience in CJC's eleven-year history. Although Davis would not specify the topics to be covered during his stop at Clayton Junior, he has said he plans to address himself to campaign issues. In the past, says Trachtenberg, these issues have included economic problems, unemployment and defense matters.

Dr. Trachtenberg urges anyone interested to show p—"We'd love to have the public attend," he said.

Small Business Programs are Set

Two separate programs designed for small busines whers will be conducted at Clayton Junior College next

A two-evening program on "Effective Advertising and Promotion" will be offered Monday and Wednesday, July 7 and 9, and an all-day program on "How to Apply for an SBA Loan" will be conducted Saturday, July 12. The Monday-Wednesday program will be conducted between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. A $15 registration fee covers both three-hour sessions. Participants will gain tips on how to choose the most effective advertising media at the lowest cost per customer, and how to get the most from public relations. Saturday's program will be conducted from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. and will offer information on preparing a loan package and meeting the requirements for Small Business Administration financing.

Both programs are part of a continuing series sponsored by the college's Small Business Development

For more information, call the SBDC office at 961-3414. To register, call the Office of Community Services

July 7 Seminar at CJC Teaches Preservation

during two free programs materials and storage times scheduled at Clayton Junior also will be covered. College July 7.

workshops, beginning at 2 relishes, jams and jellies.

Correct ways to freeze and meats, and seafoods. Inforcan foods will be discussed mation on freezers, packing

Workshop participants will learn ways to use both Kathy Wages of the water bath canners and Clayton County Extension pressure canners for fruits, Service will lead two-hour vegetables, meats, pickles, p.m. and 6:30 p.m. respec- For more information, call tively. Included on the the Clayton Junior College programs will be tips on how Office of Community Serto freeze fruits, vegetables, vices at 961-3550.

Saturday

NEWS/DAILY July 3, 1980. •CANNING, FREEZING FOODS course Monday, July 7 NEWS/DAILY at 2 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. respectively, each two hours in length, at Clayton Jr. College. Free. Tips on how to freeze fruits, vegetables, meats, seafoods. Information on freezers, packaging materials, storage times. Offered by Clayton Extension Service, Kathy Wages. Register in person at CJC Office of Community Services. Courses to be neld in "B" building. Call 961-3550 for more information. *HOW TO APPLY FOR SBA LOANS workshop Saturday, July 12 at Clayton Jr. College in Room D-112. $17 fee. 10 .m.-3 p.m. Sponsored by CJC Small Business Development

Saturday

July 1, 1980 NEWS/DAILY •CANNING, FRE EZING FOODS course Monday, July 7 at 2 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. respectively, each two hours in length, at Clayton . Jr. College. Free. Tips on how to freeze fruits, vegetables, meats, seafoods. Information on freezers, packaging materials, storage times. Offered by Clayton Extension Service, Kathy Wages. Register in person at CJC Office of Community Services. Courses to be held in "B" building. Call 961-3550 for more information.

Canning Course Slated At CJC

Correct ways to freeze and can foods will be discussed during two free programs scheduled at Clayton Junior College July 7.

Kathy Wages of the Clayton County Extension Service will lead two-hour workshops, beginning at 2 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. respectively. Included in the programs will be tips on how to freeze fruits, vetetables, meats, and seafoods. Information on freezers, packaging materials and storage times also will be

SAT seminar slated at CJC

A free preparation semi-A free preparation semi-nar for students who are planning to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test will be conducted at Clayton Junior College tomorrow beginning at 7:30 p.m. O CJC will administer the SAT to prospective students on Oct. 30 and Dec.

Monday NEWS/DAILY

July 7, 1980 • EFFECTIVE ADVERTISING AND SALES PROMOTION workshop scheduled Monday, July 7 and Wednesday, July 9 in Room L-200 at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow, 6:30-9:30 p.m. each day. $15 fee covers both days. To register call the CJC office of Community Services at 961-3550. Sponsored by CJC Small Business Development

C.JC Plans Business Workshops

Two separate programs designed for small business owners will be conducted at Clayton Junior College this

A two-evening program on "Effective Advertising and Promotion" will be offered on Monday and Wednesday, July 7 and 9, and an all-day program on "How to Apply for an SBA Loan" will be conducted on Saturday, July

The Monday-Wednesday or program will be conducted between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. A $15 registration fee covers both three-hour sessions.

Participants will gain tips on how to choose the most effective advertising media at the lowest cost per customer, and how to get the most from public relations.

Saturday's program will Saturday's program will be conducted from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. and will offer information on preparing a loan package and meeting the requirements for Small Business Administration financing.

> Both programs are part of a continuing series sponsored by the College's Small Business Development

For more information, call the SBDC office at 961-3414. To register, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

CJC Offers Non-Credit Typing Course

A non-credit refresher typing course will begin at Clayton Junior College next

The five-week course, to start on July 24, will be taught on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 8 until 10

The class is designed for anyone who is already familiar with the keyboard but needs to brush up on skills. Improvement of techniques as well as increasing speed and accuracy will be stressed, and electric typewriters will be used. A $28 registration fee is required. For complete information, contact the Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Program Signups Accepted

A four-week program on 'drying flowers' will begin July 31 at Clayton Junior College.

The two-hour sessions will be held every Thursday from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m.

Participants will learn different techniques for drying flowers, including sand, air and microwave ov-

Instructions on arranging flowers also will be given. A $12 registration fee is required.

To register, or to obtain more information, persons may contact the Office of Community Services at

Refresh Your Typing Skills at CJC

A non-credit refresher typing course will begin Clayton Junior College next week. The five-week course, >to start on July 24, will be Staught on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 8 until 10 p.m. The class is designed for anyone who is already familiar with the keyboard but needs to wbrush up on skills. Improvement of techniques as well as increasing speed and accuracy will be stressed, and electric ப typewriters will be used. A $28 registration fee is □ required. For For complete information, contact the Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

and can foods will be discussed during two free programs scheduled at Clayton Junior College Monday.

Kathy Wages, home economist with the Clayton County Extension Service, will lead the two hour workshops, beginning at 2 p.m.

and 6:30 p.m. Included in the program will be tips on how to freeze fruits, vegetables, meats and seafoods.

Information on freezers,

Canning Workshop Planned
THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR
The correct way to freeze packaging materials and storage times will be dis-

Workshop participants will learn ways to use both water bath canners and pressure canners.

SAT To Be Given & At CJC Thursday

Clayton Junior College will administer the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) to its prospective students on

A requirement for applicants enrolling in college Scredit programs, the SAT will be prior to the start of Fall Quarter classes. Additional tests will be given on August 7 and September 4. New students have until September 2 to file all applications and credentials with the College's Office of Admissions and Records.

For more information about the SAT or other ad-Smission requirements, call the Office of Admissions and Records (961-3550) or the Office of Counseling and Testing (961-3515)

Fall Quarter classes will begin on September 23 and continue into early December.

SBA Loan Program Set At CJC

An all-day program on "How to Apply for an SBA Clayton Junior College Saturday, July 12.

Designed for small business owners, the program is another in a continuing series sponsored by the College's Small Business Development Center (SBDC). To be conducted between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., a $17 registration fee includes the cost of lunch. A Participants will gain tips on how to prepare a loan package and meet the requirements for Small Business Administration financing.

CJC to offer

'drying flowers' A four-week program on "drying flowers" will begin next week at Clayton Junior College.

Starting on July 31, the two-hour sessions will be held every Thursday from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m. Participants will learn different techniques for Sdrying flowers, including sand, air and microwave ovens. Instructions on arranging flowers also will be given, and a $12 registration fee is re-

ш quired. 王 To register, or to obtain more information, contact the Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Drying Flowers Program At CJC

A four-week program on "drying flowers" will begin next week at Clayton Junior College.

Starting on July 31, the two-hour sessions will be held every Thursday from ≥7:30 until 9:30 p.m. ⊇Participants will learn different techniques for drying flowers, including sand, air and microwave Lovens. Instructions on arranging flowers also will De given, and a $12 registration fee is required. To register, or to obtain more information, contact To register, or to obtain the Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Tennis Courses

Offered At CJC Three separate tennis classes will start next week at Clayton Junior Col-

A beginners class and two intermediate classes will be offered, all starting on July 24 and continuing for

Scheduled for Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 5:30 until 7 p.m., the beginning tennis class will emphasize the fundamentals of the rame, including information on rules, etiquette, equipment and practice on Both intermediate classes will be offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The first will meet from 8 until 10 a.m. and the second from 7 until 8:30 p.m. Each is designed for players 16 years and up who now play but need improvement on their game.

A registration fee of $20 is required, and classes are limited to 24 per session. Each student must provide his own tennis ball, racket, and shoes.

CJC Musical

The musical, play, 'Pirates of Penzance' will be performed by Clayton Junior College students on Friday and Saturday, August 15 and

Performances of the Gilbert and Sullivan production will begin at 8 p.m. each evening in the College's Lecture Hall (Room G-132).

Students and former students cast in roles for the play are: Steven Graver, Bert Lyons, James Stanley, Debra STaylor, and Tammy Wells, of Jonesboro; Lenora Holloway and Richard Holloway of Decatur; Michael Holt + and Martha Wilson of Forest Park; Randy 5Roten and Larry Rutledge of Riverdale; John Hembree and James Reach of Stockbridge; Lori Cawthon of East Point; Julie Rogers of Fayetteville; and Kathy Thurman of Rex.

Accompanying instrumentalist will be Lyra 営Crapps, planist; Homer Holloway, violinist; and Daniel Ivester, bassist. The musical Sproduction, sometimes subtitled "Slave of 出Duty," revolves around □ a boy named Frederic (James Reach) who was mistakenly apprenticed to the pirates of Penzance by his nursemaid Ruth (Debra Taylor). Confusion arrises in the story when the Major General (Steven Graver) unknowingly comes to the Island where the pirates are staying.

THE HENRY HERALD August 20, 1980 CJC Band to present concert

The Clayton Commun- sion charge. ity Band, under the direction of Dr. Ed Clayton Junior College on Thursday evening, August 21.

The Community Band, times their own music co-sponsored by the College and the Clayton creation Department,

The band includes 45 area musicians who have Bridges, will be pre- met weekly during the sented in concert at Summer Quarter. Offered free, musicians provide their own instruments and some-stands for concerts. For information on County Parks and Re- Thursday evening's concert, or how to join the will give its Summer Community Band during concert in the College's the Fall Quarter, call the Lecture Hall (Room G- College's Office of Com-132), beginning at 8 p.m. munity Services at There will be no admis- 961-3550.

SAT Seminar

A Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) preparation seminar will be conducted at Clayton

Set At C.IC

Junior College on Thursday. This free seminar, scheduled in the Round Building at 7 p.m., will explain the types of questions asked on the test, and how it is scored, as well as how to do your best on standardized

The SAT is required by the College for all applicants enrolling in college credit programs. The first of these tests scheduled prior to the start of Fall Quarter classes will be on July 17. Additional dates are set for August 7 and September 4. For more information about the SAT preparation seminar, call the Office of Admissions and Records at 961-3550. Contact the Office of Counseling and Testing at 961-3515 for information about SAT dates.

Jazz, Barbecue

July 9, 1980

Political Rally Due July 19

By DEBORAH SMITH Staff Writer

Clayton County residents are going to get an opportunity to eat barbecue, listen to Clayton Junior College's jazz band and hear a swarm of politicians speak at an old fashioned political rally on July 19.

The rally, being sponsored by the Morrow Junior Woman's Club, will take place at the Morrow Municipal Festivities are scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. with a barbecue lunch.

The barbecue will be sold at $3 per plate until 8 p.m. and the rally will begin at 7 p.m., according to Woman's Club President Janie Griffin. Mrs. Griffin says the jazz band will probably perform shortly before the

This is the second such event organized by the club, Mrs. Griffin been invited, and Mrs. Griffin believes a large number of the politicians will

Morrow Mayor George Crowe will host the rally, which will allow each opposed candidate to make a brief good response," she says.

Mrs. Griffin says unoppossed incumbents will be given no speech time, but will be introduced to the campaign season, and got "a very and state posts of Clayton County have

All candidates for local, district

"The rally is going to give the people of the county possibly the only opportunity they'll have to see and hear the people running for offices," she points out. The Woman's Club hopes to sponsor the event during future elections as well, Mrs. Griffin says.

Clayton Junior College

Tennis Classes Offered On Morrow Campus

Three separate tennis classes will start next week at Clayton Junior College.

A beginners class and two intermediate classes will be offered, all starting on July 24 and continuing for five

Scheduled for Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 5:30 until 7 p.m., the beginning tennis class will em- designed for players 16 961-3550.

damentals of the game, including information on rules, etiquette, equipment and practice on strokes. Both intermediate phasize

classes will be offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The first will meet from 8 until 10 a.m. and the second from 7 until 8:30 p.m. Each is play but need improvement on their A registration fee of years and up who now

$20 is required, and classes are limited to 24 per session. student must provide his own tennis ball, racket, and shoes.

For more information, contact the Office of Community Services at

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS July 23, 1980 Dried Flowers Course at CJC

'Drying Flower' Program Set at Clayton

A four-week program on cluding sand, air and drying flowers will beginnext microwave ovens. week at Clayton Junior Col-

Starting July 31, the two-required. hour sessions will be held every Thursday from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m. Participants

Instructions on arranging flowers also will be given, and a $12 registration fee is

To register, or to obtain more information, contact will learn different techni- the Office of Community ques for drying flowers, in- Services at 961-3550.

Flower Workshop At CJC

College. two-hour sessions will be required. held every Thursday from

A four-week program on flowers, including sand, air "drying flowers" will begin and microwave ovens. next week at Clayton Junior Instructions on arranging flowers also will be given, Starting on July 31, the and a $12 registration fee is

To register, or to obtain 7:30 until 9:30 p.m. Partici- more information, contact pants will learn different the Office of Community techinques for drying Services at 961-3550.

A four-week program on "drying flowers" will begin next week at Clayton Junior College. Starting on July 31, the two-hour sessions will be held every Thursday from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m. Participants will learn different techniques for drying flowers, including sand, air and microwave ovens. Instructions on arranging flowers also will be given, and a $12 registration fee is required.

To register, or to obtain more information, contact the Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

NEWS/DAILY August 6, 1980 CJC To Administer SAT Thursday

Aptitude Test (SAT) to its prospective students on Thursday evening. A requirement for applicants enrolling in college credit programs, the SAT will be given in Room G-132, beginning at 6 p.m. It is not necessary to sign up prior to taking the three-hour test, but a $9.25 fee will be payable at the time of Thursday's SAT administration is another in a series planned by the College prior to the start of Fall Quarter classes. Additional tests will be given on September 4 and 6. but new students have only until September 2 to file all

Clayton Junior College will administer the Scholastic applications and credentials with the Office of Admission and Records.

For more information about the SAT or other admission requirements, call the Office of Admissions and Records (961-3550) or the Office of Counseling and Testing (961-

Wednesday •CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE MUSIC RECITAL Wednesday, Dec. 3 at 10 a.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Free and

SAT Test Scheduled Thursday

Clayton Junior College beginning at 6 p.m. It is not first of three planned by the prospective students on Thursday evening. A requirement for applicants enrolling in college

tic Aptitude Test (SAT) to taking the three-hour test. A $9.25 fee is payable at the time of testing.

will administer the Scholas- necessary to sign up prior to College prior to the start of fall quarter classes.

New students have until Sept. 2 to file all applica-Thursday's test is the tions and credentials with the college's office of admissions and records. For more information.

NEWS/DAILY

961-3515

persons can call 961-3550 or

November 28,

credit programs, the test will be given in Room G-132, Three Tennis Classes Are Available At Clayton Junior College Campus

Clayton Junior College in Morrow The Clayton Junior College College ginning tennis class will emphasize offers the individual in Clayton County tennis courts are located just behind a multitude of recreational activities the Physical Education Building and including facilities for tennis.

Six courts are available for use on tennis courts. the campus of Clayton Junior College. Three seperate tennis classes will These courts can be used by vis-start next week at Clayton Junior ш itors to the college when not in use by College. classes in conjunction with Clayton Junior College.
For those

uning, intermediate and advanced classes are offered for the indiviual.

A beginners class and two in-For those interested in learning starting on July 24 and continuing for more about the game of tennis, begintermediate classes will be offered, all the archery range is located beside the offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The first will meet from 8 until 10 a.m. and the second from 7-8:30 p.m. Each is designed for players 16 years and up who now play but need improvement on their game. A registration fee of $20 is required Scheduled for Tuesdays and and classes are limited to 24 per the fundamentals of the game, including information on rules, etiquette,

Both intermediate classes will be equipment and practice on strokes.

Thursdays, from 5:30-7 p.m., the be-session.

be performed by Clayton Performances of the Gilbert and Sullivan production will begin at 8 p.m. each evening at the college's lecture hall (Room

Students and former students cast in roles for the play are: Steven Graver, Bert Lyons, James Stanley, Debra Taylor and Tammy Wells, all of Jonesboro; Lenora Holloway and Richard Holloway of Decatur; Michael Holt and Martha Wilson of Forest Park; Randy Roten and Larry Rutledge of Riverdale;

John Hembree and James Reach of Stockbridge; Lori Cawthon of East Point; Julie Rogers of Fayetteville; and Kathy Thurman of Rex. Accompanying in-strumentalist will be Lyra Crapps, pianist; Homer Holloway, violinist; and Daniel Ivester, bassist.

The plot of musical Reach) who was mistakenly when the Major General loway, associate professor of production, sometimes subtitled "Slave of Duty", Penzance by his nursemaid, ly comes to the island where College, the performances Junior College students on revolves around a boy Ruth (Debra Taylor). Con- the pirates are staying. will be free and advant Friday and Saturday, named Frederick (James fusion arises in the story Directed by Doris Hol- tickets are not necessary.

REHEARSING-Clayton Junior College students Julie Rogers, James Stanley, Debra Taylor, James who will perform in the musical play, "Pirates of Penzance," August 15-16 include, from left: (kneeling) John Hembree, Michael Holt, Larry Rutledge, (standing) Martha Wilson, Steve Graver, Test (SAT) "preparation seminar" has been scheduled at Clayton Junior College to help students who plan to enroll in college credit programs this Fall.

The SAT seminar, free to anyone who would like to know more about the entrance examination. will begin at 7 p.m. on Thursday evening, August 21.

The College will administer the SAT to its prospective students on two more occasions prior to the start of Fall Quarter classes. A requirement for applicants will begin on September enrolling in credit pro- 23 and continue until the grams, the SAT will be last of final examinations given on Thursday even- are given on December ing, September 4, and 11.

NEWS/DAILY September 2, 1980

Community

Calendar

Thursday •SCHOLASTIC APTITUDE TEST (SAT) for prospective Clayton Jr. College students planned Thursday, Sept. 4 at 6 p.m. in Room G-132. No signup in advance is necessary, but students encouraged to contact personnel in Office of

Counseling and Testing, or Office of Admissions and

Records prior to test date. $9.25 fee payable at beginning of •LEADERSHIP CLAYTON workshop, first of ten sessions, conducted by Clayton Chamber of Commerce,

Thursday, Sept. 4, 4:30-8 p.m. in room D-200. R.C. Bolander,

CJC Dean of Students, chairman of Chamber's Leadership

Saturday

•SCHOLASTIC APTITUDE TEST (SAT) for prospective

Clayton Jr. College students planned Saturday, Sept. 6 at 10 a.m. in Room G-132. No advance signup necessary, but

students encouraged to contact personnel in Office of

Counseling and Testing, or Office of Admissions and

Records prior to test date. $9.25 fee payable at beginning of

Saturday

•CLAYTON PTA Day With The Braves planned Saturday, Sept. 6 for all councils in south metro area. Tickets $5

•SCHOLASTIC APTITUDE TEST (SAT) for prospective

Clayton Jr. College students planned Saturday, Sept. 6 at 10

For New Students

in enrolling in fall quarter Examinations will be credit classes at Clayton given in Room G-132, beginning at 6 p.m. on Thursday and at 10 a.m. on Saturday.

It is not necessary for students to sign up prior to taking the three-hour test, but students should contact the Office of Admissions and Records (phone 961-3500)

prior to the testing dates to make sure all other require-

The SAT is required for purposes of academic placement. A $9.25 fee is payable

The fall quarter at Clayton Junior College will begin with registration on Monday, Sept. 22, and classes will begin the following

at the time of testing.

ments are in order.

New students interested Sept. 6).

Junior College have until Saturday to complete one of

The college will administer the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) for its prospective students on this evening (Saturday morning, the requirements.

September 7, 1980

Clayton Task Force.

NEWS/DAILY

each for field level seats.

A Scholastic Aptitude Saturday morning, September 6.

Thursday's seminar has been designed to make participants aware of the types of questions asked on the SAT, how it is scored, and how easy it is for almost anyone to qualify for entrance into college credit programs.

It is not necessary to sign up prior to the seminar or either of the two SAT administrations. However, anyone interested should call the College's Office of Admissions and Records.

Fall Quarter classes

SAT Student Seminar Set At CJC Thursday

(SAT) "preparation programs. has been scheduled at Clayton Junior College to help students who plan to enroll in college credit programs this Fall.

The SAT seminar, free to anyone who would like to know more about the entrance examination, will begin at 7 p.m. on Thursday evening.

The College will administer the SAT to its prospective students on two more occasions prior to the start of Fall Quarter classes. A requirement for applicants enrolling in credit programs, the SAT will be given on Thursday evening, September 4, and Saturday morning, September 6.

Thursday's seminar has been designed to make participants aware of the ypes of questions asked on the SAT, how it is scored, and how easy it is for almost anyone to qualify for en-

A Scholastic Aptitude Test trance into college credit

August 20, 1980

It is not necessary to sign up prior to the seminar or either of the two SAT

CJC Plans SAT Test

Clayton Junior College has scheduled two ad-ministrations of the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) for its prospective students next week, including a special Saturday morning testing. A requirement for applicants enrolling in college credit programs, the SAT will be given in Room G-132, beginning at 6 p.m. on Thursday, September 4, and 10 a.m. on Saturday, September

The Saturday morning testing will be the first ever offered by the twoyear institution near Morrow, according to Dr. Jean M. Jones, Director of Counceling and Testing. "For some people who work a 40hour week, Thursday evening may be a low point in the week in terms of energy," Dr. Jones explained. "We think some students may score better on Saturday morning, so we have scheduled this test as a service to these students."

It is not necessary to sign up prior to taking the three-hour test, but students are encouraged contact personnel within the Office of Counseling and Testing (961-3515) or the Office of Admissions and Records (961-3500) prior to the testing dates.

A $9.25 fee is payable at the time of testing. New students inerested in enrolling in Fall Quarter classes for he first time have until Tuesday, September 2, o file all applications ind credentials with the Office of Admissions and Records. Fall Quarter lasses will begin on ieptember 23 and continue into early

New South Talk Slated at CJC

December.

A historical look at the Wednesday, Nov. 22. Free Clayton Junior College next is another in a series of lec-

Dr. Robert McMath, as- history. sociate professor of history at the Georgia Institute of Technology, will be featured during a 10 a.m. lecture on new south and populism will and open to the public, the be the subject of a lecture at Lyceum-sponsored program tures on state and local

> Wednesday's lecture will be given in Room D-200, located on the upper level of the Student Center

College schedules two THE HENRY HERALD Scholastic Aptitude Tests

Clayton Junior College has scheduled two administrations of the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) for its prospective students next week, including a special Saturday morning testing. A requirement for applicants enrolling in college credit programs, the SAT will be given in Room G-132, beginning at 6 p.m. on Thursday, September 4, and 10 a.m. on Saturday, September

The Saturday morning testing will be the first ever offered by the two-year institution near Marrow, according to Dr. Jean M. Jones, Director of Counseling and Testing. "For some people who work a 40-hour week, Thursday evening may be a low point in the week in terms of energy," Dr. Jones explained. "We think some students may score better on Saturday morning, so we have scheduled this test as a service to these students." It is not necessary to sign up prior to taking the three-hour test, but students are encouraged to contact personnel within the Office of Counseling and Testing (961-3515) or the Office of Admissions and Records (961-3500) prior to the testing dates. A $9.25 fee is payable at the time of testing.

New students interested in enrolling in Fall Quarter classes for the first time have until Tuesday, September 2, to file all applications and credentials with the Office of Admissions and Records. Fall Quarter classes will begin on September 23 and continue into early Decem-

PERFORMING IN "PIRATES"-From left, Martha Wilson of Forest Park, Debra Taylor (background) of Jonesboro, and Tammy Wells of Jonesboro.

CASE OF CJC MUSICAL PLAY, 'PIRATES OF PENZANCE' The Student Production Will Be Presented Friday And Saturday

CJC Musical

'Pirates Of Penzance' To Be Presented

The musical play, "Pirates of Penzance," will be performed by Clayton Junior College students on Friday and Saturday.

Performances of the Gilbert and Sullivan production will begin at 8 p.m. each evening in the Colllege's Lecture Hall (Room G-132).

Students and former students cast in roles for the play are: Steven Graver, Bert Lyons, James Stanley, Debra Taylor, and Tammy Wells, all of Jonesboro; Lenora Holloway and Richard Holloway of Decatur; Michael Holt and Martha Wilson of Foredst Park; Randy Roten and Larry Rutledge of Riverdale; John Hembree and James Reach of Stockbridge; Lori Cawthon of East Point; Julie Rogers of Fayetteville; and Kathy Thurman of Rex.

Accompanying instrumentalist will be Lyra Crapps, pianist; Homer Holloway, violinist; and

Daniel Ivester, bassist. The musical production, sometimes subtitled "Slave of Duty", revolves around a boy named Frederic (James Reach) who was mistakenly apprenticed to the pirates of Penzance by his nursemaid Ruth (Debra Taylor). Confussion arrises in the story when the Major General (Steven Graver) uunknowingly comes to the island where the pirates are

Directed by Doris Holloway, Associate Professor of Music at Clayton Junior College, the performances will be free and advance tickets are not

GRAVER (C), FLANKED BY WELLS (L), HOLLOWAY In Back, Rogers, Wilson, Thurman

E Time Management Class Flanned Friday At CJC

An all-day workshop on cost of lunch. "time management" will be conducted at Clayton Junior skills to help them from College on Friday, September 26.

Offered through the College's Office of Community Services, the workshop will begin at 9 a.m. and conclude at 4 p.m. A $20 = registration fee includes the Participants will learn getting caught in the "time trap." The workshop instructor, Jerry Miller, will explain how to delegate responsibilities, and how to improve techniques for preparing and conducting meetings.

Ways to manage lengthy deadlines and to set priorities also will be discussed. Since "time" is perhaps our most valuable resource, skills will be taught on how to eliminate time wasters and to manage interruptions.

For complete information about the time management course, and other non-credit continuing education offerings of the College, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

a.m. in Room G-132. No advance signup necessary, but students encouraged to contact personnel in Office of Counseling and Testing, or Office of Admissions and SAT Set At CJC Records prior to test date. $9.25 fee payable at beginning of Thursday, Saturday THE CLAYTON SUN 9/4/80 CJC Sets Enrollment

New students interested in students to sign up prior to one of the requirements. The College will ad-

Aptitude Test (SAT) for its prospective students on Thursday evening (September 4) Saturday morning September 6) Examinations will be given in Room G-132, beginning at 6 p.m. on Thursday and at 10 a.m. on Saturday.

It is not necessary for following day.

enrolling in Fall Quarter taking the three-hour test, credit classes at Clayton but students should contact Junior College have until the Office of Admissions and next Saturday to complete Records (phone 961-3500) prior to the testing dates to make sure all other requirements are in order. minister the Scholastic

The SAT is required for purposes of academic placement and a $9.25 fee is payable at the time of

The Fall Quarter at Clayton Junior College will begin with registration on Monday, September 22, and classes will begin the

NEWS/DAILY CJC Faculty To Perform Friday

presented in performance during programs scheduled this week and next at the two-year institution near Morrow.

A "faculty extravaganza" will take place at 8 p.m. on Friday, October 10, and a "faculty chamber ensemble" program will be given at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, October 15.

Sew Easy Program Tonight

The Clayton County Extension Service will hold a program called "Sew Easy For The Home" today and tonight at Clayton Jr. ⊇College in the student center ਲ (D building). No registration is required.

Programs are today at 2 p.m. and at 8:30 p.m.

Learn how to sew decorative, useful items for the home. From fabric screenings to table linens, window treatments and appliqued towels; quick easy sewing techniques will be shown for every room.

Clayton Junior College faculty members will be

Both programs will be given in the College's Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Sponsored by Lyceum, each performance will be free and open to the public

NEWS/DAILY November 4, 1980 Grapes Of Wrath' Nov. 5

The film "The Grapes of Wrath" will be shown Nov. 5 at 8:30 p.m. in the Clayton Junior College Lecture Hall (Room G-132). The film is free and open to the public as part of the college's continuing series on film and literature. A 1940 release, "The Grapes of Wrath" stars Henry Fonda, Jane Darwell and John Carradine.

For complete information about other screenings and lectures scheduled in the series, call the Clayton Junior College Office of the Dean of Students at 961DR. PENNY MILLER (R), CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE INSTRUCTOR Holds A Group Session With Students Planning To Enroll

Clayton Jr. College To Hold Sessions For New Students

the first time will be Jones, conducted by the two-year Counseling and Testing. institution next week.

tember 9, and students may select any one of three time said.

periods to attend.

sessions for students conduct such sessions prior last Fall. We found that entering Clayton Junior to the start of each quarter, many students had an College this Fall Quarter for according to Dr. Jean M. unrealistic idea of how wanted to help students to

"We anticipate this to be a A "Get Ready for continuing program with at College" program will take least one session for new place on Tuesday, Sep- students prior to the start of each quarter," Dr. Jones

A new program offered started this program," she sessions conducted last this Summer for the first continued, "was because of a month.

Director of difficult college work really learn their way around and is, and of the difference in study habits compared campus. Secondly, we between college and high wanted to help them to have

be the third offered this "One of the reasons we attended the first two

a more realistic understanding of what college Next week's program will is going to demand of them.' At each session, she pointed out, students- are given time to ask questions of their own concerns.

> Group sessions of approximately two and a half hours in length will begin at 10 a.m., 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. on September 9. Students enrolling at the College for the first time who would like to participate should call the Office of Counseling and Testing at 961-3515 or 961-3510 to reserve a place in one of the program for two reasons'

Dr. Jones added. "First, we to get acquainted with the SCORE Sponsors Seminar On Small Business Loans

ly for a small business loan will be held Monday, September 15 from 7:15 p.m. to 9:15 p.m. in the se-Sears Buckhead store.

The fee for the seminar is $4 payable at the door. The seminar leader will director of Cox Cable Communications, Inc. Mr. Woodward has a masters degree in accounting from the University of Georgia and has been a director of the Clayton Junior College

Small Business Development Center. The seminar will deal with some fundamental questions about sources and types of business loans and information needed to support a loan. The seminar is

A seminar on how to app-for a small business loan Corps Of Retired Executives (SCORE) for the benefit of small businesses that are planned or underway in the cond floor Garden Room at Atlanta metro area. SCORE is a voluntary agency of the U.S. Small Business Administration.

Registration for the be Lee Woodward, budget seminar can be made by phoning SCORE at 881-

Julie Rogers of Fayetteville, James Stanley of Jonesboro, Lenora Holloway of Decatur, James Reach of Stockbridge, Martha Wilson of Forest

students cast in roles for Reach of Stockbridge;

the play are: Steven Lori Cawthon of East

Park, and Randy Roten of Riverdale, left to right, will perform in "Pirates of Penzance."

around a boy named knowingly comes to the of Stockbridge) who was are staying. mistakenly apprenticed Frederic (James Reach island where the pirates

Directed by Doris Holto the pirates of Penzance loway, Associate Profesby his nursemaid Ruth sor of Music at Clayton (Debra Taylor). Confus- Junior College, the persion arrises in the story formances will be free when the Major General and advance tickets are (Steven Graver) un not necessary.

NEWS/DAILY February 19, 1981 Thursday

presented by Clayton Junior College students and faculty members Thursday, Feb. 19 at 8:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 20-21. All performances free and open to public. To be staged in college's lecture hall

NEWS/DAILY September 4, 1980

press secretary for Davis.

Though all details have not been fully agreed upon a similar format will be followed for several other debates scheduled during October. On Friday, Oct. 10, the candidates will meet at 11 a.m. on WLBB radio in Carrolton for a debate sponsored by

The musical play, 'Pirates of Penzance."

will be performed by Clayton Junior College students on Friday and Saturday, August 15 and (Room G-132).

Thomas. Free and open to public

Performances of the Gilbert and Sullivan production will begin at 8 p.m. each evening in the College's Lecture Hall

Pirates of Penzance set at College

Students and former

Graver, Bert Lyons, James Stanley, Debra Taylor, and Tammy Wells, all of Jonesboro; Lenora Holloway and Richard Holloway of Decatur; Michael Holt and Martha Wilson of Forest Park; Randy Roten and Larry Rutledge of Riverdale; John

Hembree and James

Clayton Junior College is and leisure time activities. lins High School in College ween September 8-26.

taking registration for Fall Also included in the Fall Park will be the location of Located in the Administra-

Quarter non-credit continu- Quarter schedule is a con- several evening classes, tion Building, the Office of lation of a "small business management

series" co-sponsored with the College's Small Business

Development Center and the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce. Designed to assist small business owners, experts in various

Most classes offered fields will teach these through the Office of Community Services are conducted on the College campus, but a number of pro-courses.

Point; Julie Rogers of Fayetteville; and Kathy

Thurman of Rex. Accompanying instrumentalist will be Lyra Crapps, pianist; Homer Holloway, violinist; and

Daniel Invester, bassist. The musical production, sometimes subtitled "Slave of Duty", revolves

DRAMA PRODUCTION OF "TARTUFFE" to be

Leadership Seminar Featured At CJC

By KIRK MARTIN

Staff Writer A leadership seminar for Clayton County citizens, sponsored jointly by Clayton Junior College and the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce, will open Thursday.

Titled "Leadership Clayton." the seminar is the continuation of a program sponsored by the two organizations for the past eight years, according to Stan May, Chamber executive vice-president. The course will meet on the first Thursday night of each month from 4:30 p.m. to 8 or 9 p.m. The course will last for nine months and will end with a banquet for graduates of the seminar, he said. Persons attending the course will learn "what makes the community tick" and will learn to take a more active role in the community, May

"We have no preconceived ideas of what that role would be." he said. Some past graduates of the course have included fromer Morrow mayor Lou Hisel and recently elected county commissioner Ernest Wright, May

The seminar will touch on education, law enforcement in Clayton County, the water and sewer system, the judical system and planning and zoning. A fee of $100 is charged to persons taking the course,

May said. "It's all aimed at trying to give that: potential leader enough information to understand how the system works,"

Robert Bolander, dean of students at Clayton Junior College, is in charge of the joint project The purpose of the seminar is to broaden the base and

SAT Workshop

Slated at CJC

A free preparation seminar for students who are planning to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Thursday evening, Oct. 23. The free seminar will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Room

Clayton Junior College will administer the SAT to prospective students on Oct. 30 and Dec. 11.

depth of leadership in Clayton County

Students in the seminar will not only learn about the various offices of the government and the various services offered, but will also be lectured in how to conduct meetings, speak in public and other skills required in being a successful leader, said

"It's designed to increase personal leadership skills and civic awareness," he said.

The students will also be assigned a topic involving Clayton County government and society and will be asked to solve a problem concerning

The class will meet in room D-200 at

SAT Slated

At CIC

Students who plan to enroll in credit classes at Clayton Junior College for the first time during the winter quarter will have another opportunity to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) this week.

The college will administer the SAT to its applicants on Thursday evening, Dec. 11, beginning at 6 Sp.m. in Room G-132. It is not necessary to register in advance, but each applicant should be at the testing center by 5:30 p.m. since no one will be permitted to enter after the 6 p.m.

starting time.

A $9.25 testing fee is payable before taking the SAT.

A requirement for admission into credit programs, onew students must have ш taken the SAT and filed all other Winter Quarter applicants and credentials with the Office of Admissions and Records on or before Friday, Dec. 12. Call 961-3500 for complete informa-

The winter quarter will begin with registration on Jan. 5, 1981.

NEWS/DAILY November 10, 1980 CJC Presents Play

"Once Upon A Mattress" arrangements. will be staged at Clayton this week.

Free and open to the public, nightly performances will begin at 8:30 p.m. through Thursday. Curtain times on Friday and Saturday will be at 8 p.m. and all productions will be set in the College's Lecture Hall (Room G-132).

The performances, another in a series of student musicals and operattas given by the Clayton Junior College Choir in recent years. Dr. Larry B. Corse, Choir Director, will direct the performance, and Doris Holloway, Associate Professor of Music, will be in

Tickets are not being available on a first-come, Junior College each evening issued for the free per- first served basis

Student performances of charge of instrumental formances and seats in the 200-seat Lecture Hall will be Coordinated through the Office of Community Services, more than 100 programs are scheduled during the quarter, including two dozen new offerings. Most classes will begin the week

A number of courses for the business and professional field will be offered,

along with others dealing with the home and individual personal growth. In addition, classes are scheduled for

of September 22-26.

November 6, 1930

Thursday

•CIVIL WAR-BATTLE OF ATLANTA lecture Thursday,

Nov. 6 at 7 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Lecture Hall (G-132). By University of Georgia professor Dr. Emory

First At Clayton Junior College

Gingrich, Davis To Debate

By KIRK MARTIN cording to Eugene A. Hatfield, Staff Writer instructor of history. Republican Sixth District Congressman Newt Gingrich and his Democratic challenger Dock Davis have agreed to a series of public and televised debates throughout the Hatfield said. district which will begin in Clayton

County next month. The first debate will be held Wednesday, Oct. 8, at Clayton Junior College. Sponsored by the College Political Union, the debate will begin at 7 p.m. and will last one hour, ac-

some for the professional and others for personal

Training for dogs will again be co-sponsored and offered with local organizations at the Jonesboro

Recreation Center, the Riverdale Community

Center, and the North

Clayton Community Center

All dog obedience classes are co-sponsored with the Clayton County Parks and

To accommodate registration, special office hours

have been scheduled bet-

Recreation Department.

A three-member panel and a nonpartisan will conduct the debates according to a strict format agreed upon beforehand by both candidates,

Each candidate will open the debate with a five-minute speech. Members of the panel will then direct questions at each candidate. That candidate will have a chance to respond. and his opponent will be given a chance for Community Services will be open between 8 a.m. and 7:45

p.m. Monday through Thursday, and between 8a.m. and

To reserve a place in one or more classes, or to obtain a listing of all courses, call

5 p.m. on Fridays.

the League of Women Voters. Agreements with other radio stations may allow that debate to be broadcast from other stations in the district, Page said. rebuttal, according to Dan Page, CJC Offers Special Programs The two men will meet again at 6:30 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 12 for a debate televised on WAGA channel five. The 30-minute debate will be shown immediately before the popular "60 Minutes" CBS network news Another debate has been scheduled for Friday, Oct. 17 at noon in uglasville. To be sponsored by the Douglasville Kiwanis Club, the debate will be held in a location not yet agreed upon by the candidates. A debate the following Monday will be held at the McIntosh Amphitheater at Peachtree City. In the event of rain, that debate will be moved to the J.C. Booth Junior High School.

Davis and Gingrich may appear again in a televised debate Saturday, Oct. 25, at 6:30 p.m. The debate will be broadcast during the WXIA channel 11 program "The Newsmakers" hosted by John Pruitt. This debate has not yet been agreed upon by Gingrich and his supporters, but that agreement is expected soon, Page

Other debates in Newnan, Griffin, and in Fulton County are being discussed by the two camps. No dates have been set for the debates.

THE CLAYTON SUN

October 2, 1980

Debates Set In Six More Counties

With both candidates "would be delighted" to claiming to have accepted debate in the unscheduled the other's challenge, 6th counties and added that meet on the courthouse District Congressman Newt more debates had not been steps at 4 p.m. in each of the hopeful Dock Davis have agreed to debate on the courthouse steps in six counties where debates had not been previously arranged.

in Clayton County Wednesday at 7 p.m. at Clayton

Gingrich and Democratic scheduled because unscheduled counties on the Gingrich's staff "has not 21st, 22nd, 23rd, 24th, 27th been able to provide any and 29th of October, respeclocal sponsors for debates in tively. Haralson, Pike, Lamar, Coweta, Henry or Jasper." However, Gingrich Cam- said. The candidates will meet paign Manager Bob Weed said Friday that Gingrich had challenged Davis to set unior College up the debates and that "we Gingrich requested that the will meet Dock anytime debates be "hosted and Republican, Davis said he anywhere.'

Davis proposed in his letter that the two candidates

Davis proposed in his letter that the two candidates

Weed said his start

those interested in sports, grams are also offered at off-recreation, the arts, music, campus locations. M.D. Col-

"We will accept in County has been scheduled those counties," Weed separately, he said.

In his original challenge of the democratic primary—sidered ft Davis' respon- said, sibility to find sponsors for the debates.

through in five counties," he added. A debate in Coweta In his letter, Davis said that he had been informed by issued July 31 to the winner the Gingrich staff that the problem with scheduling debates in all counties was because of Gingrich's sponsored by a local non- schedule outside the state.

Weed responded that the Weed said his staff con- charge was not true and "Neither Newt Gingrich nor his staff has advised Davis that our "Dock didn't come schedule has precluded our appearances in any county.

Thus far, 11 other debates have been finalized, including three on Atganta television stations WSB, WXIA and WAGA. Others are scheduled for Carrollton. Douglasville, Hapeville, Griffin, Peachtree City, Franklin, Flovilla and given time to ask questions

THE CLAYTON SUN 10/2/80 CJC Posts October Schedule of Events

Events scheduled at Clayton Junior College, October 2-

Friday, October 3

An all-day workshop on "effective writing for managers and supervisors" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College, beginning at 9 a.m. and concluding at 4 p.m. ponsored through the Office of Community Services, a $20 registration fee includes the cost of lunch. To register or to obtain complete information, call 961-3550.

A special program for busy women will be conducted between 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. at Clayton Junior College. Sponsored by the College's Office of Community Services, registration must be completed by Wednesday, Oct. 1. A $12 registration fee includes the cost of lunch. Call 961-3550 for complete information.

Monday, October 6

Dr. B. Phinizy Spalding, Associate Professor of History at the University of Georgia, will speak on "Life in Oglethorpe's Savannah" during a lecture at Clayton Junior College. Scheduled in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) at 7 p.m., the program will be free and open to the public. Call the Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510) for complete information.

Friday and Saturday, October 10 and 11

Clayton Junior College faculty members will be presented in "faculty extravaganza" programs, beginning at 8 p.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) each evening. The public is invited

> THE NEWS/DAILY 1/22/81

Thursday

•A THREE-HOUR WORKSHOP DESIGNED FOR REAL ESTATE professionals will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Thursday morning, January 22. Scheduled at 9 a.m., the program is on "successful real estate selling in today's market." To register, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3500

'New School Blues'? CJC Group Session Helps

Another program of group this summer for the first started this program," she that many students had an study habits compared be the third offered this month. sessions for students enter-time, the college plans to continued, "was because of unrealistic idea of how dif-between college and high summer. About 200 stuing Clayton Junior College conduct such sessions prior a freshman survey conficult college work really is, school. this fall quarter for the first to the start of each quarter, ducted last fall. We found and of the difference in time will be conducted by said Dr. Jean M. Jones, the two-year institution director of counseling and

A "Get Ready for Col-"WE ANTICIPATE this lege" program will take to be a continuing program place on Tuesday, Sept. 9, with at least one session for and students may select any new students before the one of three time periods to start of each quarter," Dr. Jones said. A new program offered "One of the reasons we

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE BAPTIST student union was reorganized Jan. 13 with 26 students present, plus South Metro BSU Committee Chairman, Eric Walsh. Larry Lawrence, minister of youth and activities at Jonesboro First Baptist has agreed to serve as volunteer director for the group. Dr. Greer of Morrow has agreed to serve as pastor advisor and Mike Moore of the college staff is faculty advisor. A nominating committee was appointed and officers will be elected at the next meeting. Serving as consultant to the volunteer director is Richard G. Houston, campus minister at GSU.

Next week's program will sessions conducted last

"WE DEVELOPED this Group sessions of approxprogram for two reasons," imately two and a half hours Dr. Jones Added. "First, we in length will begin at 10 wanted to help students to a.m., 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. learn their way around and Sept. 9. Students enrolling to get acquainted with the at the college for the first campus. Second, we wanted time who would like to parto help them to have a more ticipate should call the Ofrealistic understanding of fice of Counseling and what college is going to de- Testing at 961-3515 or 961mand of them.

3510 to reserve a place in

of their own.

The Clayton Community Band (Rehearsal) will meet

Monday, Dec. 8 at the Clayton Junior College in room G-101 at 7:30 p.m.

At each session, she one of the sessions.

GROUP SESSIONS-Dr. Jean M. Jones, director of talks with students during a recent "Get Ready for counseling and testing at Clayton Junior College, College" session conducted on campus.

100 Fall Quarter Non-Credit Programs At Clayton Junior

quarter non-credit continu- addition, classes are ing education classes.

Coordinated through the Office of Community Services, more than 100 programs are scheduled during the quarter, including two dozen new offerings. Most classes will begin the week of September 22-26.

A number of courses for the business and professional field will be offered,

Basic And Advanced

scheduled for those interested in sports, recreation, the arts, music, and leisure time activities.

Quarter schedule is a continuation of a "small business management the College's Small Business location of several evening classes are co-sponsored 7:45 p.m. Monday through Development Center and the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce. along with others dealing Designed to assist small taking registration for fall dividual personal growth. In various fields will teach these courses.

> MOST CLASSES offered through the Office of Community Services are conducted on the College Also included in the Fall campus, but a number of programs are also offered at off-campus locations. M.D. Collins High School in series" co-sponsored with College Park will be the

Training for dogs will again be co-sponsored and offered with local organiza- tion, special hours have tions at the Jonesboro been scheduled between Recreation Center, the September 8-26. Located in Riverdale Community the Administration Center, and the North Building, the Office of Com-Clayton Community munity Services will be Center. All dogs obedience open between 8 a.m. and Clayton Junior College is with the home and in- business owners, experts in classes, some for the profes- with the Clayton County Thursday, and between 8 To reserve a place in one a listing of all courses, sional and others for per- Parks and Recreation a.m. and 5 p.m. on Fridays. or more classes, or to obtain phone 961-3550.

To accommodate registra-

Clayton Jr. College Lists Fall Non-Credit Offerings

programs are included in Fall Quarter non-credit offerings of Clayton Junior

Coordinated through the Office of Community Services, more than 20 of the 100 programs scheduled during the quarter are new of-

For example, one can learn about our place in space in a class entitled 'understanding the universe." An astronomy course, participants will gain a special meaning to the retelling of the Christmas story and of the bright star in the East.

Additional courses scheduled for the enrichment of the holiday season will teach participants ways to make gifts and greeting cards through block printing, calligraphy, macrame, needlepoint, silk flowers, and stained glass art.

Other new courses in the arts include "movie appreciation" and "art appreciation." The movie course will be based on a film series scheduled at the College and will include discussions on scripts, editing, acting, directing, and cinematography. Participants in the art course will look at the art of several centuries and cultures and will learn how art is a reflection of the life and times in which it was created.

In the business and professional area, a new course is available to help participants deal with rapid inflation. "How to make money with a home business" will cover the many aspects of running a business from your home. The instructor will be Edith Flowers Kilgo, author of Money in the Cookie Jar.' Also for the businessman, special one-day workshops are planned, including "time management," "effective writing for managers and supervisors," and "women

Writers who are eager to publish will have a chance to discuss their ideas with a new instructor in "writing for publication" this Fall. Gene-Gabriel Moore, the author of hundreds of magazine articles and two books, is the producer and host of "Bylines," an interview program carried on 139 public broadcasting stations nationwide. Careers in nursing will be credit program to be offered this Fall. "Nursing-- It could be your career" will help participants to understand the requirements for becoming a nurse and the benefits of the profession. In the sports and recreation area, "football for spectators" and "aerobic combines simple movements September 22-26.

THE HENRY HERALD

jogging) with disco music to create a fun way to be fit and trim. And, if you can't tell a punt from a pass, you'll enjoy the football class.

For complete information about any Fall Quarter classes, or to obtain a full listing of courses, call the Office of Community Serdance" are two new classes vices at 961-3550. Most scheduled. Aerobic dance classes will begin the week of

Pianist Griffith Performs at CJC

Concert pianist Dorothy Lewis Griffith will be presented in recital at Clayton Junior College next

Ms. Griffith, an associate Professor of music at Valdosta State College, will be presented in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) at 10

a.m. on Wednesday, Jan.
14. Open to the public without charge, the recital will feature works of Stravinsky, Ravel, and Robert Starer. The Starer шріесе, "Evanescents," is dedicated to her.

As a recitalist and a soloist with orchestras, Ms. Griffith has appeared in Europe, South America, and the United States. She has made three recordings.

CJC Offering Army ROTC

NEWS/DAILY

Clayton Junior College will offer Army ROTC classes on its campus this Fall with a curriculum designed to support the mission of the Reserve Officers Training

Sgt. Ray Williams will head the ROTC Instructor Group for CJC classes, offered in cooperation with Georgia State University and the Department of the Army. Sgt. Williams has an office within the Division of Social Sciences at the two-the program consists of three quarters of a combination of academic and

The basic ROTC portion of to the entire student body at CJC, it offers full-time nonacademic classes. Open students an opportunity to participate in ROTC without any military obligation. Advanced ROTC consists ROTC Program will be paid approximately $2,500 during the Advanced portion of the

For complete information on the ROTC Program at Clayton Junior College, call Sgt. Williams at 961-3464 or 961-3460, or contact Ltc, Nils P. Johannesen at Georgia State University (658-2275).

instruction, plus one Advanced ROTC Camp

Cauets formally enrolled in the Advanced Program are placed under contract with the Department of the Army, agreeing to complete the entire Advanced Program and to accept a commission in the United States Army

Students who complete the upon graduation.

Business Financing At CJC

The various sources of financing available to the small business owner will be discussed in a two-part program at Clayton Junior ollege next week.

"Financing the small business" will be the topic of programs scheduled on Monday and Wednesday evenings, January 19 and 20. Planned between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each evening, a $15 registration fee covers the cost of both sessions.

Participants will learn which source, or group of sources, should be used by small business owners. The more common financing problems will be discussed along with sources that can best be utilized to correct the problems.

All programs in the Small Business Management Series are co-sponsored by the College's Small Business Development Center and COffice of Community Services, (phone 961-3550) in Administration

September 17, 1980

Janice Allen (left) of College Park listens to Sgt. Ray Williams about Clayton Junior College's Army ROTC Program while Hoby Dickey (center) of Stockbridge and Audrey Fleckenstein (right) of College Park talks with Ltc. Nils P.

Clayton Junior offers Army ROTC classes

Clayton Junior College under contract with the $2,500 during the Adwill offer Army ROTC Department of the Army, vanced portion of the classes on its campus this agreeing to complete the Fall with a curriculum entire Advanced Prodesigned to support the gram and to accept a mation on the ROTC mission of the Reserve commission in the United Program at Clayton Officers Training Corps. States Army upon gra- Junior College, call Sgt. Sgt. Ray Williams will duation. read the ROTC Instr tor Group for CJC classes, offered in co- the ROTC Program will Georgia State University operation with Georgia be paid approximately (658-2275). State University and the Department of the Army. Sgt. Williams has an office within the Division of Social Sciences at the two-year institution near Morrow.

The basic ROTC portion of the program consists of three quarters of a combination of academic and nonacademic classes. Open to the entire student body at CJC, it offers full-time students an opportunity to participate in ROTC without any military obligation.

Advanced ROTC consists of six quarters of on-campus instruction, plus one Advanced ROTC Camp. Cadets formally enrolled in the Advanced Program are placed

Students who complete Nils P. Johannesen at Williams at 961-3464 or

College offers

CJC Sets How To Start' New Business Workshops

Military Talk

Janice Allen (left) of College Park listens to Sgt. Ray Williams about Clayton Junior College's Army ROTC Program

while Hoby Dickey (center) of Stockbridge and Audrey Fleckenstein (right) of College Park talks with Ltc. Nils P.

Faculty Concert Set at Clayton Jr.

Clayton Junior College A "faculty extravaganza" Both programs will be faculty members will be will take place at 8 p.m. on given in the College's Lec-presented in performance Friday, Oct. 10, and a ture Hall (Room G-132).

"faculty chamber this week and next at the ensemble" program will be Sponsored by Lyceum, each two-year institution near given at 10 a.m. on Wednes- performance will be free and start a new business" will and will continue with a four-business owners. Presenting kick off a series of Fall part program scheduled on the program will be three Quarter programs at Mondays and Wednesdays of Clayton Junior College in-Clayton Junior College, each the next two weeks. designed to help the small Johannesen.

during programs scheduled business owner. The series of short topic of Saturday's opening Professor of Business; and seminars will be co- program, scheduled between sponsored by the College's 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. A $22 Small Business Develop- registration fee will include ment Center and Office of the cost of lunch. Chamber of Commerce and overview of small business the Small Business management, including Administration.

Community Services along Participants in the opening with the Clayton County seminar will receive an The Fall program will management, legal remaining portions of the open with an all-day seminar problems, insurance, and Information on "how to on Saturday, September 27, financial concerns for new structors: John Feathers, Ways to start a successful Chairman of the Division of new business will be the Business; Dr. Doris Cash,

open to the public.

Greg Kordecki, Instructor of Business Administration. "Marketing, advertising and sales management" will be the topic of the four-part program which begins on Monday, September 29. Scheduled between 6:30 and information on marketing, 9:30 p.m. each evening, program will take place on 3550.

Monday and Wednesday, October 6 and 8. A $30 registration fee covers the cost of all four sessions.

Participants will learn how to draft a marketing plan oriented toward maximum sales.

To obtain complete information about any of the programs, call the Small Business Development Center office at 961-3414. To register, call the Office of Community Services at Clayton Junior College, 961-

NEWS/DAILY Uctober 6, 1980 CJC Seminar Planned For Legal Counseling

Another program in a continuing series of short seminars for small business owners will be conducted at Clayton Junior College next week.

"Avoiding Legal Hassles" will be the topic of a four-part program set to begin on Monday, October 13. Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each evening, sessions will continue on Wednesday, October 15, and Monday and Wednesday, October 20 and 22. A $30 registration fee covers the cost of all four sessions.

Small business owners will learn about the "do's and don'ts of incorporating, as well as how to meet state, federal, and local requirements. Also covered will be information on proper risk management, contracts, and

The series of seminars is being sponsored by Clayton Junior College's Small Business Development Center (SBDC) and the Office of Community Services along with the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration.

College to give test

Clayton Junior College will administer the Scholastic Aptitude Test S (SAT) to its prospective students on Thursday evening Feb. 5.

A requirement for admission into credit programs offered by the College, participants should report to Room G-132 by 5:30 p.m. on the testing date. No one will be permitted to enter the test center after the 6 p.m. starting time.

It is not necessary to register in advance to take the SAT, but a $9.25 #testing fee is payable at the time of testing. For complete information about the SAT or Tother admission requirements, call the College's Office of Admissions and Records (961-3500) or the Office of Counseling and Testing (961-3515).

new programs A number of new pro- home. The instructor will grams are included in be Edith Flowers Kilgo, Fall Quarter non-credit author of "Money in the offerings of Clayton Jun-Cookie Jar ior College. Coordinated through the Office of Community duled during the quarter are new offerings.

For example, one can the go. learn about our place in space in a class entitled course, participants will the retelling of the O the bright star in the East.

scheduled for the enrichment of the holiday season will teach participants ways to make gifts and greeting cards through block printing, be the focus of another needlepoint, silk flowers, and stained glass art. Other new courses in the arts include "movie appreciation" and "art appreciation." The movie course will be based on a film series scheduled at the College and will include discussions on scripts, editing, acting, directing, and cinemathe art of several centuries and cultures and swings, leg kicks and will learn how art is a reflection of the life and to create a fun way to be times in which it was fit and trim. And, if you created.

In the business and E professional area, a new football class. course is available to help a business from your 961-3550.

Also for the businessman, special one-day workshops are planned. Services, more than 20 of including 'time managethe 100 programs sche- ment," "effective writing for managers and supervisors," and "women on Writers who are eager to publish will have a 'understanding the uni- chance to discuss their verse." An astronomy ideas with a new instructor in "writing for gain a special meaning to publication" this Fall. Gene-Gabriel Moore, the Christmas story and of author of hundreds of magazine articles and two books, is the pro-Additional courses ducer and host of "Bylines," an interview program carried on 139 public broadcasting stations nationwide. Careers in nursing will calligraphy, macrame, new non-credit program to be offered this Fall. "Nursing--It could be your career" will help participants to understand the requirements for becoming a nurse and the benefits of the profession. In the sports and recreation area, "football for spectators" and aerobic dance" are two new tography. Participants in classes scheduled. Aethe art course will look at robic dance combines simple movements (arm jogging) with disco music times in which it was fit and trim. And, if you can't tell a punt from a pass, you'll enjoy the

For complete informaparticipants deal with tion about any Fall rapid inflation. "How to Quarter classes, or to obmake money with a home tain a full listing of business" will cover the courses, call the Office of many aspects of running Community Services at

NEWS/DAILY

Sunday, Sept. 21, 1980 Monday

•CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE REGISTRATION set Monday, Sept. 22. New students at either 10 a.m. or 6 p.m. in Lecture Hall (Room G-132). All other students in Student Center, Room D-200, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. or 5:30-8:30 p.m.

•READING IMPROVEMENT COURSE set Monday, Sept. 22 at First Baptist Church, Jonesboro, 6:30-8:30 p.m. Open to all persons, seventh grade through adult. Lasts 11-12 weeks, depending on class progress. Call 992-1829 for information. Class size limited, first come, first served.

• THE FOREST PARK SENIOR HIGH School Music Club will meet Monday, Sept. 22 at 8 p.m. in the school band

Tuesday

•MORROW CITY COUNCIL to meet Tuesday, Sept. 23 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall. Public invited.

Reynolds Nature Preserve, 7-9 p.m. Call for more in-

•BACKPACKING CLINIC set Tuesday, Sept. 23 at

•FIRST DAY OF CLASSES at Clayton Jr. College in

Community Calendar

•SOUTHSIDE SINGLESto meet Tuesday, Sept. 23 at 7:45 p.m. in clubhouse of Windjammer South Apartments, 5420 Riverdale Road, College Park. Dr. Tom Butcher will discuss "Perspective On Dreams". Meetings free and open to interested persons. For more information call 627-5167

Thursday

•JONESBORO JR. HIGH PTA Open House Tuesday,

Sept. 23 at 8 p.m. All parents of Jonesboro Jr. High students

•CUB SCOUT PACK NO. 909 to hold first Pack meeting Thursday, Sept. 25 at 7 p.m. at newly dedicated Scout Hut at St. Philip Benizi Catholic Church on Flint River Road in Jonesboro. Boys 8-10 invited. Parent participation mandatory. For more information, call Mike Neary at 471-6349.

•WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB OF JONESBORO to meet Thursday, Sept. 23 at 8 p.m. at home of Diane Rogers. Chris Barncastle, Georgia Forestry Commission forester, to speak about proper care of trees.

Friday

•CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE OFFICE of Community Services will offer a "time management" workshop from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, Sept. 26. A $20 registration fee will include the cost of lunch. For complete information call 961-

Saturday

•THE CLAYTON COUNTY BACKPACKERS will sponsor a backpacking trip to the Cohutta Wilderness Area, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 27-28. For additio al information call Lynda Moore or Mark Ballard at 997-

• "HOW TO START A NEW Business", a seminar hosted by Clayton Junior College, the Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Development Center will be held at the college 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 27. A $22 fee covers the cost of a lunch. For more information call 961-

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 26

A workshop on "time management" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Offered through the Office of Community Services, a $20 registration fee includes the cost of lunch. Call 961-3550 for complete information.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 27

A seminar on "how to start a new business" will be offered at Clayton Junior College between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Offered by the Small Business Development Center, a $22 registration fee includes the cost of lunch. Cosponsors of the seminar are the Office of Community Services, the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration. Call 961-3550 or 961-3414 for complete information.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 29

The opening session of a four-part seminar on "marketing, advertising and sales management" for the small business owner will be conducted at Clayton Junior College between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. Remaining sessions are set for Wednesday, October 1, and Monday and Wednesday, October 6 and 8. A $30 registration fee covers the cost of all four sessions. Call 961-3550 or 961-3414 for complete

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 30

The College Political Union at Clayton Junior College will conduct a voter registration drive between 5 and 6 p.m. in the lobby of the Academic Building. All members of the community are invited.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 1

The College Political Union at Clayton Junior College will conduct two voter registration drives in the lobby of the Academic Building. Open to the general public, voters may register between 9 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. or between 5

Clayton Junior College's 1980-81 weekly "concert season" will begin at 10 a.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) with a duo voice recital by Atlanta singers Betty Morgan Sanders, soprano, and Nancy Ann Coles, mezzo-soprano. Jeannine Morrison will be accompanist. The public is invited at no cost.

Fall Quarter Non-Credit Courses Offered at CJC

A number of new tion of the life and times in tion area, "football for specprograms are included in which it was created. Fall Quarter non-credit of-

Coordinated through the Office of Community Services, more than 20 of the 100 programs scheduled during the quarter are new

For example, one may learn about our place in space in a class entitled 'understanding the universe." An astronomy course, participants will gain a special meaning to the retelling of the Christmas story and of the bright star in the East. Additional courses scheduled for the enrichment of the holiday season will teach participants ways to make gifts and greeting cards through block printing, calligraphy, macrame, needlepoint, silk flowers, and stained glass

OTHER NEW courses in the arts include "movie appreciation' and "art appreciation." The movie course will be based on a film series scheduled at the College and will include discussions on scripts, editing, acting, directing, and cinematography. Participants in the art course will look at the art of several centuries and cultures and will learn how art is a reflec-ferings of Clayton Junior professional area, a new scheduled. Aerobic dance aspects of running a can't tell a punt from a pass, business from your home. you'll enjoy the football > special one-day workshops of courses, call the Office of are planned, including Community Services at 961-"time management," "effective writing for managers the week of September 22and supervisors," and 26. women on the go.

Writers who are eager to publish will have a chance to discuss their ideas with a new instructor in "writing for publication" this Fall. Gene-Gabriel Moore, the author of hundreds of magazine articles and two books, is the producer and host of "Bylines," an interview program carried on 139 public broadcasting stations

CAREERS IN nursing will be the focus of another new non-credit program to be offered this Fall. "Nursing-It could be your career" will help participants to understand the requirements for becoming a nurse and the benefits of the In the sports and recreatators" and "aerobic dance" In the business and are two new classes course is available to help combines simple moveparticipants deal with rapid ments (arm swings, leg kicks inflation. "How to make and jogging) with disco money with a home busines- music to create a fun way to s" will cover the many be fit and trim. And, if you

The instructor will be Edith class. Flowers Kilgo, author of "Money in the Cookie Jar." For complete information about any Fall Quarter clas-Also for the businessman, ses, or to obtain a full listing 3550. Most classes will begin

CJC Concert Scheduled

A band concert and a piano ensemble will share

The College Band, under the direction of Bill Gore, and a number of piano students will be presented in the ☐ 10 a.m. performance in the ☐ Lecture Hall (Room G-132). The public is invited to hear the spotlight during a performance scheduled at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday morning. Feb.

Wednesday

the joint concert.

Voice Recital

NEWS/DAILY

Sunday, September 21, 1980

CJC Begins Concert Season

weekly "concert season" will begin next week with a duo voice

Programs are planned for the College's Lecture Hall (Room G-132) almost every Wednesday throughout the Fall Quarter. Scheduled at 10 a.m., all music programs will be sponsored by Lyceum and will be open to the public at no cost.

Excerpts from operas by Mozart, Delibes, Nicolai, Strauss, Moore, and Humperdinck will be presented by Atlanta singers Betty Morgan Sanders, soprano, and Nancy Ann Coles, mezzo-soprano, during the season's opening performance on Wednesday, Oct. 1. Jeannine Morrison will be accompanist.

A native Atlantan, Mrs. Sanders earned the B. A. degree in music from Randolph-Macon Woman's College in Lynchburg, Virginia. She has studied voice from Irene Callaway Harrower of Atlanta and her comprehensive opera repertoire includes Norina, Susanna, Blonda, Gretel, Baby Doe, Abigail Williams, and Despina.

Mrs. Sanders has performed with Georgia Opera, Shoestring Opera, Phoenix Opera, Atlanta Chamber Opera Society, Music Theatre Guild of Atlanta, the Goldovsky Workshops, and the Atlanta Civic Opera.

Mrs. Coles, a voice instructor at Clayton Junior College, holds a Master of Music Degree from Louisiana State University. A native of Florida, she received additional training as an apprentice artist with the Sante Fe Opera Company, and in New York with Madame Marion Freschell of

In 1977, Mrs. Coles was awarded a First Prize Diploma in Singing from the Royal Conservatory of

BETTY MORGAN SANDERS

Belgium. She was heard throughout Belgium in oratorio and orchestra performances, and on the Belgium Radio Concert Series. She has a variety of opera roles in her repertoire, ranging from the pantsrole of "Cherobino" to the vivacious "Dinah" in Bersteins' "Trouble in Tahiti." Since coming to Atlanta, Mrs. Coles has been singing and teaching professionally throughout the metro area.

Mrs. Morrison, a native of Atlanta, is an associate professor of music at Clayton Junior College. She earned the B. M. degree from Rollins College in Winter Park, Florida, and the M.A. from Columbia University Teachers College in New York City. She studied piano in New York with Edwin Hughes for the last 13 years of his life.

Mrs. Morrison has given debut recitals in New York's Town Hall, the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C., and Eaton Auditorium in Toronto. She has appeared as soloist with a number of symphony orchestras, including Atlanta and Florida. In April, 1979, she went to London to take an external degree from the Royal Academy of Music and was awarded a licentiate diploma in

NANCY ANN COLES

JEANNINE MORRISON

Extension Service Plans 'How-To' Seminars

A series of three workshops ranging from wardrobe tips for working women to upholstering your own furniture to sewing your own clothes, will be ofrered by the Clayton County Extension Service beginning

The first seminar, "Women on the Go," will be presented at Clayton Junior College Oct. 4, from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., and will teach participants how to put together a mix/match wardrobe suitable for many occasions, said Extension Service spokesman Kathy Wages.

THE SEMINAR will feature "Practical approaches for organizing your time so that leisure and family aren't sacrificed, said Mrs. Wages. Cost of the seminar is $12. To register, call 961-3550.

A workshop on how to upholster your own furniture will be presented Oct. 9 at CJC, from 2-4 p.m. and again at 6:30-9:30 p.m. in the college's Student Center D Building. No registration is required.

The demonstration and lecture will cover common reupholstering techniques, necessary tools for the job, types of fabric to use and common wood repairs. Like the Oct. 4 seminar, it will be taught by Mrs. Wages.

tension Service home held on Monday evenings The class will include how

DAWN TRIVETT, Ex- which will continue through 1525 Norman Road in finishes, pressing, hems, interfacing, fasteners, and a terfacing, fasteners, and a economist, will teach a six-week beginners sewing class slated to begin Oct. 13 and held on Monday evenings from 6-8 p.m. at North to select a pattern, marking, Clayton Senior High School, reading a guide sheet, seam 478-9911, extension 340.

History Series Set At CJC Next Week

By ELAINE ALMON

Staff Writer Clayton Junior College is beginning a series of programs entitled "Georgia: Now and Then," which will examine state and local history and

Dr. B. Phinizy Spalding, an Associate Professor of History at the University of Georgia, will begin the series with a lecture on "Life in Oglethorpe's Savannah." The lecture will be held at 7 p.m. on Monday, October 6, in Room G-132.

Since 1974. Dr. Spalding has edited "The Georgia Historical Quarterly," the state's historical journal. He is the author of "Oglethorpe in America" and "The Merit and Reward of a Good Intention," and is the co-author of a new book, "History of Georgia."

A member of several state and national boards concerned with state and local history, Dr. Spalding earned degrees in American Literature from the University of Georgia and his Ph.D in History from the University of North Carolina.

Eight programs will be offered in the series following Dr. Spalding's lecture. They include: "Civil War: the Battle of Atlanta" by Dr. Emory

Thomas, "Henry Grady and Tom Watson: The New South and Populism" by Dr. Robert McMath, "Railroads and the Development of Metro Atlanta" by Franklin Garrett,

"The Origins and Early Development of Clayton County" by Joe Moore, "Eugene Talmadge vs. FDR: The Old Ways Meet the New Deal" by William Anderson, "The Cultural and Demographic Differences Between Metropolitan and Suburban Areas" by Dr. Jay Weinstein, "The Impact of the Past on the Present" by Marshall Frady, and "The Influence of Fundamentalism on the South" by Dr. D.E. Harrell Jr.

Additional information about the series may be obtained by calling the Dean of Students at Clayton Junior

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE BRASS ENSEMBLE PERFORMS Directed By Greg Laird

CJC to enter its 12th year

Clayton Junior College will enter its 12th year of operation next week when students register for Fall Quarter classes.

Registration proceedings will take place on Monday, September 22, and classes for the 11-week quarter will begin the following day. The College anticipates an enrollment of about 3,000 students in credit pro-

New students must report for an orientation program in the College's Lecture Hall (Room G-132), either at 10 a.m. or 6 p.m. on Monday. All other students may register on the upper level of the Student Center Building (Room D-200) between the hours of 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. or 5:30 and 8:30 p.m.

Classes will begin at 7:50 a.m. on Tuesday, September 23, and will continue until the last of given on December 11.

final examinations are Clayton Junior College offers the first two years of college work in major fields of study common to been designed for adults who re-entering) college. The program will focus on the special challenges of Additional concerns to be addressed include ways for students to gain support of their family and friends, how to set goals, and tips on improving the ability to succeed in the classroom.

Oct. 23.

all state-supported insti- Since opening in Septutions in Georgia, along tember of 1969, the twowith a number of two- year institution near year "career programs" Morrow has become the which combine regular largest of 15 junior col-

NEWS/DAILY October 16, 1980 CJC Sets 2 Free Programs

college courses with spe- leges within the Univercific professional train- sity System of Georgia.

entering college credit classes will be conducted at Clayton Junior College next week. A program on "adults back to college: some special concerns" is scheduled for Tuesday evening, Oct. 21, and a "Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) preparation seminar" will be conducted on Thursday evening, Tuesday's program, scheduled between 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Room L-200, has are considering entering (or organizing yourself for a

Two free programs design- Thursday's program will ed for anyone interested in begin at 7 p.m. in Room B-15. The SAT is required by the College for individuals who plan to enroll in courses for credit. Participants in the seminar will learn about the types of questions asked on the test, how it is scored, and how easy it is for almost anyone to qualify for entrance into college pro> grams. For complete information about the two programs, call the College's Office of Admissions and Records at 961-3500. It isn't too early for students to begin making preparations for the start of Winter Quarter classes in early January.

NEWS/DAILY October 3, 1980

Community Calendar

Tuesday

•CLAYTON COUNTY COMMISSION to meet Tuesday, Oct. 7 at 1:30 p.m. in meeting chambers in administrative building behind county courthouse in Jonesboro. Public

•WEST CLAYTON ELEMENTARY PTA to hold open house Tuesday, Oct. 7 at 7:30 p.m. •TV GUIDE FILM CRITIC JUDITH CRIST to speak at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow Tuesday, Oct. 7 at 8:30 p.m. in Room G-132 (CJC Lecture Hall). Free and open to public. Sponsored by CJC Lyceum, this will be first of series of speakers and films scheduled through April 1981. For more information call Office of Dean of Students at CJC at 961-•FOREST PARK JR. HIGH PTA to hold open house Tuesday, Oct. 7 at 7:30 p.m.

•MORROW JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL PTA will hold its first meeting of the year Tuesday, Oct. 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the school gymnasium. An open house will also be held to allow parents to meet teachers.

Wednesday

•NARNON, AN ORGANIZATION for people who have family members with drug problems, will meet at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Clayton County Flint River Center, Don Hastings Drive, Room 207.

•NEWT GINGRICH-DOCK DAVIS DEBATE at Clayton Jr. College Wednesday, Oct. 8 at 7 p.m. in Room D-200 of Student Center Building. Sponsored by CJC Political Union. Public invited to see the two candidates for Congress from Georgia's Sixth District.

Noted Film Critic

NEWS/DAILY October 1, 1980

Judith Crist To Speak Next Tuesday At CJC

Guide," and "Saturday 1981. Review" will speak at Clayton Junior College next

The first program in a series of lectures and film screenings, Ms. Judith Crist will be featured at 8:30 p.m. on Tues., Oct. 7. Free and open to the public, the program will be given in the College's Lecture Hall (Room G-132)

Sponsored under the College's Lyceum format,

the series on "Film and Literature" will feature a number of speakers and films throughout the

The film critic for the academic year. Programs from Hunter College and "New York Post," "TV are scheduled into April, Columbia University. She

Ms. Crist, who is a cona film critic for "Saturday Review," is also an Adjunct Professor at Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism. She is a former reporter, editor for the arts, associate drama critic, and film critic for the "New York Herald Tribune" and has been a film critic for the New York "World Journal Tribune" and criticat-large for "Ladies Home has been the recipient of five New York Newspaper Women's Club awards and tributing editor in addition to has received the "Page One" award of the New York Newspaper Guild.

Journal

> The author of three books, Ms. Crist was found to be the most influential film critic in the United States following a poll conducted by Louis Harris Associates.

For complete information about programs in the "Film and Literature" series, call the Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510) at Ms. Crist holds degrees Clayton Junior College.

NEWS/DAILY Friday 9/25/80

•PAPER DRIVE at George M. Kilpatrick Elementary School in Jonesboro begins Sept. 26, continuing through Oct. Bring newspapers to the school during school hours, Monday-Friday.

•CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE OFFICE of Community Services will offer a "time management" workshop from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, Sept. 26. A $20 registration fee will include the cost of lunch. For complete information call 961-

Saturday

•VOTER REGISTRATION IN RIVERDALE Saturday, Sept. 27 in City Hall from 11 a.m.-3 p.m. for area residents, who are not currently registered. Voters should call the county Board of Registrars if unable to determine their registration status.

NEWS/DAILY March 4, 1981 Monday A FOUR-PART PROGRAM ON "BASIC ACCOUNTING"

FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS begins on Monday, March 9, at Clayton Junior College. Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each Monday and Wednesday for two weeks, a $30 registration fee covers the cost of all four sessions. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

Community Calendar

•THE CLAYTON COUNTY BACKPACKERS will sponsor a backpacking trip to the Cohutta Wilderness Area, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 27-28. For additional information call Lynda Moore or Mark Ballard at 997-

•SEVENTEENTH ANNUAL PAINTIN' AND PUMPKIN ARTS, Crafts, and Nostologic Show Sept. 27-28 at State Farmers' Market in Forest Park. Sponsored by Forest Park Business and Professional Women's Club. All proceeds from show used for scholarships to Clayton Jr. College, and other educational projects.

•"HOW TO START A NEW Business", a seminar hosted by Clayton Junior College, the Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Development Center will be held at the college 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 27. A $22 fee covers the cost of a lunch. For more information call 961-

Sunday

•GREATER ATLANTA RESERVE OFFICERS' ASSOCIATION LADIES CLUB to meet Sunday, Sept. 28 in the A.R. Bolling Room at Fort McPherson Officers' Club. Members and their husbands to meet for social at 4:30 p.m.; business meeting at 5:30 p.m.; and buffet dinner at 6 p.m. Guest speaker to be Fulton Superior Court Judge Jeptha Tankersley.

Monday

•SMALL BUSINESS OWNER seminar, first of four parts, hosted by Clayton Jr. College, begins Monday, Sept. 29, 6:30-9:30 p.m. Seminar to cover marketing, advertising, sales management. Remaining three sessions to be held Oct. 1,6 and 8. $30 per person. For information call 961-3550.

Tuesday

•VOTER REGISTRATION DRIVE at Clayton Jr. College Tuesday, Sept. 30 in lobby of Academic Building. Sponsored by College Political Union. All members of community invited. 5 to 6 p.m. Drive to continue Wednesday, Oct. 1 from 9 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. and 5 to 6 p.m. •PROBE FAIR for high school juniors and seniors at Southlake Mall, Tuesday, Sept. 30 from 6-9 p.m. A look at postsecondary education, with representatives of over 125 college, universities and schools present to give information on various institutions of higher learning. •SKATING AT TARA SKATE Tuesday, Sept. 30 with proceeds going to North Clayton Jr. High PTA. 6:30 - 9:30 p.m. Fees will be charged.

Wednesday

•VOTER REGISTRATION DRIVE at Clayton Jr. College, in lobby of Academic Building, Wednesday, Oct. 1. Open to general public, voters can register between 9 a.m. and 12:30 p.m., or between 5 and 6 p.m.

•CJC WEEKLY CONCERT SEASON begins at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 1 in Lecture Hall (G-132). Duo voice recital by Atlanta singers Betty Morgan Sanders, soprano, and Nancy Ann Coles, mezzo-soprano. Jeannine Morrison will accompany. Public invited at no charge.

•WILLS, INHERITANCE AND ESTATES administration discussion by attorney James R. Gladden set Wednesday, Oct. 1 at 7 p.m. at Forest Park branch of Clayton County library, 696 Main St., Forest Park. For more information call 366-0850. Pre-registration requested in person or by telephone. No charge for admission.

seminars will be co- business; Dr. Doris Cash, sponsored by the College's professor of business and Small Business Development Center and Office of Community Services along with the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration.

open with an all-day remaining portions of the counting for small businesseminar on Saturday, Sept. 27, and will continue with a four-part program scheduled on Mondays and Wednesdays of the next two Ways to start a successful new business will be the topic of Saturday's opening program, scheduled between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. A $22 registration fee will include the cost of

Participants in the opening seminar will receive an overview of small business management, including information on marketing, kick off a series of Fall financial concerns for new Quarter programs at business owners. Presenting Clayton Junior College, the program will be three each designed to help the Clayton Junior College instructors: John Feathers, The series of short chairman of the division of

> Greg Kordecki, instructor of business administration. "Marketing, advertising and sales management" will be the topic of the program beginning Monday, Sept. 19. Scheduled between 6:30

Oct. 6 and 8. A $30 registra- loan. tion fee covers the cost of all

Participants will learn their choice of advertising, location, and sales techniques to their target four sessions.

Other scheduled during October, November, and early December include "avoiding The Fall program will and 9:30 p.m. each evening, legal hassles," "basic acprogram will take place on ses," "How to cope with

Information on "how to management, legal Wednesday, Oct. 1, and recession and inflation" and start a new business" will problems, insurance, and Monday and Wednesday, "how to apply for an SBA

To obtain complete information about any of the programs, call the Small how to draft a marketing Business Development. plan oriented toward max- Center office at 961-3414. To imum sales by matching register, call the Office of Community Services at Clayton Junior College, 961-

Voter Sign-Up Deadline Nears

Clayton County residents have less than a week left to register to vote in the Nov. 4 election if they are not now

The deadline for voter registration for the November general election is Monday, Oct. 6, and to facilitate registration, the Clayton County Registrar's Office will have a voter registration drive at Clayton Junior College today.

The drive, sponsored by the College Political Union, will be held 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. today.

Voter registration in the county to date has been high with more than 52,000 Clayton countians already registered, Wanda Qualls, deputy registrar, said. She said voters who are unsure of their registration status should call the Registrar's Office, adding that many persons have tried to register only to discover they are currently registered. Persons who voted in the last Presidential election dresses since then are already registered, she said. To vote in the general election in and who have not changed their ad-

Clayton County a person must be a U.S. citizen, a resident of Georgia and Clayton County, at least 18 years old, and not convicted of a disqualifying

Persons may also register to vote at the Registrar's Office from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. The office is located in the county courthouse at Jonesboro.

DOCK DAVIS

Panelists Selected For Gingrich-Davis

A panel of journalists has been selected to question congressional candidates in the October 8 Gingrich-Davis political debate at Clayton Junior College, according to Dr. Joseph Trachtenberg, Assistant Professor of Political Science.

Terry Anzur, weekend news anchorperson for WSB-TV, will serve as moderator for the debate, and three panelists will be John Dunn, Editor of the News Daily; Barbara Nevins, reporter for WAGA-TV; and Bill Shipp, political columnist for the Atlanta Constitution.

Dr. Trachtenberg is co-advisor for the College Political Union, a nonpartisan student organization which is sponsoring the debate. The Wednesday evening event will begin at 7 p.m. in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building.

Anna Smalley, co-director of the College Political Union, extended an invitation to the general public to attend the debate between Sixth District Congressman Newt Gingrich, a Republican, and his Democratic Party opponent Dock Davis.

The hour-long program will feature each candidate opening with introductory remarks, followed by questions posed by the moderator and members of the panel.

Following the debate, a general reception will be held, providing interested citizens an opportunity to meet with both candidates to informally discuss their individual

NEWT GINGRICH

Gingrich and challenger square off on energy and defense matters

By BILL MONTGOMERY

Incumbent Rep. Newt Gingrich has called his Democratic opponent a candidate of "the politics that have brought the country 15 years of decline," an advocate of the kind of philosophy that would "help America by hurting Americans" with higher gasoline taxes.

Challenger Dock Davis called Gingrich, in effect, a mediocre congressional reshman with a glib tongue whose "politics of exaggeration and lack of experience in the real world are no help with problems that can't be solved with quick answers or flip answers."

The exchange Tuesday night, before a 100-plus audience at Clayton Junior College well laden with partisans of both candidates, launched a brisk fall election battle in the west and middle Georgia 6th Congressional District.

The contest pits Gingrich, a former college history professor and the only Republican in Georgia's 12-man congressional delegation, against a Heard County lawyer, farmer and onetime Navy officer who is stressing the fact that he is a Democrat.

Gingrich's conservative views on the economy, government spending and national defense netted him heavy votes in the suburban areas of the 6th District, which stretches from southwest Atlanta to the Alabama line and north of Macon, and victory two years ago, after two failed attempts in 1974 and '76.

Former state Sen. Virginia Shapard of Griffin, whom Gingrich defeated in 1978, endorsed Davis Tuesday, with a barbed prepared statement that the incumbent's performance in office "is worse than I had originally feared."

"He has accomplished absolutely nothing but typical Republican obstruction. And he has shown a far greater interest in furthering his own political ambitions than he has in serving the citizens. . .

Davis plugged heavily on the Democratic Party traditions of the district, his pride in the party of "Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Harry Truman, John F. Kennedy and great senators like Richard Russell and Walter George.

"Without the programs conceived and nurtured by the Democratic Party, there would be little opportunity for ordinary people," Davis said.

Taking questions from a trio of journalists - each candidate was allowed to respond to his rival's answers - Gin-

Thursday

DRAMA PRODUCTION OF "TARTUFFE" to be presented by Clayton Junior College students and faculty members Thursday, Feb. 19 at 8:30 p.m. and at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 20-21. All performances free and open to public. To be staged in college's lecture hall

Gingrich seeking 2nd term

grich and Davis clashed sharply on defense, energy policy and each other's qualifications and performance.

Asked what he thought was his major achievement in his single two-year term, Gingrich said his abortive move to expel Michigan Democrat Charles Diggs from the House after his conviction of payroll fraud helped set a better ethical tone in Congress, a mood that resulted in the expulsion of Pennsylvania Rep. Michael Myers, who was convicted in the Abscam bribery case.

"I saw (Gingrich's) two years as a disaster," Davis countered. "He hasn't mentioned that he voted for total decontrol of the oil companies, which would put gasoline at the world market price of $2 a gallon. He's voted against (funds to develop) synthetic fuels."

The two were at opposite poles on the military draft; Davis voiced strong support for it "because of the critical condition of the volunteer forces. Sixty percent of the Army enlistees didn't graduate from high school."

Davis advocated a lottery style draft that would take everybody physically able, with no deferments "just because a person is intelligent or wealthy enough

Davis touted by Virginia Shapard

Gingrich countered that a peacetime draft would not solve the drain of experienced career noncommissioned officers, especially those with highly technical skills.

> "You can't draft a 29-year-old career NCO who knows how to run a nuclear submarine. You have to pay him better,"

Davis made repeated mentions of his military service — he is a naval reserve lieutenant commander - including a year as an adviser to the South Vietnamese navy, contrasting his experience to Gingrich's "lack of knowledge of the real world," an evident swipe at his opponent's career as a college professor. In rebuttal, Gingrich noted that his father is a retired Army officer, that he himself is a student of military history, and that he is well versed from interviews with ranking service chiefs about complex defense matters.

The two found areas of agreement on some issues - both opposed the drafting of women, and said they would vote to extend the 1965 Voting Rights Act which puts federal enforcement powers behind the registration of Southern blacks, though Davis wants to see it applied na-

Thursday

open to public. To be staged in college's lecture hall

2/15/81 DRAMA PRODUCTION OF "TARTUFFE" to be presented by Clayton Junior College students and faculty members Thursday, Feb. 19 at 8:30 p.m. and at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 20-21. All performances free and

Values Talk

At CJC

Slated April 2

A widely-known lecturer

on values realization and values clarification will be featured at Clayton Junior speak on "The Origin of Values" during lectures scheduled at 7 p.m. on Thursday, April 2, and at 10 a.m. on Friday. Scheduled in the Lecture Hall

A frequent lecturer

throughout the world, Dr.

Simon has served on the faculties of Temple Univer-

York, Princeton University, and New York University.

(Room G-132), both presentations will be free and open to the public.

Gingrich-Davis Debate At CJC Tomorrow

By ELAINE ALMON

Staff Writer U.S. Representative Newt Gingrich will face Democrat Dock Davis in the first of 11 political debates scheduled throughout the sixth district Wednesday, Oct. 8, at 7 p.m. at Clayton Junior College.

Rules for the debate have been established by the Clayton Junior College Political Union, which is sponsoring the debate.

The debate will last approximately one hour, after which candidates will have an opportunity to meet with members of the audience.

Questions will be posed to both candidates by a three-member panel of media representatives. A non-partisan moderator will insure strict adherence to mutually acceptable

Acting as moderator in the debate will be Terri Anzur, weekend news anchorperson for WSB-TV. The three panelists will be John Dunn, editor of the News Daily; Barbara Nevins, reporter for WAGA-TV; and Bill Shipp, political columnist for the Atlanta Constitution.

The debate will begin with a statementof rules by the moderator, introductory remarks by each candidate, and one question-one answer rebuttal in turn. The candidates will then make summary statements.

Opening statements will be limited to five minutes. A coin toss prior to the debate will determine which candidate presents his opening remarks first. That same candidate will speak first in his summary as well. Members of the panel will pose questions in turn.

The first panelist will choose which candidate he wants to question, following which, questions will be posed alternately to the two candidates. The candidate responding to the question will be allowed three minutes. His opponent will also be allowed the opportunity to respond for three minutes.

The same panelist will be permitted one follow-up question of either candidate. The response will be limited to one minute after which the other candidate will also be permitted to respond for one minute. Questions will continue until the time must be devoted to summary statements. Each candidate will have four minutes in summary.

Between Oct. 8 and Oct. 28, the two congressional candidates will participate in 11 debates all over the sixth district. Three of these debates will be televised on local stations.

The debates are being sponsored by civic organizations and political groups in each area of the district.

College this week. Dr. Sidney B. Simon, professor of education at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, will

NEWS/DAILY

October 15, 1980 Wednesday

•NARNON, AN ORGANIZATION for people who have family members with drug problems, will meet at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Clayton County Flint River Center, Don Hastings Drive, Room 207.

•THE FILM 'CITIZEN KANE' will be shown at Clayton Jr. College of Morrow Wednesday, Oct.15 as a part of a series on film and literature. Sponsored by Lyceum, the showing begins at 8:30 p.m. in the Lecture Hall (G-132) and is open to the public. Stars Orson Welles, Agnes Moorhead and Joseph Cotten.

•FACULTY CHAMBER ENSEMBLE MUSIC program Wednesday, Oct. 15 at 10 a.m. at Clayton Jr. College of Morrow in the Lecture Hall (G-132). Public invited.

•MORROW SENIOR CITIZENS FRIENDSHIP Club to meet Wednesday, Oct. 15 at 11 a.m. in fellowship hall at Morrow United Methodist Church, Jonesboro Road, Morrow. Roger Prillheart, gospel singer and guitarist, to provide musical program.

Thursday

•EASTERN AIRLINES PILOTS' WIVES CLUB to meet Thursday, Oct. 16 at 10 a.m. at Neiman-Marcus in the Kaleidoscope Room for a table top seminar followed by lunch. All Eastern Airlines pilots' wives invited. Reservations accepted until noon Tuesday, Oct. 14 by calling Rosemary Slafter at 478-8770 or Betty Honore at 997-0338. •WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB to meet Thursday, Oct.

Community Calendar

16 at 10 a.m. at home of Claudette Barger, Bedford Court. Topic will be Christmas crafts. All members to participate by displaying crafts they have made. •CLAYTON GENERAL HOSPITAL AUXILIARY installation banquet Thursday, Oct. 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the hospital in the cafeteria.

Friday

•FAMILY LIFE CONFERENCE at First Baptist Church of Jonesboro Friday, Oct. 17 and Saturday, Oct. 18. Presented by Cross Keys Counseling Center of Conley. Friday program from 7-9:30 p.m. Saturday from 9-noon, and 1:30 - 5:30 p.m. Seminars on parenting, sexuality, drug and alcohol abuse, family health care, money management and other areas. $3 per individual or $5 per couple. Call 366-8753 for more information.

Saturday

•MORROW SR. HIGH third annual Country Fair at the school Saturday, Oct. 18 from 8 a.m.-6 p.m. Dealers and individuals interested in reserving booths can send $10 checks to Morrow Sr. High PTSA, 2299 Old Rex-Morrow Road, Morrow, Ga. 30260. For more information call Gail Eidson at 474-1969

·YARD SALE AT LEE STREET ELEMENTARY school, 178 Lee St., Jonesboro. Saturday, Oct. 18 beginning at 9 a.m. Sponsored by school PTA. For information call 478-8111.

Monday.

•CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE LECTURE features nationally-recognized journalist-author Frances Fitzgerald Monday, Oct. 20 at 8:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132) at CJC. Topic, "A Search For Values". Sponsored by Lyceum. Free and open to public. Call 961-3510 for information.

•SWIM-SLIM CLASSES are being held at Tallman Pools on Mondays and Wednesdays, at 10:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Classes sponsored by Swim Atlanta South, cost $20 per month. For more information call 477-7665.

NEWS/DAILY

October 23, 1980 Thursday

•CAVING CLINIC Thursday, Oct. 23 at Reynolds Nature Preserve. To be held by Outdoor Division, Clayton Parks and Recreation. For time and information call Lynda Moore at 997-5945.

*PREPARATION FOR SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test) seminar to be conducted at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow, Thursday, Oct. 23, beginning at 7 p.m. in room B-15. Free. Call 961-3500 for complete information.

Friday

•HALLOWEEN DANCE FOR SINGLES Friday, Oct. 24 at 9 p.m. in NCO Club at Fort McPherson, sponsored by Southside Singles. Music provided by disc jockey. $3 per person. Prizes for most original costumes, but costumes not required. Call 767-2409 or 627-5167.

•HALLOWEEN CARNIVAL Friday, Oct. 24 from 5-9 p.m. at B.C. Haynie Elementary School, Morrow Road, Morrow. Haunted House, games, food.

Saturday

*FREE THROW BASKETBALL CONTEST Saturday.

Community Calendar

Oct. 25 at Pointe South Jr. High and Morrow Jr. High, from 10 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Sponsored by Knights of Columbus. Open to all boys and girls, ages 11-14 inclusive. Age eligibility determined by age as of Nov. 1. Competition for boys and girls by age groups. Trophies for first places, certificates for seconds and thirds. Participants must wear gym shoes Winners go to District Runoff in January 1981.

•HALLOWEEN CARNIVAL Saturday, Oct. 25 at YWCA Soromundi Center, 6335 Riverdale Road, Riverdale, from 2-4 p.m. $1.50 per child (YWCA members) and $2 child (non-YWCA members). Reservations required. Call 997-1442 for YARD-BAKE SALE Saturday, Oct. 25 at Christian Fellowship Holiness Church, 7500 N. Main St., Jonesboro. 9 a.m. -6 p.m. at church building •FOREST PARK CITY ELECTION Saturday, Oct. 25.

Polls open at 7 a.m., close at 7 p.m. Four Council positions up for election.

Monday

•MUSIC CLUB AT FOREST PARK Senior High School to meet Monday, Oct. 27 at 8 p.m. in band room. All interested

•FALL FESTIVAL Monday, Oct. 27 from 10-6 p.m. at Lake City Health Care Center, 2055 Rex Road. Arts, crafts, ceramics. Public invited. proceeds go to activities department for patients. •SWIM-SLIM CLASSES are being held at Tallman Pools on Mondays and Wednesdays, at 10:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Classes sponsored by Swim Atlanta South, cost $20 per month. For more information call 477-7665.

Tuesday

•JOSEPH H. HUIE ELEMENTARY PTA will meet Tuesday, Oct. 28 at 7:30 p.m. in school cafeteria.

Wednesday

•CJC JAZZ ORCHESTRA to play in concert Wednesday, Oct. 29 at 10 a.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Free and open to public. Variety of modern jazz tunes. Conductor Bill Gore.

Thursday NEWS/DAILY 2/13/81 DRAMA PRODUCTION OF "TARTUFFE" to be presented by Clayton Junior College students and faculty members Thursday, Feb. 19 at 8:30 p.m. and at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 20-21. All performances free and open to public. To be staged in college's lecture hall

October 30, 1980 THE CLAYTON SUN CJC Presents:

'Grapes of Wrath' Slated Nov. 5

College on "film and literature" will be featured at the two-year institution next week.

Wednesday, Nov. 5. A 1940 at the college. release, the film stars Henry Fonda, Jane Darwell and John Carradine.

This showing and others in the series will be free and open to the public. A

Another film in a continu- number of lectures have ing series at Clayton Junior been scheduled to accompany the film screenings in the Lyceum-sponsored program

For complete information The film "The Grapes of about other screenings and Wrath" will be shown in the lectures scheduled in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) series, call the Office of the beginning at 8:30 p.m. on Dean of Students (961-3510) Clayton Junior College > will be featured during two theatre productions during November, the first two of five major performances scheduled during the academic year. "Once Upon a Mattress'

> drama and music students will be enacted during six performances Nov. 10-15, and "Antigone" will be presented during three performances Nov. 19-20. Other productions are "Tartuffe," planned in February, "Oklahoma," scheduled in March, 1981; and "Merchant of Venice," to be presented in May, 1981.

A musical by Mary Rodgers and Marshall Baer, "Once Upon a Mattress' will be the tenth in a series of musicals and operettas given by the Clayton Junior College Choir. Last year's scheduled during the year

major productions were "Fiddler on the Roof" and "H.M.S. Pinafore." All musical and drama productions will be free and open to the public.

CJC Presents Recitals

Clayton College music students will be presented in two recitals at the twoyear institution near Morrow next week.

Students will be pre-

sended in an 8:30 p.m. performance on Tuesday, March 10, and Eduring a 10 a.m. re-Scital on Wednesday, March 11. Both pres- 世entations will be given in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) and will be open to the public.

Congressional debate

gressional race, Dock Davis, have a heated exchange at a countered by accusing Davis of advocating 'the politics that forum at Clayton Junior College. Davis, a Democrat, called have brought the country 15 years of decline.' Story, 3C

Newt Gingrich (left) and his opponent in the 6th District Con- Gingrich's freshman term in Congress 'a disaster.' Gingrich

College next week.

CJC Offers Family Conference Workshop

Guy Sharpe will keynote a special conference for families at Clayton Junior College on Sunday afternoon, February

A four-hour discussion on "coping with the teenage years" will begin at 2 p.m. in Room D-200. A non-refundable $3 registration fee will include every member of a family.

The conference has v been designed to pro-> vide a dynamic and fast-moving opportu-nity for families to discuss the special needs of teenagers. Families will participate in special workshops on teenage sexuality, drug abuse, and famicommunication.

Workshop leaders will be from the Center for Disease Control, the Georgia Department of Health, the Clayton Mental Health Center, and the Clayton County School Sys-

Joint sponsors for the Sunday afternoon Sconference are the CIayton County Council of PTA, the Clayton County Health Department, and Clayton Ju-- nior College.

To register, or to obtain additional information, call the College's Office of Community Services at Another program in the controls against errors and

March; and "Merchant of sponsored by the Clayton small computers. Proper

Class reservations should be made through the College's Office of Community Services at 961-3550, located in the Administration Building. For more information, call the Small Business Development Center at 961-3414.

All programs in the Fall

Quarter series are co-

County Chamber of Commerce and the Small

Dr. Napier has had several articles published in scholarly journals and is the co-editor of "The Book ob Family Therapy" and co-author of "The Family

For more information about Wednesday's lecture, or others scheduled during the year, contact the Office of the Dean of Students

(961-3510) at Clayton Junior

Crucible.

Business Administration.

October 30, 1980

CJC Plans Accounting Program

An overview of record- on Mondays and Wednes- pants will take a detailed keeping requirements for days, November 3, 5, 10, look at double and single small businesses will be the and 12. A $30 registration entry bookkeeping as well as topic of a four-part program fee covers the cost of the en- alternate systems, including

"Basic Accounting for College's Small Business internal theft also will be

"Oklahoma," scheduled in Venice." to be presented in

A musical by Mary Rodgers and Marshall Baer,

"Once Upon a Mattress" will be the tenth in a series of musicals and operettas

given by the Clayton Junior College Choir. Last year's major productions were

"Fiddler on the Roof" and

"H.M.S. Pinafore."

open to the public.

Family values will be the Lyceum-sponsored series on Counseling Center.

Family Values Topic Of Clayton Jr. Talk

A member of the editoral

national Journal of Family

Therapy," Dr. Napier also

stitute, the Atlanta In-Small Businesses" will be Development Center con- covered.

discussed in three-hour ses- tinuing education series for sions scheduled at 6:30 p.m. the Fall Quarter, partici-

CIC Drama Students

Plan November Plays

Clayton Junior College planned in February;

Other productions All musical and drama scheduled during the college productions are free and topic of a free lecture at "Values for the 80's: The director of a group called advisory board of the "Inter-family therapy, will be serves as a staff member of featured during a 10 a.m. the Alliance for Counseling lecture at the College on and Therapeutic Services.

Wednesday, Nov. 12 He is a consultant to the scheduled in Room D-200. Marital and Family In-

Dr. Napier's lecture is stitute for Family Studies,

Clayton Junior College next Human Crisis:"

starting at Clayton Junior tire program.

NEWS/DAILY November 6, 1980

drama and music students will be featured during two theatre productions during

November, the first two of five major performances scheduled during the

"Once Upon a Mattress"

will be enacted during six performances Nov. 10-15,

and "Antigone" will be presented during three vear are "Tartuffe,"

Dr. Augustus Napier,

'The Family Workshop'

which provides training in

The public is invited.

performances Nov. 19-20.

academic 'ear.

Business Seminar Set at CJC

seminars for small business and credit sales. owners will be held at Clayton Junior College next

"Avoiding Legal Hassles" will be the topic of a fourpart program set to begin Monday. Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. County Chamber of Comeach evening, sessions will merce and the Small Businesses," "How to Cope continue on Wednesday, Business Administration. day, Oct. 20 and 22. A $30 this and other seminars ply for an SBA Loan." registration fee covers the cost of all four sessions.

Small business owners will learn about the "do's and don't's" of incorporating, as well as how to meet state, federal, and local requirements. Also covered will be

Business Development Center (SBDC) and the Of-

For more information on Inflat

Another program in a con-tinuing series of short management, contracts, Quarter, call the SBDC office at 961-3414. To register, The series of seminars is call the Office of Combeing sponsored by Clayton munity Services at 961-Junior College's Small 3550.

> programs fice of Community Services scheduled during November along with the Clayton and December include "Basic Accounting for Small with Recession and Inflation," and "How to Ap-

Accounting Classes Set At CJC

An overview of record-keeping requirements for small businesses will be the topic of a four-part program starting at Clayton Junior College next week.

"Basic Accounting for Small Businesses" will be discussed in three-hour sessions scheduled at 6:30 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesday, Nov. 3, 5, 10, and 12. A $30 registration fee covers the cost of the entire program. Another program in the College's Small Business Development Center continuing education series for the fall quarter, participants will take a detailed look at double and single entry bookkeeping as well as alternate systems, including small computers. Proper controls against errors and internal theft also will be covered.

Class reservations should be made through the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550), located in the Administration Building. For more information, call the Small Business Development Center at 961-3414.

All programs in the fall quarter series are co-sponsored by the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration.

November 18, 1980 Including Fillmore, Williams, Suppe

CJC Hosts Band Concert

Concert Band will be a program of marches, presented in performance overtures, and popular next week. The Band's 1980 Fall

Concert will be given at 10 a.m. on Wed., Nov. 26, in the College's Lecture Hall (Room G-132)

Lyceum-sponsored event free of charge.

The band, conducted by

The public is invited to the will be "His Honor" march Overture" by von Suppe, "Strategic Air Command" Bill Gore, Assistant march by Williams, and Opening of Southlake Mall.

such selections by composers as Henry about a third of whom are Fillmore, Clifton Williams, Franz von Suppe, and Burt Bacharach. Featured on the program

Promises" by Bacharach. made up of 22 students, music majors. The group has been in existence for six various events in the Atlanta area, including the Atlanta by Fillmore, "Light Cavalry Music Club's "Music in the Gardens" Promenade Concerts and the Grand

The Clayton Junior College Professor of Music, will offer selections from "Promises, The CJC Concert Band is years and has performed at another in a continuing and the Bridge-Odyssey College.

CIC Holds Registration

Registration for spring college courses for the first quarter credit classes will be time must report to an conducted at Clayton Junior orientation session in Room College on Thursday, March G-132, either at 10 a.m. or 6 26, and classes for the 11- p.m. All other students week quarter will begin on should obtain registration materials from the Office of Students enrolling in Admissions and Records.

school Saturday, Oct. 18 from 8 a.m.-6 p.m. Dealers and individuals interested in reserving booths can send $10

checks to Morrow Sr. High PTSA, 2299 Old Rex-Morrow

Road, Morrow, Ga. 30260. For more information call Gail

•YARD SALE AT LEE STREET ELEMENTARY school,

178 Lee St., Jonesboro. Saturday, Oct. 18 beginning at 9 a.m. Sponsored by school PTA. For information call 478-8111.

•CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE LECTURE features

nationally-recognized journalist-author Frances Fitzgerald

Monday, Oct. 20 at 8:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132) at CJC.

Topic, "A Search For Values". Sponsored by Lyceum. Free

Monday

October 16, 1980 NEWS/DAILY Thursday

• EASTERN AIRLINES PILOTS' WIVES CLUB to meet Thursday, Oct. 16 at 10 a.m. at Neiman-Marcus in the Kaleidoscope Room for a table top seminar followed by lunch. All Eastern Airlines pilots' wives invited. Reservations accepted until noon Tuesday, Oct. 14 by calling Rosemary Slafter at 478-8770 or Betty Honore at 997-0338.

•WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB to meet Thursday, Oct. 16 at 10 a.m. at home of Claudette Barger, Bedford Court. Topic will be Christmas crafts. All members to participate by displaying crafts they have made.

•CLAYTON GENERAL HOSPITAL AUXILIARY installation banquet Thursday, Oct. 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the hospital in the cafeteria.

Friday •FAMILY LIFE CONFERENCE at First Baptist Church of Jonesboro Friday, Oct. 17 and Saturday, Oct. 18.

•MORROW SR. HIGH third annual Country Fair at the Community Calendar

Presented by Cross Keys Counseling Center of Conley. Friday program from 7-9:30 p.m. Saturday from 9-noon, and 1:30 - 5:30 p.m. Seminars on parenting, sexuality, drug and alcohol abuse, family health care, money management and other areas. $3 per individual or $5 per couple. Call 366-8753 for more information.

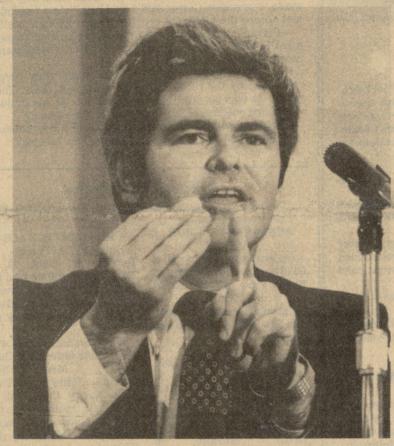

Saturday

and open to public. Call 961-3510 for information.

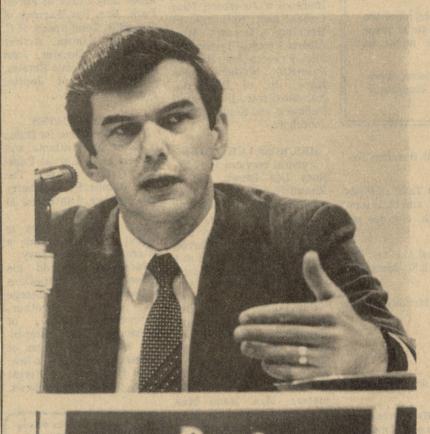

•SWIM-SLIM CLASSES are being held at Tallman Pools on Mondays and Wednesdays, at 10:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Classes sponsored by Swim Atlanta South, cost $20 per month. For more information call 477-7665.

October 9, 1980 NEWS/DAILY Debate

Davis, Gingrich Both Claim Success

NEWT GINGRICH

DOCK DAVIS

News-Daily Photos by Russell Mobley

By ELAINE ALMON Staff Writer

The first debate between U.S. Representative Newt Gingrich and his Democratic opponent Dock Davis was a success in the eyes of each candidate, mainly because each man believed that he was personally benefitted.

The debate was held Wednesday night at Clayton Junior College under the supervision of the College Political Union. The two congressional candidates squared off in a debate before a panel of three media persons.

John Dunn, editor of the News-Daily; Terry Anzur, weekend news anchorperson for WSB-TV; and Bill Shipp, political columnist for the Atlanta Constitution, made up the panel. Ms. Anzur also acted as timekeeper and moderator.

Barbara Nevins, reporter for WAGA-TV had been selected to sit on the media panel, said Dr. Gene Hatfield, but was unable to participate and cancelled out on such short notice that it was impossible to find a replacement.

Dock Davis won the coin toss and elected to allow Gingrich to open the debate. This placed him in a position to make the final closing statement, according to the rules of debate.

Gingrich addressed the audience on three key issues: the increase of gas costs as a result of added gas tax, the concept of deliberate recessions, and the cost of living increases which he claimed put Americans in a higher tax bracket. He called for a show of hands in an apparent attempt to gauge the audience on these issues.

Davis used his opening statement to inform the crowd about his experience in the military, as a small businessman, and as a farmer.

He added that most importantly he was a Democrat who had real experience, unlike his opponent who, he claimed, lacked "real world" experience.

John Dunn opened the debate segment with a question addressed to Davis concerning the placement of an industrial waste dump in Heard County, the home of the Democratic candidate.

Davis vehemently replied that he was against the placement of such a dump in that area, especially since his own home was located no more than three miles from the proposed site. He added that he had headed a local group on a visit to the national Environmental Protection Agency in Washington in an attempt to persuade officials to move the dump site.

See DEBATE on page 7A

Debate

Continued from page 1A

In response to a second part of Dunn's question which dealt with the level on which the problem should be handled, Davis said the problem was a national one. "Congress should have made laws requiring the neutralization of harmful chemicals but right now, we don't have the knowledge or technology to resolve the problem of industrial waste. Gingrich took a different approach to the question. He said that the major industries in Clayton County and the rest of the district were the ones responsible for the industrial waste and were also the ones who provided most of the employment. "We have demagogued the issue and played on fears and we can't work like

Gingrich added that the local group Davis took to Washington purposely excluded him and was organized for political purposes. Ms. Anzur asked Davis to lead off an explanation for the reinstatement of the draft. Davis pointed out that he had 18 years of military experience on which to base his knowledge of the Volunteer Army. "It is made up of 30 percent illiterates, and 60 percent high school dropouts. A Volunteer Army will not work."

He added that he believed in a lottery-type draft with no lead him to believe that the six-

Newt Gingrich stated that there should be no talk in "glib generalities". He pointed out his background as a history instructor with a specialization in military history. This, in addition to his conferences with military leaders, year man with knowledge who wants to get out of the military because of the low pay, was the concern, not the entry level people who would be brought in by the

Ms. Anzur pinned down Davis on the issue of drafting women. He stated that women should not be drafted. Gingrich agreed. Both candidates stated the influence of such organizations as the Moral Majority did not violate the separation of church and state, and was not an issue. They agreed that every American has the right to speak out on what he believes.

In response to a question from Ms. Anzur concerning the placement of the new airport terminal in relation to the issue of airport noise, Gingrich said that he was presently working with airport communities on projects to investigate pollution and noise and their effect on the sixth district.

Davis said that he would support efforts to reduce airport noise and pollution problems, unlike his opponent, who Davis said voted against two bills designed to study noise problems.

On a follow-up, Gingrich added that nothing could be done about airport noise until the Office of Management and Budget removed its block of an aviation trust fund of $5 million, but that he had fought for ADAP and this was a plus for

Davis stated that he would be the best candidate because he was a Democrat and he believed President Carter would be reelected, and the controlling power in Congress was the Democratic

In his closing statement, Gingrich said that the basic issue in the election was the type of future the public wants-one filled with high gas taxes and unemployment, or one that provides

Davis used his closing minutes to read an article from a Washington publication called "Congress Probe", in which criticized Gingrich as trying to be a "media star" rather than a representative. "An old proverb said that an empty drum makes a loud empty noise, and I believe that this describes Newt Gingrich. My opponent is afflicted with a fatal case of Washington-itis.'

After the debate, the candidates mingled with the audience, gathering feedback on their campaigns and their debate

Both candidates stated that the debates went well, "if only because they benefitted me."

CLAYTON SUN 1/29/81 Workshop

Leaders Set For Seminar

Television personality Guy Sharpe will keynote a special conference for families at Clayton Junior College Sunday afternoon, Feb. 1. A four-hour discussion on "coping with the teenage years" will begin at 2 p.m. in room D-200. A $3 registration fee will include every member of the family.

Workshops will be held on Family Communications, led by Babb Junior High School teacher Ted Key; Teenage Sexuality, led by Dr. Steve Sloan, of the Center for Disease Control, and by Patricia White, Perinatal Program Manager at the Department of Human Resources; and Drug Abuse, led by Jamie Gailliard, of the Clayton County's Child and Adolescent Program at the Clayton Mental Health Center.

The conference has been endorsed by two churches in the area-Jonesboro Presbyterian Church and Saint Augustine's Episcopal Church—as well as by the Mark Pines Civic Club, said seminar spokesman Carolyn Thompson.

The seminar will be cosponsored by the Clayton County Council of PTAs, Clayton Junior College at and the Clayton County Health Department.

To register, call CJC's Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Community Calendar

NEWS/DAILY

November 18, 1980 Wednesday

•MORROW SENIOR CITIZENS SUNSHINE CLUB to meet Wednesday, Nov. 19 in Fellowship Hall at Morrow United Methodist Church, at 11 a.m. Program to include demonstration of approved construction methods for certain medical dressings to be made by volunteers of the club and donated to local nursing homes.

•CJC PRESENTS 'ANTIGONE', Greek play, Wednesday, Nov. 19 at 10 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. and on Thursday, Nov. 20 at 8:30 p.m. In Lecture Hall (G-132) and open to public. Free. Sponsored by Clayton Jr. College Players. Directed by Assistant Professor of English, Dr. Pat Collins.

Thursday

•ANTIGONE, FINAL PRODUCTION Thursday, Nov. 20 at 8:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G- 132) at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow. Public invited, no charge

The New Right in the 1980s:

Author Frances Fitzgerald Talks About Born-Again Politics at Clayton Jr.

By TRACY THOMPSON

Frances Fitzgerald was 40 years old Tuesday, and she marked the night before that landmark in her life by lecturing to a group of about 125 persons at Clayton Junior College on that new phenomenon in American politics, the Evangelical Right.

What she had to say possibly didn't sit well with any dyed-in-the-wool Baptists who might have been in the crowd, but it was a thought-provoking debut for CJC's Lyceum Series for this year, entitled "Values for the '80s: The Human Crisis.'

MS. FITZGERALD, best known for her Pulitzer Prize-winning 1972 book on Vietnam, Fire in the Lake, put the intrusion of the Rev. Jerry Falwell's Moral Majority and the rising emphasis on private morality issues in politics—issues such as abortion and homosexuals' rights into historical perspective for her audience at CJC Monday night.

'So far it's been an extraordinary Presidential campaign," she said. "The main issues have been issues of theology and private morality—neither of which can be effectively legislated.'

But his year's campaign, with its competing claims by both candidates to be bornagain Christians and its side issues on whether God does or does not hear the prayers of Jews, is only the latest in a series of American religious upheavals, said Ms. Fitzgerald, who is at work on an article on Fallwell's Moral Majority for New Yorker

IT'S happened before, she said, citing the religious upheaval that preceeded the American Revolution, the one that followed the election of Andrew Jackson to the Presidency in the early 19th century, and the last one, which in the early years of this century coincided with vast political and labor

The difference between those earlier religious awakenings and current ecumenical movements such as Moral Majority, however, is that the latter "has been opposed to the social gospel notions of the individual's responsibility toward society"-a marked the involvecreed that also ment of many Southern churches with the Civil Rights movement of the 1960s, she

AND THEREIN, Ms. Fitzgerald told her audience, lies the fatal flaw of Falwell and his followers: the unresolved paradox of the traditional fundamentalist emphasis on inner salvation versus the desire for political power and the demands for compromise which political power inevitably engenders.

found there is not at all a steel wall (between those issues)," Ms. Fitzberald said. "The movement is full of confusions and uncertainties which have arisen as a result of the fundamentalists' entry into politics. There's a tremendous amount of hypocrisy involved as they try to speak to two groups at the Falwell himself, she said, is "an opportunist who seeks a wider audience." and who has found one so far "in the desires of people frightened by (the liberal excesses) of the 1960s, and who want a recognizable level of authority in government.

"THIS GREAT Awakening is not yet over," she continued. "Falwell himself has moderated his stands quite a bit. His earlier prohibition on drinking was changed when he found out Ronald Reagan had a wine cellar he was quite proud of. Now, he says

In the next decade, the new Evangelical Conservative movement will alter subtly, she said. She forsees a shift away from strict fundamentalist thinking in religion and politics—a trend she unabashedly says she hopes will occur.

"Two reasons," she said. "An aggressive, evangelical stance has always translated into foreign policy which has been dangerous"-a view that American imperalism "is okay as long as it promotes evangelical thought (and) that there's no other way to deal with those outside your belief system.'

However, America's survival "depends on the ability to negotiate and get along in the

Ms. Fitzgerald also forsees medical and ethical dxilemmas proliferating in the next

"These are issues that cannot be left to the scientists," she said. "Churches will be important in the discussion, but we need people who are well-informed."

IF FRANCES Fitzgerald's demeanor before an audience is remarkably like a young teaching assistant addressing her first class-her voice occasionally betrayed hesitations and stammerings, and she nervously flipped her medium-length blond hair behind her shoulders again and again-in person she is poised and low-key, with that faint but unmistakable self-assurance that comes to those born to the social and academic elite.

The great-granddaughter of the founder of the prestigious Groton School in Connecticut, Ms. Fitzgerald is the daughter of Marietta Tree, a former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and now an urban planner in New York. Her late father, Desmond Fitzgerald, was a deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency; her stepfather, Ronald Tree, is a former British Member of Parliament and the father of her half-sister, internationally known model Penelope Tree. Ms. Fitzgerald herself, a Radcliffe graduate, has been a working journalist since 1964, two years before she went to Vietnam to research what started out as a piece for Atlantic Monthly and ended up as Fire in the Lake. For the past 15 years, she has been an ovserver at the forefront of major historical and cultural changes in America, probing the unease that happens when prevailing dogmas don't fit the circumstances of people's lives.'

AT A RECEPTION following her Tuesday morning talk, she stood in a small circle of students, talking about her current

Will Jerry Falwell ever occupy the place in American life as does an established, mainline evangelist such as Billy Graham? she was asked.

"I think he'd like to," she said. "Whether he'll make too many mistakes along the way remains to be seen.

What about Ronald Reagan's real religious sentiments? another student asked.

"I only know what he says, and that is he's a Presbyterian by background," she said adding slyly, "I've never known him to display any particular interest in religion before this campaign."

Fitzgerald's visit, stepped behind her to remind her that it was 11 a.m., only one hour before her noon flight was due to leave Hartsfield International. One last question, she was asked: do you consider yourself a failed novelist, as you've said before, or a born jour-

Ms. Fitzgerald paused, looked down at the floor while a soft smile illuminated her face. "Oh, I don't know," she said. "Perhaps you could call me a born-again journalist. That's what I am."

"The leaders of Moral Majority have he's against 'excessive' drinking.' Bingrich, Davis Head-to-Head Debates Bring Out 6th District Issues

By CHARLIE SMITH

After two years in Congress, 6th District Rep. Newt Gingrich is still the challenger, as far as Dock Davis is concerned. Gingrich, R-Carrollton, and Heard County awyer-businessman Davis, the Democratic ominee, have met in three of 17 scheduled ebates before the Nov. 4 election, the latest televised 30-minute debate Sunday on

Wrapping himself in the historical cloaks of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry Truman, John Kennedy and Richard Russell, Davis has attempted to paint Gingrich as the outsider in 6th District politics and himself as the outsider in 6th District politics and himself as the heir to the policies and accomplishments of bygone leaders and to "the programs conceived and introduced by the

DAVIS HAS ASSERTED that the

GOING HEAD-TO-HEAD-Gingrich, far left, and Davis, right foreground debated the issues at Clayton Junior College (SUNphoto by Charlie Smith)

'in the real world" leads to "gimmicks" and 'exaggeration .'

Gingrich, on the other hand, has lambasted Davis and the Democrats for proposing measures that would, he has said, increase inflation, raise gasoline prices and deepen the recession.

"I have been leading the fight for new policies and new economics," Gingrich said last week at Clayton Junior College. "If you think it is impossible to change policies, then vote for Davis.'

The two disagree on the economy, on energy and on the draft and on the method for solving the Hartsfield Atlanta International Airport noise problem, but on abortions (both against federal funding), ERA (both against extending the ratification term), nuclear power (both for its use, with modifications) and the question of whether religious groups should become involved in politics (okay with both) they express similar

Quoting a Davis statement that a recession may be necessary to beat inflation, WAGA-TV newsman Forrest Sawyer Sunday asked Davis if he did, in fact, favor a

Davis asserted that the only way to beat inflation was to slow down the economy and at the same time to increase productivity. He cited a proposal he said he would introduce to exempt $1,500 of a person's income from taxation if the money was invested in a qualified savings account. .

"WE NEED CAPITAL investment, modification of the (corporate) tax structure and a tax cut to savers if we are going to increase productivity," he said.
Gingrich countered that he is already a cosponsor of a bill that would exempt savings accounts from taxation and said that the only way to beat inflation was to cut federal spending and to reduce taxes. Davis has charged, in each debate, that Gingrich's may vote on the synthetic fuels bill (which passed Congress this year) was a vote to keep the United States dependent on

Gingrich said he voted against the bill because it would create a new bureacratic mechanism and because he saw "no reason to pay five or six dollars for a gallon of syn-

ON THE DRAFT, Davis has asserted that he would vote for a lottery-style draft of 18-year-olds while Gingrich has maintained that a draft would not solve problems in the military, problems he says are caused by low salaries for career military personnel.

While both candidates agree that something should be done about noise pollution at the airport, Davis has argued that it is the fault of the airline industry and that airplanes should be made less noisy, while Gingrich has cited his work on a bill to relocate residents who are affected by the

Pressing his attack on Gingrich as an outsider, Davis Sunday charged that Gingrich had received contributions from 39 political action committees from outside the state which caused him to doubt that Gingrich can represent the interest of Georgia" in the House of Representatives.

Gingrich side-stepped the charge and instead chose to emphasize his record in getting "convicted felons" expelled from the House. He said an example was former congressman Charles Diggs, D-Michigan., who was reelected in 1978 after being convicted of 26 counts of fraud in connection with his office payroll. Diggs later resigned from the house after Gingrich led a campign to expel

NEITHER CANDIDATE wanted to cast stones at Sen. Herman Talmadge. When asked Sunday what they thought of a Senate reprimand issued to Talmadge, both Davis and Gingrich backed away from criticizing

On the issues of ERA, the federal funding of abortions and nuclear power, the two candidates have expressed similar views. Both have said that they would not sup port an extension of the ratification term of the Equal Rights Amendment and both agree that the federal government should not pay for abortions.

They are for the use of nuclear power, both candidates said, with Davis asserting that research is needed to solve nuclear waste problems and Gingrich stressing that the problems with nuclear power "are solvable."

There are 14 more debates scheduled around the district before the voters go to the polls Nov. 4.

Both Candidates Satisfied With First Debate Outcome

with their performances at forms.
the first debate Oct. 8 at Terry Anzur, weekend Clayton Junior College.

said they were satisfied their two congressional plat-

They both claimed to WAGA-TV, moderated the Asked by Shipp what his Gingrich and democratic have successfully pointed debate and John Dunn, major achievement was dur- critical manpower shortage out the differences between editor of the Clayton ing his first term, Gingrich Atlanta Constitution, made news anchorperson for up the panel. The debate was sponsored by the CJC

> In his opening remarks, Gingrich charged that as a democrat, Davis was for a tax on gasoline, deliberate recessions and cost of living increases.

College Political Union.

Davis stressed his business and farming background and said Gingrich lacks "real world" experience and seeks "gimmicks" to solve problems.

DUNN, opened the debate segment with a question directed to Davis concerning the dumping of hazardous wastes in Heard County.

Davis replied that the wastes were a hazard for Heard county and West Georgia as a whole and said he had taken a local committee to Washington to seek relief from the Environmental Protection Gingrich countered that

Davis' committee, from which he was excluded, was politically motivated and that the wastes were "a reality of industrial society. "It is easy to whip up local fears and emotions," he said

News/Daily and Bill Shipp, replied that this motion to political columnist for the have Rep. Charles Diggs expelled from the House of Representatives was the achievement he was proudest of. Though the motion did not succeed Gingrich stated that "I think somebody has to stand up occasionally for

> DAVIS responded that cerning what he would do to Gingrich had ignored the farmers during his freshman said he would use the exterm, had failed to use his isting tax structure to enoffice to support a reinstate, courage productivity and what is right."

he would do in his first term, if elected, Davis said that GINGRICH responded that Continuing the questioning, Anzur asked Davis why principal of church and he favored a resumption of the draft. Davis replied that a draft ment of the draft and had would offer a bill to exempt voted against the synthetic $1,500 from a person's income if the money was in a When pressed to say what qualified savings account.

cial needs.

his major achievements there are "over 70" savings would stem from his "ability account bills in Congress to distinguish between already and that he supprograms that are good for ports measure to cut taxes the Sixth District and those and limit spending.

Dunn asked Gingrich if

in the military," and said he

Gingrich argued that the problem is "the guy who has been in six or seven years" and is not being paid a salary that meets his finan-question by Ms. Anzur, conno exclusions.

jority was in violation of the Gingrich said he did not and added that he endorsed

he thought the Moral Maareas.

CJC Jazz Concert Today

The Clayton Junior College Jazz Orchestra, under the direction of Bill Gore, will be featured in concert at the the political process. Davis also said he did not object to Moral Majority would support a lottery-type draft for 18-year-olds with but noted that "personally I don't like the preacher in my church trying to endorse a candidate and suggesting that because he's a preacher he knows more about a candidate than I do.'

In answer to a question by In response to another Ms. Anzur concerning what will be done to ease airport noise impact on Clayton improve the economy, Davis County residents, Gingrich said he has already worked with officials to complete phase I of the Mountain View project (which would allocate $7 million to Mt. View residents for reloca-

Davis shot back that Gingrich had already voted against two bills that would have required airports to reduce noise levels, but Gingrich responded that 'our best solution will be to try to move people out of the most severely impacted

In closing remarks, Gingrich reiterated that he would continue to work for the lowering of taxes, for reduced federal spending criticized the Congressman and against program that for not supporting "a "Would put people out of stronger defense," for his work and raise taxes."

opposition to the draft and Davis called Gingrich's for his support of the statements "a loud noise Kemp-Roth bill which from a hollow drum" and would have reduced taxes.

INCRICU

CJC Plans Study Of Death

A special forum on the issue of death and dying will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Tues., March 31

Joining the College in co-sponsoring the forum on "Who Defines Death?" will be the Clayton County Ministers O Conference, the Clayton County Bar Association, and the Clayton-Fayette Medical Society.

Dr. Frederick Ferre, chairman of the Department of Philosophy and Religion at the University of Georgia, will be the keynote speaker for the program.

The speakers will suggest issues and raise questions which the audience will respond to in small group discussions. Issues will deal with subjects like death with dignity, - the rights of the dying person, and the responsibilities of the medical, legal and ministerial professions to the dying person and his or her family. Free and open to the public, the scheduled two-and-a-half-hour forum will begin at 7 p.m. in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building.

For more information about the forum, call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550).

and cited the needs of sixth Sponsored by Lyceum, the performance will begin at 10 district industries that must a.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). The public is invited be balanced against the free of charge. DOCK DAVIS needs of local residents.

Thursday •ANTIGONE, FINAL PRODUCTION Thursday, Nov. 20 at 8:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G- 32) at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow. Public invited, no charge • EARLY REGISTRATION FOR WINTER QUARTER at

Clayton Jr. College Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 24-25. Wednesday

Monday

•MUSICAL CONCERT Wednesday, Nov. 26 by members of Clayton Jr. College Band, 10 a.m. in Lecture Hall (G-

•HENRY GRADY AND TOM WATSON: The New South And Populism' lecture by Dr. Robert McMath Wednesday, Nov. 26 at Clayton Jr. College. Room D-200 at 10 a.m. McMath is a history professor at Ga. Tech. Public invited

'Antigone' At CJC November 14, 1980 NEWS/DAILY

The Greek "Antigone" will presented during three 132) and will be open to the performances at Clayton public. Junior College next week.

The Clayton Junior College Players, directed by Dr. Pat Collins, Assistant Professor of English, will be presented in 10 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. productions on Wednesday, November 19, and in an 8:30 p.m. performance on Thursday, play productions will be given in Creon's sole surviving son. the Lecture Hall (Room G-Betsy Thompson will play the part of Antigone, the daughter of Oedipus, who refuses to obey Creon, king of Thebes and her uncle. Michele Hagist White will play Ismene, sister of Antigone, and Jeff Franklin will play her fiancee Haimon, who happens to be David Deering will play two parts in the Greek drama. He appears first as the blind prophet Teiresias who vainly warns Creon of his perilous course, and returns as the familiar messenger who brings the bad news.

Hisha Steele will do an exciting solo "chorus," always speaking as one

Wednesday 1980

•MUSIC RECITAL Wednesday, Nov. 5 by Clayton Jr. College music students. At 10 a.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132).

•FILM "GRAPES OF WRATH" to be shown Wednesday, Nov. 4 at 8:30 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Lecture Hall (G-132). Free and open to public. Part of continuing series on film and literature, it is considered one of the best films ever made.

Thursday

•CIVIL WAR-BATTLE OF ATLANTA lecture Thursday, Nov. 6 at 7 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Lecture Hall (G-132). By University of Georgia professor Dr. Emory Thomas. Free and open to public.

THE CLAYTON SUN A PROGRAM on the care of houseplants will be presented Nov. 13 at the Clayton Junior College Student Center, 6:30-8:30 p.m., sponsored by the Clayton County Extension Service. An expert horticulturist will present a talk on proper light, humidity, and fertilization of houseplants. The public is invited, and no advance registration is required. For more information, call the Extension Service at 478-9911, extension 340.

UNIVERSITY OF Georgia history professor Dr. Emory Thomas will be featured in a lecture on the "Civil War-Battle of Atlanta" at Clayton Junior College Nov. 6 at 7 p.m. in the school's lecture hall, room G-132. The public is CLAYTON JUNIOR College music students will be presented in an ensemble recital Nov. 12 at the 10 a.m. in the school's lecture hall, room G-132. The public is in-

November 6, 1980

132). Public invited, free of charge.

Community Calendar

Wednesday

•MUSICAL CONCERT Wednesday, Nov. 26 by members of Clayton Jr. College Band, 10 a.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Public invited, free of charge.

•HENRY GRADY AND TOM WATSON: The New South And Populism' lecture by Dr. Robert McMath Wednesday, Nov. 26 at Clayton Jr. College. Room D-200 at 10 a.m. McMath is a history professor at Ga. Tech. Public invited

Tuesday

•COUNTY COMMISSION to meet Tuesday, Dec. 2 at 1:30 p.m. in meeting room in administration building in Jonesboro. Public invited.

•CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE MUSIC students to be presented in a recital Tuesday, Dec. 2 at 8:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Public invited.

NEWS/DAILY 12/8/80

IP FOR THE

SAT Scheduled At CJC

Students who plan to enroll in credit classes at Clayton Junior College for the first time during the Winter Quarter will have another opportunity to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) this week.

The College will administer the SAT to its applicants on Thursday evening, Dec. 11, beginning at 6 p.m. in Room G-132. It is not necessary to register in advance, but each applicant should be at the testing center by 5:30 p.m. since no one will be permitted to enter after the 6 p.m. starting

A $9.25 testing fee is payable before taking the SAT. A requirement for admission into credit programs, new students must have taken the SAT and filed all other Winter Quarter applicants and credentials with the Office of Admissions and Records on or before Friday, Dec. 12. Call 961-3500 for complete information.

The Winter Quarter will begin with registration on Jan. 5,

DAWN TRIVETT DEMONSTRATES

Approximately 900 people attended two sessions of the

'Christmas Is What You Make It' program presented by the Clayton County Extension Service Thursday at Clayton

Christmas recipes, decorations and gift ideas were featured, along with exhibits from the Georgia Power

Company, Georgia Egg Commission, Magic Chef, Atlanta

Clayton Extension Agent Kathy Wages said the program was designed to help folks make this holiday season the best

From the number of people participating in the event, it

me-baked goodies and handmade gifts at Christmastime.

appears there will be a lot of Clayton residents receiving

'Christmas Is What

You Make It' Hints

Gas Light Company and Amana.

January 12, 1981 NEWS/DAILY Monday

•JONESBORO CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, Jan. 12

at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited. •ACTOR-DIRECTOR JOHN HOUSEMAN OF 'PAPER CHASE' FAME will present a lecture Monday, Jan. 12 in room G-132 at Clayton Junior College beginning at 7 p.m. The lecture is free to the public.

Wednesday

•CONCERT PIANIST DOROTHY LEWIS GRIFFITH will be presented in a piano recital at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, Jan. 14, beginning at 10 a.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132), Her program will include works by I. Stravinsky, Ravel, and Robert Starer. The public is invited.

•THE FRIENDSHIP CLUB OF FOREST PARK will meet Jan. 14 at the Kiwanis Clubhouse on South Avenue. Meeting begins at 11 a.m. and a covered dish luncheon will

•FRANKLIN M. GARRETT, OFFICIAL HISTORIAN for the City of Atlanta and Fulton County, will speak at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, Jan. 14. Sponsored by Lyceum, Garrett will speak on "railroads and development of Metropolitan Atlanta" during a 10 a.m. lecture in Room

Gingrich Still Outsider; Davis Says

a televised 30-minute debate Sunday on

After two years in Congress, 6th District

Rep. Newt Gingrich is still the challenger, as far as Dock Davis is concerned.

Wrapping himself in the historical cloaks Gingrich, R-Carrollton, and Heard County of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry Truman, lawyer-businessman Davis, the Democratic John Kennedy and Richard Russell, Davis

GOING HEAD-TO-HEAD-Gingrich, far left, and Davis, right foreground debated the issues at Clayton Junior College (SUNphoto by Charlie Smith)

the heir to the policies and accomplishments of bygone leaders and to "the programs conceived and introduced by the Democratic

DAVIS HAS ASSERTED that the former college professor's lack of experience "in the real world" leads to "gimmicks" and "exaggeration."

Gingrich, on the other hand, has lambasted Davis and the Democrats for proposing measures that would, he has said, increase inflation, raise gasoline prices and deepen the recession.

"I have been leading the fight for new policies and new economics," Gingrich said last week at Clayton Junior College. "If you think it is impossible to change policies, then vote for Davis.

The two disagree on the economy, on energy and on the draft and on the method for solving the Hartsfield Atlanta International Airport noise problem, but on abortions (both against federal funding), ERA (both against extending the ratification term), nuclear power (both for its use, with modifications) and the question of whether religious groups should become involved in politics (okay with both) they express similar

Quoting a Davis statement that a recession may be necessary to beat inflation, WAGA-TV newsman Forrest Sawyer Sunday asked Davis if he did, in fact, favor a

Davis asserted that the only way to beat inflation was to slow down the economy and at the same time to increase productivity. He

October 8, 1980

By CINDY JERNIGAN

Living Editor

accept what critics say," states an animated Judith Crist. "A critic is simply an individual giving an individual opinion. We write so that we may stimulate others to react." The enthusiastic Ms. Crist knows what she's talking about. She has been reacting and making people react to movies for almost three decades. Her current roles as film critic for the New York Post and TV Guide and contributing editor and film critic for Saturday

Review helped to make her a prominent voice during what she calls "the just completed decade of Calling the buying of a theatre ticket "a favorable vote for a movie", the critic, speaking to a faculty-student group at Clayton

Junior College in Morrow,

"Everybody knows what I think.

It hangs out on the line like laundry. But what do you think? You take into that theatre yourself and all that has ever happened to you.

her dream of becoming a critic

came true and she later found out really wouldn't want to if you had

She calls herself a part of the "very first movie generation", the post-radio, pre-television movie

"For me, that was where the real

According to Ms. Crist, movies are a reflection of our society, not a shaper. "The really great movies have looked ahead," she states.

"But if you look at a movie like

Gone With The Wind you'll see

American morality of the 1930's, when the film was made. The artifacts are of the Civil War, but

Scarlett and Rhett and Melanie have 1930's values and behavior.'

The film critic declines an invitation to name her favorite movies. "There are about 2,000 of

"there has never been a movie so good as its coming attraction"

Saying the American public has been "intimidated", Ms. Crist urges people to talk about their

"I am worried about America,"

she says, "because we have become a nation of the spoon-fed.

We, the critics do not know what you think. When I was doing reviews on the Today Show, we always heard from the crazies, the people who didn't like anything. I'd get letters from people who hated this or that. I still do. I'd like to hear some love. The hate is bad, but worst of all is to hear nothing."

Ms. Crist will probably get some reaction from her peers soon. She has a bit part in Woody Allen's new film, "Stardust Memories". She only has one line, but she laughingly calls it "the start of feelings toward movies.

them. Let's start alphabetically," she quips. But she does attest that world was," she says.

that there is not possibly enough time to see every movie and "you

Ms. Crist adds that unfortunately questions her audience.

the critic"

the time."

fanatics.'

"It worries me that people just to exempt $1,500 of a person's income from taxation if the money was invested in a qualified savings account.

"WE NEED CAPITAL investment, modification of the (corporate) tax structure and a tax cut to savers if we are going to increase productivity," he said. Gingrich countered that he is already a cosponsor of a bill that would exempt savings accounts from taxation and said that the only way to beat inflation was to cut federal spending and to reduce taxes. Davis has charged, in each debate, that Gingrich's nay vote on the synthetic fuels bill (which passed Congress this year) was a vote to keep the United States dependent on

Gingrich said he voted against the bill because it would create a new bureacratic mechanism and because he saw "no reason to pay five or six dollars for a gallon of synthetic gasoline.'

ON THE DRAFT, Davis has asserted that he would vote for a lottery-style draft of 18-year-olds while Gingrich has maintained that a draft would not solve problems in the military, problems he says are caused by low salaries for career military personnel.

While both candidates agree that something should be done about noise pollution at the airport, Davis has argued that it is the fault of the airline industry and that airplanes should be made less noisy, while Gingrich has cited his work on a bill to relocate residents who are affected by the

Pressing his attack on Gingrich as an outsider, Davis Sunday charged that Gingrich had received contributions from 39 political action committees from outside the state which caused him to doubt that Gingrich can "represent the interest of Georgia" in the House of Representatives.

Gingrich side-stepped the charge and in-stead chose to emphasize his record in getting "convicted felons" expelled from the House. He said an example was former congressman Charles Diggs, D-Michigan., who was reelected in 1978 after being convicted of 26 counts of fraud in connection with his office payroll. Diggs later resigned from the house after Gingrich led a campign to expel

NEITHER CANDIDATE wanted to cast stones at Sen. Herman Talmadge. When asked Sunday what they thought of a Senate reprimand issued to Talmadge, both Davis and Gingrich backed away from criticizing

On the issues of ERA, the federal funding of abortions and nuclear power, the two candidates have expressed similar views.

Both have said that they would not support an extension of the ratification term of the Equal Rights Amendment and both agree that the federal government should not pay for abortions.

They are for the use of nuclear power, both candidates said, with Davis asserting that research is needed to solve nuclear waste problems and Gingrich stressing that the problems with nuclear power "are solvable."

There are 14 more debates scheduled around the district before the voters go to the polls Nov. 4.

THE CLAYTON SUN January 8, 1981 Garrett to Speak

On Railroads at CIC

Development be the topic of a lecture at local history and culture.

Clayton Junior College next A former director of the County, will address the ture in Room D-200 on Wilson College of Law and Wednesday, Jan. 14. The was awarded an honorary sponsored series entitled Atlanta," a picture history 'Georgia: Now and Then." of the city.

Railroads and the The series, which began last October and continues into Metropolitan Atlanta" will May, focuses on state and A former director of the Atlanta Historical Society, Franklin Garrett, Garrett also has served as an historian of the Atlanta Atlanta branch manager of Historical Society, the City the Western Union of Atlanta, and Fulton Telegraph Company. Garrett received a law topic during a 10 a.m. lec- degree from the Woodrow public is invited free of degree, Doctor of Humane Letters, by Oglethorpe. He is the author of "Atlanta Garrett's lecture will be and Environs," a history of the latest in a Lyceum- Atlanta, and "Yesterday's

THE FAYETTE SUN January 8, 1931 'Paper Chase' Star To Speak

Actor John Houseman, two-year college near most famous for his Morrow. portrayal of Professor Kingfield in the film and television series "The Paper Chase," will be featured in a lecture at Clayton Junior College next week.

Houseman, who starred in the television drama "A Christmas Without Snow' last month, will give a general history of films in America during his 8:30 p.m. lecture Monday, Jan. 12. Scheduled in the College's Lecture Hall (Room G-132), the public is invited free of charge.

The appearance of the multi-talented star of stage and screen continues a series of lectures and film screenings scheduled throughout the year at the

'What It's Like to be a Nurse' Workshop at Clayton Jr.

it's like to be a nurse will be conducted at Clayton Junior College next week.

The one-evening program, designed to answer all questions from a person who is interested in becoming a registered nurse, will begin at 7 p.m. in the Round Building (Room B-12) on Thursday, Nov. 13. A written registration will not be night of the program.

Career," the program will sonnel in the Administra- two-vear program was first registered nurse. provide participants with information about courses included in the two-year Nursing Program at Clayton Junior College, as well as special admission require-

Tuition costs will be outlined and explained along with what's available to nursing students in scholarships and other forms of financial aid. Members of the College's nursing faculty and a number of students enrolled in the program will be available to answer specific

A free program on what necessary, but participants For more information tion Building. are encouraged to reserve a about next Thursday's free place by phone prior to the program, or to reserve a place in the workshop, call the Office of Admissions Junior College has ENTITLED "Registered and Records (961-3500), or graduated more than 360 Nursing...It Could Be Your visit with admissions per- nursing students since the licenses the graduate as a

A unit of the University System of Georgia, Clayton offered. A graduate of the nursing program may petition to take the examination of the Georgia Board of Nursing, and successful completion of the test

NEWS/DAILY Movies

Critic Judith Crist Visits Clayton

News-Daily Photo by James Jernigan FILM CRITIC JUDITH CRIST

Monday

NEWS/DAILY •LEGISLATIVE ROUNDTABLE Monday, Nov. 17 at 7 p.m. in D building, room 200 at Clayton Jr. College, Morrow. Sponsored by CJC Political Union. Clayton

General Assembly delegation (Sen. Terrell Starr, Reps. Bill Lee, Rudolph Johnson, Jim Wood, Jimmy Benefield) to discuss major issues expected in 1981 General Assembly session. Public encouraged to attend. Questions by moderator, and questions from audience. Reception follows •FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL will meet Monday,

Nov. 17 at 7:30 p.m. Public invited. •COPING WITH RECESSION AND INFLATION workshop for small business owners, two-part program at Clayton Jr. College at 6:30 p.m. Monday and Wednesday, Nov. 17 and 19. $15 registration fee covers both sessions. Sponsored by Small Business Development Center. Three hours each night. To register, call Office of Community

Wednesday

•CJC PRESENTS 'ANTIGONE', Greek play, Wednesday, Nov. 19 at 10 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. and on Thursday, Nov. 20 at 8:30 p.m. In Lecture Hall (G-132) and open to public. Free. Sponsored by Clayton Jr. College Players. Directed by Assistant Professor of English, Dr. Pat Collins.

Thursday

•ANTIGONE, FINAL PRODUCTION Thursday, Nov. 20 at 8:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G- 132) at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow. Public invited, no charge

PACKED HOUSE LISTENS INTENTLY TO PROGRAM

October 27, 1980 Monday

MUSIC CLUB AT FOREST PARK Senior High School to meet Monday, Oct. 27 at 8 p.m. in band room. All interested •FALL FESTIVAL Monday, Oct. 27 from 10-6 p.m. at Lake City Health Care Center, 2055 Rex Road. Arts, crafts, ceramics. Public invited, proceeds go to activities depart-

•SWIM-SLIM CLASSES are being held at Tallman Pools on Mondays and Wednesdays, at 10:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Classes sponsored by Swim Atlanta South, cost $20 per month. For more information call 477-7665.

Tuesday

· JOSEPH H. HUIE ELEMENTARY PTA will meet Tuesday, Oct. 28 at 7:30 p.m. in school cafeteria.

• SOUTHSIDE SINGLES to meet Tuesday, Oct. 28 at 7:45 p.m. in clubhouse of Windjammer South Apartments, 5420 Riverdale Road, College Park. Speaker to be Pope Dickson of Pope Dickson Funeral Home on subject "Death, A Reality Most Are Unprepared For". Meetings free and open to interested persons. For more information call Larry at 627-5167 or Margareta at 767-2409.

Community Calendar

KATHY WAGES INSTRUCTS

•MORROW CITY COUNCIL to meet Tuesday, Oct. 28 at 7:30 p.m. in city Hall. Public invited.

Wednesday

•CJC JAZZ ORCHESTRA to play in concert Wednesday, Oct. 29 at 10 a.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Free and open to public. Variety of modern jazz tunes. Conductor Bill Gore.

Thursday

•FASHION SHOW-LUNCHEON sponsored by Lake Spivey Ladies League Thursday, Oct. 30 at 11:30 a.m. at Edgewater Country Club. Tickets $6.50 each. Call 361-7034

•ASSOCIATION FOR CHILDREN WITH LEARNING DISABILITIES, Clayton chapter, to meet Thursday, Oct. 30 at 8 p.m. at Clayton Board of Education Annex, 155 Smith

•E.J. SWINT ELEMENTARY PTA to sponsor Halloween Skating Party Thursday, Oct. 30 at 7:30 p.m. at Tara Skating Rink on Hwy. 85 in Riverdale. Admission for Swint students $1.75, money going to PTA fund. Costume contest, $10 first prize, $5 second place, $2.50 third place.

•SCHOLASTIC APTITUDE TEST (SAT) to be administered Thursday, Oct. 30 at 6 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow. Room G-132. $9.25 fee payable at time of testing. Call 961-3500 or 961-3515.

Friday

•TRICK OR TREAT ON THE MALL friday, Oct. 31 at Southlake Mall from 6:30 - 8:30 p.m. (or while candy lasts) at participating merchants. Free candy to kids 10 years old and under. Special pumpkin to show children which stores are participating. COSTUME CONTEST at 8 p.m. in J.C. Penney courtyard. Kids to age 16 eligible for prizes.

Saturday

•FLEA MARKET sponsored by Jenesboro Sr. High PTSA Saturday, Nov. 1 from 9 a.m. -5 p.m. at school entranceway.

•CHICK-FIL-A DINNER sale at Forest Park Sr. High cafeteria Saturday, Nov.1, from 11 a.n. - 7 p.m. $2.50 per plate. Takeouts available

THE CLAYTON SUN January 1, 1931

CJC Registration to Begin

the 11-week quarter will begin the following day.

something big."

Students enrolling at the or between 5:30 and 8:30

Registration for Winter College for the first time Quarter credit classes at must report to Room G-132 Clayton Junior College will either at 10 a.m. or 6 p.m. be conducted on Monday, for a special orientation and January 5, and classes for advisement program.

Returning students may register in Room D-200 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.,

7:50 a.m. on Tuesday, January 6, and continue until the last of final examinations are administered on

For complete information about the registration process, phone the College's Office of Admissions and Records (961-3500) on registration day.

p.m. Classes will begin at

•COUNTY COMMISSION to meet Tuesday, Dec. 2 at 1:30 p.m. in meeting room in administration building in Jonesboro. Public invited.

•CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE MUSIC students to be presented in a recital Tuesday, Dec. 2 at 8:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132), Public invited.

Wednesday

•CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE MUSIC RECITAL Wednesday, Dec. 3 at 10 a.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Free and

Friday

•MEDIEVAL CHRISTMAS BANQUET Friday, Dec. 5 at 7 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College (Fifth Annual Madrigal Dinner) by CJC students, faculty and staff. Christmas as it might have been in the great hall of an English king and queen around 1500 A.D. Reservations required through Office of Dean of Students (961-3510).

NEWS/DAILY

December 1, 1980
Tuesday

• COUNTY COMMISSION to meet Tuesday, Dec. 2 at 1:30 p.m. in meeting room in administration building in Jonesboro. Public invited.

•CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE MUSIC students to be presented in a recital Tuesday, Dec. 2 at 8:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132), Public invited.

Wednesday

•CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE MUSIC RECITAL Wednesday, Dec. 3 at 10 a.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Free and open to public.

Friday

•MEDIEVAL CHRISTMAS BANQUET Friday, Dec. 5 at p.m. at Clayton Jr. College (Fifth Annual Madrigal Dinner) by CJC students, faculty and staff. Christmas as it might have been in the great hall of an English king and queen around 1500 A.D. Reservations required through Office of Dean of Students (961-3510).

NEWS/DAILY

Tuesday

•COUNTY COMMISSION to meet Tuesday, Dec. 2 at 1:30 p.m. in meeting room in administration building in Jonesboro. Public invited.

*CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE MUSIC students to be presented in a recital Tuesday, Dec. 2 at 8:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Public invited.

Wednesday

•CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE MUSIC RECITAL Wednesday, Dec. 3 at 10 a.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Free and open to public.

Friday

•MEDIEVAL CHRISTMAS BANQUET Friday, Dec. 5 at 7 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College (Fifth Annual Madrigal Dinner) by CJC students, faculty and staff. Christmas as it might have been in the great hall of an English king and queen around 1500 A.D. Reservations required through Office of Dean of Students (961-3510)

Wednesday December 3, 1980

•CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE MUSIC RECITAL Wednesday, Dec. 3 at 10 a.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Free and open to public.

Thursday

•CLAYTON COMMUNITY CHORUS annual Christmas Concert Thursday, Dec. 4 at 8 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow, Room G-132. Directed by Marti Slife. Cosponsored by CJC Office of Community Services and Clayton Parks and Recreation Dept. Assisted by Hutchison Dancers. Ann Manuel accompanist.

Friday

•MEDIEVAL CHRISTMAS BANQUET Friday, Dec. 5 at 7 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College (Fifth Annual Madrigal Dinner) by CJC students, faculty and staff. Christmas as it might have been in the great hall of an English king and queen around 1500 A.D. Reservations required through Office of Dean of Students (961-3510).

Saturday

• HOW TO APPLY FOR SBA LOAN workshop, Saturday, Dec. 6 at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow, 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Sponsored by CJC Small Business Development Center. $17 fee includes cost of lunch. Reserve a space by calling CJC Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

NEWS/DAILY Thursday

•CLAYTON COMMUNITY CHORUS annual Christmas Concert Thursday, Dec. 4 at 8 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow, Room G-132. Directed by Marti Slife. Cosponsored by CJC Office of Community Services and Clayton Parks and Recreation Dept. Assisted by Hutchison Dancers. Ann Manuel accompanist.

Friday

•MEDIEVAL CHRISTMAS BANQUET Friday, Dec. 5 at 7 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College (Fifth Annual Madrigal Dinner) by CJC students, faculty and staff. Christmas as it might have been in the great hall of an English king and

Saturday

• HOW TO APPLY FOR SBA LOAN workshop, Saturday, Dec. 6 at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow, 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Sponsored by CJC Small Business Development Center. $17 fee includes cost of lunch. Reserve a space by calling CJC Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

FAYETTE AND SOUTHSIDE SUN December 4, 1980

INFORMATION-EVENTS

CJC Offers SAT Tests To College Applicants Clayton Junior College will administer the Scholastic Aptitude Test to its applicants. Thursday, Dec. 11, 6 p.m. in Room G-132. A $9.25 testing fee will be payable before taking the SAT. Call 961-3515 or 961-3500 for com-

Medieval Christmas Banquet Planned At CJC Clayton Junior College students, faculty and staff will present a medieval Christmas Banquet Friday, Dec. 5 and Saturday, Dec. 6 at 7 p.m. in the cafeteria. Reservations are required, and may be made by calling 961-3510.

January 4, 1981 NEWS/DAILY

•REGISTRATION AT CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE for noncredit continuing education classes, 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 3. Regular registration begins Monday, Jan. 5 and continues through Jan. 16. Most non-credit course classes begin week of Jan. 12-16. For information call 961-3550 during hours listed on Saturday, or during normal working hours Monday.

Monday

•RIVERDALE CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, Jan. 5 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited.

•CLAYTON BOARD OF EDUCATION to meet Monday, Jan. 5 at 7:30 p.m. in Jonesboro. Public invited.

•FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, Jan. 5 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited.

•REGISTRATION AT CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE for Winter Quarter credit classes, 10 a.m. - 2 p.m., and 5:30-8:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 5. New students must report for orientation in room G-132 at either 10 a.m. or 6 p.m. Call Office of Admissions and Records at 961-3500 for in-

Wednesday

PHOENIX WIND QUINTET at Clayton Jr. College Wednesday, Jan. 7 in room G-132 at 10 a.m. Free and open

· MOVIE 'PAPER CHASE' to be shown Wednesday, Jan. 7 at Clayton Jr. College at 8:30 p.m. in room G-132. Stars John Houseman. Free. Call Office of Dean of Students at

News/DAILY October 29, 1980 Noted Pianist Coming To CJC

featured at Clayton Junior College during a Sunday afternoon performance on

A graduate of The Eastman School of Music, Gowen will be presented in recital at 3 p.m. in the College's Lecture Hall (Room G-132). The public is in-

Gowen, who currently is teacher-in-residence at the University of Alabama, has performed extensively throughout the United States and Canada. He twice toured Alaska, giving recitals, concerts and master classes. In 1974, he gave a recital at the National Gallery in Washington, D.C., as part of an annual Festival of American music.

In 1978, Gowen was awarded the coveted first orize in the John Kennedy

Pianist Bradford Gowen, Center-Rockfeller Foundaa specialist in programs of tion International Competi-American mucic, will be tion for Excellence in the Performance of American Music. He was chosen from a field of 89 contestants. judged by such notable musicians and teachers as Robert Black, Ulysses Kay, > Toru Takemitsu, and Beveridge Webster. Gowen began his studies of music with his mother, an amateur pianist. At Eastman, he studied piano with Cecile Genhart, composition with Samuel Adler, and is now a published composer himself. Most recent-

William Masselos, John

Ogdon, Rodion Shchedrin,

During Sunday's recital at Clayton Junior College, will perform works of Mozart, Cowell, Sessions, Beethoven, Welcher, Adler, and Gossen.

ly, he studied with Leon

Reservations will not be made for the free per-

12/3/80

before December 12.

NEWS/DAILY

at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited.

5 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited.

Jan. 5 at 7:30 p.m. in Jonesboro. Public invited.

Bradford Gowen to Perform at Clayton Jr.

a specialist in programs of American music American music, will be In 1978, Gowen was featured at Clayton Junior awarded the coveted first College during a Sunday prize in the John F. Kenafternoon performance Nov. nedy Center/Rockefeller Eastman School of Music, in the Performance of Gowen will be presented in American Music. He was recital at 3 p.m. in the chosen from a field of 89 College's Lecture Hall contestants, judged by such (Room G-132). The public is notable musicians and invited.

is teacher-in-residence at Shchedrin, has concertised extensively Webster. Washington, D.C., as part of performance.

Pianist Bradford Gowen, an annual Festival of Foundation International A graduate of The Competition for Excellence

teachers as Robert Black, Ulysses Kay, William Mas-GOWEN, who currently selos, John Ogdon, Rodion the University of Alabama, Takemitsu, and Beveridge

throughout the United During Sunday's recital States and Canada. He at Clayton Junior College, twice toured Alaska, giving he will perform works of recitals, concerts and Mozart, Cowell, Sessions, master classes. In 1974, he Beethoven, Welcher, Adler, gave a recital at the and Goossen. Reservations National Gallery in will not be made for the free

FAYETTE AND SOUTHSIDE SUN 12/4/80 Finals Underway At CJC

Fall Quarter credit classes Classes for the quarter, classes for the quarter will will end at Clayton Junior which began Sept. 23, will begin the following day.

College this week and final meet for the last time examinations will begin Thursday, Dec. 4 and finals enroll in credit classes at the will be given Monday two-year institution for the through Thursday of the first time must file Winter following week. from classes during the holi- of Admissions and Records day season for almost a on or before Dec. 12. New month. Registration for students should call 961-Winter Quarter classes will 3500 for complete informabe held Jan. 5, 1981, and tion.

Students who plan to Quarter applications and Students will be away credentials with the Office

THE CLAYTON SUN January 22, 1981
"SEW EASY for the Home" will be the title of a workshop sponsored by the Clayton County Extension Service Jan. 27 at Clayton Junior College's Student Center Building. To be held from 2-4 p.m. and again from 6:30-8:30 p.m., the workshop will teach participants how to sew decorative, useful items for the home, from fabric screens to table linens, window treatments and appliqued towels. The workshop will be taught by Kathy Wages, Clayton County Extension Service home economist.

JOE MOORE, former executive director of the listorical Jonesboro Society will be featured in a lecture at Clayton Junior College Jan. 29. Moore will speak on the origins and early development of Clayton County during a 7 p.m. presentation in the college's Lecture Hall, room G-132. The public is invited free of charge.

Thursday, November 6, 1980

'Once Upon a Mattress'

PLANIST BRADFORD GOWEN

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS CJC Fall Quarter Exams Begin

Fall Quarter credit must file Winter Quarclasses will end at ter applications and Clayton Junior College credentials with the this week and final Office of Admissions examinations will be- and Records on or gin next week.

Classes for the quar- New students should ter, which began on call 961-3500 for com-September 23, will plete information. meet for the last time on Thursday December 4, and finals will be given Monday through Thursday of the following week.

Students will be away from classes during the holiday season for almost a month. Registration for Winter Quarter classes will be held on January 5, 1981, and classes for the quarter will begin the following day. Students who plan to enroll in credit classes at the two-year institution for the first time featured in six performances of the musical comedy "Once Upon a Mattress" next week.

Directed by Dr. Larry B. Corse, performances are scheduled each evening, Monday through Saturday, Nov. 10-15. and will be free

January 5, 1981

•RIVERDALE CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, Jan. 5

•CLAYTON BOARD OF EDUCATION to meet Monday,

•FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, Jan.

*REGISTRATION AT CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE for Winter Quarter credit classes, 10 a.m. - 2 p.m., and 5:30-8:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 5. New students must report for orientation in room G-132 at either 10 a.m. or 6 p.m. Call

Office of Admissions and Records at 961-3500 for in-

· PHOENIX WIND QUINTET at Clayton Jr. College

Wednesday, Jan. 7 in room G-132 at 10 a.m. Free and open

· MOVIE 'PAPER CHASE' to be shown Wednesday, Jan.

7 at Clayten Jr. College at 8:30 p.m. in room G-132. Stars

John Houseman. Free. Call Office of Dean of Students at

Wednesday

Members of the Clayton and open to the public. Junior College Choir will be Nightly curtain times will Nightly curtain times will be at 8:30 p.m. during the week and a half hour earlier (at 8 p.m.) on Friday and Saturday.

> All six Lyceum-sponsored performances will be given in the Lecture Hall (Room

"ONCE UPON a Mat- King Sextimus the Silent. costumes have been weeknight performances are tress" is a comical retelling Also cast in the major roles of the old fairy tale about are Tim Livingston of College Park as Sir Harry, the queen who wouldn't let Paul Gay of Morrow as her son marry a princess un-Jester, Connie Wiggins, of til she is tested to prove her night by a pea under twenty downy mattresses. The cast for the performance includes Debbie of the CJC Choir will be Princess Winnifred; David roles. Shedd, of Fairburn, as

___January /, 1981

Wednesday

· PHOENIX WIND QUINTET at Clayton Jr. College

Wednesday, Jan. 7 in room G-132 at 10 a.m. Free and open

· MOVIE 'PAPER CHASE' to be shown Wednesday, Jan.

7 at Clayton Jr. College at 8:30 p.m. in room G-132. Stars

John Houseman. Free. Call Office of Dean of Students at royalty. The princess is sub-

THE CLAYTON SUN

Forest Park, as Lady Larken, Tim Christain, of sequently kept awake all Forest Park, as Wizard, and Dave Deering, of Jonesboro, as Minstrel. At least 15 other members

Taylor, of Jonesboro, as featured in accompanying Instrumental arrange-

Prince Dauntless, Julie ments for the performances Rogers, of Fayetteville, as have been made by Doris Queen Aggravain, and Steve Holloway, associate profes-Graver, of Jonesboro, as sor of music, and sets and Clayton Jr. Presents Farce on the Princess and the Pea will play the part of King. seating availability.

designed by Graver, who recommended for better

Since tickets will not be The show will be the tenth issued, the 200-plus seats for in a series of musicals and each performance will be operettas given by the available on a first-come, Clayton Junior College first-served basis. In the Choir. "Fiddler on the Roof" past, Friday and Saturday and "H.M.S. Pinafore" night productions have been were last year's major heavily attended, so productions.

THE HENRY HERALD

12/3/80

Loans

College schedules special workshop will be conducted at money in general. Clayton Junior College on Sponsored by the Col- one in a Fall Quarter Saturday, Dec. 6. lege's Small Business Development Center, the program will begin at 10 a.m. and conclude at 3 p.m., and a $17 registra- Business Administration. tion fee includes the cost To register, call the of lunch. Participants in the munity Services at workshop will learn how 961-3550.

A special workshop on to meet the requirements the proper ways to of SBA financing, as well prepare a loan package as receive tips on estabfor the Small Business lishing good bank rela-Administration (SBA) tions and borrowing

The program is the last series co-sponsored by the College, the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce, and the Small College's Office of Com-

Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) to its applicants, beginning at 6 p.m. in Room G-132 on Thursday, December 11. A requirement for entrance into the College's credit programs, it is not necessary to register in advance. However, since no one will be admitted into the testing center after 6 p.m.,

All students who plan to enroll in credit programs at Clayton Junior College during the Winter Quarter must file all applications and credentials with the Office of Admissions and Records on or before Friday, December 12. Registration for Winter Quarter classes will be conducted on Monday, January 5, 1981, and classes will begin the following day. Call 961-3500 for complete information.

participants should plan to arrive at 5:30 p.m. A $9.25

testing fee will be payable before taking the SAT.

Call 961-3515 or 961-3550 for complete information.

Saturday •UNITED DAUGHTERS OF CONFEDERACY (UDC) will meet Saturday, Jan. 10 at 2 p.m. at Sambo's in Jonesboro. Program presented by Mrs. A.B. Smith, Mrs.

961-3510 for information.

NEWS/DAILY

Will Dickson and Mrs. C.E. Lamb. Hostesses will be Mrs. Rex Curry and Mrs. Donald Buck. •JONESBORO CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, Jan. 12

at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited. •ACTOR JOHN HOUSEMAN TO APPEAR Monday, Jan.

12 at 8:30 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow. In CJC Lecture Hall, Room G-132. Public invited free of charge. Houseman was a star of "Paper Chase" as professor formation.

NEWS/DAILY Friday

961-3510 for information.

•MEDIEVAL CHRISTMAS BANQUET Friday, Dec. 5 at p.m. at Clayton Jr. College (Fifth Annual Madrigal Dinner) by CJC students, faculty and staff. Christmas as it might have been in the great hall of an English king and queen around 1500 A.D. Reservations required through Office of Dean of Students (961-3510).

Saturday

·HOW TO APPLY FOR SBA LOAN workshop, Saturday, Dec. 6 at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow, 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Sponsored by CJC Small Business Development Center. $17 fee includes cost of lunch. Reserve a space by calling CJC Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Thursday

•SCHOLASTIC APTITUDE TEST (SAT) to be administered Thursday, Dec. 11 at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow, beginning at 6 p.m. in room G-132. Not necessary to register in advance. Be at site by 5:30 p.m. $9.25 fee. Call 961-3515 or 961-3500 for information.

THE HENRY HERALD College schedules events

Events scheduled at Clayton Junior College might have been in the great hall of an English king between December 4-13:

Friday, December 5

Clayton Junior College students, faculty and staff will present a medieval Christmas banquet as it might have been in the great hall of an English king and queen around 1500. The College's fifth annual Madrigal Dinner will begin at 7 p.m. in the Cafeteria. Reservations are required through the Office of the Dean of Students (phone 961-3510).

Saturday, December 6

Clayton Junior College students, faculty and staff will present a medieval Christmas banquet as it and queen around 1500. The College's fifth annual Madrigal Dinner will begin at 7 p.m. in the Cafeteria. Reservations are required through the Office of the Dean of Students (phone 961-3510)

Clayton Junior College's Small Business Development Center will sponsor an all-day workshop on "how to apply for an SBA loan" on Saturday, December 6. Reservations must be completed with the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) and a $17 registration fee includes the cost of lunch. The program will begin at 10 a.m. and conclude at 3 p.m.

Thursday, December 11 Clayton Junior College will administer the

Friday, December 12

Clayton Junior College's faculty, staff, and student body will combine their talents for the fifth annual Madrigal Dinner on Friday and Saturday evening, December 5 and 6.

The evening's activities will include a Christmas feast as it might have been in the great hall of an English king and queen around the year 1500. This year's event will begin at 7 p.m. each evening, and dinner reservations of $6.50 per person must be made with the Office of the Dean of Students (phone 961-3510) before Wednesday,

It will be necessary to purchase a dinner reservation in order to view the festivities. The $6.50 fee is for the cost of the meal only, and limited reservations for each performance will be issued on a first-come, firstserved basis.

December 3.

The menu for the feast will consist of dishes prepared from authentic medieval recipes, and will be folk play. served in the College Cafeteria according to medieval dining customs. Also included in each program's 'dinner theatre' entertainment will be vocal and instrumental music of the period, wizardry and juggling, and a Christmas folk

The Madrigal Dinner is sponsored by the Humanities Division, Lyceum Committee, Foreign Language Club, Drama Workshop, the CJC Choir, and the Magic Club. The preparations and presentations combine the efforts of over a hundred students, faculty and

For complete inforholiday event, call the Office of the Dean of Students at 961-3510.

NEWS/DAILY

CJC Hosts Madrigal Dinner

Clayton Junior College's on the harpsichord. Band sponsored by the Humanities CJC Choir, and the Magic faculty, staff, and student director Bill Gore will direct Division, Lyceum Com- Club. The preparations and body will combine their various students in mittee, Foreign Language presentations will combine talents for the fifth annual instrumental offerings, Club, Drama Workshop, the the efforts of over a hundred. Madrigal Dinner of Friday including music for the viola and Saturday evenings, Dec. and oboe, and music faculty The evening's activities and Jeannine Morrison will will include a Christmas accompany students singing feast as it might have been in traditional Christmas carols. the great hall of an English king and queen around the by strolling minstrels and year 1500. This year's event dinner will be served by year 1500. This year's event will begin at 7 p.m. each members of the Foreign evening, and dinner Language Club, dressed in reservations of $6.50 per person must be made with the Office of the Dean of Students (phone 961-3510) before Wed. Dec. 3.

purchase a dinner reservation in order to view the festivities. The $6.50 fee is for the cost of the meal only, and limited reserperformance will be issued on a first-come, first-served

The menu for the feast will consist of dishes prepared from authentic medieval recipes, and will be served in the college cafeteria ac- will consist of brie cheese. cording to medieval dining

Also included in each program's "dinner theatre" entertainment will be vocal and instrumental music of the period, wizardry and event will be under the juggling, and a Christmas supervision of Barbara

To set the mood, CJC's of the Humanities Division, music department will and Don Crapps will serve as provide ambient music, Maitre d'. featuring Mrs. Lyra Crapps The Madrigal Dinner is

members Doris Holloway

Guests will be serenaded period costumes which they have designed and made. The Foreign Language Club, under the direction of Dr. June Legge, also will provide It will be necessary to free babysitting for patrons.

Directing the dramatic and musical portions of the entertainment will be Dr. Bill Pasch (drama) and Dr. Larry Corse (vocal music). Magic acts will be coordinated by Dr. Jim Braun of the chemistry department.

The elaborate menu, to be prepared by Ms. Bea Allen and other members of the College's food service staff, trencher of bread, roast pork in crust, green beans almadine, glazed carrots, fruit salad and nutterbrode (lemon glazed nut cake). Decorations for the gala

Fuller and Dr. Sharon Mullis

CJC Hosts State Teacher Job Fair

The sixth teacher job fair sponsored by the Georgia education department this year to fill teacher vacancies in the state will be held at Clayton Junior College Friday, Dec. 12, from 9 a.m.

"We still have about 200 vacancies that were not filled when school began this fall," said Julie Elfman, state teacher recruiter for the Georgia Department of Education. "There also may be from 200 to 500 vacancies due to teachers leaving midyear. We are expecting additional vacancies because of teachers holding provisional certificates who do not pass the CRT (Criterion-referenced

Beginning teachers in Georgia must pass the CRT in their teaching field before being issued a professional teaching certificate. However, they may begin teaching with a one-year provisional certificate while attempting to pass the CRT.

According to Elfman, there will be shortages in every educational field including English and social studies with critical shortages in special

The job fair--the sixth this year--is being sponsored by the state education department to help local systems fill their vacancies. Local system superintendents, personnel directors and principals from throughout the state will be on hand during the day to interview prospective teachers for the remainder of the 1980-81 school year. Persons planning to attend should bring copies of their transcripts and certifications if available.

The previous job fairs met with much success in filling some 5,000 teacher vacancies projected at the beginning of the school year. Teachers from out of state, recent college graduates, former teachers wishing to return to the classroom and veteran teachers wishing to relocate in the state have been attracted to the NEWS/DAILY December 9, 1980

Return To The Medieval Ages

See Page 5A

December 9, 1980

Return To The Medieval Age

NEWS/DAILY

The medieval age once again reigned as Clayton Junior College held its fifth annual Madrigal Dinner last weekend in the school's cafeteria. In the photo at left, Doris Holloway of Morrow, coordinator of music at CJC, provides violin music for the diners. In the bottom photo, Mike Robertson, a sophomore at the school, blows a herald trumpet to signal the beginning of the evening's festivities.

Concert Pianist Sets Appearance At CJC

Lewis Griffith will be presented in recital at Clayton Junior College next

Valdosta State College, will three recordings. to the public without charge, the recital will feature works

Concert pianist Dorothy piece, "Evanescents," is dedicated to her.

As a recitalist and a solist with orchestras, Ms. Griffith has appeared in Europe, Ms. Griffith, an Associate South America, and the Professor of Music at United States. She has made be presented in the Lecture Beginning her career as a Hall (Room G-132) at 10 a.m. concert pianist at the age of chinson), Carl Friedberg. on Wednesday, Jan. 14. Open 14, she appeared as soloist with the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra. Later, Konrad Wolff, and Leon of Stravisnky, Ravel, and she was awarded a that time, she won a prize in the Geneva International Competition. She gave a New York debut at Town Hall in Ms Griffith studied with Bess Alderman Gayle (a student of Ernest Hut-Beveridge Webster, Marcel Fleisher. She holds the Robert Starer. The Starer Fulbright-Hays Grant for Bachelor and Master of Science degrees from the Juilliard School of Music, and a Doctor of Musical Arts degree from the Peabody Conservatory of The John Hopkins University.

Events at Clayton Junior:

Phoenix Wind Quintet to Perform Wednesday

The Phoenix Wind William Gore, assistant Wednesday's perfor-Quintet will be presented in professor of music at CJC mance will include selec-are currently in the Atlanta a free concert at Clayton and a member of the tions by Hindemith, Per- Chamber Orchestra and Junior College next week. Quintet, will be featured sichetti, Nielsen, and Boz-Sponsored by the with the bassoon. Other za. College's Lyceum Commit-members are Robyn Ulman The Phoenix Wind tee, the group will perform Anderson (clarinet), Debra Quintet has been playing in at the Piedmont Park Arts in the Lecture Hall (Room Dean (oboe and English G-132) at 10 a.m. on horn), Charles Little (horn), years. Group members have Wednesday, Jan. 7. The and Zabette Milsaps (flute the Atlanta area for two Festival, the Atlanta Music played with symphonies in Emory University, and at Atlanta, Chattanooga and area shopping malls.

three are in the Atlanta Civic Opera Orchestra.

The group has performed Club Promenade Concert,

'Paper Chase' to Precede John Houseman Talk

As a part of its continuing is scheduled in the Lecture Houseman. Film and Literature series, Hall (Room G-132) at 8:30 Clayton Junior College will p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 7. feature the film "The Paper The public is invited. Chase" next week.

The free screening of the Lyceum-sponsored movie also was originally Both the film screening 1973 film, which stars John was shifted to Wednesday to scheduled in February. toms and Lindsay Wagner, the multi-talented for his portrayal of Professor charge.

and piccolo)

about the general history of Chase." films in America during an Academy Award as Best Originally scheduled for a 8:30 p.m. presentation on Supporting Actor for his role February showing, the Monday, Jan. 12. His visit in the original movie.

Kingsfield in the film and The actor will speak television series "The Paper

Houseman, Timothy Bot- set the stage for a lecture by Houseman is best known to the public without and the lecture will be open

For Area Small Businesses area small business owners "how to apply for an SBA should be reviewed by a new

College this month. Business Development experts in the various fields SBDC as instructors, holds Center (SBDC) has from the College, the BBA and MBA accounting scheduled nine workshops, community, and the degrees from Georgia State each designed to help small University System of business owners and Georgia. Ben R. Loggins, years of service as a field managers meet the CPA with Hargrave, Loggins agent and instructor for the Co-sponsored by the example. Clayton County Chamber of series will begin with an allstart a new business," the small business" and insurance for the small summary of federal and business" also will be of- state tax reporting fered during January.

another on "the law and the a basic understanding of a business." Three programs tax filing and deposits scheduled in early March required, sales tax filings will be on "effective required, business foradvertising and promotion mations available, and other will begin at Clayton Junior loan," and "basic ac- business owner. counting."

BEN R. LOGGINS, CPA, TEACHES ACCOUNTING As Clayton Junior College Students Listen

Nine Workshops Set At CJC

January 5, 1981

The College's Small Programs are led by professionals who assists the challenges of operating their and Company, P.C., in

Loggins, who has taught international accounting Commerce and the Small courses in past quarters, will firm. Business Administration, the be the instructor in the "basic accounting" class number of community and 3410. To register for one or day workshop on "how to scheduled for March 9-11-16- professional organizations. 18. The course introduces the Loggins is treasurer of the scheduled on Saturday, Jan. basic procedures for Southside Theater Guild, Community Services at 961-17. Programs on "financing recording accounting executive director of the 3550. transactions, and includes a

February courses The course has been scheduled include one on designed to give anyone 'personnel management," forming a new business with small business," and a "tax simple "double entry" clinic for the small bookkeeping system, payroll

A new series of courses for for the small business," tax considerations which Atlanta Alumni of Revenue

Loggins, one of several University. He has over six Internal Revenue Service,

He is involved with a

Agents, a member of the Georgia Society of CPA's and its taxation committee, a member of the American Listitute of CPA's, and a columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional Engineer's bi-monthly

For complete information Jonesboro, is a good and over two years as a about any of the nine classes senior tax consultant for an scheduled during the Winter Quarter, call the SBDC office at 961-3414 or the College's Division of Business at 961more of the programs, call the College's Office of

Paper Chase Film Set Jan. 7 At Jr. College

As a part of its continuing public is invited. "Film and Literature" College will feature the film "The Paper Chase" this

The free screening of the 1973 film, which stars John Houseman. Houseman, Timothy Bottoms and Lindsay Wagner, is the "general history of original movie. scheduled in the Lecture films in America" during an Both the film screening Hall (Room G-132) at 8:30 8:30 p.m. presentation on and the lecture will be open. p.10. on Wed. Jan. 7. The Mon., Jan. 12. His visit also to the public without charge.

Originally scheduled for a February. series, Clayton Junior February showing, the Lyceum-sponsored movie for his portrayal of Professor was shifted to Wednesday to Kingsfield in the film and was originally scheduled in set the stage for a lecture by television series."The Paper the multi-talented Chase." He won an Academy Award as "Best Supporting The actor will speak about Actor" for his role in the January 3, 1981 Houseman's history

Few are better qualified to discuss "A General History of Films in America" than John Houseman. Houseman - best known as Professor Kingsfield, the imperious law lecturer of the film and TV series "The Paper Chase" - will be doing precisely that at Clayton Junior College on Jan. 12. Now 78, Houseman continues to direct the prestigious Julliard School of Drama in New York, as well as the acclaimed Acting Company (composed mostly of Juliard graduates). In truth, he didn't become known as an actor until he was in his 70s. An appearance in the 1964 film "Seven Days in May" was his only credit before he won a Best Supporting Actor Oscar in 1973 for "Paper Chase." But before that he was extremly active as both a stage and screen producer. It was Houseman who co-scripted "Citizen Kane" and Houseman who nervily cast Marion Brando - fresh from playing sweaty Stanley Kowalski in "Streetcar Named Desire" - as Mark Antony in the 1952 film "Julius Caesar."

John Houseman discussing "A General History of Films in America." Clayton Junior College (Room G-132), I-75 to Morrow. 7 p.m. Jan. 12. Free. For more information, 961-

Wind Quintet To Play At CJC

PHOENIX WIND QUINTET (Left To Right) Gore, Little, Dean, Anderson and Milsaps

The Phoenix Wind Quintet will be presented in a free concert at Clayton Junior College next week.

Sponsored by the College's Lyceum Committee, the group will perform in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) at 10 a.m. on Wed. Jan. 7. The public is invited.

William Gore, assistant professor of music at CJC and a member of the quintet, will be featured with the bassoon. Other members are Robyn Ulman Anderson clarinet), Debra Dean oboe and English horn) Charles Little (horn), and Zabette Milsaps (flute and Wednesday's performance will include selections by Hindemith, Persichetti, Nielsen, and Bozza.

The Phoenix Wind Quintet has been playing in the Atlanta area for two years. Group members have played with symphonies in Atlanta, Chattanooga and Savannah. Three members are currently in the Atlanta Chamber Orchestra and three are in the Atlanta Civic Opera Orchestra.

The group has performed at the Piedmont Park Arts Festival, the Atlanta Music Club Promenade Concert, Emory University, and at area shopping malls.

December 30, 1980 'Coping With Teenage Years' Program Set Feb. 1 At CJC

A number of special fee includes all members of seminars and programs are the family. included among the more than 80 non-credit course focus on teenagers and their problems while two others cost of all five sessions. have been designed for those who would like to break clinic" will be offered in smoking and drinking early February for those

Sharpe will keynote a and tested by the American Sunday afternoon program Cancer Society, Dr. Avery on "coping with the teenage Harvill, Professor of conference." Scheduled on will present this program. Sun., Feb.1, the program is The Clayton Mental Health intended for the whole Center has developed a family and a $3 registration special program that ex- workshops, and special 16.

"Teenagers in trouble" is a five-week program offerings scheduled at designed for parents and Clayton Junior College professionals who work with during the winter quarter. teenagers. Set to begin on Two special programs Wed., Jan. 14, a $5 registration fee covers the A free "I quit smoking who want to break the Television personality Guy cigarette habit. Developed a family Physical Education at CJC, plores problems associated with alcohol and drug abuse. Designed for a wide variety of individuals who need to know more about these problems, the four-week course will begin on Tues., Jan. 13. A $16 registration fee is required.

programs are included in the winter quarter offering. To register for any of the classes, or to obtain a brochure containing the complete listing, call the College's Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Most classes will begin the More than 20 new courses, week of January 12 through

Registration This Saturday For CJC Non-Credit Courses

begin taking registration for arts, music, personal number of experts in various Community Center and the Winter Quarter non-credit growth, the home, and fields will teach these North Clayton Community continuing education classes leisure time activities. on Saturday, Jan. 3.

The Office of Community Services will hold a special registration between 10 a.m. business management and 2 p.m. on Saturday, and series" co-sponsored with will continue the process between 8 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Development Center and the each Monday through Thursday, and between 8 Commerce. Designed to help a.m. and 5 p.m. each Friday small business owners with organizations at the of the Office of Community through Jan. 16.

Most classes will begin the week of Jan. 12-16.

More than 80 classes will be offered during the quarter, including a number of courses and programs designed for the business and professional field. In addition, classes are planned

Also included in the Winter Quarter schedule is a continuation of a "small the College's Small Business Clayton County Chamber of Clayton Junior College will in sports, recreation, the their individual firms, a Center, the Riverdale courses.

In addition to a full schedule of classes on the problems associated with Jonesboro Recreation Services.

To reserve a place in one college campus near or more classes, or to obtain Morrow, a number of a listing of all courses, call business-related courses will the Office of Community be offered at M. D. Collins Services (961-3550) during High School in College Park. special registration hours. Dog obedience training will Registration by mail should be offered jointly with local be addressed to the attention

January 11, '81

•JONESBORO CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, Jan. 12 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited.

•ACTOR-DIRECTOR JOHN HOUSEMAN OF 'PAPER CHASE' FAME will present a lecture Monday, Jan. 12 in room G-132 at Clayton Junior College beginning at 7 p.m. The lecture is free to the public.

Wednesday

•CONCERT PIANIST DOROTHY LEWIS GRIFFITH will be presented in a piano recital at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, Jan. 14, beginning at 10 a.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Her program will include works by I. Stravinsky, Ravel, and Robert Starer. The

•THE FRIENDSHIP CLUB OF FOREST PARK will meet Jan. 14 at the Kiwanis Clubhouse on South Avenue. Meeting begins at 11 a.m. and a covered dish luncheon will

•FRANKLIN M. GARRETT, OFFICIAL HISTORIAN for the City of Atlanta and Fulton County, will speak at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, Jan. 14. Sponsored by Lyceum, Garrett will speak on "railroads and development of Metropolitan Atlanta" during a 10 a.m. lecture in Room D-200. The public is invited.

NEWS/DAILY

Monday 9, 1981

•JONESBORO CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, Jan. 12 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited.

•ACTOR-DIRECTOR JOHN HOUSEMAN OF 'PAPER CHASE' FAME will present a lecture Monday, Jan. 12 in room G-132 at Clayton Junior College beginning at 7 p.m. The lecture is free to the public

Wednesday

•CONCERT PIANIST DOROTHY LEWIS GRIFFITH will be presented in a piano recital at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, Jan. 14, beginning at 10 a.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Her program will include works by I. Stravinsky, Ravel, and Robert Starer. The public is invited.

•THE FRIENDSHIP CLUB OF FOREST PARK will meet Jan. 14 at the Kiwanis Clubhouse on South Avenue. Meeting begins at 11 a.m. and a covered dish luncheon will

•FRANKLIN M. GARRETT, OFFICIAL HISTORIAN for the City of Atlanta and Fulton County, will speak at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, Jan. 14. Sponsored by Lyceum, Garrett will speak on "railroads and development of Metropolitan Atlanta" during a 10 a.m. lecture in Room D-200. The public is invited.

Dr. Sams to speak

Dr. Ferrol A. Sams Jr. of Fayetteville will be among the speakers at Clayton Junior College's forum on death and dying, slated Tuesday at 7 p.m. The forum is entitled

'Who Defines Death?" Dr. Sams, a member of the Clayton-Fayette Medical Society, will be joined by Dr. Frederick Ferre from the University of Georgia's Philosophy and Religion Department and political scientist Dr. Lief Carter.

The speakers will deal with issues such as death with dignity, the rights of a dying person and the responsibilities of the medical, legal and ministerial professions to the terminally ill.

The program will be offered free of charge in Room D-200 of the student center building. For further information, call the CJC Community Services Office at 961-3550.

By John Houseman famous for his portrayal of Professor Kingsfield in the film and television series "The Paper Chase," will be featured in a lecture at Clayton Junior College

NEWS/DAILY January 6, 1981

CJC Sets Speech

next week. Houseman, who starred in the television drama "A Christmas Without Snow" last month, will give a general history of films in America during his 8:30 p.m. lecture Monday., Jan. 12. The program is scheduled in the college's lecture hall (Room G-132), and the public is invited free of charge. The appearance of the multitalented star of stage and screen continues a series of lectures and film screenings scheduled throughout the year at the twoyear institution near Morrow.

Houseman began his career by producing, directing and writing 'Four Saints in Three Acts" in 1934. A few years later, he and Orson Welles founded the Mercury Theater.

As a director and producer, Houseman's projects have included "Hamlet," "The Devil and Daniel Webster," and "Othello" for the stage, along with "They Live by Night" and "Lust for Life" for the screen. Two of the films he produced, "The Band and the Beautiful" and "Julius Caesar," were nominated for "Best Picture" Academy Awards. Houseman received the Academy Award for "Best Supporting Actor" in his role in "The Paper Chase," his first acting part. Since that film, he has acted in "Rollerball," "Three Days of the

See HOUSEMAN on page 3A

JOHN HOUSEMAN

Houseman

Continued from page 1A

Condor" and several others. He recently served as executive producer and co-star of "Gideon's Trumpet," a film for television starring Henry Fonda.

Houseman has served as the artistic director of the American Shakespeare Festival, director of the Drama Division of the Julliard School of Performing Arts, and was president of the National Theater Conference. He has been on the faculties of Vassar, UCLA, and the University of Southern California

The author of "Run Through and Front and Center" and co-author of "The American Shakespeare Festival: The Birth of a Theatre," Houseman's comments on the history of films in America will be based on his own experiences.

THE CLAYTON SUN January 15, 1981 Clayton Jr. Plans Six-Day Theatre Tour

New York has been both Tony Award winners. scheduled by Clayton A $450 fee for the tour in-Planned through the moderate, well-maintained college's Office of Com- hotel. The fee, which is submunity Services, the tour will include visits to six Broadway and off-Broadway plays, and post-performance interviews with members of the cast and crew. Also on the schedule are visits to the Guggenheim, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Museum of Modern Art, the Whitney and the

Dr. Jean Jones, Director of CJC's Office of Counseling and Testing, will lead the tour. Among the plays to be seen are "Evita" and

Junior College faculty members, and some of their children, will be featured in a music recital at the

The program will include

Puccini's "Gloria in Excelsis

sini, Schubert, and Frank, A

College next week.

THE CLAYTON SUN 1/15/81

A number of Clayton singing and Dr. Jim Doig ex-

Deo," plus music by Ros- her daughter Lenora, Dr.

feature during the program Dr. Larry Corse, and Dr. will be Dr. Stuart Martin Bill Pasch.

A six-day theater tour of "Children of a Lesser God," ject to change because of tour, a $200 deposit is redoes not include meals, Junior College for March 20- cludes air fare, six selected ground transportation or museum admission fees. plays, and five nights in a possible air fare increases, quired by January 15. the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) to obtain a reservation form

Guy Sharpe to Speak at CJC Seminar: 'Coping with Teenage Years' Feb. 1 Guy Sharpe will be the and understanding due to keynote speaker at a the rising rate of drug abuse from the Center for Disease the college's Office of Com-seminar entitled "Coping and pregnancy among with the Teenage Years—A teenagers," said spokesman Family Conference," to be Carolyn Thompson.

The Hsing rate of drug abuse from the Center for Disease Control, Clayton County schools, and the Clayton County Mental Health office at 961-3550. held Feb. 1 at Clayton At the seminar, three

Junior College, 2-6 p.m. the Clayton County Council munications, drugs, and of PTAs, the Clayton teenage sexuality—the sub-County Health Department, jects chosen as the three CJC and the Clayton most important in a recent County Board of Education, PTA questionnaire submitthe seminar is "in response ted to parents of teenagers

CJC Faculty Present Family Recital

plaining liturgical passages from the medieval church.

The Lyceum-sponsored performance will include features by Mrs. Jeannine

Morrison and her son Alan,

Mrs. Doris Holloway and

Martin and his son Artie, workshops will be offered on Offered to the public by family community comto a growing need felt by our in Clayton County's five community for education senior high schools.

The program will begin at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, Jan.

21, in the College's Lecture

Hall (Room G-132). The public is invited.

County Mental Health office at 961-3550. Center, said Ms. Thompson. A registration fee for the non-profit seminar will be $3 per family. Registration Late registration will be accepted from 1:30-2 p.m. the day of the seminar.

'Seven Samurai' to Screen

Clayton Junior College next charge.

The film "Seven Wednesday, Jan. 28. Samurai," a Japanese Scheduled in the Lecture dialogue with English subti- Hall (Room G-132), the tles, will be shown at public is invited free of Filmed in 1954, "Seven Samurai" stars Toshiro Sponsored as a part of a Mifune, Takashi Shimura, continuing Lyceum- and Yoshio Inaba. Call the sponsored series on film and Office of the Dean of Stuliterature, the film will be dents (961-3510) for comshown at 8:30 p.m. on plete information.

NEWS/DAILY January 16, 1981

Clayton Junior College next charge.

Sponsored as a part of a Samurai" stars Toshiro continuing Lyceum-spon- Mifune, Takashi Shimura, sored series on "film and and Yoshio Inaba. literature," the film will be shown at 8:30 p.m. on complete information.

"Seven Wednesday, January 28. Samurai," a Japanese Scheduled in the Lecture dialogue with English Hall (Room G-132), the subtitles, will be shown at public is invited free of > Filmed in 1954, "Seven Call (961-3510) for more toned down, music lov-ers can attend two reci als given by Clayton Junior College students next week. Student recitals will be Student recitals will be performed at 10 a.m. next Wednesday and at 8:30 p.m. next Thursday. Both will be given in lecture hall room G-132. The student recital will include vocal excerpts from Don Giovanni by Mozart performed by students Sheryl Skipper and Ron Pyle.

For something a little

Also included will be pi-ano solos by students Barbara Porter, Cindy Langham, Randy Roten and Kris Creecy. Tom Bell will perform on = solo guitar on May 14. Both performances are free and open to the public.

THE CLAYTON SUN January 29 1981 'I Quit' Clinic Next Month The Clayton County Unit call Clayton Junior College

College in Morrow. Those wishing to participate should contact the society at 150 N. McDonough St., Jonesboro, continuing education classes. munity Services is conducting registration between,8 a.m. and 7:45 number of courses and programs designed for the business and profes-

More than 80 classes will be offered during the Small Business Development Center and the

Also included in the winter quarter schedule is a continuation of a "small business manage ment series" co-sponsored with the College's of Commerce. Designed

Wednesday 13, 1981 NEWS/DAILY

•CONCERT PIANIST DOROTHY LEWIS GRIFFITH will be presented in a piano recital at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, Jan. 14, beginning at 10 a.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Her program will include works by I. Stravinsky, Ravel, and Robert Starer. The public is invited.

Lyceum, Garrett will speak on "railroads and development of Metropolitan Atlanta" during a 10 a.m. lecture in Room D-200. The public is invited. Saturday

•FRANKLIN M. GARRETT, OFFICIAL HISTORIAN for the City of Atlanta and Fulton County, will speak at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, Jan. 14. Sponsored by

•THE AIRLINES PILOTS WIVES' CLUB will meet Saturday, Jan. 17, 3:00 p.m. in Rich's Auditorium at Lenox Square for a Mother-Daughter Tea. All Eastern Airlines pilots wives are invited for fun and fellowship. Reservations accepted until 12 noon, Thurs., Jan. 15 by calling

Betty Honore' 997-0338 or Rosemary Slafter 458-8770. •"HOW TO START A NEW BUSINESS" will be the topic of an all-day workshop at Clayton Junior College on Saturday, Jan. 17. Scheduled between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., the program has been designed for small business owners. A $22 registration fee includes the cost of lunch. To register, or to obtain more information, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Monday

•The first ssion in a two-part program on "FINAN-CING THE SMALL BUSINESS" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 19. The second session is scheduled at the same time on Wednesday, Jan. 21. To register, phone the College's Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Special Seminars Set at CJC

seminars and programs are included among the more than 80 non-credit course offerings scheduled at Clayton Junior College during the Winter Quarter. focus on teenagers and their professionals who work with problems while two others teenagers. Set to begin on have been designed for those who would like to break smoking and drinking

Television personality

Sunday afternoon program

on "coping with the teenage years - a family conference.'

different presentations at Clayton Junior College next

Dr. James Kavanaugh, a former Catholic priest, will speak on "Religion and Values" during a 7 p.m. lec-

A number of special Scheduled on Sunday, Feb. 1, the program is intended $3 registration fee includes this program. all members of the family.

Teenagers in trouble" is a five-week program Two special programs designed for parents and Wednesday, Jan. 14, a $5 registration fee covers the cost of all five sessions. A free "I quit smoking habit. Developed and tested the public.

by the American Cancer workshops, and special

Tuesday's evening's lec- and Literature.'

Society, Dr. Avery Harvill, Professor of Physical Educafor the whole family and a tion at CJC, will present

The Clayton Mental brochure containing the Health Center has developed a special program College's Office of Comthat explores problems as- munity Services at 961sociated with alcohol and 3550. drug abuse. Designed for a wide variety of individuals the week of January 12-16. who need to know more about these problems, a four-week course will begin clinic" will be offered in earon Tuesday, January 13. A Guy Sharpe will keynote a ly February for those who $16 registration fee is rewant to break the cigarette quired.

More than 20 new courses.

classes, or to obtain a complete listing, call the

the Winter Quarter offering.

To register for any of the Most classes will begin of the American Cancer at 961-3550 or the American Society is sponsoring an "I Cancer Society at 478-3144. Quit" smoking clinic Feb. 2-4 and Feb. 10-12 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Clayton Junior

For further info Former Priest, Poet Kavanaugh at Clayton Jr. For further information,

A successful author, poet, ture on Tuesday, Jan. 20, ture, scheduled in Room G- Dr. Kavanaugh is the Earth," and "Will You Be screenwriter, and lecturer and then on the subject of 132, will be another program author of "A Modern Priest My Friend?" "From Novel to in a continuing series on Screenplay" during a 10 "Values For the 80's: The a.m. delivery on Wednes- Human Crisis." The God, and Celebrate the first novel, A Coward for Wednesday morning presen- Sun." As a poet, he has writ- Them All," and it should be Both Lyceum-sponsored tation, to be given in Room ten "There are Men too made into a film in the near lectures are free and open to D-200, will continue the Gentle to Live Among future. His newest book, "A College's series on "Film Wolves," "Faces in the Fable," is scheduled to be City," "Walk Easy on the published this fall.

Junior College taking non-credit registrations

Clayton Junior College Most classes will begin leisure time activities. is taking registration for the week of January winter quarter non-credit 12-16.

The Office of Com- quarter, including a p.m. each Monday sional field. In addition, through Thursday, and classes are planned in between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. sports, recreation, the each Friday through Jan. arts, music, personal to help small business

Clayton County Chamber

growth, the home, and owners with problems

John Houseman to Speak at CJC

most famous for his portrayal of Professor Kingsfield in the film and television series "The Paper Chase," will be featured in a lecture at Clayton Junior College next week.

Houseman, who starred in the television drama "A Christmas Without Snow" last month, will give a general history of films in America during his 8:30 p.m. lecture on Monday, Jan. 12 in the College's Lecture Hall (Room G-132). The public is invited.

The appearance of the multi-talented star of stage and screen continues a screenings scheduled throughout the year at the two-year institution near

HOUSEMAN began his career by producing, directing and writing "Four Saints in Three Acts" in 1934. A few years later, he and Orson Welles founded the Mercury

As a director and producer, Houseman's projects have included Hamlet," "The Devil and Daniel Webster," and "Othello" for the stage, along with "They Live by series of lectures and film Night" and "Lust for Life" the artistic director of the for the screen. Two of the American Shakespeare films he produced, "The Band and the Beautiful" and "Julius Caesar," were 'Julliard School of Perform-nominated for Best Picture ing Arts, and was president Academy Awards.

Houseman received the Academy Award for Best Supporting Actor in his role in "The Paper Chase," his first acting part. Since that film, he has acted in "Rollerball," "Three Days Center" and co-author of "Through and Center" and co-author of "Run Through and Center" and Center Center and Center of the Condor" and several others. He recently served as executive producer and costar of "Gideon's Trumpet," a film for television starring the history of films in Henry Fonda.

Houseman has served as Festival, director of the Drama Division of the of the National Theater Conference. He has been on the faculties of Vassar, UCLA, and the University of Southern California.

American Houseman's comments on America will be based on his own experiences.

THE CLAYTON SUN

January 8, 1981

CJC Offers Business Courses

scheduled nine workshops. challenges of operating for their businesses.

Co-sponsored by the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration, ple. the series will begin with an all-day workshop on "how to start a new business,' scheduled on Saturday, Jan. 17. Programs on "financing the small business" and "insurance for the small fered during January.

personnel management," another on "the law and the

A new series of courses for clinic for the small business." forming a new business with Georgia Society of CPA's area small business owners Three programs a basic understanding of a and its taxation committee, will begin at Clayton Junior scheduled in early March simple "double entry" The College's Small Business Development Center (SBDC) has "bookkeeping system, payroll tax filing and deposits required, sales tax filings required, business formations capulated with the condition of the American Institute of CPA's and a columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional quired, business formations available and the condition of the American Institute of CPA's and a columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional quired, business formations available and the columnist for the American Institute of CPA's and a columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional quired, business formations apply for an SBA loan," and columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional quired, business formations apply for an SBA loan, and columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional quired, business formations apply for an SBA loan, and columnist for the American Institute of CPA's and a columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional quired, business formations apply for an SBA loan, and columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional quired, business formations apply for an SBA loan, and columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional apply for an SBA loan, and columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional apply for an SBA loan, and columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional apply for an SBA loan, and columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional apply for an SBA loan, and columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional apply for an SBA loan, and columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional apply for an SBA loan, and columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional apply for an SBA loan, and columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional apply for an SBA loan, and columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional apply for an SBA loan, and columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional apply for an SBA loan, and columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional apply for an SBA loan, and columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional apply for an SBA loan, and columnist

> System of Georgia. Ben R. Loggins, CPA with Hargrave, Loggins and Company, P.C., in Jonesboro, is a good exam-

courses in past quarters, will Service, and over two years be the instructor in the as a senior tax consultant for 16-18. The course introduces business" also will be of- the basic procedures for sactions, and includes a February courses summary of federal and state tax reporting requireeach designed to help small business owners and managers meet the challenges of operating for munity, and the University Loggins, one of several Loggins, one of several professionals who assists the SBDC as instructors, holds BBA and MBA accounting degrees from Georgia State University. He has more than six years of service as a field agent and instructor Loggins, who has taught for the Internal Revenue

> 'basic accounting" class an international accounting scheduled for March 9-11- firm He is involved with a recording accounting tran- number of community and The course has been Atlanta Alumni of Revenue small business," and a "tax designed to give anyone Agents, a member of the programs a basic understanding of a and its taxation committee, a member of the American siderations which should be

College's Office of Community Services at 961-professional organizations. Loggins is treasurer of the Southside Theater Guild, executive director of the

For complete information about any of the nine classes scheduled during the Winter Quarter, call the SBDC office at 961-3414 or the College's Division of Business at 961-3410. To register for one or more of the programs, call the

Values Talk Slated at CJC

Psychologist Dr. Ruth University and the Hepler will speak on "values University of Arkansas. She as a part of human is a member of the board of development" during a directors of the Link lecture at Clayton Junior Counseling Center, a family College next week.

continuing Lyceum- for Children's Services at sponsored series on "Values for the 80's," Dr. Hepler will Battered Women's Center. speak in Room D-200 at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 4. The public is invited.

the faculties of Emory book Child Development.

mediation center in Atlanta, Speaking in the College's and serves as a consultant

Dr. Hepler received nursing degrees from Emory Currently an assistant University and psychology professor at Kennesaw degrees from Georgia State College in Marietta, Dr. University. She is a Hepler also has served on contributing author for the

Food Talk Planned at CJC May 12

Three different sessions part program on Tuesday, no registration is required. on food preservation will be May 12. presented at Clayton Junior College next week.

County Extension Service will conduct the free three- one or all of the sessions and munity Services (961-3550) will be discussed at 7 p.m., Kathy Wages, home and freezing information the County Extension Sereconomist with the Clayton will be provided at 8 p.m. vice (478-9911) or the will be provided at 8 p.m. vice (478-9911) or the

The program will be presen-Drying will be topic of dis- ted in Room D-200 of the cussion at 6 p.m., canning Student Center Building.

For more information, call Participants may attend College's Office of Com-

Register Now for Clayton Junior College

Clayton's History Traced in Jan. 29 Lecture By Historian Joe Moore at Clayton Jr. College

SAT Tests Slated For April 30th

Clayton Junior College will administer the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) to prospective students at the two-year institution on Thursday, April 30.

A requirement for enrolling in credit programs at the College, the test will be the first of two scheduled prior to the start of Summer Quarter classes. Another SAT administration will be held on May 28.

Testing will begin at 6 p.m. in Room G-132 each date. Participants do not have to sign up in advance, but should plan to be at the test center by 5:30 p.m. since no one is permitted to enter after the starting time. A $9.25 fee is payable at the time of testing.

Clayton County" will be featured at Clayton Junior College next week. Joe Moore, an information Georgia's Office of Consumer Affairs, will speak on the subject during a 7 p.m. lecture on Thursday, Jan. 29 in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). The public is invited free of charge.

THE CLAYTON SUN 4/23/81

der the direction of Bill week.

CJC Jazz Band Plays Wednesday

The Clayton Junior Gore, will be featured in College Jazz Orchestra, un- concert at the College next also served as Director of the history lecture series "Gone With the Wind Country" which was presented at Ships of the Sea Maritime Museum in Savannah. He specialist with the State of has conducted extensive early history of Henry, Fayette, and Clayton counties, and originated the local

Sponsored by Lyceum,

the performance will begin at 10 a.m. in the Lecture

Hall (Room G-132) on

The public is invited free

January 7, 1981

Wednesday, April 29.

Magazine" and "Coastal" Quarterly Magazine," and cluded in "Henry County,

A lecture on "the origins and early development of Clayton County" will be

A past executive director Clayton Junior College in Counties," and "The Mother of Counties," and "The Mother of Counties," and "The Moore has been a con-History of Fayette County, tributor to "Georgia Georgia.

Next Thursday's lecture will be another program in a has contributed research continuing Lyceumresearch in the area of the and written segments in- sponsored series on "Georgia: Now and Then."

February 18, 1981 CJC Looks For Surrey

Clayton Junior College choir director, Dr. Larry Corse, is looking for a surrey to be used during next month's scheduled productions of "Oklahoma."

"We would like to borrow an antique surrey, preferably one with fringe around the top," the choir director said. The horse-drawn pleasure carriage will be used as a stage prop during the performance. "Oklahoma," to be directed by Dr. Corse, will include 31 cast members along with a number of faculty and other students. Presentations of the Lyceum-sponsored musical are scheduled for Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings on March 5, 6, and 7, and again on March 12,

Free tickets, to be available in late February, will be Anyone with a surrey that could be used during the productions should call Dr. Corse at 961-3420.

Registration for Winter Quarter credit classes at Clayton Junior College will be conducted on Monday, January 5, and classes will begin the following

Students enrolling at the College for the first time must report to Room G-132 either at 10 a.m. or 6 p.m. for a special orientation and advisement program.

Returning students may register in Room D-200 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., or between 5:30 and 8:30 p.m. Classes will begin at 7:50 a.m. on Tuesday, January 6, and continue until the last of final examinations are administered on March

For complete information about the registration process, phone the College's Office of Admissions Records (961-3500) on registration day.

Selznick. "Unfortunately, (at that

Famous Director-Actor Finds Appreciative Audience

Packed House

Houseman Speaks At Clayton Jr. College Shortly after the famed radio show worked on it and edited it and handed help select a film to produce.

Staff Writer

am John Houseman, not Professor Kingsfield," the speaker announced to his packed house Monday night. He then proceeded to adventures in films. television series "Paper Chase", was that he and Herman Mankowitz addressing an audience of about three hundred persons at Clayton Junior College in the third of a series of lectures on film and literature. Although most of the audience recognized Houseman from his television portrayal of Professor

Kingsfield, he has only recently become an actor. He spent most of his life on the production end of the He stated that he had been directed to outline the history of films. "I will instead give a personal narrative of my own films. The period of time that encompasses is indeed the span of the Houseman was born in Romania, went to school in England, and worked as a gaucho in Argentina. He came to this country as an international grain dealer but was soon drawn into the world of theatre as it then existed in "Orsen Welles and I worked together in the Federal Theatre and on Project 891. We were soon fired for...um, insubordination, and that is when we began the Mercury Theatre." According to Houseman, the Mercury Theatre was a roaring success for all of 15 months. Welles and Houseman then moved heir theatre to the radiowaves. It was during that time that they "harried the nation a bit with a little show called 'War of the Worlds'. Houseman calmly deflected the role of mass murderer that the public thrust upon him at that time, "but we were sued for a number of miscarriages.

delight his listeners with tales of the collaborated with Welles on the film stopped making pictures," said movie greats and of his own classic "Citizen Kane." Houseman ruefully. However, it was through his work as would not say who actually wrote the John Houseman, star of the script for this movie, but he did say associate producer with Selznick that See PACKED on page 8A was aired, Welles was offered a it to Welles for production.

contract in Hollywood and Welles Houseman split with Welles soon brought Houseman to California to after and went to work for David O.

It was there that Houseman time) he was so successful that he

News/Daily Photo by Russell Mobley

JOHN HOUSEMAN SPEAKS AT CJC 'I Am Not Professor Kingsfield

Concert Pianist To Give Recital

Lewis Griffith will be Clayton Junior College next public is invited.

Ms. Griffith, an Associate Professor of Music at Valdosta State College, will be presented in a 10 a.m.

Concert pianist Dorothy performance in the College's lecture Hall (Room G-132) on presented in recital at Wednesday, February 4. The

The recital, postponed from January 14 will feature works of Stravinsky and Ravel in addition to a special piece by Robert Starer which dedicated to the performer.

Ms. Griffith has appeared in Europe, South America, and the United States as a recitalist and soloist, and has made three recordings.

producer Alfred Hitchcock, whom he helped prepare "Saboteur." During World War II, Houseman moved to Paramount Pictures, where he became fast friends with Raymond Chandler. "He liked me because we

he became acquainted with the

Continued from page 1A

England." Houseman admitted that it was not much to base a friendship on, but it lasted a long while. It was Chandler who helped make Houseman the "white-haired boy" at Paramount.

both went to public school in

Houseman explained that the Army was planning to draft Paramount's biggest star, Alan Ladd, so the studio was looking for a film which could star Ladd and which could be finished in eight months.

At that same time, Chandler confided to Houseman that the book he was writing could not be finished in book form, so he was planning to sell it for film rights.

"I immediately asked if it had good part for Alan Ladd. He said yes, and there it was," Houseman said.

Unfortunately, Chandler could not write as fast as the film could roll, so Chandler told Houseman, the producer, that the only way he could finish the script was in a drunken

"For three weeks, Ray lay on his couch with a glass of bourbon in his hand and a secretary at his feet. We delivered the script a page at a time but we finished the film just days before Alan was taken by the Army.' This Ladd vehicle was "The Blue Dahlia," a film classic in its own

Houseman worked on a number of films, confounding the studio with his casting methods, and working with the hottest stars. "I take complete credit for casting Marlon Brando as Mark Antony in "Julius Caesar." I knew that he could not only act but that he had perfect speech as well." Houseman was still with

Paramount at age 70 when he

A new series of courses ness" also will be offered for the small business," Co-sponsored by the for area small business Loggins, who has "how to apply for an SBA during January. Clayton County Chamber owners will begin at taught courses in past loan," and "basic ac-February courses of Commerce and the Clayton Junior College quarters, will be the inscheduled include one on Small Business Adminisstanding of a simple this month.

The College's Small Business Development Center (SBDC) has sche- workshop on "how to duled nine workshops, each designed to help small business owners Jan. 17. Programs on and managers meet the "financing the small their businesses.

tration, the series will begin with an all-day start a new business," scheduled on Saturday,

"personnel management," another on "the law and the small business," and a "tax clinic for the small business."

ance for the small busi- vertising and promotion P.C., in Jonesboro, is a Small business courses offered at Clayton Junior College

Programs are led by experts in the various fields from the College, the community, and the University System of Ge-Three programs sche- orgia. Ben R. Loggins, duled in early March will CPA with Hargrave, structor in the "basic accounting" class scheduled for March 9-11-16-18. The course introduces the basic procedures for recording accounting transactions, and includes a summary mations available, and reporting requirements. The course has been designed to give anyone forming a new business with a basic under-

"double entry" bookkeeping system, payroll tax filing and deposits required, sales tax filings required, business for-which should be reviewed for an international acby a new business owner. counting firm. Loggins, one of several professionals who assists number of community the SBDC as instructors, and professional organiholds BBA and MBA zations. Loggins is treaaccounting degrees from surer of the Southside Georgia State University. Theater Guild, executive

He has over six years of director of the Atlanta service as a field agent Alumni of Revenue and instructor for the Agents, a member of the Internal Revenue Ser- Georgia Society of CPA's vice, and over two years and its taxation comchallenges of operating business" and insur- be on "effective ad- Loggins and Company, of federal and state tax other tax considerations as a senior tax consultant mittee, a member of the American Institute of CPA's, and a columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional Engineer's bi-monthly magazine. For complete information about any of the nine classes scheduled during the Winter Quarter, call the SBDC office at 961-3414 or the College's Division of Business at 961-3410. To register for one or more of the programs, call the College's Office of Community Services at 961-3550

He is involved with a

SAT Seminar Thursday

A free seminar on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) will be conducted at Clayton Junior College next week.

Required for students entering credit classes at the College, the SAT seminar will begin at 7 p.m. Thursday, April 16, in the Round Building (Room B-15). The types of questions asked on the test, how it is scored, and hints on how to do well on the SAT and other standardized tests will

SAT for students who plan to enroll in credit programs at the two-year institution. Two test administrations are scheduled prior to the start of the Summer Quarter; the first on April 30 and the second on May 28. For more information on the free seminar, or other

Throughout the year, Clayton Junior College offers the requirements for admission, call the College's Office of Admissions and Records at 961-3500.

Monday March 9, 1981

A FOUR-PART PROGRAM ON "BASIC ACCOUNTING" FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS begins on Monday, March 9, at Clayton Junior College. Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each Monday and Wednesday for two weeks, a $30 registration fee covers the cost of all four sessions. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

Tuesday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE MUSIC STUDENTS will be presented in an 8:30 p.m. recital on Tuesday, March 10. Scheduled in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132), the public is

Pollster Darden Addresses Clayton Jr. College Group

See Page 5A

sion of Business at 961-3410. To register for one or more of the programs, call the College's Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

courses for area small business owners will begin at Clayton Junior College this month.

The College's Small Business Development Center (SBDC) has scheduled nine workshops, each designed to help small business owners and managers meet the challenges of operating their busi-

Co-sponsored by the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration, the series will begin with an all-day workshop on "how to start a new business," scheduled on Saturday, January

Programs on "financing the small business" and "insurance for the small business" also will be offered during January.

February courses scheduled include one on "personnel management," another on "the law and the small business", and a "tax clinic for the small business"

Three programs scheduled in early March will be on "effective advertising and promotion for the small "how to business," apply for an SBA loan," and "basic accounting."

Programs are led by experts in the various fields from the College, the community, and the University System of Georgia. Ben R. Loggins, CPA with Hargrave, Loggins and Company, P.C., in Jonesboro, is a good example.

Loggins, who has taught courses in past quarters, will be the instructor in the "basic accounting" class scheduled for March 9-11-16-18. The course introduces the basic procedures for recording transacaccounting tions, and includes a summary of federal and state tax reporting requirements.

The course has been designed to give anyone forming a new business with a basic understanding of a simple "double entry" bookkeeping system, payroll tax filing and deposits required, sales tax filings required, business formations available, and other tax considerations which should be reviewed by a new business owner.

Loggins, one of several professionals who assists the SBDC as instructors, holds BBA and MBA accounting degrees from Georgia State University.

He has over six years of service as a field agent and instructor for the Internal Revenue Service, and over two years as a senior tax consultant for an international accounting firm.

He is involved with a number of community and professional organizations. Loggins is treasurer of the Southside Theatre Guild, executive director of the Atlanta Alumni of Revenue Agents, a member of the Georgia Society of CPA's and its taxation committee, a member of the American Institute of CPA's, and a columnist for the Georgia Society of Professional Engineer's bi-monthly magazine. For complete information about any of the nine classes scheduled during the Winter Quarter, call the SBDC office at 961-3414 or the College's Divi-

Concert Pianist

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS

January 14, 1981

Dorothy Lewis Griffin to present recital at Clayton Junior

Concert pianist Dorothy Lewis Griffith will be presented in recital at Clayton Junior Col-

Ms. Griffith, an Associate Professor of Music at valdosta State College, will be presented in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, January

Open to the public without charge, the recital will feature works of Stravinsky, Ravel, and Robert Starer. The Starer piece, "Evanescents," is dedicated to her.

As a recitalist and a solist with orchestras, Ms. Griffith has appeared in Europe, South America and the United States. She has made three record-

Beginning her career as a concert painist at the age of 14, she appeared as soloist with the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra. Later, she was awarded a Fulbright-Hays Grant for study in Paris, and during that time, she won a prize in the Geneva International Competi-

Real estate workshops

Two workshops involving real estate sales, one for the professional and the other for anyone interested in the market, have been scheduled at Clayton Junior College.

Offered through the Office of Community Services, a workship for professionals on "successful real estate selling in today's market" begin at 9 a.m. on Thursday, Jan. 22. A workshop for anyone who wants to know more about investing in real estate property will begin at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 29. Registration for each of the three-hour workshops is $10. Thursday morning's workshop has been designed to help the real estate professional turn objections into sales, create referrals that will increase income, and to motivate prospects to sign the contract.

The workshop on Thursday, Jan. 29, is entitled "you can make money investing in real estate." This program will include techniques for buying real estate as an inflation-beater, developing an investment plan, locating property that will rapidly increase in value, and understanding the tax advantages of owning property. Both workshops will be led by Robert Dowling, president of Dowling Properties and a member of the Atlanta Board of Realtors Million Dollar Club. He has been the winner of the National Sales Executive Distinguished Salesman's Award and has authored a number of articles in professional publications.

To register for the workshops, or other noncredit courses offered by the Office of Community Services, call 961-3550 or visit the Office in the College's Administration

tion. She gave a New York debut at Town

Gayle (a student of ridge Webster, Marcel Leon Fleisher. She degrees from the Juil- cal Arts degree from ins University.

with Bess Alderman Carl Friedberg, Beve- Konrad Wolff, and and Master of Science and a Doctor of Musi- tory of The John Hopk-

Ms. Griffith studied Ernest Hutchinson), Ciampi, Jules Gentil, holds the Bachelor liard School of Music, the Peabody Conserva-

January 7, 1981 FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS Theater Tour of New York Planned for March 20-25

CLAYTON SUN 4/23/81 Truffaut Film

Slated At CIC

Another film screening in Clayton Junior College's continuing film and literature series will be shown at the two-year institution next week.

"The 400 Blows," a 1959 film starring Jean-Pierre Leaud and directed by Francois Truffaut, contains French dialogue with English subtitles. The film will be screened in the College's Lecture Hall (Room G-132), beginning at 8:30 p.m. on Tuesday, April

Free and open to the public, next week's program. is another in a series of lectures and screenings in the Lyceum-sponsored series. For more, information about the screening, call the Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510)

NEWS/DAILY

invited free of charge.

"Boss Of The Year".

seminars and programs are included among the more than 80 non-credit course offerings scheduled at Clayton Junior College during the

Two special programs

Television personality Guy Sharpe will keynote a Sunday afternoon program on "coping with the teenage

January 19, 1981

Monday

•THE FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL will not meet on

•THE RIVERDALE SENIOR HIGH PTSA will meet on Monday, Jan. 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. After the election of officers, the assembly will be invited to an Open House in the new vocational wing of the school. The PTSA will also be taking orders for the Name-Dropper T-shirts. This fund raising project will enable the PTSA to

•The first session in a two-part program on "FINAN-CING THE SMALL BUSINESS" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 19. The second session is scheduled at the same time on Wednesday, Jan. 21. To register, phone the

"RELIGION AND VALUES' LECTURE Tuesday, Jan.

20 at 7 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Lecture Hall (G-132) by

Dr. James Kavanaugh, author, poet, screenwriter. Public

•THE ATLANTA BUSINESS WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION

"Gone With The Wind Chapter" will meet 6:30 p.m.

Tuesday night at the Edgewater Country Club. Fred

Oderton will be guest speaker and voting will take place for

Wednesday

•DR. JAMES KAVANAUGH, SUCCESSFUL AUTHOR,

POET, AND SCREENWRITER, will be featured in a 10

a.m. lecture on "from novel to screenplay" at Clayton

Junior College on Wednesday, January 21. Scheduled in Room D-200, the public is invited free of charge. Clayton

Junior College faculty members, and some of their children, will be featured in a musical production, beginning at 10 a.m. on Wed., Jan. 21. Scheduled in the Lecture

Tuesday

•CLAYTON COUNTY COMMISSION to meet Tuesday,

Jan. 20 at 1:30 p.m. in county administration building in

•A DRUG EDUCATION IN FAMILY LIFE program

sponsored by the junior leagues of DeKalb and Fulton counties will be held Tuesday night at Babb Junior High School beginning at 7:30 p.m. Clayton social worker Ann

Trumbower will lead the discussion with two more

• 'RELIGION AND VALUES' LECTURE Tuesday, Jan.

20 at 7 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Lecture Hall (G-132) by

Dr. James Kavanaugh, author, poet, screenwriter. Public

Wednesday

•DR. JAMES KAVANAUGH, SUCCESSFUL AUTHOR,

POET, AND SCREENWRITER, will be featured in a 10

a.m. lecture on "from novel to screenplay" at Clayton

Junior College on Wednesday, January 21. Scheduled in

Room D-200, the public is invited free of charge. Clayton

Junior College faculty members, and some of their children, will be featured in a musical production, beginning at 10 a.m. on Wed., Jan. 21. Scheduled in the Lecture

Thursday

ESTATE professionals will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Thursday morning, January 22. Scheduled at 9 a.m., the program is on "successful real estate selling in today's market." To register, call the Office of Community

•A THREE-HOUR WORKSHOP DESIGNED FOR REAL

January 20, 1931

Hall (Room G-132), the public is invited.

Jonesboro. Public invited.

invited free of charge.

Services at 961-3500.

meetings slated for Jan. 27 and Feb. 17.

Hall (Room G-132), the public is invited.

College's Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Tuesday

Jan. 19 as scheduled. The regular meeting has been postponed until the following Monday, Jan. 26.

complete the various programs for the year.

years - a family conference. Scheduled on Sunday, February 1, the program is intended for the whole family and a $3 registration fee includes all members of the "Teenagers in trouble" is a five-week program designed for parents and professionals who work with teenagers. Set to begin on Wednesday, January 14, a $5 registration fee covers the cost of all five sessions.

ly February for those who want to break the cigarette habit. Developed and tested by the American Cancer Society, Dr. Avery Harvill, Professor of Physical Education at CJC, will present this program.

The Clayton Mental Health Center has developed a special program that explores problems associated with alcohol and drug abuse. Designed for a wide variety of individuals who need to know more about these problems, a four-week course will begin on Tuesday, January 13. A $16 registration fee is required.

More than 20 new courses, workshops, and special programs are included in the Winter Quarter offering. To register for any of the classes, or to obtain a brochure containing the complete listing, call the College's Office of Community Services at 961-

Most classes will begin the week of January 12-16.

Dr. Jean Jones, Director of CJC's Office of Counseling and Testing, will lead the tour. Among the plays to be seen are "Evita" and "Children of a Lesser

> A $450 fee for the tour includes air fare, six selected plays, and five nights in a moderate, well-maintained hotel. The fee, which is subject to change because of possible air fare increases, does not include meals, ground transportation or museum admission

A six-day theater tour of New York has been scheduled by

Clayton Junior College

Planned through the College's Office of Community Services,

the tour will include visits to six Broadway

plays, and post-performance interviews with members of the cast and crew. Also on the schedule are visits to the Guggenheim, the Metropolitan Museum

of Art, the Museum of Modern Art, the Whit-

God," both Tony

Award winners.

ney and the Frick.

off-Broadway

for March 20-25.

To hold a place on the tour, a $200 deposit is required by January 15. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) to obtain a reservation form and complete information.

Clayton Junior College Offers Variety Of Non-credit Courses

Winter Quarter.

focus on teenagers and their problems while two others have been designed for those who would like to break smoking and drinking

> A free "I quit smoking clinic" will be offered in ear-

With New Faces, Ruth Mitchell Dance Company Returns to Clayton Junior for Free Performance

The group will perform on sful series of performances Barile has been added to the "Northside Jog," set to the Wednesday Jan 28 begin- last year, appearing with the company as prima music of Earth, Wind and The Ruth Mitchell Dance Wednesday, Jan. 28, begin-Company, a well-known Atlanta-based group, will return to Clayton Junior ture Hall (Room G-132). College for a free perforjoint support of the Georgia ballerina, and will be ning at 10 a.m. in the Lec-Council for the Arts and featured in several pieces. The Ruth Mitchell Dance Company enjoyed a succes-

Humanities, and the Her partner will be Jerry National Endowment for Kirkpatrick, who also is new with the group.

to Ruth Mitchell, the ar-

Anne Finch, who starred Stravinsky, and several faces this year," according in last year's "Faces of more. Eve," returns, along with tistic director of the group, Ted Gaskin, Leslie May, performance are not neces-

"but the program retains and others. Highlighting sary. Call the Office of the the balance of classical this year's program will be a Dean of Students (961-3510) ballet and modern jazz that new work by Ronnie at Clayton Junior College presented include classical an ensemble piece to Reservations to the free the previous one had." Rose Demarco entitled for additional information.

Junior College on Wednesday, January 21.

the public is invited free

Clayton Juinor College

faculty members, and some of their children, will be featured in a musical production,

beginning at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, January 21.

Scheduled in the Lecture

THE HENRY HERALD

Wednesday, January 14, 1981 Coming events at college

SATURDAY, JANUARY cludes the cost of lunch.

topic of an all-day work- Services at 961-3550. shop at Clayton Junior College on Saturday, TUESDAY, JANUARY January 17. Scheduled 20: between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., the program successful author, poet, has been designed for and screenwriter, will be

To register, or to obtain "How to Start a New more information, call Business" will be the the Office of Community values" at Clayton Junior lecture on "from novel to College on Tuesday, Jan-screenplay" at Clayton uary 20. Scheduled in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) the public is Scheduled in Room D-200, invited free of charge.

Dr. James Kavanaugh,

WEDNESDAY, JANU-ARY 21:

Dr. James Kavanaugh, successful author, poet, small business owners. A featured in a 7 p.m. and screenwriter, will be $22 registration fee in- lecture on "religion and featured in a 10 a.m.

NEWS/DAILY Atlanta-Based Ruth Mitchell Dancers

Dance Company At CJC

The Ruth Mitchell Dance Company, a well-known Atlanta-based group, will return to Clayton Junior College for a free performance next week.

The group will perform on Wed. Jan. 28, beginning at 10 a.m. in the lecture hall (Room G-132).

The Ruth Mitchell Dance Company enjoyed a successful series of performances last year, appearing with the joint support of the Georgia Council for the Arts and Humanities, and the National Endowment for the Arts.

"We have several new faces this year," according to Ruth Mitchell, the artisitc director of the group, "but the program retains the balance of classical ballet and modern jazz that the previous one had." Rose Barile has been added to the company as prima ballerina, and will be featured in several pieces. Her partner will be Jerry Kirkpatrick, who also is new with the group.

Anne Finch, who starred in last year's "Faces of Eve." returns, along with Ted Gaskin, Leslie May, and others. Highlighting this year's program will be a new work by Ronnie Demarco entitled "Northside Jog," set to the music of Earth, Wind, and Fire. Other works being presented include classical pas de deux to Bach music, and ensemble piece to Stravinsky, and several more.

Reservations to the free performance are not necessary. Call the Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510) at Clayton Junior College for additional information.

Hall (Room G-132), the public is invited. THURSDAY, JANUARY of charge.

A three-hour workshop designed for real estate professionals will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Thursday morning, January 22. Scheduled at 9 a.m., the program is on "successful real estate selling in today's market." To register, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3500.

January 28, 1981

College schedules seminar on coping with teenagers

A seminar entitled, "Coping With the Teenage Years -- A Family Conference," is scheduled Feb. 1 from 2-6 p.m. at Clayton Junior College in Morrow.

Sponsored by the Clayton County Council of PTA, the Clayton County Health Department, Clayton Junior College and the Clayton County Board of Education, the conference is being offered in response to the growing problems of drug abuse and teenage pregnancy. Guy Sharpe of 11-Alive newsroom will be the keynote speaker. Professionals from the Clayton County Schools, Clayton County Mental Health Center and the Atlanta Center for Disease Control will lead in workshops which will follow the speaker.

For further information, contact CJC's Office of Community Service, 961-

A two-part series designed cost of both sessions. Junior College next week. surance for the Small highlighted. Business' will be offered to guide small business Participants will learn owners in choosing the about the functions of risk proper insurance program identification, risk evaluafor their individual needs tion, and the selection of the will be offered at Clayton proper risk handling device. Risk handling techniques, Sponsored by the such as avoidance, assump-College's Small Business tion, reduction, and transfer Development Center, "In- (insurance) will be

The two-part program, registration fee covers the merce and the Small will be the third session offered during the Winter Quarter for area small business owners. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

CJC Sets Seminar

on Monday and Wednesday, between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. co-sponsored with the College by the Clayton Jan. 26 and 28. A $15 County Chamber of Com-

•"HOW TO START A NEW BUSINESS" will be the topic of an all-day workshop at Clayton Junior College on Saturday, Jan. 17. Scheduled between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., the program has been designed for small business owners. A $22 registration fee includes the cost of lunch. To register, or to obtain more information, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Monday

•THE FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL will not meet on Jan. 19 as scheduled. The regular meeting has been postponed until the following Monday, Jan. 26.

•THE RIVERDALE SENIOR HIGH PTSA will meet on Monday, Jan. 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. After the election of officers, the assembly will be invited to an Open House in the new vocational wing of the school. The PTSA will also be taking orders for the Name-Dropper Tshirts. This fund raising project will enable the PTSA to complete the various programs for the year.

•The first session in a two-part program on "FINAN-CING THE SMALL BUSINESS" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 19. The second session is scheduled at the same time on Wednesday, Jan. 21. To register, phone the College's Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Tuesday

•CLAYTON COUNTY COMMISSION to meet Tuesday, Jan. 20 at 1:30 p.m. in county administration building in Jonesboro. Public invited. "RELIGION AND VALUES' LECTURE Tuesday, Jan. 20 at 7 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Lecture Hall (G-132) by Dr. James Kavanaugh, author, poet, screenwriter. Public invited free of charge.

Wednesday

•DR. JAMES KAVANAUGH, SUCCESSFUL AUTHOR, POET, AND SCREENWRITER, will be featured in a 10 a.m. lecture on "from novel to screenplay" at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, January 21. Scheduled in Room D-200, the public is invited free of charge. Clayton Junior College faculty members, and some of their children, will be featured in a musical production, beginning at 10 a.m. on Wed., Jan. 21. Scheduled in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132), the public is invited.

Saturday 16, 1981 NEWS/DAILY

•THE AIRLINES PILOTS WIVES' CLUB will meet Saturday, Jan. 17, 3:00 p.m. in Rich's Auditorium at Lenox Square for a Mother-Daughter Tea. All Eastern Airlines pilots wives are invited for fun and fellowship. Reservations accepted until 12 noon, Thurs., Jan. 15 by calling Betty Honore' 997-0338 or Rosemary Slafter 458-8770.

•"HOW TO START A NEW BUSINESS" will be the topic of an all-day workshop at Clayton Junior College on Saturday, Jan. 17. Scheduled between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., the program has been designed for small business owners. A $22 registration fee includes the cost of lunch. To register, or to obtain more information, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Monday

•THE FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL will not meet on Jan. 19 as scheduled. The regular meeting has been postponed until the following Monday, Jan. 26.

•THE RIVERDALE SENIOR HIGH PTSA will meet on Monday, Jan. 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. After the election of officers, the assembly will be invited to an Open House in the new vocational wing of the school. The PTSA will also be taking orders for the Name-Dropper Tshirts. This fund raising project will enable the PTSA to complete the various programs for the year.

•The first session in a two-part program on "FINAN-CING THE SMALL BUSINESS" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 19. The second session is scheduled at the same time on Wednesday, Jan. 21. To register, phone the College's Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Tuesday

•CLAYTON COUNTY COMMISSION to meet Tuesday, Jan. 20 at 1:30 p.m. in county administration building in

Jonesboro. Public invited. • RELIGION AND VALUES' LECTURE Tuesday, Jan. 20 at 7 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Lecture Hall (G-132) by Dr. James Kavanaugh, author, poet, screenwriter. Public invited free of charge.

Wednesday

•DR. JAMES KAVANAUGH, SUCCESSFUL AUTHOR. POET, AND SCREENWRITER, will be featured in a 10 a.m. lecture on "from novel to screenplay" at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, January 21. Scheduled in Room D-200, the public is invited free of charge. Clayton Junior College faculty members, and some of their children, will be featured in a musical production, beginning at 10 a.m. on Wed., Jan. 21. Scheduled in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132), the public is invited.

January 23, 1981 NEWS/DAILY Thursday

THE GEORGIA SOLAR ENERGY ASSOCIATION will hold its next meeting at the Western Sizzlin Steak House on Roswell Road. The public is invited. The topic will be "Georgia's Office of Energy's Approaches to Energy in

•CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE STUDENTS AND FACULTY MEMBERS will be featured during performances and presentations at Southlake Mall this week.

Programs of entertainment and information have been scheduled between 6 and 8:45 p.m. on Thursday and Friday evenings, January 29 and 30, and between 1 and 5:15 p.m. on Saturday afternoon.

• FORMER EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR FOR HISTORICAL JONESBORO, Joe Moore, will be featured in a lecture at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, January 29. Moore will speak on "the "origins and early development of Clayton County" during a 7 p.m. presentation in the College's Lecture Hall (Room G-132).

Sunday

• TELEVISION PERSONALITY GUY SHARPE will keynote a special conference for families at Clayton Junior College on Sunday afternoon, February 1. A four-hour discussion on "coping with the teenage years" will begin at 2 p.m. in Room D-200. A non-refundable $3 registration fee will include every member of a family.

Monday

•THE FIRST SESSION IS A TWO-PART SERIES ON "PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT," designed for small business owners, will be conducted between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. at Clayton Junior College on Monday, February 2. Another program in the College's Small Business Management Series, a $15 registration fee is required.

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS

Seminars and Programs Offered at CJC

_January 27, 1981 MENS/DAILY Thursday

THE GEORGIA SOLAR ENERGY ASSOCIATION WILL hold its next meeting at the Western Sizzlin Steak House on Roswell Road. The public is invited. The topic will be "Georgia's Office of Energy's Approaches to Energy in

•CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE STUDENTS AND FACULTY MEMBERS will be featured during performances and presentations at Southlake Mall this week. Programs of entertainment and information have been scheduled between 6 and 8:45 p.m. on Thursday and Friday evenings, January 29 and 30, and between 1 and 5:15 p.m. on

•FORMER EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR FOR HISTORICAL JONESBORO, Joe Moore, will be featured in a lecture at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, January 29. Moore will speak on "the "origins and early development of Clayton County" during a 7 p.m. presentation in the College's Lecture Hall (Room G-132).

Sunday

• FELEVISION PERSONALITY GUY SHARPE will keynote a special conference for families at Clayton Junior College on Sunday afternoon, February 1. A four-hour discussion on "coping with the teenage years" will begin at 2 p.m. in Room D-200. A non-refundable $3 registration fee will include every member of a family.

Monday

•THE FIRST SESSION IS A TWO-PART SERIES ON "PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT," designed for small business owners, will be conducted between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. at Clayton Junior College on Monday, February 2. Another program in the College's Small Business Management Series, a $15 registration fee is required.

NEWS/DAILY January 29, 1981 Thursday

THE GEORGIA SOLAR ENERGY ASSOCIATION will hold its next meeting at the Western Sizzlin Steak House on Roswell Road. The public is invited. The topic will be "Georgia's Office of Energy's Approaches to Energy in

·CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE STUDENTS AND FACULTY MEMBERS will be featured during performances and presentations at Southlake Mall this week. Programs of entertainment and information have been scheduled between 6 and 8:45 p.m. on Thursday and Friday evenings, January 29 and 30, and between 1 and 5:15 p.m. on

FORMER EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR FOR HISTORICAL JONESBORO, Joe Moore, will be featured in a lecture at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, January 29. Moore will speak on "the "origins and early development of Clayton County" during a 7 p.m. presentation in the College's Lecture Hall (Room G-132).

Saturday afternoon.

THE CLAYTON SUN

yton Junior College.

and Then," the first and open to the public, all programs in the series will

The first program in a

Scheduled on three con-

Lyceum-sponsored lecture provided.

secutive Wednesday

series on "Georgia: Now and Then," the first program will begin at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 4. Free and open to the public, all

programs in the series will

Mrs. Mary Bondurant

Warren, editor of "Georgia

Geneologist" and "Family

Puzzlers" will be featured during the opening program.

Scheduled to discuss how to trace ancestors across state lines, she also will talk on who migrated to Georgia,

why they migrated, and where they settled.

take place in Room G-132.

Clayton Junior College.

Sunday

• TELEVISION PERSONALITY GUY SHARPE will keynote a special conference for families at Clayton Junior College on Sunday afternoon, February 1. A four-hour discussion on "coping with the teenage years" will begin at 2 p.m. in Room D-200. A non-refundable $3 registration fee will include every member of a family.

Monday

•THE FIRST SESSION IS A TWO-PART SERIES ON "PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT," designed for small business owners, will be conducted between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. at Clayton Junior College on Monday, February 2.

family history will be Puzzlers will be featured program will begin at 7 p.m. Feb. 11, will feature on Wednesday, Feb. 4. Free members of Ancestors take place in Room G-132. on local sources, how to Mary Bondurant Warren, interview, and how to series on "Georgia: Now where they settled.

three-part workshop on Geneologist and Family be provided.

Lyceum-sponsored lecture why they migrated, and Atlanta presented next week at Cla- during the opening program. series will feature Kenneth consecutive Wednesday lines, she also will talk on column on geneology that evenings as part of the who migrated to Georgia, appears in the Sunday

Unlimited, speaking on basic research. Information

January 28, 1981

Family History Workshop

three-part workshop on February 11, will feature ion." Scheduled on February presented next week at Unlimited, speaking on basic the State Archives, courlocal sources, how to interview, and how to discover

The final program in the series will feature Mr.

Kenneth Thomas, a freelance geneologist who writes

a column on geneology that appears in the Sunday College.

research. Information on

Begins Feb. 4 At CJC

"family history" will be members of Ancestors

evenings as part of the family secrets will be Scheduled on three trace ancestors across state geneologist who writes a Family History Workshop Set Feb. 4

The first program in a editor of Georgia discover family secrets will using the State Archives,

Scheduled to discuss how to Thomas, a free-lance

The second session, set for "Atlanta Journal-Constitut-

NEWS/DAILY February 12, 1931 Noted Author To Speak

Atlanta advertising a continuing Lyceumlecture at Clayton Junior culture. College next week.

Anderson will speak on FDR: The Old Ways Meet The New Deal" during a 10 a.m. presentation in Room D-200 of the Student Center on Wed., Feb 18.

The public is invited to hear his remarks.

executive William Anderson sponsored lecture series on will be featured during a state and local history and Anderson, who received 'Eugene Talmadge vs. marketing degrees from the University of Georgia, is president of Hutcheson and Anderson Advertising. He once served on the staff for John Lindsay's compaign for mayor of New York City and also as a writer for The program is another in "Vogue" magazine.

at Clayton Junior College.

SOUTH METRO

Clayton Junior College drama students will be

The performance is free and open to the public on a

The Thursday, Feb. 19 performance will begin at 8:30

Presentations will also be made at 8 p.m. the next courthouse records, and

Although the three

programs are interrelated, it

participants to attend all three. For more information, call the Office of the other sources.

presenting three performances of "Tartuffe" this month in lecture hall G-132.

The final program in the

The second session, set for Feb. 18. he will talk about at Clayton Junior College.

18, he will talk about using thouse records, and other

Although the three

programs are intereelated,

it will not be necessary for participants to attend all three. For additional information, call the Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510) at Clayton Junior

Journal-

Constitution. Scheduled on Dean of Students (961-3510)

first-come first-served basis.

Small Business Development Series Offered for area small business owners will begin at Clayton Junior College this - month.

The College's Small Business Development Center (SBDC) has scheduled nine workshops, each designed to help small

A new series of courses business owners and managers meet the challenges of operating their businesses.

> Co-sponsored by the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration, the series will begin with an all-day workshop on "how to start a new business," scheduled on Saturday, January 17. Programs on "financing the small business" and "insurance for the small business" also will be offered during January.

Saturday's program will address the question of who should consider starting a new business. The legal aspects of getting started will be outlined, along with ways to finance a business venture and how to keep sound financial records. Scheduled between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., a $22 registration fee includes the cost of lunch.

"Financing the small business" will be the topic of programs scheduled on Monday and Wednesday evenings, January 19 and 20. Planned between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each evening, a $15 registration fee covers the cost of both

Participants will learn which source, or group of sources, should be used by small business owners. The more common financing problems will be discussed along with sources that can best be utilized to correct the problems.

February courses scheduled include one on "personnel management," another on "the law and the small business," and a "tax clinic for the small business." Three programs scheduled in early March will be on "effective advertising and promotion for the small business," "how to apply for an SBA loan," and "basic accounting."

Programs are led by experts in the various fields from the College, the community, and the University System of Georgia. Ben R. Loggins, CPA with Hargrave, Loggins and Company, P.C., in Jonesboro, is a

Loggins, who has taught courses in past quarters, will be the instructor in the "basic accounting" class scheduled for March 9-11-16-18. The course introduces the basic procedures for recording accounting transactions, and includes a summary of federal and state tax reporting requirements.

The course has been designed to give anyone with a basic understanding deposits required, sales tax

Loggins, one of several professionals who assists the SBDC as instructors, holds BBA and MBA accounting degrees from Georgia State University. He has over six years of service as a field agent and instructor for the Internal Revenue Service, and over two years as a senior tax consultant for an international accounting For complete 961-3550.

Ben R. Loggins, CPA, teaching basic accounting accounting

The Ruth Mitchell Dance Company, a well-known Atlantabased group, will return to Clayton Junior College for a free performance next

The Ruth Mitchell Dance Company enjoyed a successful series of performances last year, appearing with the joint support of the Georgia Council for the Arts and Humanities, and the National Endowment for the Arts.

new faces this year," according to Ruth Mitchell, the artistic director of the group, "but the program retains the balance of classical ballet and modern jazz that the previous one had." Rose Barile has been added to the company as prima ballerina, and will be featured in several pieces. Her partner will be Jerry Kirkpatrick, who also is new with the group.

Anne Finch, who starred in last year's "Faces of Eve," returns, along with Ted Gaskin, Leslie May, and others. Highlighting this year's program will be a new work by Ronnie Demarco entitled "Northside Jog," set to the music of Earth, Wind, and Fire. Other works being presented include classical pas de deux to Bach music, an ensemble piece to Stravinsky, and several more.

Reservations to the free performance are not necessary. Call the Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510) at Clayton Junior for additional informa-

Dancing at CJC Wednesday Jan. 28

The group will perform on Wednesday, January 28, beginning at 10 a.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132).

good example. "We have several > forming a new business of a simple "double entry" bookkeeping system, payroll tax filing and filings required, business formations available, and other tax considerations which should be reviewed by a new business owner.

> information about any of the nine classes scheduled during the Winter Quarter, call the SBDC office at 961-3414 or the College's Division of Business at 961-3410. To register for one or more of the programs, call the College's Office of Community Services at

A number of special seminars and programs are included among the more than 80 non-credit course offerings scheduled at Clayton Junior College during the Winter Quarter.

Two special programs focus on teenagers and problems while two others have been designed for those who would like to break smoking and drinking habits.

Television personality Guy Shapre will keynote a Sunday afternoon program on "coping with the teenage years - a family conference." Scheduled on Sunday, February 1, the program is intended for the whole family and a $3 registration fee includes all members of the family.

"Teenagers trouble" is a five-week program designed for parents and professionals who work with teenagers. Set to begin on Wednesday, January 15, a $5 registration fee covers the cost of all five sessions.

A free "I quit smok-ing clinic" will be offered in early Febuary for those who want to break the cigarette habit. Developed and tested by the American Cancer Society, Dr. Avery Harvill, Professor of Physical Education at CJC, will present this program.

The Clayton Mental Health Center has developed a special program that explores problems associated with alcohol and drug abuse. Designed for a wide variety of individuals who need to know more about these problems, a four-week course will begin on Tuesday, January 13. A $16 registration fee is required.

More than 20 new courses, workshops, and special programs are included in the Winter Quarter offering. To register for any of the classes, or to obtain a brochure containing the complete listing, call the College's Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Most classes will begin the week of January 12-16.

Tax Clinic is scheduled

A special "tax clinic" for small business owners will be conducted at Clayton Junior College next week.

Another program in a continuing small business management series. three-hour sessions are scheduled on Monday and Wednesday, February 23 and 25, beginning at 6:30 p.m. each evening. A $15 registration fee covers the cost of both sessions.

The tax consequence of organizing and conducting business in the sole proprietorship, corpor-∞ ate, or partnership form will be explained during > the workshop. Accounting records, methods, and elections that are a most beneficial to small businesses will be covered.

Other subjects determined by class interest also will be discussed. To register, call the College's Office of Community Services at 961-3550. For more information, contact the institution's Small Business Development Center at

This and other programs in the quarterly series are co-sponsored by the College along with the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration.

961-3414.

Clayton Junior College schedules events

Thursday, Jan. 29 rector for Historical is invited. Jonesboro, Joe Moore, will be featured in a lecture at Clayton Junior Events at Clayton Jan. 29. Moore will speak with the teenage years" Services (961-3550) at College on Monday, Feb.

Sunday, Feb. 1

Junior College between on "the origins and early will be conducted at Clayton Junior College January 29-February 7, development of Clayton Clayton Junior College on for complete information. County" during a 7 p.m. Sunday afternoon, Feb. 1. presentation in the Col- Television personality lege's Lecture Hall Guy Sharpe will keynote Former Executive Di- (Room G-132). The public the conference, scheduled between 2 and 6 per family registration A special conference fee will be required. Call College on Thursday, for families on "coping the Office of Community p.m. at Clayton Junior

Monday, Feb. 2 The first session in a two-part series on "personnel management," dep.m. in Room D-200. A $3 signed for small business owners, will be conducted between 6:30 and 9:30

Wednesday, Feb. 4

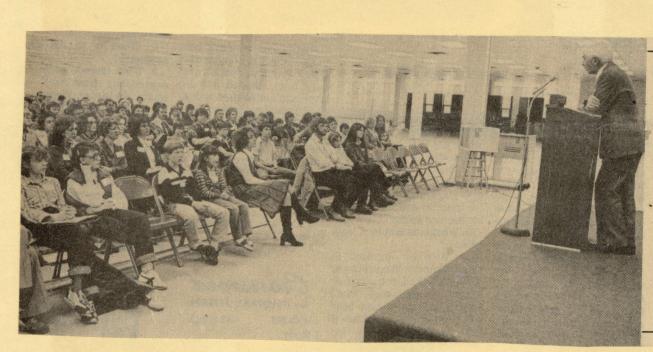

2. Another program in the thy Lewis Griffith will be College's Small Business presented at Clayton human development" Management Series, a Junior College during a 10 during a 10 a.m. lecture $15 registration fee is a.m. performance on at Clayton Junior College required. Call the Office Wednesday, Feb. 4. Post- on Wednesday, Feb. 4. of Community Services poned from Jan. 14, the Scheduled in Room D-200, (961-3550) to register, or concert will be given in to obtain complete in- Room G-132. The public is invited.

Psychologist Dr. Ruth "family history" will be

Concert pianist Doro- Hepler will speak on the "values as a part of the public is invited.

> The opening session in a three-part program on Junior College, beginning at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 4. Scheduled on consecutive Wednesday evenings in Room T-132, all three programs will be open to the public without charge. Call the Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510) for complete information.

NEWS/DAILY February 3, 1981

Live And Let Live

More than 200 persons attended a conference entitled "Coping With The Teenage Years" Sunday at Clayton Junior College near Morrow. Sponsored by the Clayton County Council of PTA's, the Clayton County Health Department, Clayton Junior College and the Clayton County Board of Education, the conference dealt with understanding the problems of teenagers. WXIA-TV's Guy Sharpe opened the conference as guest speaker.

News/Daily Photo By Russell Moble

CJC Sets 'Tartuffe'

students and faculty Lyceum-sponsored produc- include Ellen Kissel of members will be presented tion will be available on a in the drama production of first-come, first-served basis "Tartuffe" during three each evening. performances this week.

The story of an accomplished rogue, "Tartuffe" or "The Imposter" will be presented at 8:30 p.m. on Thurs., Feb. 19; and at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday evenings, Feb. 20 and 21.

college's lecture hall (room is inflamed further.

Clayton Junior College G-132) Seating for the Student performers will

Tartuffe, a hypocrite who specializes in fake standards, finds a perfect target in a wealthy merchant during the production. His behavior outrages everyone except the merchant's mother. The merchant is so incensed by the opposition to Tartuffe that he decides to All performances will be give him his daughter in free and will be staged in the marriage, and the household

Riverdale, Michelle Hagist White of Morrow, Tommy Morfoot of Jonesboro, Betsy Thompson of Riverdale, Jeff Pike of Forest Park, David Deering of Jonesboro, and Cora Dunbar of Peachtree

Dr. Jean Jones, Director of Counseling and Testing, will appear in the production along with drama director, Dr. Pat Collins, Assistant Professor of English. Sets, lighting, and makeup will be

NEWS/DAILY February 5, 1931 CJC Black History Week Hosts Mrs. Andrew Young

The wife of Andrew Young, former ambassador to the United Nations, and nationally-known speaker Dr. Stanley A. Cyrus will be featured during a series of programs and exhibits during "Black History Week" activities at Clayton Junior College next week.

Sponsored by the College's Black Cultural Awareness Association, events are scheduled Mon. - Thurs. Feb. 9-12.

In addition to the two lecture presentations, a forum by two local businessmen will be featured along with art exhibits and a high school choir concert.

Coordinated by Dr. R.E. Moore, assistant to the dean of the college, the theme for the week willbe "Black History: Role Model For Jean Childs Young, wife of the former ambassador, will open the week of activities with an 11 a.m. speech in the lecture hall (room G-132) on Monday. As an educator, Mrs. Young has been a classroom teacher and has authored a manual for parents of pre-school children. School System. Active in the civil rights movement during the 1960's and early 1970's, Mrs. Young presently serves on the board of directors of UNICEF and Operations Crossroads Africa. In 1979, she served as chairperson of the United Nations National Commission on 'The Year of the Child.' Tuesday's program will feature local business leaders. John Feathers, chairman of the college's division of business, and Dr. Doris Cash, professor of business, will conduct a panel discussion in room G-132.

Roosevelt Robinson, president of Mall, and Thurman McKenzie, president of M & M Products Company of Forest Park, will keynote the panel.

Members of the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and several businessmen throughout the Atlanta area have been invited to attend the 11 a.m. program and

Art and craft exhibits will be displayed between 9 a.m. and 12 noon on Wednesday. To be featured will be paintings, photographs, artifacts, sculptures, hand crafts, jewlry, African imports, books, and Displays will be provided by Carver High School, Henry County High School, W.F. George High School, Southwest High School, the Mount Carmel Baptist Church Arts and Crafts Department, and the Shrine of the Black Madonna Bookstore. Displays will be exhibited in the lobby of the "C" Building.

Also on Wednesday, the 60-voice choir of Decatur High School will be presented in a 10 a.m. concert in Room D-200. Well-known featured during many special performances.

Dr. Cyrus, assistant professor in the department of romance languages at Howard University in Washington, D.C., will be presented during the week's final event on Thursday, beginning at 10 a.m. in

The Black Awareness Association will be joined by two other campus clubs - the College Political Union and the Foreign Language Club, in sponsoring his lecture. Dr. Cyrus, who holds degrees in Spanish and Latin American History serves on the board of directors for the Latin American Studies Center.

SAT. Set At Clayton Junior

961-3515.

Clayton Junior College p.m. on the testing date. No tion about the SAT or other and 5:15 p.m. on Saturday. will administer the Scholas- one will be permitted to admission requirements, tic Aptitude Test (SAT) to enter the test center after call the college's Office of its prospective students on the 6 p.m. starting time.

A requirement for ad- ister in advance to take the mission into credit pro- SAT, but a $9.25 testing fee grams offered by the col- is payable at the time of lege, participants should re- testing. port to Room G-132 by 5:30 consecutive Sunday after- tages.

operating a small business,

including business structures, regulations, contracts, and license requirements. Participants will learn when they need a lawyer, what they can do

CJC Presents

Law Program

A two-part program on themselves, what laws apply

"the law and the small to their business, and how to business" will be conducted structure their businesses

at Clayton Junior College on for maximum tax advannoons, Feb. 15 and 22. For complete information,

College's Small Business 961-3414. To register, call (SBDC) and the Office of Services at 961-3550.

Development Center the Office of Community

Community Services, the The program is another in two-hour program will begin a continuing small business at 2 p.m. each Sunday. A management series spon-

$10 registration fee covers sored by the College, the

the cost of both sessions. Clayton County Chamber of the legal aspects of Business Administration.

The program will cover Commerce and the Small Offered through the contact the SBDC office at

THE CLAYTON SUN

Feb. 12, 1981

It is not necessary to reg-

The Southside Singles will hold a Valentine Dance on band will be featured during For complete informa-Feb. 13 at 9 p.m.

It will be held at the NCO Club at Fort McPherson. Teddy Bear will provide the dancing music and the admission is $3.50.

Admissions and Records at 961-3500 or the Office of dental hygiene clinics, and

Counceling and Testing at foreign language students

The dance is open to all singles and is semi-formal. For more information call Larry 627-5167 or Margareta 767-2409.

Southlake Mall will host its annual "Here's To Clay- unteer Diabetic Group will ton Junior College event Thursday through Saturday. Programs of entertainment and information have and 8:45 p.m. on Thursday and Friday and between 1

The Clayton County Volbeen scheduled between 6 afternoon.

meet Feb. 12 at 7:30 p.m. in the Multi-purpose room at Clayton General Hospital. Guest speaker Dr. Douglas A. Quinn, DDS, will diabetics and how they can

February 5, 1981

Students and faculty members will provide free

blood pressure checks and will be involved in an on-performances on Thursday evening with the concert band and community chorus

scheduled for Friday evestration, a performance by the jazz band and a concert

by the Clayton Community

Band will be held Saturday

A special karate demon-

The college choir and jazz going demonstration.

hygiene. A question and answer session will follow the talk.

best achieve good dental

The Outdoor-Division of the Clayton County Parks and Recreat, on Department is sponsoring the Outdoor Adventure Photo Contest. The deadline for all entries is April 10. For more information, call Lynda Moore at

The Tri-City Business and Professional Women's Club, with Clayton County members, will meet for a dinner program and business session at Woodward Academy Hall in College Park at 6:30

Forest Park resident Helen Miller, who is the first vice-president program coordinator and national understanding committee speak on the special needs of chairman, will present the

Seminar On Applying For SBA Loans Scheduled

A program in the small business management series is scheduled at Clayton Junior College. The April 30 seminar will provide complete ginformation about applications forms and procedures necessary in applying for SBA loans.

For complete __information about this program, or others that will follow in the series. call the College's Small Business Development Center at 961-3414. To register, call the Office of Community Services at 山961-3550.

The quarterly series of programs for small business owners is cosponsored by the College along with the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration.

January 30, 1981 A Family Conference At CJC

Coping With Teenage Years

seminar entitled "Coping The family com- Human Resources. Morrow from 2 to 6 p.m.

County Board of Education.

say their work is in response to a growing need in the community for education and understanding as drug worked with parents and abuse and teenage children of all age levels. pregnancy rates rise.

Sponsors of the seminar

Guy Sharpe will be the keynote speaker at the workshop and there will be three individual seminars designed for family participation dealing with communication within the He has a private practice in family, drugs and teenage sexuality.

The subjects to be covered relating to teenagers in his teenage development course teachers. offered to county schools. As a former director of the

Dr. Steve Sloan, leading the Teenage Sexuality workshop, works with the Center for Disease Control as a Human Sexuality Specialist. He received his Ph.D. in Human Sexuality. sex therapy which includes conducting workshops.

Assisting Dr. Sloan will be were among those chosen as Patricia White, the perinatal most interesting by parents program manager at the Family Conference" will be led by Ted Key, a teacher workshop will be Jamie 2 p.m. the day of the offered to the public at with Babb Junior High Gaillard, director of the seminar. Clayton Junior College near School and former Clayton county's mental health Child County Teacher of the Year. and Adolescent Program, The conference is He teaches two courses to and Nancy Leitch, a social sponsored by the Clayton teachers for the Board of worker with the same County Council of PTA's, the Education dealing with program. Between them, Clayton County Health communication skills, and they have 16 years Department, Clayton Junior child and teenage problems. experience in conducting College and the Clayton He has direct experience in seminars educating children, parents and

There is a registration fee of $3 per family for the county's Head Start workshop. A registration Program for 10 years, he has form may be picked up at the college's office of

With The Teenage Years - A munication workshop will be Leading the Drug will be accepted from 1:30 to

Ad Exec to Speak

will be featured during a lecture at Clayton Junior College next week.

Anderson will speak on The New Deal" during a 10 a.m. presentation scheduled in Room D-200 of the Student Center on Wednesday, Wild Man From Sugar Feb. 18. The public is invited to hear his remarks.

sponsored lecture series on state and local history and

Atlanta advertising ex- marketing degrees from the ecutive William Anderson University of Georgia, is president of Hutcheson and Anderson Advertising. He once served on the staff for John Lindsay's campaign 'Eugene Talmadge vs. for mayor of New York City FDR: The Old Ways Meet and also as a writer for "Vogue" magazine.

He is the author of "The Creek," a study of the political career of Eugene The program is another in Talmadge, and has cona continuing Lyceum- tributed articles to 'Brown's Guide to the "Georgia Georgia," Historical Quarterly" and Anderson, who received other publications.

hibits and a high school choir concert. Coordinated by Dr. R.E.

For Youth. Mrs. Jean Childs Young, wife of the former Amof activities with an 11 a.m. speech in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Monday,

College next week.

Young has been a classroom teacher and has authored a Atlanta School System.

ACTIVE in the Civil Rights Movement during by Carver High School,

The wife of Andrew the 1960's and early 1970's, Henry County High School, American Central of Labor, Young, for er Ambassador to Mrs. Young presently serves W.F. George High School, the United Nations, and on the board of directors of Southwest High School, nationally-known speaker UNICEF and Operations Mount Carmel Baptist Dr. Stanley A. Cyrus will be Crossroads Africa. In 1979, featured during a series of she served as chairperson of activities at Clayton Junior "The Year of the Child."

Tuesday's program (Feb. Sponsored by the 10) will feature local business leaders. John College's Black Cultural Awareness Association, Feathers, Chairman of the events are scheduled Mon-College's Division of day through Thursday, Feb. Business, and Dr. Doris 9-12. In addition to the two Cash, Professor of Business, lecture presentations, a will conduct a panel discusforum by two local sion in the Lecture Hall businessmen will be (Room G-132). featured along with art ex-Roosevelt Robinson, president of Robinson Cadillac Company at Southlake Mall, and Thur-Moore, Assistant to the man McKenzie, president of Dean of the College, the M & M Products Company theme for the week will be of Forest Park, will keynote "Black History: Role Model the panel. Members of the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and several businessmen throughout the bassador, will open the week Atlanta area have been invited to attend the 11 a.m. program and luncheon.

ART AND CRAFT ex-As an educator, Mrs. hibits will be displayed between 9 a.m. and noon on Wednesday (Feb. 11). To be manual for parents of pre- featured will be paintings, school children. The manual photographs, artifacts, is still being used in the sculptures, hand crafts, jewelry, African imports, books, and woodwork. Displays will be provided

Church Arts and Crafts Department, and the Shrine programs and exhibits dur- the United Nations of the Black Madonna authorities on Afroing "Black History Week" National Commission on Bookstore. Displays will be Hispanic Literature. He lecexhibited in the lobby of the tures frequently at "C" Building. 60-voice choir of Decatur several articles. He has ser-High School will be presen- ved as a consultant to two ted in a 10 a.m. concert in projects and has directed a Room D-200. Well-known seminar for the National throughout the area, the Endowment for the choir has been featured dur- Humanities. ing many special perfor-Professor in the Department hibits will be in place at two a.m. in the Lecture Hall the "G" Building. (Room G132). The Black Mrs. Gwendol Awareness Association will Public Services Librarian at be joined by two other Clayton Junior College, will campus clubs—the College provide displays in the main Foreign Language Club—in Resources Center during the sponsoring his lecture.

Dr. Cyrus, who holds degreens in Spanish and sponsored during Black Latin American History, History Week will be free serves on the Board of Direc- and open to the public. tors for the Latin American Studies Center of the Consortium of Washington Universities. In addition, since 1979, he has served as a delegate to the Latin

A renowned scholar Dr. Cyrus is one of the leading Also on Wednesday, the has published one book and Political Union and the lobby of the Learning

Lucktenberg Trio Will Perform Wednesday at CJC

sichord/violin recital at to attend free of charge.

be featured in a hap- 132). The public is invited and the third member of the Leclari, Giuseppe Tartini, will be featured on the violin and cello.

The Lucktenberg Trio will the Lecture Hall (Room G- harpsichord and forteipiano, Telemann, Jean-Marie trio, George T. Lucktenberg, and Joseph Haydn.

Scheduled at 10 a.m. on and the baroque violin, The program will include are artist/teachers at Wednesday, April 8, the while George H. works by Henrich Franz Converse College in Sparprogram will be presented in Lucktenberg will play the Biber. George Philipp tanburg, South Carolina.

Dr. and Mrs. Lucktenberg

program will be presented in Lucktenberg will play the Biber. George Philipp tanburg, South Carolina.

THE CLAYTON SUN April 4, 1981

Lucktenberg Trio Will Perform Wednesday at CJC The Lucktenberg Trio will the Lecture Hall (Room G- harpsichord and forteipiano, Telemann, Jean-Marie

sichord/violin recital at to attend free of charge. Clayton Junior College next will be featured on the violin and cello. Scheduled at 10 a.m. on and the baroque violin, The program will include are artist/teachers at be featured in a hap- 132). The public is invited and the third member of the Leclari, Giuseppe Tartini, trio, George T. Lucktenberg, and Joseph Haydn. Jerrie Cadek Lucktenberg will play the viola da gamba

Wednesday, April 8, the while George H. works by Henrich Franz Converse College in Spar-

Dr. and Mrs. Lucktenberg

Mrs. Andrew Young Featured At CJC Black History Week

> group before The Organization of American States.

Dr. Cyrus, Assistant month of February, art exof Romance Languages at campus locations. Mrs. Pat Howard University in Martin of the Shrine of the Washington, D.C., will be Black Madonna Bookstore presented during the week's and Cultural Center will final event on Thursday have displays in cases (Feb. 12), beginning at 10 located on the Lower level of Mrs. Gwendolyn Bell,

All programs and events

NEWS/DAILY

March 19, 1981 Thursday GRADUATE-LEVEL CLASS REGISTRATION at

Clayton Jr. College Thursday, March 19, from 3:30-5 p.m. for Georgia State University courses to be offered at CJC. In room G-101. Coordinated through Office of Community AMERICAN RED CROSS ADVISORY COMMITTEE meeting Thursday, March 19 at noon at Clayton Service Center, 6504 Church St, Riverdale. RSVP 997-6043. Friday CLAYTON COMMUNITY BAND AND CHORUS to present a free concert Friday March 20 at 8 p.m. in room G-132. at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow. Co-sponsored by CJC Office of Community Services. Sousa marches, "Grand March" from Aida, "Overture" to "Marriages of Figaro," selections from "Oklahoma." Aaron Copland's "In The Beginning" and Johannes Brahm's "Lovesong Waltzes".

Monday

THE CLAYTON COUNTY UNIT OF THE AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY will have a "I Quit Smoking Clinic" February 2, 3, 4 and 10, 11, 12 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Clayton Junior College on Lee Street in Morrow. For a further information call Clayton Junior College 961-3550 or the American Cancer Society 478-3144.

•THE FIRST SESSION IS A TWO-PART SERIES ON "PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT," designed for small business owners, will be conducted between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. at Clayton Junior College on Monday, February 2. Another program in the College's Small Business Management Series, a $15 registration fee is required.

Wednesday

CONCERT PIANIST DOROTHY LEWIS GRIFFITH will be presented at Clayton Junior College during a 10 a.m. performance on Wednesday, February 4. Postponed from January 14, the concert will be given in Room G-132. The

THE OPENING SESSION IN A THREE-PART PROGRAM ON "FAMILY HISTORY" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College, beginning at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, February 4. Scheduled on consecutive Wednesday evenings in Room G-132, all three programs will be open to the public without charge. Call the Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510) for complete information.

Thursday

THE RIVERDALE AREA BUSINESS COUNCIL WILL hold its first meeting Thursday, February 5th at 7:00 p.m. in the Council Room of the Riverdale City Hall. Business and community leaders of this area are invited to attend.

BEGINNERS' SQUARE DANCE CLASSES will begin on Thursday night February 5th at 7:30. These classes will be held at the Bethany Presbyterian Church. The Church is about 3 miles from Interstate 285, going south on Old National Highway, and is located between Flat Shoals Road and Highway 138.

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE WILL ADMINISTER THE SCHOLASTIC APTITUDE TEST (SAT) to it prospective students on Thursday evening, February 5. A requirement for admission into credit programs offered by the College, participants should report to Room G-132 by 5:30 p.m. on the testing date. No one will be permitted to enter the test center after the 6 p.m. starting time. It is not necessary to register in advance to take the SAT. but a $9.25 testing fee is payable at the time of testing.

Tuesday February 3, 1981 NEWS/DAILY

• ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT STUDY HEARING for a proposed fourth runway at Atlanta International Airport will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Room 200 of the Clayton Junior College Student Center. A second forum will be held Wednesday at the DeKalb County courthouse beginning at 8 p.m. The public is invited.

• THE MORROW JUNIOR HIGH PTA will meet Tuesday, February 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Wednesday

• CONCERT PIANIST DOROTHY LEWIS GRIFFITH will be presented at Clayton Junior College during a 10 a.m. performance on Wednesday, February 4. Postponed from January 14, the concert will be given in Room G-132. The

.THE OPENING SESSION IN A THREE-PART PROGRAM ON "FAMILY HISTORY" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College, beginning at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, February 4. Scheduled on consecutive Wednesday evenings in Room G-132, all three programs will be open to the public vithout charge. Call the Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510) for complete information.

Thursday

• CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE WILL ADMINISTER THE SCHOLASTIC APTITUDE TEST (SAT) to it prospective students on Thursday evening, February 5. A requirement for admission into credit programs offered by the College, participants should report to Room G-132 by 5:30 p.m. on the testing date. No one will be permitted to enter the test center after the 6 p.m. starting time. It is not necessary to register in advance to take the SAT, but a $9.25 testing fee is payable at the time of testing.

Monday

•MRS. JEAN CHILDS YOUNG, WIFE OF ANDREW YOUNG former Ambassador to the United Nations, will be featured during an 11 a.m. lecture at Clayton Junior College on Monday, February 9. The opening speaker in a series of events commemorating Black History Week, Mrs. Young will be presented in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Call the College's Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510) for complete information. The public is invited.

Community Calendar

NEWS/DAILY February 11, 1981

Wednesday

THE NEW BEGINNING CLUB (NBC), a new organization for senior citizens, will take a trip to the State Capitol Wed., Feb. 11. For more information call 361-4399 or 366-1261. All interested senior citizens are invited to come. BLACK HISTORY WEEK continues at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, February 11, with an arts and crafts exbition and a concert by the Decatur High School Choir. Exhibits will be on display in the Lobby of the "C" Building between 9 a.m. and 12 noon and the widely-known choir will perform in Room D-200, beginning at 10 a.m. The public is invited free of charge.

THE CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE JAZZ OR-CHESTRA will be presented in concert on Wednesday, February 11, beginning at 10 a.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). The Public is invited free of charge.

NEWS/DAILY February 25, 1981 Wednesday

A BAND CONCERT AND A PIANO ENSEMBLE will share the spotlight during a performance scheduled at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday morning, Feb. 25.

The College Band, under the direction of Bill Gore, and a number of piano students will be presented in a 10 a.m. per formance in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). The public is invited to hear the joint concert.

Monday

EFFECTIVE ADVERTISING AND PROMOTION for Small Business, first of two-part program at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow, Monday, March 2 at 6:30 p.m. Second session Wednesday, March 4. Each three hours in length. $15 fee. Call CJC Office of Community Services at 961-3550

February 4, 1931 NEWS/DAILY Wednesday

CONCERT PIANIST DOROTHY LEWIS GRIFFITH will be presented at Clayton Junior College during a 10 a.m. performance on Wednesday, February 4. Postponed from January 14, the concert will be given in Room G-132. The public is invited.

THE OPENING SESSION IN A THREE-PART PROGRAM ON "FAMILY HISTORY" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College, beginning at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, February 4. Scheduled on consecutive Wednesday evenings in Room G-132, all three programs will be open to the public without charge. Call the Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510) for complete information.

Thursday

THE RIVERDALE AREA BUSINESS COUNCIL will hold its first meeting Thursday, February 5th at 7:00 p.m. in the Council Room of the Riverdale City Hall. Business and community leaders of this area are invited to attend. .BEGINNERS' SQUARE DANCE CLASSES will begin on Thursday night February 5th at 7:30. These classes will be held at the Bethany Presbyterian Church. The Church is about 3 miles from Interstate 285, going south on Old National Highway, and is located between Flat Shoals Road and Highway 138.

THE CLAYTON COUNTY EXTENSION SERVICE will hold a "Will a And Estate Planning Seminar" Thurs., Feb. 5 at 7 p.m. at the county courthouse in Jonesboro. Local lawyers and an estate planning specialist will be on hand in the 3rd floor courtroom to serve as panelists for a question

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE WILL ADMINISTER THE SCHOLASTIC APTITUDE TEST (SAT) to it prospective students on Thursday evening, February 5.

A requirement for admission into credit programs offered by the College, participants should report to Room G-132 by 5:30 p.m. on the testing date. No one will be permitted to enter the test center after the 6 p.m. starting time. It is not necessary to register in advance to take the SAT, but a $9.25 testing fee is payable at the time of testing.

Monday

MRS. JEAN CHILDS YOUNG, WIFE OF ANDREW YOUNG former Ambassador to the United Nations, will be featured during an 11 a.m. lecture at Clayton Junior College on Monday, February 9. The opening speaker in a series of events commemorating Black History Week, Mrs. Young will be presented in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Call the College's Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510) for complete information. The public is invited.

NEWS/DAILY

February 5, 1981

Thursday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE WILL ADMINISTER THE SCHOLASTIC APTITUDE TEST (SAT) to it prospective students on Thursday evening, February 5. A requirement for admission into credit programs offered by the College, participants should report to Room G-132 by 5:30 p.m. on the testing date. No one will be permitted to enter the test center after the 6 p.m. starting time. It is not necessary to register in advance to take the SAT, but a $9.25 testing fee is payable at the time of testing.

Monday

MRS. JEAN CHILDS YOUNG, WIFE OF ANDREW YOUNG former Ambassador to the United Nations, will be featured during an 11 a.m. lecture at Clayton Junior College on Monday, February 9. The opening speaker in a series of events commemorating Black History Week, Mrs. Young will be presented in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Call the College's Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510) for complete information. The public is invited.

Tuesday

BLACK HISTORY WEEK will continue at Clayton Junior College with a local business day forum featuring Thurman McKenzie, president of M and M Products Company of Forest Park. The forum will begin at 11 a.m. Tuesday in Lecture Hall (Room G-132).

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS Feb. 25, 1981 CJC Calendar of Events

MONDAY, MARCH 2

The opening session in a two-part program on "effective advertising and promotion for the small business" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Monday, March 2. The second session is set for Wednesday, March 4. Three-hour sesssions will begin at 6:30 p.m. each evening and a $15 registration fee covers the cost of the entire program. Call the Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4

The Clayton Junior College Choir will be presented in a 10 a.m. performance in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Wednesday, March 4. The public is invited free of charge.

THURSDAY, MARCH 5

The Clayton Junior College Choir will give the first of six performances of "Oklahoma" during an 8:30 p.m. presentation in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Thursday, March 5. Free tickets for the musical are available from the Office of Student Services (phone 961-3510). Performances will continue on Friday and Saturday, March 6 and 7, and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday March 12-13-14.

FRIDAY, MARCH 6

The Clayton Junior College Choir will give the second of six performances of "Oklahoma" during an 8 p.m. presentation in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Friday, March 6. Free tickets for the musical are available from the Office of Student Services (phone 961-3510). Performances will continue on Saturday, March 7, and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 12-13-14.

SATURDAY, MARCH 7

The Clayton Junior College Choir will give the third of six performances of "Oklahoma" during an 8 p.m. presentation in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Saturday, March 7. Free tickets for the musical are available from the Office of Student Services (phone 961-3510). Performances will continue on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 12-13-14.

THE HENRY HERALD

Atlanta advertising executive William Anderson will speak on Eugene Talmadge vs. FDR: The Old Ways Meet The New Deal" during a 10 a.m. lecture in Room D-200 on Wednesday, Feb. 18. The public is invited free of charge. Clayton Junior College students and faculty members will be presented in a "concerto" concert, beginning at 10 a.m. in Room G-132 on Wednesday, Feb. 18. The public is invited.

THURSDAY, FEB. 19

February 11, 1981 WEDNESDAY, FEB. 18 sent the first of three Lecture Hall (Room performances of "Tar- G-132). The public is tuffe" on Thursday, Feb. invited free of charge 19, beginning at 8:30 p.m. with seating available on in the Lecture Hall a first-come, first-served (Room G-132). The public basis. The final producis invited free of charge tion is scheduled for with seating available on Saturday evening, also at a first-come, first-served 8 p.m. basis. Productions are also scheduled for Friday and Saturday evenings, beginning 30 minutes earlier.

FRIDAY, FEB. 20

Clayton Junior College drama students will present the second of three performances of "Tar-Clayton Junior College tuffe" on Friday, Feb. 20, a first-come, first-served drama students will pre- beginning at 8 p.m. in the

SATURDAY, FEB. 21

Clayton Junior College

drama students will be presented in "Tartuffe" on Saturday, Feb. 21, beginning at 8 p.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). The public is invited free of charge with seating available on advertising, promotion and public relations during a at Clayton Junior College vices at 961-3550. next week.

Advertising Seminar Set At Clayton Jr. College

"Effective advertising and promotion for the small business" is the topic of a program, scheduled Monday and Wednesday, March 2 and 4. Three-hour sessions will begin at 6:30 p.m. each evening and a $15 registration fee covers the cost of the entire program.

Promotional and advertising strategy for small businesses will be thoroughly discussed. In addition, participants will learn how to develop their own ads and how to utilize direct mail, newspapers, radio and television as advertising media.

For more information

CJC Needs Surrey

Clayton Junior College choir director, Dr. Larry Corse, is looking for a surrey to be used during next month's scheduled productions of "Oklahoma.

"We would like to borrow an antique ∞surry, preferably one with fringe around the -top," the choir director Ssaid. The horse-drawn pleasure carriage will be used as a stage prop during the perforamance.

"Oklahoma," to be directed by Dr. Corse, will include 31 cast members along with a unumber of faculty and in other students.

Presentations of the ≥Lyceum- sponsored Smusical are scheduled Sfor Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings on March 5, 6, and 7, and again on March 12, \geq 13, and 14. Free tickets, to be available in late February, will be required.

Anyone with a surrey that could be used during the productions should call Dr. Corse at 961-3420.

owners can learn more about College's Small Business management series, is co-Development Center at 961-3414. To register, call the two-part program scheduled Office of Community Ser-

sponsored by the College along with the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Ad-The program, another in a ministration

NEWS/DAILY February 26, 1931 Monday

THE OPENING SESSION IN A TWO-PART PROGRAM ON "EFFECTIVE ADVERTISING AND PROMOTION FOR THE SMALL BUSINESS" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Monday, March 2. The second session is set for Wednesday, March 4. Three-hour sessions will begin at 6:30 p.m. each evening and a $15 registration

Wednesday

THE CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE CHOIR will be presented in a 10 a.m. performance in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Wednesday, March 4. The public is invited

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR 3/11/81 Final Exams Set Tuesday

Winter quarter credit classes will end and final examinations will begin at Clayton Junior College next Classes will end Monday and finals are scheduled for

Tuesday through March 20. The college enrolled 2,707 students in the winter quarter, an increase of 39 over the same quarter one year

Students enrolled in credit programs will have less than a week of "spring break" before advisement and registration for spring quarter which is scheduled for NEWS/DAILY

February 20, 1981 "THE LAW AND THE SMALL BUSINESS'' SEMINAR

A two-part program on "the law and the small business" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on consecutive Sunday afternoons, February 15 and 22.

Offered through the College's Small Business Development Center (SBDC) and the Office of Community Services, the two-hour program will begin at 2 p.m. each Sunday. A $10 registration fee covers the cost of both sessions.

The program will cover the legal aspects of operating a small business, including business structures, regulations, contracts, and license requirments. Participants will learn when they need a lawyer, what they can do themselves, what laws apply to their business, and how to structure their businesses for maximum tax advantages. For complete information, contact the SBDC office at 961-3414. To register, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

The program is another in a continuing small business management series sponsored by the College, the Clayton Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration.

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS February 25, 1981 CJC To Administer SAT

Clayton Junior College has scheduled two administrations of the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) next week. Applications to the College who have not taken the test more than once in the Institutional Admissions Testing Program may take the SAT on Thursday evening, March 5, or Saturday morning,

March 7. Thursday's administration will begin at 6 p.m. and the special Saturday morning testing will begin at 10 o'clock. It is not necessary to sign up in advance, but participants should plan to be at the testing center at least 30 minutes prior the scheduled starting time. No one will be per-

College events

Events at Clayton Junior College

Monday, February 23

Atlanta pollster Claibourn H. Darden, Jr., founder and president of the national public opinion and marketing research firm Darden Research Corporation, will speak at Clayton Junior college on Monday, February 23, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room College Political Union, the presentation will be free and open to the public.

The first session in a two-part program on "tax clinic for the small business" will be conoducted at Clayton Junior - College on Monday, February 23. Scheduled bet-∞ ween 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each session (the second Session will be held on Wednesday) a $15 registration fee is required. o Call the Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

Tuesday, February 24 Free workshops on the use of colors in decorating your home will be presented at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday, February 24. Scheduled in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building, programs will begin at 1:30 and at 7 p.m. □Dawn Trivett of the Clayton County Extension Service will conduct the free two-hour workshops and advanced registration is not required.

> Wednesday, February 25 The Clayton Junior College Band and piano students at the twoyear institution will be presented in concert on Wednesday, February 25, beginning at 10 a.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). The public is invited.

mitted to enter the testing center after 6 p.m. on Thursday and 10 a.m. on Saturday, and a $9.25 testing fee is payable prior to entering the center.

Both SAT administrtions will be given in Room G-132 of the two-story Classroom Building.

For complete information about the SAT and other admission requirements, call the Office of Admissions and Records (961-3500) or the Office of Counceling and Testing (961-3515). Taking the Scholastic Aptitude Test is a requirement for entering credit programs at Clayton Junior College.

THE CLAYTON SUN 2/19/81 Tickets Available For 'Oklahoma'

Free tickets for the number of seats available Clayton Junior College for each performance, Choir's six scheduled perfortickets will be required. mances of "Oklahoma" will be available from the Office has been assembled by CJC

Feb. 23. March (Thursday, Friday Saturdays. and Saturday evenings,

A 31-member student cast of Student Services, beginn- Choir Director Dr. Larry B. ing at 8:30 a.m. on Monday, Corse, for the production. Sponsored by Lyceum, per-Presentations of the pop- formances will begin at 8:30 ular musical are scheduled p.m. each Thursday and at for consecutive weekends in 8 p.m. on Fridays and

To reserve tickets, call the March 5-6-7 and 12-13-14). Office of Student Services All productions will be free, (961-3510) during regular ofbut because of the limited fice hours.

CJC To Administer SAT Exams Next Week

Clayton Junior College No one will be permitted has scheduled two ad- to enter the testing center ministrations of the after 6 p.m. on Thursday Scholastic Aptitude Test and 10 a.m. on Saturday, (SAT) next week.

who have not taken the test center. more than once in the Inthe SAT on Thursday evening, March 5, or Saturday morning, March 7. Thursday's administration will begin at 6 p.m. and the special Saturday morning testing will begin at 10 a.m. It is not necessary to sign up in advance, but participants should plan to be scheduled starting time.

and a $9.25 testing fee is Applicants to the College payable prior to entering the

Both SAT administrastitutional Admissions tions will be given in Room G-132 of the two-story Classroom Building.

For complete information about the SAT and other admission requirements, call the Office of Admissions and Records (961-3500) or the Office of Counseling and Testing (961-3515). Taking the Scholastic Aptitude at the testing center at least Test is a requirement for 30 minutes prior to the entering credit programs at Clayton Junior College.

Business Program Slated At CJC

Area small business dition, participants will owners can learn more about learn how to develop their advertising, promotion and own ads and how to utilize public relations during a direct mail, newspapers, two-part program scheduled radio and television as at Clayton Junior College advertising media.

2 and 4. Three-hour sessions vices at 961-3550. will begin at 6:30 p.m. each entire program.

ing strategy for small County Chamber of Com-businesses will be merce and the Small thoroughly discussed. In ad- Business Administration.

next week. For more information "Effective advertising about the program, call the and promotion for the small College's Small Business business" is the topic of a Development Center at 961program, scheduled Mon- 3414. To register, call the day and Wednesday, March Office of Community Ser-

The program, another in a evening and a $15 registra- continuing small business tion fee covers the cost of the management series, is cosponsored by the College Promotional and advertis- along with the Clayton

NEWS/DAILY March 5, 1981 Thursday

THE CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE CHOIR will give the first of six performances of "Oklahoma" during an 8:30 p.m. presentation in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Thursday, March 5. Free tickets for the musical are available from the Office of Student Services (phone 961-3510). Performances will continue on Friday and Saturday, March 6 and 7, and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 12-13-14.

POINTE SOUTH JR. HIGH SKATING PARTY Thursday, March 5 at Tara Skating Rink from 6:30-9:30 p.m. For Pointe South students. Cash drawing to be held for those who skate. Admission and skating fees.

Friday

SECOND OF SIX PERFORMANCES OF "OKLAHOMA" to be presented Friday, March 6 at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow by Clayton Jr. College Choir, at 8 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Free tickets available at Office of Student Services (361-3510). Performances continue Saturday, March 7; and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 12,

CJC to Administer SAT

Clayton Junior College scheduled starting time. has scheduled two ad-Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) next week.

who have not taken the test more tham once in the Institutional Admissions Testing Program may take the SAT on Thursday evening, Mar. 5, or Saturday morning, Mar. 7. Thursday's administration will begin at 6 p.m. and the special Saturday morning testing will begin at 10 a.m. It is not necessary to sign up in advance, but participants should plan to be at the testing center at least 30 minutes prior to the sroom Building.

For complete information No one will be permitted about the SAT and other ministrations of the to enter the testing center admission requirements, after 6 p.m. on Thursday call the Office of Admissions and 10 a.m. on Saturday, and Records (961-3500) or Applicants to the College and a $9.25 fee is payable the Office of Counseling and prior to entering the center. Testing (961-3515). Taking Both SAT administra- the Scholastic Aptitude tions will be given in Room Test is a requirement for G-132 of the two-story Clas- entering credit programs at Clayton Junior College.

THE FAYETTE SUN 3/12/81 CJC Final Exams Set

Winter quarter credit scheduled for Thursday, Junior College this week.

Classes for the quarter, which began in early January, will end on Monday, March 16, and finals are scheduled Tuesday through Friday. The College enrolled 2,707 students in the Winter Quarter, an increase of 39 over the same quarter a year ago.

Students enrolled in credit programs will have less than a week to enjoy their "spring break." Advisement and Registration for the Spring Quarter is classes will end and final ex- March 26, and classes will aminations begin at Clayton begin the following day.

Atlanta Pollster Claiborne Darden Gives a Guided Tour of Current Politics at CJC

By CHARLIE SMITH

Scattering witticisms and pronouncements like bird seed, Atlanta pollster Claiborne Darden Tuesday night proved that opinion surveyors can have as many opinions as the people they survey.

Speaking before a small audience at Clayton Junior College, Darden, with humor and more than a little acid, guided his listeners: through the events of last year's presidential campaign and Georgia senatorial race.

Darden, listed by U.S. News and World Report as one of six leading pollsters in the country, is founder and president of Darden Research Corporation, an opinion survey organization specializing in marketing research, usually for large corporate clients.

ACCORDING to the Washington and Lee and Emory University-educated pollster, 'Any fool can conduct a poll and many of Decidedly nobody's fool, Darden knows where the fools hang out. The outcome of the 1980 presidential election was clear two months before the voting took place, he said. Sen. Ted Kennedy was a "big baby brat."

Rep. John Anderson "not only had a good time, he didn't behave himself," in the campaign, he said. Sen. Mack Mattingly "won by default" and either Norman Underwood or Dawson accepting mediocrity as a goal, he said. And, anyone who runs a clean campaign will be a loser, he said. DARDEN COMPARED Carter's defeat

Mathis could have won the Senate race if one of them had agreed to drop out—a course of action suggested, according to Darden, by

The American public has degenerated into pointing out that Carter received only 49 electoral votes to Hoover's 59. However, Darden did not pin the defeat to a conservative revival. "There is not a conservative revival," he said, "there is a change that leads to a conservative revival.

to Herbert Hoover's in 1932. "You have to realize how huge the defeat was," he said,

The change, or at least the catalyst that led to it, was Carter's apparent ineptness as president and his personal attacks against Ronald Reagan during the campaign, he

"Carter had no record to run on," Darden said. "When that's the case you run against your opponent—that's why the campaign became nasty. Carter (stayed nasty) until he caught up in the polls, but he kept on until it backfired on him. People thought (the nastiness) was the real Jimmy Carter.' Darden wouldn't speculate on how long the conservative shift in politics would last. "It may last four years, or it may last 15 or 20," he said.

ENLARGING HIS SCOPE, he declared that the American public "has been weaned from free enterprise," and, with the advent of the Reagan administration, "the ones who don't want to work are getting scared.

"People are reaching toward mediocrity and not achieving it," he said. "When you have your profit protected and you have auto workers making $17.50 an hour to screw a nut on a bolt, you do very little toward in-

The solution, according to Darden, is to 'work smarter.'

"We have to get rid of union work restrictions and put in management that knows how to manage," he said.

"We're heading for a very long readjustment, if not a small collapse," he said.

Pollster

NEWS/DAILY February 25, 1981

Claibourne Darden Speaks At C.IC

By CINDY JERNIGAN

Feature Editor "Any fool can conduct a poll and many of them do. That's the problem."

Those are the words of nationally known pollster Claiborne H. Darden, Jr., president of the Atlantabased Darden Research Corporation.

Speaking before a group of students and faculty members at Clayton Junior College Monday night, Darden explained the polling process and took a look back at public opinion during the 1980 elections.

According to Darden, who is listed as one of the six leading pollsters in the nation by "U.S. News and World Report", there are only two types of reliable public opinion polls - those conducted door-to-door and conducted telephone.

aren't accurate because only those who return the door-to-door are reliable," questionnaires make their opinions known and the return rate is geared toward members of the upper middle class who have the time and motivation to answer the questions. Street polls, according to the pollster, are at best only representative of the particular place and time money?

they are taken. Like mail-in polls, call-in surveys taken by radio and television stations ignore segments of the population who have opinions, but for various reasons fail to make those opinions known.

Mail-in and call-in polls can also be "loaded", according to Darden. For example, one person can call-in more than one time or send in more than one response form.

"If they are done Darden says mail-in polls correctly, surveys done by a late 1979.

pollster over the telephone or Durden said.

According to the pollster, public opinion surveys are quite expensive. A moderate poll, with few questions for example, would cost a political candidate about

Why spend that much

Darden says it pays for candidates to know how the public feels about particular

"After a poll, a candidate knows better how to develop a strategy and direction," he

Edward Kennedy failed to tune in to public opinion before he attacked President allow the Shah of Iran to come to the United States in

"Ted was doing great until he started to campaign," states the pollster.

Darden says Jimmy Carter never had a record to run on, so he had to attack Ronald Reagan in the closing days of the campaign to gain strength in the polls.

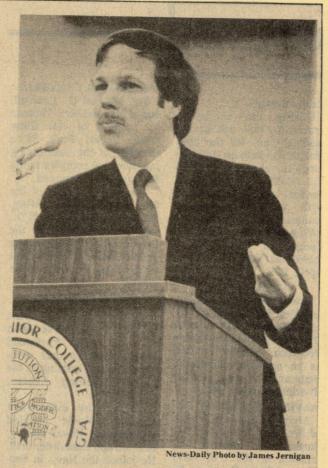

"The problem was that Carter didn't quit attacking soon enough," he says. "He at first went up in the polls and then lost ground."

Darden says politics is an emotional business and politicians seldom base their promises on truth.

"Politics is not clean," he says. "It is emotional and you have to play to that emotion. The person who Darden says Senator runs a clean campaign will wind up a loser.

Darden cannot predict how long the conservative trend Jimmy Carter's decision to displayed in the last election

"Nothing is absolute in this business," he says.

POLLSTER CLAIBOURNE DARDEN Addresses CJC Faculty, Students

NEWS/DAILY

March 20, 1981 Friday

CLAYTON COMMUNITY BAND AND CHORUS to present a free concert Friday March 20 at 8 p.m. in room G-132 at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow. Co-sponsored by CJC Office of Community Services. Sousa marches. "Grand March" from Aida, "Overture" to "Marriages of Figaro," selections from "Oklahoma." Aaron Copland's "In The Beginning" and Johannes Brahm's "Lovesong Waltzes".

Thursday

REGISTRATION FOR SPRING QUARTER credit classes will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, March 26, and classes for the 11-week quarter will begin on Friday. Students enrolling in college courses for the first time must report to an orientation session in Room G-132, either at 10 a.m. or 6 p.m. All other students should obtain registration materials from the Office of Admissions and Records prior to registering. All students may register between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., or between 5:30 and 8:30 p.m. in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building. For complete information, call the Office of Admissions and Records at 961-3500 or visit the office in the Administration

THE CLAYTON COUNTY UNITED WAY ADVISORY COMMITTEE will meet Thursday, March 26, 1981, at 4:00 p.m. on the campus of Clayton Junior College in Room L-200

Thursday, March 5. Free tickets for the musical are available from the Office of Student Services (phone 961-3510). Performances will continue on Friday and Saturday,

NEWS/DAILY

Harch 3, 1981

Tuesday A TUESDAY EVENING DRESS REHEARSAL for the Clayton Junior College Choir's upcoming production of 'Oklahoma" has been opened to the public, according to Seats for Tuesday's rehearsal, scheduled at 8:30 p.m., will be available on a first-come first-seated basis.

Although free tickets have been issued for the six scheduled performances, tickets will not be distributed for the dress

The Choir's production of the popular musical will be given on consecutive Thursday-Friday-Saturday evenings,

March 5-6-7 and 12-13-14. No seats remain for any of the performances, scheduled at 8:30 p.m. each Thursday and at 8

Wednesday

THE CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE CHOIR will be presented in a 10 a.m. performance in the Lecture Hall

(Room G-132) on Wednesday, March 4. The public is invited

"POLITICS IN EL SALVADOR" will be the topic of a lecture scheduled at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday

Dr. Juan del Aguila, an Assistant Professor of Political Science at Emory University, will be featured during a 10 a.m. presentation in Room B-15 of the Round Building.

Sponsored by the College Political Union and Lyceum, the

Thursday

THE CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE CHOIR will give the first of six performances of "Oklahoma" during an 8:30 p.m. presentation in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on March 6 and 7, and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday lecture will be free and open to the public.

March 12-13-14.

Dr. Larry Corse, performance director.

p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays.

Friday SECOND OF SIX PERFORMANCES OF "OKLAHOMA" to be presented Friday, March 6 at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow by Clayton Jr. College Choir, at 8 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Free tickets available at Office of Student Services (361-3510). Performances continue Saturday, March 7; and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 12,

Saturday

FELLOWSHIP OF CHRISTIAN ATHLETES banquet at Morrow Sr. High Saturday, March 7, to feature former Atlanta Falcon linebacker Greg Brezina. Begins at 7 p.m. Call 961-5769 for tickets. Admission $3 each.

THE CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE CHOIR will give the third of six performances of "Oklahoma" during an 8 p.m. presentation in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Saturday, March 7. Free tickets for the musical are available from the Office of Student Services (phone 961-3510) Performances will continue on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 12-13-14.

A WORKSHOP ON "HOW TO APPLY FOR AN SBA LOAN" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Saturday, March 7. Scheduled between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., a $17 registration fee includes the cost of lunch. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

Monday

A FOUR-PART PROGRAM ON "BASIC ACCOUNTING" FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS begins on Monday, March 9, at Clayton Junior College. Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each Monday and Wednesday for two weeks, a $30 registration fee covers the cost of all four sessions. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

NEWS/DAILY

March 1, 1981 Monday

CLAYTON COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION to meet Monday, March 2 at 7:30 p.m. in school system offices on Smith St. in Jonesboro. Public invited.

RIVERDALE CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, March 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the City Hall. Public invited.

FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, March 2 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall. Public invited.

EFFECTIVE ADVERTISING AND PROMOTION for Small Business, first of two-part program at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow, Monday, March 2 at 6:30 p.m. Second session Wednesday, March 4. Each three hours in length. $15 fee. Call CJC Office of Community Services at 961-3550

Wednesday

THE CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE CHOIR will be presented in a 10 a.m. performance in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Wednesday, March 4. The public is invited free of charge.

Thursday

THE CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE CHOIR will give the first of six performances of "Oklahoma" during an 8:30 p.m. presentation in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Thursday, March 5. Free tickets for the musical are available from the Office of Student Services (phone 961-3510). Performances will continue on Friday and Saturday, March 6 and 7, and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 12-13-14.

POINTE SOUTH JR. HIGH SKATING PARTY Thursday, March 5 at Tara Skating Rink from 6:30-9:30 p.m. For Pointe South students. Cash drawing to be held for those who skate. Admission and skating fees.

Friday

SECOND OF SIX PERFORMANCES OF "OKLAHOMA" to be presented Friday, March 6 at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow by Clayton Jr. College Choir, at 8 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Free tickets available at Office of Student Services (361-3510). Performances continue Saturday, March 7; and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 12,

THE CLAYTON SUN 4/9/81 Natural Foods Talk Slated

A two-part program on sent a practical and tasty "eating naturally" will be approach and use of natural offered at Clayton Junior foods. Participants will ing April 16.

Offered through the recipes. College's Office of Com- To register, or to obtain

College on consecutive learn how to choose, use, Thursday evenings, beginn- and enjoy eating naturally, as well as to taste-test munity Services, programs more information, call the are scheduled between 7 and Office of Community Ser-9 p.m. A $16 registration fee vices (961-3550), located in the Administration Building Program instructor on the Clayton Junior Snirley Watterson will pre- College campus.

South Metro Entertainment

'Oklahoma' Will Open

Junior College's production homa. of Oklahoma will be available from the office of student services beginning at 8:30 a.m. next Monday.

The musical will be presented on March 5 through 7 and March 12 through 14. Tickets are free, but be- will be used as a prop in the entertainment-seekers must obtain them. The cast, under the director of college choir director Dr. Larry Corse, contains 31

To reserve tickets for the performances, persons can call 961-3510.

students

G-132.

A free band concert and piano ensemble is scheduled at Clayton Junior College next Wednesday morning. The band, directed by Bill Gore, and a number of piano students will perform ae 10 a.m. in lecture hall room

Southlake Mall will host a Creative Vacationing Show Feb. 26 through March 1.

Exhibitors throughout the southeast will be featured. Resorts, recreation vehicles, tennis and golf clinics, and a multiple of other activities will be included. Southlake will be co-sponsoring the show with Brown's Guide to Georgia. The theme is to show how to "make the most of your vacation while saving time, money, and gas.'

Shoppers will be able to browse through displays and make plans for their next trip—all under one roof. For more information persons can contact Greg at 961-1050. A surrey is needed for the Clayton Junior College up-

Marshall or Melinda Keller

Free tickets to Clayton coming production of "Okla- se at 961-3420.

"We would like to borrow an antique surrey, preferably one with fringe around the top," said Dr. Larry Corse, the college's choir

The horse-drawn carriage cause of limited seating, classic musical.

Persons who would like to annual Agnes Scott College Fayette County areas is lend the surrey can call Cor- Foreign Language Drama sought.

members will be presented in the drama production of "Tartuffe" during three per-

The story of an accomplished rogue, "Tartuffe" or "The Imposter" will

January, will end on Mon-

formances this week.

sical are slated for March 5 ented in the M.D. Collins through 7 and from March 12 Little Theatre on the 26th tertainers in the South

Presentations of the mu-

M.D. Collins High School French Department students will present a two-act comedy "O Aux Galeries > charge is 25 cents. The play will be pres- Neighbor Newspapers

At Clayton Junior College

be presented at 8:30 p.m. on production will be available mother. The merchant is so the winter quarter, an in-

Students enrolled in credit programs will have less than a week to enjoy their spring break. Advisement and Registration for the spring quarter is scheduled for Thursday,

March 26, and classes will begin the following day.

Clayton Junior College p.m. on Friday and Saturbasis each evening. students and faculty day evenings, Feb. 20 and

Thursday, Feb. 19; and at 8 on a first-come, first-served

CJC Posts Schedule

For End of Quarter

Winter Quarter credit day, March 16, and finals

classes will end and final ex- are scheduled Tuesday

aminations will begin at through Friday. The College

Clayton Junior College next enrolled 2,707 students in Classes for the quarter, crease of 39 over the same which began in early quarter a year ago.

THE CLAYTON SUN March 12, 1981

LaFayette" at 9 a.m. Feb.

Competition the previous

The production is directed by Carole Saunders, M.D. Collins Language Department Chairperson. Student Gina Thomas is the assistant director.

The public is invited. The Entertainment news is sought for the South Metro Tartuffe, a hypocrite who specializes in fake stan-

incensed by the opposition to Tartuffe that he decides to give him his daughter in marriage, and the household

Student performers will include Ellen Kissel of Riverdale, Michelle Hagist

White, of Morrow, Tommy

Morfoot, of Jonesboro,

Betsy Thompson, of Riverdale, Jeff Pike, of Forest'

Park, David Deering, of

Jonesboro, and Cora Dun-

Dr. Jean Jones, director of counseling and testing, will appear in the production

along with drama director

Dr. Pat Collins, assistant professor of English. Sets, lighting, and makeup will be bar, of Peachtree City.

is inflamed further.

All performances will be dards, finds a perfect target

free and will be staged in the in a wealthy merchant dur-

College's Lecture Hall ing the production. His (Room G-132). Seating for behavior outrages everyone

the Lyceum-sponsored except the merchant's

News about events or enafter being entered in the Fulton, Clayton, Henry and Tartuffe' Debuts Tonight ask questions.

cile bank accounts.

Clayton Junior Offers Small Business Programs

College during the next two sessons.

four-part program on "basic accounting" will begin on Monday, Mar. 9.

Saturday's program, stitution.

day's "SBA loan" workshop is $17 and the cost of lunch is included. The "basic accounting" workshop is scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each Monday and

Two separate programs Wednesday during the next co-sponsored by the College designed to help the small two weeks (March 9-10 and along with the Clayton business owner will be con- 16-18). A $30 registration fee County Chamber of Comducted at Clayton Junior covers the cost of all four merce and the Small To register for either or

An all-day workshop on both programs, call the "how to apply for an SBA College's Office of Comloan" will be conducted on munity Services at 961-Saturday, Mar. 7, and a 3550. For more information, contact the Small Business Development Center (961-3414) at the two-year in-scheduled between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., will introduce in the quarterly series are procedures required in applying for SBA loans, both direct and guaranteed. Application forms will be explained and participants will have an opportunity to Basic procedures for the recording of accounting transactions will be explained in the four-part program beginning Monday. The course includes a summary of federal and state tax reporting requirements, and also gives a brief explanation of how to recon-

NEWS/DAILY

Registration for Satur-

These and other programs

February 27, 1981 Monday

Business Administration.

Monday, March 2 at 7:30 p.m. in school system offices on Smith St. in Jonesboro. Public invited. RIVERDALE CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, March 2

CLAYTON COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION to meet at 7:30 p.m. in the City Hall. Public invited. FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, March 2 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall. Public invited.

EFFECTIVE ADVERTISING AND PROMOTION for Small Business, first of two-part program at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow, Monday, March 2 at 6:30 p.m. Second session Wednesday, March 4. Each three hours in length. $15 fee. Call CJC Office of Community Services at 961-3550

Wednesday

THE CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE CHOIR will be presented in a 10 a.m. performance in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Wednesday, March 4. The public is invited free of charge.

Thursday

THE CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE CHOIR will give the first of six performances of "Oklahoma" during an 8:30 p.m. presentation in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Thursday, March 5. Free tickets for the musical are available from the Office of Student Services (phone 961-3510). Performances will continue on Friday and Saturday, March 6 and 7, and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 12-13-14.

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR Business Owner Courses Slated

Two separate programs designed to help the small South Metro business owner will be conducted at Clayton Junior College during the next two weeks.

An all-day workshop on "how to apply for a SBA loan" will be conducted on Saturday and a four-part program on "basic accounting" will begin the following Monday.

Saturday's program, scheduled between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., will introduce procedures required in applying for SBA loans. Application forms will be explained and participants will have an opportunity to ask questions.

Basic procedures for recording accounting transactions will be explained in the four-part program beginning Monday.

The course includes a summary of federal and state tax reporting requirements, and also gives a brief

explanation of how to reconcile bank

Registration for Saturday's "SBA loan" workshop is $17 and the cost of lunch is included The "basic accounting" workshop is scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each Monday and Wednesday during the next two weeks. A $30 registration fee covers the cost of all four sessions.

Office of Community Services at 961-3550 For more information, persons can contact the Small Business Development Center at 961-3414.

These and other programs in the quarterly series are co-sponsored by the College, along with the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration grams, persons can call the College's

CLOSE-UP PHOTOGRAPHY workshop, first of two parts, Saturday, April 4, from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College. Second program to follow on April 25. $22 registration fee includes cost of April 4 lunch. Call CJC

NEWS/DAILY

Tuesday A FREE PROGRAM DESIGNED FOR ADULTS who are considering to enter or re-enter college will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday, April 7. Scheduled at 7

Saturday

FOREST PARK CHAPTER NO. 1629 NARFE (National Association Retired Federal Employees) to meet Thursday, April 9 at 1:30 p.m. at Forest Park Recreation Center at Forest Parkway and Park Ave. Representative of workshop, Thursday, April 9 at Clayton Jr. College from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Designed for nurses, registration is required through Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Office of Community Services at 961-3550 for complete p.m., registration for the informational program must be made through the Office of Community Services (961-3550). Thursday

Atlanta Gas Light to present program. SUPERVISORY SKILLS FOR NURSES, all day

Monday March 2, 1981

CLAYTON COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION to meet Monday, March 2 at 7:30 p.m. in school system offices on Smith St. in Jonesboro. Public invited.

RIVERDALE CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, March 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the City Hall. Public invited.

FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, March 2 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall. Public invited.

EFFECTIVE ADVERTISING AND PROMOTION for Small Business, first of two-part program at Clayton Jr College in Morrow, Monday. March 2 at 6:30 p.m. Second session Wednesday, March 4. Each three hours in length. $15 fee. Call CJC Office of Community Services at 961-3550

Wednesday

THE CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE CHOIR will be presented in a 10 a.m. performance in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Wednesday, March 4. The public is invited free of charge.

Thursday

THE CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE CHOIR will give the first of six performances of "Oklahoma" during an 8:30 p.m. presentation in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Thursday, March 5. Free tickets for the musical are available from the Office of Student Services (phone 961-3519). Performances will continue on Friday and Saturday, March 6 and 7, and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, POINTE SOUTH JR. HIGH SKATING PARTY Thursday, March 5 at Tara Skating Rink from 6:30-9:30 p.m. For Pointe South students. Cash drawing to be held for those who skate. Admission and skating fees.

Friday

SECOND OF SIX PERFORMANCES OF "OKLAHOMA" to be presented Friday, March 6 at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow by Clayton Jr. College Choir, at 8 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Free tickets available at Office of Student Services (361-3510). Performances continue Saturday, March 7; and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 12,

Curtain To Lift For 'Oklahoma'

presented by the Clayton Junior College Choir this week. Scheduled on consecutive Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, March 5-6-7 and 12-13-14, all seats for the popular musical have been reserved in advance.

A number of the local college's students and faculty members will be involved in the productions. Dr. Larry Corse, Associate Professor of English and choir director, will direct the performance. Students included in the cast of characters are Sheryl Skipper, Jeff Pike, Connie Wiggins, and Tim Christian, all of Forest Park; Bert Lyons, Debbie Williams, Brent Yeargin, and Mary Beth Tilghman, all of Jonesboro; Paul Robert Gay, Michele Hagist White, and Jim Hammock, all of Morrow; Bill Emeott and Tammy Denise Hoffman of College Park; Julie Rogers of Fayetteville; David G. Shedd of Fairburn; Sharon Jackson or Stockbridge; Jeff Hicks of Lake City; and David Ellis and Jimmy Scott.

Singers and dancers in the cast will be Brenda Brown, Lori Cawthon, Donna Hattaway, Ruth Jackson, Cindy Lambert, Tina Loner, Beth McElhannon, Anna

Smalley, Tom Walker, Tammy Wells and Corinne Wong. Ballet performers will be Sherri Price, Sharon Jackson, Beth McElhannon, Tammy Wells, Connie Wigs, Michele White, Tim Christina, Jim Hammock, Tom Walker, Tina Worth, Brenda Brown, Donna Hattaway and Tammy Hoffman.

The orchestra will include faculty members Bill Gore and Doris Holloway along with students George Henderson, Lynda Daugherty, Denise Daugherty, Frank Vardaros, Mike Wells, Bill Williams, Mark Dubuisson. Daniel Ivester, Danny Brackett, Cindy Langham and Mark Parham.

The major performance of the Clayton Junior College Choir this year, showtimes each Thursday will be at 8:30 p.m. while Friday and Saturday productions will begin at 8 p.m.

Co-sponsored by the Division of Humanities and Lyceum free tickets for all six productions were distributed through the Office of Student Services almost two weeks prior to the first performance.

NEWS/DAILY

Friday March 6, 1981

SECOND OF SIX PERFORMANCES OF "OKLAHOMA" to be presented Friday, March 6 at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow by Clayton Jr. College Choir, at 8 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Free tickets available at Office of Student Services (361-3510). Performances continue Saturday, March 7; and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 12, 13, and 14.

Saturday

THE CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE CHOIR will give the third of six performances of "Oklahoma" during an 8 p.m. presentation in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Saturday, March 7. Free tickets for the musical are available from the Office of Student Services (phone 961-3510) Performances will continue on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 12-13-14.

A WORKSHOP ON "HOW TO APPLY FOR AN SBA LOAN" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Saturday, March 7. Scheduled between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., a $17 registration fee includes the cost of lunch. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register. Monday

A FOUR-PART PROGRAM ON "BASIC ACCOUNTING" FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS begins on Monday, March 9, at Clayton Junior College. Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each Monday and Wednesday for two weeks, a $30 registration fee covers the cost of all four sessions. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550)

for complete information. THE ZONING BOARD OF CLAYTON COUNTY will hold its monthly meeting Monday, March 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the commissioners' chambers at the county administration building in Jonesboro. THE JONESBORO CITY COUNCIL will meet Monday March 9 at 7:30 p.m. for its regular monthly meeting at City Hall. The public is invited to attend.

Tuesday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE MUSIC STUDENTS will be presented in an 8:30 p.m. recital on Tuesday, March 10. Scheduled in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132), the public is

'Oklahoma!' This Weekend At Clayton Junior College

musical play Oklahoma will be presented by the Clayton Junior College Choir this week, scheduled on consecutive Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, March 5-6-7 and 12-13-14. All seats for the popular musical have been reserved

A number of CJC stu- and Jimmy Scott. dents and faculty members

STUDENTS included in Wong the cast of characters are: Connie Wiggins, and Tim Jackson, Beth McElhannon, Winter Quarter credit classes will end and

final examinations will begin at Clayton Junior College next week.

Classes for the quarter, which began in early January, will end on Monday, March 16,

and finals are scheduled Tuesday through Friday. The College enrolled 2,707 students in the Winter Quarter,

the same quarter a

Students enrolled in credit programs will have less than a week to enjoy their "spring break." Advisement and Registration for the Spring Quarter is scheduled for Thursday, March 26, and classes will begin the

Thursday

REGISTRATION FOR SPRING QUARTER credit

classes will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, March 26, and classes for the 11-week quarter

will begin on Friday. Students enrolling in college courses for the first time must report to an orientation session in

Room G-132, either at 10 a.m. or 6 p.m. All other students should obtain registration materials from the Office of Admissions and Records prior to registering. All students may register between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., or between 5:30 and 8:30 p.m. in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building.

For complete information, call the Office of Admissions and Records at 961-3500 or visit the office in the Administration

THE CLAYTON COUNTY UNITED WAY ADVISORY

COMMITTEE will meet Thursday, March 26, 1981, at 4:00 p.m. on the campus of Clayton Junior College in Room L-200

Friday

SPRING QUARTER CLASSES BEGIN Friday, March 27

at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow. Will continue through

June 4. Final exams June 5-10. Annual graduation exercises

Saturday

THE CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE CHOIR will give the third of six performances of "Oklahoma" during an 8 p.m.

presentation in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Saturday, March 7. Free tickets for the musical are available from the Office of Student Services (phone 961-3510) Performances will continue on Thursday, Friday and Satur-

A WORKSHOP ON "HOW TO APPLY FOR AN SBA

LOAN" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Saturday, March 7. Scheduled between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., a $17 registration fee includes the cost of lunch. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

Monday

A FOUR-PART PROGRAM ON "BASIC ACCOUNTING"

FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS begins on Monday,

March 9, at Clayton Junior College. Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each Monday and Wednesday for two weeks,

a $30 registration fee covers the cost of all four sessions.

Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550)

Tuesday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE MUSIC STUDENTS will be presented in an 8:30 p.m. recital on Tuesday, March 10.

Scheduled in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132), the public is

March 8, 1981

following day.

NEWS/DAILY

of the Library Building.

Saturday morning, June 13.

NEWS/DAILY

day, March 12-13-14.

for complete information.

an increase of 39 over year ago.

CJC Winds Down

Winter Quarter

White, and Jim Hammock, all of Morrow; Bill Emeott and Tammy Denise Hoffman of College Park; Julie Rogers of Fayetteville; David G. Shedd of Fairburn; Sharon Jackson of Stockbridge; Jeff Hicks of Lake City; and David Ellis

Singers and dancers in the will be involved in the cast will be Brenda Brown, productions. Dr. Larry Lori Cawthon, Donna Hat-Corse, associate professor of taway, Ruth Jackson, Cindy English and choir director, Lambert, Tina Loner, Beth will direct the performance. McElhannon, Anna Set in Indian Territory, which is now Oklahoma, Taminy Wells, and Corinne just after the turn of the

Ballet performers will be Sheryl Skipper, Jeff Pike, Sherri Price, Sharon Christian, all of Forest Park; Tammy Wells, Connie Bert Lyons, Debbie Wiggins, Michele White, Williams, Brent Yeargin, Tim Christina, Jim Ham-

March 23, 1981

THE ORCHESTRA will include CJC faculty members Bill Gore and Doris Holloway along with students George Henderson, Lynda Daugherty, Denise Daugherty, Frank Vardaros, performance. Mike Wells, Bill Williams, Mark Dubuisson, Daniel Invester, Danny Brackett, Cindy Langham, and Mark

Century, Oklahoma has become one of America's favorite musical plays.

The major performance of the Clayton Junior College Choir this year, showtimes

Business

slated

weeks

March 9.

workshops

Two seperate programs designed to help

the small business owner

will be conducted at

Clayton Junior College

during the next two

An all-day workshop on

"how to apply for a SBA loan" will be conducted on Saturday, March 7,

and a four-part program

on "basic accounting"

will begin on Monday,

Saturday's program,

scheduled between 10

a.m. and 3 p.m., will introduce procedures required in applying for

SBA loans, both direct and guaranteed. Application forms will be explained and participants will have an opportunity to ask ques-

Basic procedures for the recording of accounting transactions will be explained in the four-part program beginning Monday. The course includes a summary of federal and state tax reporting requirements, and also gives a brief explanation of how to reconcile bank accounts.

sessions.

Administration.

Performances of the and Mary Beth Tilghman, mock, Tom Walker, Tina each Thursday will begin at all of Jonesboro; Paul Worth, Brenda Brown, Don- 8:30 p.m. while Friday and Robert Gay, Michele Hagist na Hattaway, and Tammy Saturday productions will begin at 8 p.m. Co-sponsored by the Division of Humanities and Lyceum, free tickets for all six productions were distributed through the Office of Student Services almost two weeks prior to the first

College schedules events

Events scheduled at Clayton Junior College March 2-7, 1981:

MONDAY, MARCH 2 The opening session in a two-part program on "effective advertising and promotion for the small business" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Monday, March 2. The second session is set for Wednesday, March 4. Threehour sessions will begin at 6:30 p.m. each evening and a $15 registration fee covers the cost of the entire program. Call the Office of Community Ser-

Egter. WEDNESDAY,

MARCH 4 The Clayton Junior >College Choir will be opresented in a 10 a.m. performance in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Wednesday, March 4. The public is invited free of charge.

THURSDAY, MARCH 5 The Clayton Junior College Choir will give the first of six performances of "Oklahoma" during an 8:30 p.m. presentation in the Lecture Hall (Room ∝ G-132) on Thursday, March 5. Free tickets for the musical are available # from the Office of Student -Services (phone 961-3510). Performances will continue on Friday and Saturday, March 6 and 7, and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 12-13-14.

Registration for Satur-FRIDAY, MARCH 6 day's "SBA loan" work-

The Clayton Junior shop is $17 and the cost of College Choir will give lunch is included. The the second of six per-"basic accounting" formances of "Oklaworkshop is scheduled homa" during an 8 p.m. between 6:30 and 9:30 presentation in the Lecp.m. each Monday and Hall (Room Wednesday during the G-132) on Friday, March next two weeks (March 6. Free tickets for the 9-10 and 16-18). A $30 musical are available registration fee covers from the Office of Student the cost of all four Services 961-3510). Performances To register for either or will continue on Saturboth programs, call the day, March 7, and on College's Office of Com-Thursday, Friday and munity Services at Saturday, March 12-13-14. 961-3550. For more information, call the Col-SATURDAY, MARCH 7 lege's Office of Com-The Clayton Junior munity Services at College Choir will give 961-3550. For more inthe third of six performation, contact the formances of "Okla-Small Business Develophoma" during an 8 p.m. ment Center (961-3414) at presentation in the Lecthe two-year institution. ture Hall (Room G-These and other pro-132) on Saturday, March grams in the quarterly 7. Free tickets for the series are co-sponsored musical are available by the College along with from the Office of Student Clayton County Services (phone Chamber of Commerce 961-3510). Performances and the Small Business day, Friday and Saturday, March 12-13-14.

March 22, 1981 NEWS/DAILY Thursday

REGISTRATION FOR SPRING QUARTER credit classes will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, March 26, and classes for the 11-week quarter will begin on Friday. Students enrolling in college courses for the first time must report to an orientation session in Room G-132, either at 10 a.m. or 6 p.m. All other students should obtain registration materials from the Office of Admissions and Records prior to registering. All students may register between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., or between 5:30 and 8:30 p.m. in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building. For complete information, call the Office of Admissions and Records at 961-3500 or visit the office in the Administration Building.

THE CLAYTON COUNTY UNITED WAY ADVISORY COMMITTEE will meet Thursday, March 26, 1981, at 4:00 p.m. on the campus of Clayton Junior College in Room L-200 of the Library Building.

Friday

SPRING QUARTER CLASSES BEGIN Friday, March 27 at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow. Will continue through June 4. Final exams June 5-10. Annual graduation exercises Saturday morning, June 13.

NEWS/DAILY March 5, 1981

Oklahoma!

Memorable songs by Rodgers and Hammerstein will be in the air this week and next as the Clayton Junior College Division of Humanities presents the musical, "Oklahoma." In the photo at left, Tina Worth puts on her makeup with the help of a mirror. In the bottom photo, David Shedd, "Curly", sings about his surrey with the fringe on top, while Julie Rogers, "Aunt Eller", listens. The play will be performed in the school's auditorium on March 5,6,7,12,13, and 14. See a closeup on the play and its players in the News/Daily Panorama this

News/Daily Photo by Russell Mobley

NEWS/DAILY

Oklahoma

Clayton Junior College Choir On Stage

Performances of the Williams, Brent Yeargin, musical play "Oklahoma" will be presented by the consecutive Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, March 5-6-7 and 12-13-14, and all seats for the of Fayetteville; David G. popular musical have been reserved in advance. Grow the Lilacs" by Lynn David Ellis and Jimmy Riggs, and number of CJC Scott. students and faculty members will be involved in the productions. Dr. Larry Corse, Associate Professor of English and Choir Director, will direct the performance.

Students included in the cast of characters are: Sheryl Skipper, Jeff Pike. Christian, all of Forest Sherri Price, Sharon Park; Bert Lyons, Debbie Jackson, Beth McElhannon, and Mary Beth Tilghman, all of Jonesboro; Paul Robert Clayton Junior College Choir Gay, Michele Hagist White, this week. Scheduled on and Jim Hammock, all of Morrow; Bill Emeott and Tammy Denise Hoffman of College Park; Julie Rogers Shedd of Fairburn; Sharon Jackson of Stockbridge; Jeff Based on the play "Green Hicks of Lake City; and

> Singers and dancers in the cast will be Brenda Brown, Lori Cawthon, Donna Hattaway, Ruth Jackson, Cindy Lambert, Tina Loner, Beth McElhannon, Anna Smalley, Tom Walker, Tammy Wells, and Corinne Wong.

Connie Wiggins, and Tim Ballet performers will be

Tammy Wells, Connie Wig-Christian, Jim Hammock, Tom Walker, Tina Worth, Brenda Brown, Donna Hata taway, and Tammy Hoff-

The orchestra will include CJC faculty members Bill Gore and Doris Holloway along with students George Henderson, Lynda Daugherty, Denise Daugherty, Frank Vardaros, Mike Wells, Bill Williams, Mark Dubuisson, Daniel Ivester, Danny Brackett, Cindy Langham, and Mark Parham.

Set in Indian Territory,

which is now Oklahoma, just gins, Michele White, Tim after the turn of Century, "Oklahoma" has become one of America's favorite musical plays.

> The major performance of the Clayton Junior College Choir this year, show times each Thursday will begin at 8:30 p.m. while Friday and Saturday productions will begin at 8 p.m.

Co-sponsored by the Division of Humanities and Lyceum, free tickets for all six productions were distributed through the Office of Student Services almost two weeks prior to the first performance.

News/Daily Photo by Russell Mobley

Grand Spectacle

In a scene from the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, "Oklahoma", Curly, right, portrayed by David Shedd, sings of the imaginary demise of Jud Fry, a hired hand.

Jud, left, played by Bert Lyons, contemplates what a grand spectacle his funeral would make. The play, performed by Clayton Junior College students, is being presented in the school's auditorium March 7, 12, 13, and 14.

Clayton College choir to present 'Oklahoma' musical play "Okla- "Green Grow the Lilacs" Thursday, Friday and ductions. Dr. Larry Tilghman, all of Jones-Saturday evenings, Corse, Associate Pro- boro; Paul Robert Gay, popular musical have rect the performance.

14, and all seats for the Choir Director, will di- and Jim Hammock, all of Brown, Lori Cawthon, Jim Hammock, Tom Williams, Mark Dubuis- mance of the Clayton Students included in the Tammy Denise Hoffman Jackson, Cindy Lambert, Brenda Brown, Donna Danny Brackett, Cindy year, show times each cast of characters are: of College Park; Julie Tina Loner, Beth McEl- Hattaway, and Tammy Langham, and Mark Thursday will begin at performance.

Performances of the Based on the play Sheryl Skipper, Jeff Pike, Rogers of Fayetteville; hannon, Anna Smalley, Hoffman. Connie Wiggins, and Tim David G. Shedd of Fair- Tom Walker, Tammy homa" will be presented by Lynn Riggs, a number Christian, all of Forest burn; Sharon Jackson of Wells, and Corrine Wong. by the Clayton Junior of CJC students and Park; Bert Lyons, Deb- Stockbridge; Jeff Hicks Ballet performers will College Choir this week. faculty members will be bie Williams, Brent of Lake City; and David be Sherri Price, Sharon Holloway along with stu-Scheduled on consecutive involved in the pro- Yeargin, and Mary Beth Ellis and Jimmy Scott.

Jackson, Beth McElhan-

The orchestra will include CJC faculty members Bill Gore and Doris just after the turn of the dents George Henderson, has become one of non, Tammy Wells, Con- Lynda Daugherty, Denise Singers and dancers in nie Wiggins, Michele Daugherty, Frank Var- cal plays. March 5-6-7 and 12-13- fessor of English and Michele Hagist White, the cast will be Brenda White, Tim Christian, daros, Mike Wells, Bill Morrow; Bill Emeott and Donna Hattaway, Ruth Walker, Tina Worth, son, Daniel Invester, Junior College Choir this Services almost two

The Clayton Junior

Set in Indian Territory,

America's favorite musi-

8:30 p.m. while Friday and Saturday productions will begin at 8 p.m.

Co-sponsored by the Division of Humanities and Lyceum, free tickets for all six productions were distributed through the Office of Student weeks prior to the first

THE HENRY HERALD

Events scheduled at Clayton Junior College

between March 7-14, (961-3550) to register.

SATURDAY, MARCH 7 A workshop on "how to College Choir will give "basic accounting" for apply for a SBA loan" the third of six perwill be conducted at formances of "Okla- begins on Monday, March Clayton Junior College on homa" during an 8 p.m. 9, at Clayton Junior Saturday, March 7. Sche- presentation in the Lec- College. Scheduled betduled between 10 a.m. ture Hall (Room G-132) ween 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. presented in an 8:30 p.m. and 3 p.m., a $17 on Saturday, March 7. All each Monday and Wed-

Events scheduled at College's Office of Com- performances, scheduled covers the cost of all four G-132) the public is Clayton Junior College munity Services March 12-13-14, have been

MONDAY, MARCH 9 A four-part program on small business owners sessions. Call the Col- invited. lege's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

TUESDAY, MARCH 10 Clayton Junior College music students will be recital on Tuesday, registration fee includes seats for this and the final nesday for two weeks, a March 10. Scheduled in

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 11

Clayton Junior College p.m. presentation in the music students will be presented in a 10 a.m. recital on Wednesday, March 11. Scheduled in the Lecture Hall (Room ceum-sponsored perfor-G-132), the public is invited.

the cost of lunch. Call the three Lyceum-sponsored $30 registration fee the Lecture Hall (Room THURSDAY, MARCH 12 13-14, have been re- Saturday, March 14, have served.

FRIDAY, MARCH 13

College Choir will give the fourth of six per-College Choir will give formances of "Oklahoma" during an 8:30 the fifth of six performances of "Okla Lecture Hall (Room homa" during an 8 p.m. G-132) on Thursday, presentation in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) March 12. All seats for this and remaining Lyon Friday, March 13. All seats for this and the final mances, scheduled Friday and Saturday, March formance, scheduled on formance have been re-been reserved.

The Clayton Junior SATURDAY, MARCH 14 The Clayton Junior College Choir will give its sixth performance of p.m. presentation in the 132) on Saturday, March 14. All seats for the Lyceum-sponsored per- Lyceum-sponsored perCLAYTON SUN 4/16/81 Clayton Jr. Plans Sunrise Service

The annual Easter Sun-rise Service will begin at 6 a.m. on the Clayton Junior College campus.

Co-sponsored by the Clayton County Ministerial Conference and the Forest Park Kiwanis Club, the annual ecumenical service will be attended by members of local church congregations and the general public.

The service will take place in front of the College's Library, overlooking the large lake on the campus. Flowering dogwoods and azaleas promise to provide a splendid setting for the early-morning event.

Members of the Clayton Community Band, directed by Dr. Ed Bridges, will provide music and the Rev. Leonard Quick, Pastor of the Second Baptist Church of Forest Park, will conduct the service.

weekend Panorama

news/daily March 8, 1981

CJC Band Sets Concert Friday

The Clayton Community "Lovesong Waltzes." Chorus and Band will present a concert open to the Stockbridge, and Bill public at Clayton Junior McLaughlin, from Fayet-College on Friday, March 20 teville, will be soloists. The at 8 p.m. in room G-132. Ed Bridges will direct the Beginning" by Aaron band in Sousa marches, Copland, one of the selections from foremost American com-"Oklahoma," and the Over-ture to "The Marriage of is Arolue Flemmen, of

The chorus, under the direction of Marti Slife, will feature Betty White and chorus and band in "The Ann Manuel, duo-pianists, Battle Hymn of the in Johannes Brahms' Republic

Elizabeth Jones, from chorus will also sing "In the

The finale will be the

NEWS/DAILY
At CJC Campus March 16, 1981

Clayton Band, Chorus Set Concert March 20

The Clayton Community "In the Beginning," and Band and Chorus will be in Johannes Brahms play Sousa marches, the Jones and Bill McLaughlin. selections "Oklahoma."

Marti Slife will direct the Flemmen. chorus in Aaron Copland's The concert is free concert Friday, March 20 at "Lovesong Waltzes." These 8 p.m. at Clayton Junior waltzes were written for College in Building G, Room piano duet and chorus and will feature Ann Manuel and The band, under the Betty White, duo-pianists. direction of Ed Bridges, will Soloists will be Elizabeth "Grand March" from Aida, "In the Beginning" is based the "Overtune" to The on the Genesis story of Marriage of Figaro, and creation and will feature a from slide show depicting the events. Soloist will be Arolue

NEWS/DAILY March 13, 1981

Cure-All

Sheryl Skipper has the responsibility of a lead role in Clayton Junior College's production of "Oklahoma." She plays Laurie who finds herself caught between two men struggling for her attention. In the photo at left, Laurie chokes on a powerful elixir bought from a peddler. In the bottom photo she sings while surrounded by the other Rodgers' and Hammerstein's musical will be performed Friday and Saturday in the school's auditorium. News/Daily Photos by Russell Mobley

BETTY WHITE, ANN MANUEL, DUO-PLANISTS Practice For Community Band, Chorus Concert

CJC Non-Credit Class Registration Begins

taking registration for sewing Spring Quarter non-credit calligraphy, photography, continuing education

Office of Community Services, more than 90 programs are scheduled during the quarter. Most classes are scheduled to layperson, communication registration, special office begin the week of March 30- in the family, coping professional field. Classes justment, and many others. are scheduled in real estate, Fly tying for the fisherbookkeeping and achand, typing, and others.

Courses in the "you and your home" section deal with seasonal topics like Quarter schedule is a conhome vegetable gardening, home landscaping and lawn business management courses, call 961-3550. Since maintenance, basic interior series" which is co-

Clayton Junior College is including stained glass art, Business Administration. shortcuts, macrame, five-string banjo, folk guitar, piano, and a

Programs listed under "personal growth" include locations. basic psychology for the creatively with stress and Included in the program of depression, basic math offerings are a number of review for adults, eating courses for the business and naturally, divorce ad-

computer programming, man is included under "sports and recreation" counting, business english along with aerobic dance, and letter writing, short- modern dance, jazz dance, karate, slimnastics, and are scheduled in the "arts, County Chamber of Com- completing nusic and leisure" section, merce, and the Small registration form.

Most classes offered through the Office of conducted on the college Coordinated through the class in understanding campus near Morrow, but a number of programs are also offered at off-campus

> To accommodate hours have been scheduled for the three-week period beginning March 16 and continuing through April 3. Office of Community Services will be open between 8 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. each and between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. each Friday during the

Also included in the Spring To reserve a place in one or more of the classes, or to tinuation of a "small obtain a complete listing of design, and food preser- sponsored with the College's enrollments, participants Small Business Develop- are encouraged to reserve a A wide variety of courses ment Center, the Clayton place by phone before

Programs To Aid Small Businessmen Set At C.JC

managers has been scheduled at Clayton Junior

Led by experts in the field, their small businesses.

Opening the series is an all-day program on "how to start a new business," scheduled on Saturday, March 28. A two-part program on "personal

A two-part program on "understanding the economy and how it affects small business" is scheduled for nine programs are planned. Tuesday and Thursday, Programs have been April 14 and 16, and sessions selected that will help on "the law and small owners and managers meet business" is planned for the challenges of operating consecutive Sunday afternoons, April 26 and May

> "how a friendly banker can Center at 961-3414. help small business" and during four sessions in May. Business Administration.

programs designed for small for Saturday, April 11, will to "broaden your horizons by ousiness owners and deal with "planning for exporting" is planned for Thursday, May 28, and first two weeks of June. of the programs, call the College's Office of Community Services at 961-3550. To obtain more information offerings, call the Small Three-hour programs on Business Development

All programs in the series "how to apply for an SBA are co-sponsored with the loan" are scheduled in late College by the Clayton management" is planned for April, and "basic ac- County Chamber of Monday and Wednesday, counting" will be offered Commerce and the Small

Another series offered small business owners

duled at Clayton Junior. equipment selection" are 961-3414. College during the Spring scheduled during the first Quarter.

Led by experts in the help owners and mana- 961-3550. To obtain more tration. gers meet the challenges of operating their small businesses.

Opening the series is an all-day program on "how to start a new business," scheduled on Saturday, March 28. A two-part program on "personnel management" is planned for Monday and Wednesday, March 30 and April 1, and another all-day session, set for Saturday, April 11, will deal with "planning for profits.

A two-part program on 'understanding the economy and how it affects small business" is scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday, April 14 and 16, and sessions on "the law and small business" is planned for consecutive Sunday afternoons, April 26 and May 3.

Three-hour programs on "how a friendly banker can help small business" and "how to apply for a SBA loan" are scheduled in late April, and "basic accounting" will be offered during four sessions in May.

A unique program on how to "broaden your horizons by exporting" is two weeks of June.

Another series of pro- planned for Thursday, information or a comgrams designed for small May 28, and programs on plete listing of offerings, business owners and "selling your product" call the Small Business managers has been sche- and "office design and Development Center at

All programs in the series are co-sponsored To register for one or with the College by the field, nine programs are more of the programs, Clayton County Chamber planned. Programs have call the College's Office of Commerce and the been selected that will of Community Services at Small Business Adminis-

March 19, 1981

CJC Plans Nine Small Business Programs

programs designed for small consecutive Sunday afterbusiness owners and noons, April 26 and May 3. managers has been Three-hour programs on scheduled at Clayton Junior "how friendly banker can College during the Spring help small business" and field, nine programs are April, and "basic accounplanned. Programs have ting" will be offered during been selected that will help four sessions in May.

scheduled on Saturday, and equipment selection' Mar. 28. A two-part are scheduled during the program on "personnel first two weeks of June. management" is planned for To register for one or more Monday and Wednesday, of the programs, call the Mar. 30 and April 1, and College's Office of Comanother all-day session, set munity Services at 961for Saturday, April 11, will 3550. To obtain more infor-

rofits." of offerings, call the Small
A two-part program on Business Development "understanding the Center at 961-3414. economy and how it affects All programs in the series small business" is scheduled are co-sponsored with the for Tuesday and Thursday, College by the Clayton April 14 and 16, and sessions County Chamber of Com-

Another series of business" is planned for "how to apply for an SBA Led by experts in the loan" are scheduled in late owners and managers meet A unique program on how the challenges of operating to "broaden your horizons their small businesses. by exporting" is planned for Opening the series is an Thursday, May 28, and all-day program on "how to programs on "selling your start a new business," product" and "office design

deal with "planning for mation or a complete listing on "the law and small merce and the Small Business Administration.

Oklahoma!

Photo Essay By Russell Mobley

Cowboys and cowgirls once again reign over turn of the century Oklahoma as the frontier life is celebrated in song through Rodgers' and Hammerstein's

The musical, currently being presented by the Clayton Junior College Division of Humanities, dazzles the audience with bright costumes, stirring music, and

The age old love triangle is the basis for this play, the characters are one dimensional, and the line is sharply drawn between the good guys and bad guys.

The students give a performance that presents all of the wit, comic situations and entertaining vocals of an original Rodgers and Hammerstein production. Clayton theatre goers are applauding the result.

> Above, Ali, played by Brent Yeargin, entices Ado, played by Debbie Williams, to run off with him. Left, Jud Fry, played by Bert Lyons, watches as Tina Worth does Jud and Curly, played by David Shedd, fight to the death during Laurie's

College registers for non-credit credit continuing educa- munity Center will be at the College Park City Department. co-sponsored with the Coordinated through the Office of Community Services, more than 90 programs are scheduled during the quarter. Most classes are scheduled to 30-April 3. Included in the program of offerings are a number of courses for the business and professional field. Classes are scheduled in real estate, computer programming, bookkeeping and accounting, business english and letter writing, shorthand, typing, and others.

begin the week of March

Courses in the "you and your home" section deal with seasonal topics like home vegetable gardening, home landscaping and lawn maintenance. basic interior design, and food preservation.

A wide variety of courses are scheduled in the "arts, music and leisure" section, including stained glass art, sewing shortcuts, calligraphy, photography, macrame, five - string banjo, folk guitar, piano, and a class in understanding opera.

Programs listed under 'personal growth' include basic psychology for the layperson, communication in the family, coping creatively with

Clayton Junior College Center, the Riverdale Clayton County Parks Auditorium will be cois taking registration for Community Center, and and Recreation Depart- sponsored with the Col-Spring Quarter non - the North Clayton Com- ment. A class scheduled lege Park Recreation

CLAYTON SUN 4/16

Bloodmobile

To be at CJC

The Atlanta Regional

Red Cross Blood Services

will dispatch a bloodmobile

unit to the Clayton Junior

The bloodmobile will be

College campus next week.

in operation Tuesday, April

21, between 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. on the upper level of the Student Center Building. Open to the general public as well as faculty, staff and students of the College, directions to the location will be appro-

priatly marked on the cam-

PACESETTER March, 1981

Small Business Series Planned At CJC

Another series of programs designed for small business owners and managers has been scheduled at Clayton Junior College during the Spring Quarter.

Led by experts in the field, nine programs are planned. Programs have been selected that will help owners and managers meet the challenges of operating their small businesses.

Opening the series is an all-day program on "how to start a new business,' scheduled on Saturday, March 28. A two-part program on "personnel management" is planned for Monday and Wednesday, March 30 and April 1, and another all day session, set for Saturday, April 11, will deal with 'planning for profits."

A two-part program on "understanding the economy and how it affects small business" is scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday, April 14 and 16, and sessions on "the law and small business" is planned for consecutive

Sunday afternoons, April 26

and May 3. Three-hour programs on 'how a friendly banker can help small business" and "how to apply for an SBA loan" are acheduled in late April, and "basic accounting" will be offered during four sessions in

A unique program on how to "broaden your horizons by exporting" is planned for Thursday, May 28, and programs on 'selling your product" and "office design and equipemtn selection" are scheduled during the first two weeks of June.

To register for one or more of the programs, call the College's Office of Community Services at 961-3550. To obtain more information or a complete listing of offerings, call the Small Business Development Center at 961-

All programs in the series are co-sponsored with the College by the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Ad-

'Death and Dying' Topic at Lecture vital and sensitive issue of pond to in small group disdeath and dying will be con- cussions.. Issues will deal ducted at Clayton Junior with subjects like death College on Tuesday evening, with dignity, the rights of sponsoring the forum on medical, legal and Who Defines Death?" will ministerial professions to be the Clayton County the dying person and his or Ministers Conference, the Clayton County Bar Association, and the Clayton-Fayette Medical Society.

Dr. Frederick Ferre, chairman of the Depart-Medical Society.

A special forum on the which the audience will resthe dying person, and the Joining the College in co-responsibilities of the her family.

Free and open to the public, the scheduled twoand-a-half-hour forum wil begin at 7 p.m. in Room D-200 of the Student Center ment of Philosophy and Building. The program will Religion at the University of be offered free because of Georgia, will be the keynote the financial assistance speaker for the program. He from the National Endowwill be joined by Dr. Lief ment for the Humanities Carter, a political scientist, through the Georgia Endowand Dr. Ferrol Sams, Jr., of ment for the Humanities.

the Clayton-Fayette For more information about the forum, call the The speakers will suggest College's Office of Comissues and raise questions munity Services (961-3550).

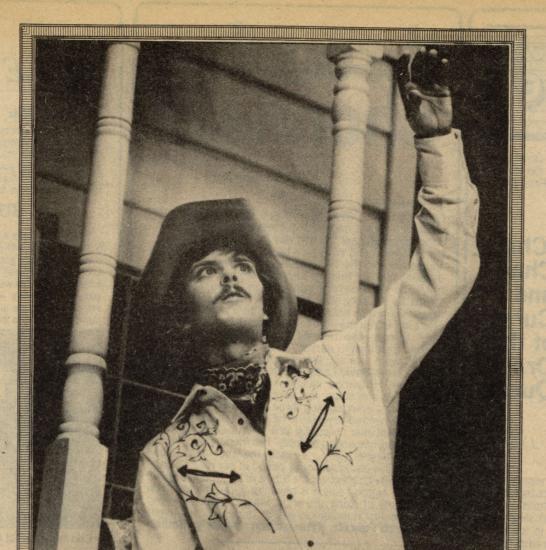

Adults Returning To College Classes

A free program designed for adults who are considering to enter or reenter college has been scheduled at Clayton Junior College next week.

An "adults back to college" seminar will be conducted on Tues., April 7, beginning at 7 p.m. Open to anyone Interested in learning more about college credit courses, the program will feature discussion by CJC counselors Dr. Jean Jones and Don Crapps.

The program will focus on the special challenges of organizing yourself for a return to college. Tips on how to gain the support of family and friends will be offered along with information on how to set goals. Each person's special concerns about their ability to succeed in the classroom also will be discussed.

To register for the free seminar, or to gain more information, call the college's Office of Community Services

Above, Will Parker, played by Paul Gay, describes the wonders of Kansas City in song. Below left, Ali, played by Brent Yeargin, tries to sell an elixir to Aunt Eller, player by Andrea Carnes. Below right, Ali is trapped into marrying Ado, played by Debbie Williams, thanks to Ado's father, played by Bill

CJC Plans to Begin Registration Thursday

Registration for Spring Quarter credit classes will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, March 26, and classes for the 11-week quarter will begin on Friday.

Students enrolling in college courses for the first time must report to an orientation session in Room G-132, p.m. All other students should obtain regis- ing.

literature series will be series.

shown at the two-year in-

"Walkabout," a 1971 film

starring Jenny Agutter, Lucien John and David Gumpilil, will be screened in the College's Lecture Hall

(Room G-132), beginning at 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday,

April 1. Free and open to the public, the film will be the stitution next week.

tration materials from the Office of Admissions and Records prior to registering.

All students may register between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., or between 5:30 and 8:30 p.m. in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building.

For complete information, call the Office of Admissions and Records at 961-3500 or either at 10 a.m. or 6 visit the office in the Administration Build-

'Walkabout' Screened Wednesday at CJC
HE CLAYTON SUN March 26, 1981

Another film screening in latest program in a series of For more information

dents (961-3510).

Friday

SPRING QUARTER CLASSES BEGIN Friday, March 27

at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow. Will continue through

June 4. Final exams June 5-10. Annual graduation exercises

Saturday

HOW TO START A NEW BUSINESS program, at Clayton

Jr. College, Saturday, March 28, all day from 9:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. $22 registration fee includes lunch. Call Office of Com-

Monday

PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT, first of two-part program, at Clayton Jr. College, Monday, March 30 and continuing Wednesday, April 1. $15 registration fee covers cost of both sessions. Call Office of Community Services at 961-3550

SPRING QUARTER NON-CREDIT CLASSES begin Mon-

day, March 30 at Clayton Jr. College. Most classes begin

this week, but registration will continue through Friday,

April 3. Call Office of Community Services at 961-3550 for in-

March 24, 1981

Clayton Junior College's lectures and screenings in about the screening, call the continuing film and the Lyceum-sponsored Office of the Dean of Stu-

NEWS/DAILY

Saturday morning, June 13.

munity Services at 961-3550 to register.

37 to enter Clayton Jr. festival

March 26, 1981 Art: Carl Rogers.

By TIM HARRIS GHS Newswriter Some 37 GHS students have created works of art and literature for the Ninth Annual Creative Arts Festival.

The festival is sponsored by the Clayton Junior College Humanities Division. It will be held April 9 on the campus.

Mrs. Margaret Weldon, head of Gifted Program at GHS, reported that 37 students from GHS have submitted entries in poetry, music, short stories, art, video, French essays, and Spanish dramas.

"I consider it (the festival) one of the most worthwhile things that my students participate in at school," Mrs. Weldon said.

The following students have entered projects in the various categories:

Poetry: Cindy Lane, Matt Jordan, Jay Collier, David Phillips. Julie Jones, Karen Martin, Lisa MacNamee, Ina Allison, Ginger Glass, Savanna Jackson.

Tracie Griffin, Chris Casey, John Davis, Lane Waldrop, Tony Stanley, Douglas Threatt, David Hunt, Gayle DeBenedittis, Dee Reynolds, and Mark Lummus.

Short Story: Kay Adams, Skrag Lee, Jeff Hattaway, Todd McBride, Shannon Terrell, Tim Harris, Mark Williams, and Jerry Crowe.

Bassoon Concert Planned

Clayton Junior College Band Director Bill Gore will be presented in a bassoon recital during a 10 a.m. performance on Wed., April

The Lyceum-sponsored performance, scheduled for the lecture hall (Room G-132) will be free and open to the public.

Music: Bobby Burns, David Rape, Karen Martin, and Matt Jordan. Video: Terry Goen, Wendell Johnston, David Hunt, Bob Easterling, Carl Rogers, Chris Cook, Steve Fulton, Bobby Burns, and Laen

August. French Essay: Savanna Jackson and Kay Adams.

Registration Ends Friday For CJC Non-Credit

Clayton Junior College is during the quarter. Most are scheduled in real estate, your home" section deal tinuing education classes. April 3.

taking registration for Spr- classes are scheduled to computer programming, with seasonal topics like ing Quarter non-credit con- begin the week of March 30- bookkeeping and ac-

Coordinated through the Included in the program and letter writing, maintenance, basic interior Office of Community Ser- of offerings are a number of shorthand, typing, and vices, more than 90 courses for the business and others. programs are scheduled professional field. Classes Courses in the "you and counting, business English

home vegetable gardening, home landscaping and lawn design, and food preserva-

To reserve a place in one or more of the classes, or to obtain a complete listing of courses, call 961-3550. Since most classes have limited enrollments, participants are encouraged to reserve a place by phone before completing their registration

Beat High Cost Of Living NEWS/DAILY March 27, 1981 With Two Extension Ideas

cost of living with your own garden and tips on how to prepare quick meals will be your own home" and a ninediscussed during two week class on "basic interior separate programs at Clayton Junior College next week.

"Home vegetable gardening" will be discussed by Clayton County Extension Agent Charles Tucker on consecutive Tuesday evenings, March 31 and April 7. Scheduled in Room B-15 of the Round Building on the Clayton Junior College campus, two-hour programs will begin at 7 p.m.

"Cooking for Can Openers" will be featured by Kathy Wages of the Clayton County Extension Service on Wednesday evening, April 1. Scheduled between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building, the free program will include tips on making your own convenience foods, moneysaving ideas, plus quick and easy recipes.

Coordinated through the College's Office of Community Services, registration is required for the free courses. However, two other programs dealing with "you and your home" ideas will

Workshop Planned

A three-hour workshop for real estate professionals will be conducted at Clayton Junior College next week.

Scheduled between 9 a.m. and noon on Thursco day, April 16, the program will highlight successful discussed, along with tips real estate selling in today's on basic accounting and market. Robert Dowling, president of Dowling Properties and a member of the Atlanta Board of Realtors Million Dollar Club, will lead the workshop.

Professionals in the real referrals that will increase income, motiviate the prosn pects to sign contracts, and to save time in qualifying buyers.

To register for the morning workshop, or to obtain complete information, call ш the Office of Community 王 Services (961-3550), located in the Administration Building on the Clayton Junior College campus.

A seven-week course on the "ins and outs of building design" will begin on Tues., March 31. Both classes are scheduled between 7 and 9

Anyone who plans to build their own home will want to take the class taught by Joe Byrd. Topics to be covered include lot selection, how to get cost estimates and financing, and a list of important questions to ask. A $20 registration fee is courses, call the office at 961required. Kate Kyle will teach the course on interior design, which will include information on the basic participants are encouraged and accessories.

Not designed for professional career preparation, the class requires a $35 registration

Registration for the more than 90 Spring Quarter noncredit continuing education classes offered by the College's Office of Community Services will continue through next week, the opening week of classes. To reserve a place in one or more of the classes, or to obtain a complete listing of

Since most classes have limited enrollments, fundamentals of color, to reserve a place.

Business Series At CJC FAYETTE AND SOUTHSIDE SUN

small business manage- during the Spring Quarter, ment series scheduled at call the College's Small Clayton Junior College dur- Business Development Cening the Spring Quarter is ter at 961-3414. To register, set for this Saturday and call the Office of Commu-

Opening the series will be programs for small business an all-day program on "how owners is co-sponsored by to start a new business," scheduled between 9:30 Clayton County Chamber a.m. and 4:30 p.m. on of Commerce and the Small Saturday, March 28.

A two-part program on "personnel management" for small businesses is planned for Monday and Wednesday evenings, March 30 and April 1.

The opening program will cover the legal aspects of different types of business organizations. Financing a business adventure will be records procedures. Not designed for individuals already in business, a $22 registration fee includes the cost of lunch.

The Monday-Wednesday program, scheduled beestate field will gain tips on tween 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. how to improve sales, create each evening, will offer owners and managers ways to better understand what motivates employees. Concepts of motivation, approaches to improving work performances, and understanding human nature will be presented. A $15 registration fee covers the cost of both evening sessions.

For more information about either of the pro-

3/26/81 The first two programs in grams, or others scheduled next Monday and Wednes- nity Services at 961-3550. The quarterly series of the College along with the Business Administration.

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR April 8, 1981 Clayton Junior College Band Director Bill Gore will be presented in a bassoon recital during a 10 a.m. performance next Wednesday. Gore, an assistant professor of music at the school, holds both a bachelors and a masters degree from Flordia State University. The free concert, open to the public, will be held in lecture hall G-132.

"What Makes A Film Worth Seeing" will be the topic of a discussion at Clayton Junior College next week. Atlanta film experts George Ellis, Larry Estes and Jim Whaley will appear on the program.

The discussion is scheduled for 10 a.m. next Wednesday in room D-200 of the college's student center. For more information on the free program, open to the public, persons can call 961-3510.

SAT Seminar Planned at CIC THE CLAYTON SUN

(SAT) will be conducted at 15). Clayton Junior College next will begin at 7 p.m. on 961-3500.

A free seminar on the Thursday, April 16, in the Scholastic Aptitude Test Round Building (Room B-

For more information on the free seminar, or other Required for students en-requirements for admission, tering credit classes at the call the College's Office of College, the SAT seminar Admissions and Records at

Real Estate Workshop Planned At CJC

A three-hour workshop for in today's market. real estate professionals will be conducted at Clayton Junior College next week. Scheduled between 9 a.m. and noon on Thurs., April 16 the program will highlight successful real estate selling

Robert Dowling, president of Dowling Properties and a member of the Atlanta Board of Realtors Million Dollar Club, will lead the qualifying buyers.

To register for the morestate field will gain tips on ning workshop, or to obtain how to improve sales, create complete information, call referrals that will increase the office of Community income, motivate the Services at 961-3550, located prospects to sign contracts, in the Administration and to save time in building on the college

your product" and

"office design and

March 13, 1981 Small Business Owners Can Gain Knowledge

Another series of and managers has programs designed for been scheduled at small business owners Clayton Junior College small business owners on 16). Scheduled between "planning for profits" will 6:30 and 9:30 p.m., a $15 be conducted at Clayton registration fee covers the Junior College on Saturday, cost of both sessions. Call April 11. Scheduled the College's Office of Combetween 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 munity Services (961-3550) p.m., a $22 registration fee for complete information. includes the cost of lunch.

THE CLAYTON SUN April 9, 1981 'Planning for Profits' Topic at Clayton Jr.

(the second session will required.

A day-long program for follow on Thursday, April A free workshop on home landscaping and lawn The first session in a two-maintenance will begin at 7 part program for small p.m. in Room B-15 at business owners on "under- Clayton Junior College on standing the economy and Tuesday, April 14. To be how it affects you business" taught by Clayton County will be conducted at Extension Agent Charles Clayton Junior College on Tucker, advanced registra-Tuesday evening, April 14 tion for the program is not during the Spring Quarter. Led by experts in economy and how it

Programs have been for businesses.

Opening the series is 26 and May 3. an all-day program on "how to start a new business," scheduled friendly banker can on Saturday, March help small business" 28. A two-part pro- and "how to apply for gram on "personnel an SBA loan" are management" planned for Monday April, and "basic March 30 and April 1, offered during four the field, nine pro- affects small grams are planned. business" is scheduled equipment selection" Tuesday and are scheduled during selected that will help Thursday, April 14 and the first two weeks of owners and managers 16, and sessions on June. meet the challenges of "the law and small for consecutive Sun- grams, day afternoons, April

> Three-hour is scheduled in late at 961-3414. Wednesday, accounting" will be

A unique program Chamber porting" is planned for Administration.

To register for one operating their small business" is planned or more of the pro-College's Office of Community Services pro- at 961-3550. To ob grams on "how a tain more information or a complete listing of

A two-part program Thursday, May 28, and on "understanding the programs on "selling offerings, call the Business Small Development Center All programs in the Commerce and the "planning for your horizons by ex- Small Business and another all-day sessions in May. session, set for Saturday, April 11, will deal on how to "broaden series are co-sponsored with the College by the Clayton County

Heritage High School Wins Clayton Junior Tourney

Conyers made a sweep of honors in the third annual Mathematics Tournament conducted at Clayton Junior College recently.

Teams and individuals coached by faculty sponsors Gayle Garrison and Dennis Stewart won all four firstthe one-day competition. Twenty area schools participated.

Heritage's team of Danny Crocker, Tom Alexander, Greg Watson and Philip Jones won lower level competition, and Watson claimed the top trophy in individual competition.

The Fayette County High McBride, Mark Roberson, Danny Barron and Teri Smith placed second in In the upper level upper level competition, competition, the team of Jeff followed by teams from Smith, Chris Scott, David Morrow Senior High (Paul claimed top honors and Bonnie Hinners and Steve Traci Dunn, Lee Ann Smith also won first place in Duke) and a team from The Bowman and Lisa Little during the annual event. individual competition. Heritage School in Newnan placed second. Fayette Trophies and plaques were (Scott Tumperi, Rusty Farbis, Robert Gilbert and Anne Bridges).

Students Lauded In Math Competition

Brandon Mymurdes of Southwest DeKalb High School placed second in upper level individual competition with Heritage's place trophies offered during School team of Sandra Jansen claiming third place. Cyndi Goodwin of Heritage and Morrow's Duke tied for fourth place in individual math contests.

In lower level competition, the Rockdale County High Jansen and Jimmy Edwards Smith, Mike Childers, School team of Jane Wilson, County (Kevin Porter, Jan Ulery, Meghan Mushovic and Michelle Yu) claimed third place and Jonesboro Senior High (Lisa Hutchens, Paul Arata, Kris Bean and David Leto) took fourth.

provided by Mu Alpha Theta,

the College's student Math

Heritage's Crocker placed second behind his teammate in the lower level individual winner's circle, followed by Jennifer Wike of Pike County and Jane Wilson of Rockdale County High.

Members of the Clayton Junior College mathematics faculty served as judges

THIRD PLACE MORROW SENIOR HIGH (Left To Right) Morrow Senior High School team members Steve Duke, Paul Smith, Bonnie Hinners and Mike Childers.

NEWS/DAILY

Tuesday

CLAYTON COUNTY HOME ECONOMIST KATHY

WAGES will conduct three different sessions on food preservation at Clayton Junior College Tuesday, May 12.

"Drying" will be the topic at 6 p.m.; "canning" will be discussed at 7 p.m.; and "freezing" information will be provided at 8 p.m. Participants may attend one or all of the sessions and no registration is required. All programs are

Wednesday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE MUSIC students will be presented in two recitals. A student recital is scheduled for Wednesday, May 13, at 10 a.m., and a sophomore recital is scheduled for Thursday, May 14. Both presentations will be in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Sponsored by Lyceum, both performances are open to the public free of charge.

MECHANISM" will be the topic of Dr. Pauline Clance, an associate professor at Georgia State University,

Wednesday, May 3, at a 10 a.m. lecture at Clayton Junior College. Free and open to the public, the program will be given in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building.

"LIFESTYLES AND SEX ROLES AS ADJUSTMENT

scheduled in Room D-200 on the college campus

5/12/81

College, presents certificate to Jonesboro Senior High team members Paul Arata, Kris Bean, David Leto South Metro Entertainment Wrapup

Films, Brass Quintet, Circus On Tap

South Metro residents can learn how to musical ability. watch movies the correct way.

A free program on "learning to view films" is schedu led at Clayton Junior College on April 1.

Dr. Charles Eidsvik, an associate professor in the department of drama at the University of Georgia, will spea in the Lyceum-sponsored program on April 1. The free program, open to the public, will be held at 10 a.m. in room B-15 of the Round Building on the Morrow campus. Eidsvik authored "Cineliteracy: Film Among the Arts" and has written a number of film-related articles and completed a television special on Erskine Caldwell. For more information, persons can call have been selected for the 1981 Metro The League Family. Atlanta High School Honor Band, co-sponsored by WSB Radio and Trust Company 768-5100 after 2 p.m.

Seventy-five students from high schools in metro Atlanta were chosen for the band from hundreds of entries.

Local students named were Steve De-Vane of Jonesboro High, Eric Hudson of Westwood High, Mike Newsome of Feldwood High, Wallace Weaver of College Park High, Norman Gibby of North Clayton High, Kathleen Brown of Stockbridge High, ReuAnn Brown of Fayette County High, Patrick Gardner of Riverdale High, Laurie Hester of North Clayton High, Klara Kissell of Riverdale High, Cynthia Lloyd of Jonesboro High, Angela Rogers of Collins High, Diane Tarpley of Forest Park High and Rusty Wilson of Forest Park High. The students were selected on the basis Strickland of South Fulton. of scholarship and citizenship in addition to

of the Library Building.

Thursday

REGISTRATION FOR SPRING QUARTER credit

classes will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, March 26, and classes for the 11-week quarter

will begin on Friday. Students enrolling in college courses

for the first time must report to an orientation session in

Room G-132, either at 10 a.m. or 6 p.m. All other students should obtain registration materials from the Office of Admissions and Records prior to registering. All students may register between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., or between 5:30 and 8:30 p.m. in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building.

Monday

PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT, first of two-part program, at Clayton Jr. College, Monday, March 30 and continuing Wednesday, April 1. $15 registration fee covers cost of both sessions. Call Office of Community Services at 961-3550

SPRING QUARTER NON-CREDIT CLASSESbegin Mon-

day, March 30 at Clayton Jr. College. Most classes begin

this week, but registration will continue through Friday,

April 3. Call Office of Community Services at 961-3550 for in-

Tuesday

FREE FORUM ON THE ISSUE OF DEATH AND

DYING will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday evening, March 31. Scheduled between 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building, the program will deal with such topics as death with dignity and the rights of the dying person. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete

FREE PROGRAM ON "HOME VEGETABLE GAR-DENING" will be offered at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday evening, March 31. Scheduled between 7 and 9 p.m. in Room B-15 of the Round Building, Clayton County

Extension Agent Charles Tucker will serve as the instructor. Call the College's Office of Community Services

(961-3550) for complete information.

FOURTH PLACE - JONESBORO SENIOR HIGH (Left To Right) Dr. Cathy Aust, Assistant Professor of Mathematics at

The Florida State University Brass Quintet will be featured in concert at layton Junior College on April 1. The performance, free to the public, will be held in lecture hall G-132 at 10 a.m.

A heavy slate of gospel and Christian 2 a.m. Monday through Saturday. music is underway at the Joyful Noise Christian Supper Club in East Point.

The Kingsmen are slated to appear this Thursday night, with advance tickets re-

The Dixie Melody Boys are on tap for Friday night, with Teddy Huffam & The Gems scheduled to appear Saturday night. Scheduled for the Monday Variety night are Tom an Pam Morrison; Danny, Mary, A number of South Metro musicians Ann and Steve; The Recruiters Quartet and

For reservations, persons can call

"Walkabout," the 1971 film starring Jenny Agutter, Lucien John and David Gumpilil, will be shown at Clayton Junior College at 8:30 p.m. on April 1.

Free and open to the public, the film will be the latest program in a series of lectures and screenings in the Lyceumsponsored series.

For more information, persons can call

Several South Metro youngsters have joined the Atlanta Boy Choir following February auditions.

Shawn Rogers of East Point has been accepted into choir I, as was Michael

Phenizee Ransom of East Point was March 25, 1981

A free workshop on home landscaping and lawn maintenance is scheduled at Clayton Junior College April 14 at 7 p.m. in Room B-15. Another workshop will be given April 21 at 7 p.m The workshops will be taught by Clayton County Extension Agent Charles

Advanced registration is not required for either ses-

For complete information, call the Office of Admissions and Records at 961-3500 or visit the office in the Administration Designed to give the homeowner practical in-THE CLAYTON COUNTY UNITED WAY ADVISORY formation on planning and landscaping and selecting COMMITTEE will meet Thursday, March 26, 1981, at 4:00 p.m. on the campus of Clayton Junior College in Room L-200 oplant material, a number of topics will be discussed.

Soil preparation and transplanting will be covered along with fertilization, pruning and maintenance, lawn establishment and in-Sect control.

A two-part program on "eating naturally" will be offered at Clayton Junior *College on April 16 and April

Offered through the college's Office of Community Services, programs are scheduled between 7 and

A $16 registration fee is required.

To register, or to obtain more information, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Also named was Robbie Gillespie of named to the apprentice choir.

Ellenwood and Jeffrey Hill of Clayton.

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR

Gypsy is appearing at Benbow's, the lounge at the Admiral Benbow Inn on Virginia Avenue near the airport. The group is performing from 9 p.m. to

Union City will host Franzen's Three-Ring, Big Top Circus on April 6. The two performances will begin at 6

Tickets will be $2 for children and $3 for dance is open to all singles in Metro adults if purchased before 10 a.m. on show

Tickets purchased at the gate will be $3 767-2409

NEWS/DAILY

March 29, 1981

Atlanta.

To obtain tickets contact members of

Tickets also can be purchased from

This event will take place on the vacant

The Southside Singles will hold a dance

Teddy Bear will play records for the Admission will be $3 per person, and the

For more information call 627-5167 or

April 3 at 9 p.m. at the Fort McPherson

the Union City Athletic Association and Sonya Carter at the City Hall in Union City.

Union City Development Committee.

lot adjacent to Shannon Mall.

Non-Commissioned Officers' Club.

The News-Daily will sponsor the "Press Run" again this year. The date has been set for Saturday, May 30, beginning at 8 a.m. at Clayton Junior College.

This year's featured event, sponsored by the newspaper to benefit the Cancer Society in Clayton County, will offer three races. There will be a novice run for youngsters of one mile plus a three-mile and six-mile run. The "Press Run" has been growing in popularity since its inception as part of the annual funds promotion to aid the yearly cancer campaign. The newspaper offers T-shirts to the first finishers in the race each year.

The location change, from Jonesboro to the junior college, was done to bring about a more orderly race and less congested area for the runners to avoid the traffic hazard within the city.

Drawing a field of 177 participants,

Third Annual 'Press Run' Planned the 1980 Press Run was attempted primarily by local runners, however, a 27-year-old Atlanta man, Laurin

> Tidwell, took the top men's finish with a 16:48 time in the 5000 meter run. The top women's spot went to Kathy Weigel, a 16-year-old distance runner > from Delta Junction, Alaska. Although temperatures hovered near the 100 degree mark for most of the mid-day, no racers were injured at the event and a large contribution was collected forthe Cancer Society.

NEWS-DAILY PUBLISHER JIM WOOD IS SEATED BETWEEN THIS YEAR'S PRESS RUN CO-CHAIRPERSONS Glenda Slaughter and County Commissioner Ernest Wright Hold Press Run Shirts

Landscape Workshop Set

landscaping and lawn given the following Tuesday maintenance is scheduled at (April 21). Advanced

A free workshop on home Another workshop will be preparation and tran-Clayton Junior College next registration is not required for either session.

To be taught by Clayton Designed to give the County Extension Agent homeowner practical Charles Tucker, the first of information on planning two workshops is set for landscaping and selecting Tuesday, April 14, beginning plant material, a number of at 7 p.m. in Room B-15. topics will be discussed. Soil splanting will be covered along with fertilization, pruning and maintenance, lawn establishment, and insect control.

The two workshops are cosponsored with the Clayton County Extension Service by the College's Office of Community Services.

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS

March 25, 1981 CJC Calendar of Events

Events Scheduled at Clayton Junior College Between March 26-April 4:

THURSDAY, MARCH 26

Advisement and Registration for Spring Quarter credit classes at Clayton Junior College will be conducted between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., and 5:30 and 8:30 p.m. on Thursday, March 26. Students enrolling at the two-year institution for the first time must report to an orientation program in Room G-132 at either 10 a.m.

Friday, March 27

Spring Quarter credit classes will begin Friday, March 27, at Clayton Junior College and continue until the last of final examinations are administered on June 10.

Saturday, March 28

An all-day program on "how to start a new business" is scheduled at Clayton Junior College on Saturday, March 28. Scheduled between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., a $22 registration fee includes the cost of lunch. Call the Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

Monday, March 30

A two-part program on "personnel management" for small businesses is scheduled at Clayton Junior College, beginning on Monday, March 30, and continuing on Wednesday, April 1. A $15 registration fee covers the cost of both

The first classes in Clayton Junior College's Spring Quarter program of non-credit offerings will begin on Monday evening, March 30. Most classes scheduled during the quarter will begin this week and registration will continue through Friday, April 3. Call the Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

Tuesday, March 31

A free forum on the vital and sensitive issue of death and dying will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday evening, March 31. Scheduled between 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building, the program will deal with such topics as death with dignity and the rights of the dying person. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

A free program on "home vegetable gardening" will be offered at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday evening, March 31. Scheduled between 7 and 9 p.m. in Room B-15 of the Round Building, Clayton County Extension Agent Charles Tucker will serve as the instructor. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete infor-

Wednesday, April 1

The Florida State University Brass Quintet will be featured in a 10 a.m. concert at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, April 1. Free and open to the public, the program will be given in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132).

A free program on "cooking for can openers" will be offered at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday evening, April 1. Scheduled between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. in Room D-200, Kathy Wages of the Clayton County Extension Service will offer tips on how to prepare quick meals. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

Tuesday 1981 NEWS/DAILY

FREE FORUM ON THE ISSUE OF DEATH AND DYING will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday evening, March 31. Scheduled between 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building, the program will deal with such topics as death with dignity and the rights of the dying person. Call the College's Office. of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

FREE PROGRAM ON "HOME VEGETABLE GAR-DENING" will be offered at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday evening, March 31. Scheduled between 7 and 9 p.m. in Room B-15 of the Round Building, Clayton County Extension Agent Charles Tucker will serve as the instructor. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

Wednesday

A FREE PROGRAM ON COOKING FOR CAN OPENERS will be offered at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday evening, April 1. Scheduled between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. in Room D-200, Kathy Wages of the Clayton County Extension Service will offer tips on how to prepare quick meals. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

THE FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY BRASS QUINTET will be featured in a 10 a.m. concert at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, April 1. Free and open to the public, the program will be given in the Lecture Hall (Room G-A LECTURE ON "LEARNING TO VIEW FILMS" will be featured at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, April 1, beginning at 10 a.m. in Room B-15 of the Round Building. Dr. Charles Eidsvik, Associate Professor in the Department of Drama at the University of Georgia, will speak in the Lyceum-sponsored program. The public is invited free of charge. Call the Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510) for complete information.

Thursday

THE LAKE CITY P.T.A. will host a skating party Thursday, April 2 from 6-9 p.m. at the Old Dixie Skating Rink in Forest Park. This will be their last skating party of the year and admission is $1.50 and 50 cents skate rental The public is invited.

"THE ORIGIN OF VALUES" will be the topic of a lecture scheduled at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, April 2. Dr. Sidney B. Simon, Professor of Education at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, will speak at 7 p.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). The public is invited free of charge. Call the Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510) for complete information.

Saturday

CLOSE-UP PHOTOGRAPHY workshop, first of two parts, Saturday, April 4, from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College. Second program to follow on April 25. $22 registration fee includes cost of April 4 lunch. Call CJC Office of Community Services at 961-3550 for complete

Events Scheduled at Clayton Junior College between April 2-11

THURSDAY, APRIL 2

"The Origin of Values" will be the topic of a lecture scheduled at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, April 2. Dr. Sidney B. Simon, Professor of Education at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, will speak at 7 p.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). The public is invited free of charge. Call the Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510) for complete information.

A free program on the comparative costs of taking a vacation cruise will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on consecutive Thursday evenings, April 2 and 9. Scheduled at 7 p.m. each evening, program participants will learn about the costs involved in vacation cruises, resort holidays, and air and motor tours. For more information, or to reserve a place in the free class, call the Office of Community Services (961-3550)

SATURDAY, APRIL 4

The first program in a two-part workshop on "close-up photograhy" is scheduled at Clayton Junior College between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Saturday, April 4. The second program in the workshop will follow on April 25. A $22 registration fee (which includes the cost of lunch on April 4) is required. Call the Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

TUESDAY, APRIL 7

A free program designed for adults who are considering to enter or re-enter college will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday, April 7. Scheduled at 7 p.m., registration for the informational program must be made through the Office of CommunityServices (961-3550)

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 8 A harpsichord-violin recital scheduled at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday morning, April 8, will feature the Lucktenberg Trio of Spartanburg, South Carolina. Free and open to the public, the performance will begin at 10 a.m.

in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). The cultural and demographic differences between metropolitan and suburban areas will be discussed by Georgia Tech professor Dr. Jay Weinstein during a 10 a.m. lecture at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, April 8. Call the Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510) for complete information.

THURSDAY, APRIL 9 An all-day workshop on "supervisory skills for nurses" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Thursday, April 9. Designed for nurses, registration is required through the Office of Community Services (961-3550).

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS March 18, 1981 CJC Calendar

of Events

THURSDAY, March 26

Clayton Junior College will register students for Spring Quarter classes between the hours of 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., and 5:30 and 8:30 p.m. on Thursday, March 26. New students must report to Room G-132 either at 10 a.m. or 6 p.m. for an Orientation session. Registration will take place for all students in Room D-200.

FRIDAY, MARCH 27

Spring Quarter classes begin at Clayton Junior College and will continue through June 4. Final examinations are scheduled June 5-10 and the annual graduation exercises are planned for Saturday morning, June 13.

SATURDAY, MARCH 28

The opening program in a small business management series scheduled at Clayton Junior College during the Spring Quarter is planned for Saturday, March 28. The session, between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., will deal with "how to start a new business." A $22 registration fee includes the cost of lunch. Call the Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register, or the Small Business Development Center (961-3414) for complete information.

NEWS/DAILY April T, 1981

Wednesday

A FREE PROGRAM ON COOKING FOR CAN OPENERS will be offered at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday evening, April 1. Scheduled between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. in Room D-200, Kathy Wages of the Clayton County Extension Service will offer tips on how to prepare quick meals. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

THE FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY BRASS QUINTET will be featured in a 10 a.m. concert at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, April 1. Free and open to the public, the program will be given in the Lecture Hall (Room G-

A LECTURE ON "LEARNING TO VIEW FILMS" will be featured at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, April 1, beginning at 10 a.m. in Room B-15 of the Round Building. Dr. Charles Eidsvik, Associate Professor in the Department of Drama at the University of Georgia, will speak in the Lyceum-sponsored program. The public is invited free of charge. Call the Office of the Dean of Students (961-3510) for complete information.

Saturday

CLOSE-UP PHOTOGRAPHY workshop, first of two parts, Saturday, April 4, from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College. Second program to follow on April 25. $22 registration fee includes cost of April 4 lunch. Call CJC Office of Community Services at 961-3550 for complete

NEWS/DAILY March 30, 1981

PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT, first of two-part program, at Clayton Jr. College, Monday, March 30 and continuing Wednesday, April 1. $15 registration fee covers cost of both sessions. Call Office of Community Services at 961-3550

SPRING QUARTER NON-CREDIT CLASSES begin Monday, March 30 at Clayton Jr. College. Most classes begin this week, but registration will continue through Friday, April 3. Call Office of Community Services at 961-3550 for in-

Tuesday

FREE FORUM ON THE ISSUE OF DEATH AND DYING will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday evening, March 31. Scheduled between 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building, the program will deal with such topics as death with dignity and the rights of the dying person. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

FREE PROGRAM ON "HOME VEGETABLE GAR-DENING" will be offered at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday evening, March 31. Scheduled between 7 and 9 p.m. in Room B-15 of the Round Building, Clayton County Extension Agent Charles Tucker will serve as the instructor. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

You and Your Home

Community Calendar

Wednesday

A FREE PROGRAM ON COOKING FOR CAN OPENERS will be offered at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday evening, April 1. Scheduled between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. in Room D-200, Kathy Wages of the Clayton County Extension Service will offer tips on how to prepare quick meals. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

THE FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY BRASS QUINTET will be featured in a 10 a.m. concert at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, April 1. Free and open to the public, the program will be given in the Lecture Hall (Room G-

A LECTURE ON "LEARNING TO VIEW FILMS" will be featured at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, April 1, beginning at 10 a.m. in Room B-15 of the Round Building.

> THE CLAYTON SUN February 26, 1981

Extension Service Schedules Programs on Gardening, Interior Design, Cooking

high cost of living with your own garden and tips on how to prepare quick meals will separate programs at Clayton Junior College next

"Home vegetable gardening" will be discussed by Clayton County Extension Agent Charles Tucker on quick and easy recipies. consecutive Tuesday evenings, March 31 and April 7. Scheduled in Room B-15 of the Round Building on the Clayton Junior College the free courses. campus, two-hour programs, will begin at 7 p.m.

"COOKING for can require registration.

Easy ways to beat the openers" will be featured by Kathy Wages of the Clayton County Extension Service to prepare quick meals will on Wednesday evening, be discussed during two April 1. Scheduled between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. in Room *D-200 of the Student Center Building, the free program will include tips on making your own convenience foods, money-saving ideas, plus Coordinated through the

> However, two other is required. programs dealing with "you and your home" ideas will

A SEVEN-WEEK course tion on the basic fundamen- opening week of classes. on the "ins and outs of tals of color, fabrics, room terior design will begin on professional career prepara-Tuesday, March 31. Both tion, a $35 registration fee is 961-3550. classes are scheduled between 7 and 9 p.m.

Anyone who plans to build their own home will want to take the class non-credit continuing reserve a place by phone or taught by Joe Byrd. Topics to be covered include lot the College's Office of Com-College's Office of Comselection, how to get cost es munity Services will conmunity Services, no timates and financing, and tinue through next week the two-year institution registration is required for a list of important questions to ask. A $20 registration fee

Kate Kyle will teach the course on interior design, which will include informaeducation classes offered by (March 30 - April 3), the near Morrow.

To reserve a place in one building your home" and a arrangements and acces- or more of the classes, or to nine-week class on basic in- sories. Not designed for obtain a complete listing of

The public is invited.

3510) for complete information.

ton Junior College, will be next week.

THE CLAYTON SUN _

Dr. Charles Eidsvik, Associate Professor in the Department of Drama at the University of Georgia, will speak in the Lyceum-sponsored program. The public is invited free of charge. Call the Office of the Dean of

Thursday

THE LAKE CITY P.T.A. will host a skating party

Thursday, April 2 from 6-9 p.m. at the Old Dixie Skating Rink in Forest Park. This will be their last skating party of the year and admission is $1.50 and 50 cents skate rental.

"THE ORIGIN OF VALUES" will be the topic of a lecture scheduled at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, April 2.

Dr. Sidney B. Simon, Professor of Education at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, will speak at 7 p.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). The public is invited free of charge. Call the Office of the Dean of Students (961-

Viola Recital Slated at Clayton Jr. Next Week

Doris Holloway, associate presented in a viola recital Sponsored by Lyceum, versity of Illinois, where she professor of music at Clay- at the Morrow institution the performance will be was a teaching assistant

Students (961-3510) for complete information.

REGISTRATION for the limited enrollments, particimore than 90 spring quarter pants are encouraged to complete a registration form in the Administration Building on the campus of

Business Management Programs Set at CJC

The first two programs in a small business management series scheduled at Clayton Junior College during the Spring Quarter are set for this Saturday and next Monday and Wednes-

Opening the series will be an all-day program on "how to start a new business," scheduled between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. on Saturday, Mar. 28.

A two-part program on "personnel management" for small businesses is planned for Monday and Wednesday evenings, Mar. 30 and April 1.

The opening program will cost of lunch. cover the legal aspects of different types of business program, scheduled tion fee covers the cost of organizations. Financing a business adventure will be each evening, will offer discussed, along with tips on owners and managers ways about either of the programs for small business basic accounting and to better understand what programs, or others owners is co-sponsored by records procedures. Not motivates employees. scheduled during the Spring the College along with the designed for individuals Concepts of motivation, apalready in business, a $22 proaches to improving work Small Business Develop- Commerce and the Small between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. both evening sessions.

registration fee includes the performances, and under- ment Center at 961-3414. To Business Administration.

standing human nature will register, call the Office of The Monday-Wednesday be presented. A $15 registra- Community Services at 961-

For more information The quarterly series of

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS April 8, 1981 CJC Calendar Of Events

SATURDAY, APRIL 11

A day-long program for small business owners on "planning for profits" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Saturday, April 11. Scheduled between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., a $22 registration fee includes the cost of lunch. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

TUESDAY, APRIL 14

The first session in a two-part program for small business owners on "understanding the economy and how it affects your business" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday evening, April 14 (the second session will follow on Thursday, April 16 . Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m., a $15 registration fee covers the cost of both sessions. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

A free workshop on home landscaping and lawn maintenance will begin at 7 p.m. in Room B-15 at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday, April 14. To be taught by Clayton County Extension Agent Charles Tucker, advanced registration for the program is not required.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 15

Clayton Junior College Band Director Bill Gore will be present in a bassoon recital during a 10 a.m. performance on Wednesday, April 15. Scheduled in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132), the Lyceum-sponsored performance will be free and open to the public.

"What makes a film worth seeing?" will be the topic of a panel discussion scheduled at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday morning, April 15. Planned for 10 a.m. in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building, the public is invited free of

THURSDAY, APRIL 16

A three-hour workshop for real estate professionals will begin at 9 a.m. at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, April 16. The program will highlight successful real estate selling in today's market. To register or to obtain additional information, call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550)

A two-part program on "eating naturally" will begin at Clayton Junior College on Thursday evening, April 16. Offered through the Office of Community Services, programs are scheduled on consecutive Thursdays between 7 and 9 p.m. Call 961-3550 for complete information.

Wednesday

SKATE PARTY at Tara Skating Rink, Hwy 85, Riverdale, hosted by North Clayton Jr. High Booster Club, 6:30-9:30 p.m. $2.25 without skates; $1.50 with skates.

EASTERN AIRLINES SILVERLINERS CLUB to meet Wednesday, April 8 at 11 a.m. at Terrace Garden Inn, 3405 Lenox Rd, N.E., across from Lenox Square. A guest speaker to give a program on "women and credit." Prospective members, former and presently flying Flight Attendants invited. Contact Mrs. Nancy Carlson at 971-6324 or Judy Stewart at 461-8308.

ANCESTORS UNLIMITED to meet Wednesday, April 8 at 9:30 a.m. in community room of Georgia Power building, 119 Smith St., Jonesboro. Jc: Moore to give slide presentation on buildings in Clayton, Henry and Fayette counties. Call 997-3338 for information

HARPSICHORD-VIOLIN RECITAL Wednesday, April 8 at 10 a.m. in Room G-132 at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow. Free and open to public. Features Lucktenberg Trio of Spartanburg, S.C.

GIRLS GYMNASTICS PROGRAM for ages 6-8 and 9-up at Pointe South Jr. High begins this spring for six weeks, fee $9 each. TESTING DATE for girls unsure of their skills is Wednesday, April 8 at Pointe South Jr. High at 3:30 p.m. Program designed for girls having completed basic skill instruction in tumbling who can satisfactorily perform basic mat and beam skills. For informationcallSharon Plunkett at 478-9911 ext 245.

Thursday

FOREST PARK CHAPTER NO. 1629 NARFE (National Association Retired Federal Employees) to meet Thursday, April 9 at 1:30 p.m. at Forest Park Recreation Center at Forest Parkway and Park Ave. Representative of Atlanta Gas Light to present program.

SUPERVISORY SKILLS. FOR NURSES, all day workshop, Thursday, April 9 at Clayton Jr. College from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Designed for nurses, registration is required through Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Saturday

CHICK-FIL-A DINNER will be held Sat., April 11 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. at Adamson Junior High School. The dinner, to be held in the school cafeteria, will benefit the school band and cost is $2.50 per plate.

WEST CLAYTON ELEMENTARY SCHOOL SPRING FLING Saturday, April 11 from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. Flea market, craft items, moon walk, good food. PLANNING FOR PROFITS for small business owners, Saturday, April 11 at Clayton Jr. College, 9:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. $22 fee includes lunch. Call College of Community Services at 961-3550 for information.

Tuesday

A FREE WORKSHOP ON HOME LANDSCAPING and lawn maintenance will begin at 7 p.m. in Room B-15 at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday, April 14. To be taught by Clayton County Extension Agent Charles Tucker, advanced registration for the program is not required.

THE FIRST SESSION IN A TWO-PART PROGRAM FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS on "understanding the economy and how it affects your business" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday evening, April 14 (the second session will follow on Thursday, April 16) . Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m., a $15 registration fee covers the cost of both sessions. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

CLAYTON SUN 4/16

Frady To Speak At CJC

The impact of the past on the present will be discussed at Clayton Junior College next week by author and journalist Marshall Frady.

Frady, current host and writer for the ABC-TV documentary series "Close Up," will speak during lectures scheduled at 8:30 p.m. on Tuesday, April 21, and at 10 a.m. on Wednesday. Scheduled in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Tuesday and in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building on Wednesday, both presentations will be free and open to the public.

Frady has been a contributing editor for Harper's magazine and was a member of Newsweek's Atlanta Bureau. He has also written for such publications as Life, Saturday Evening Post, Esquire, Atlantic, and the New York Review of Receiving a B.A. from Furman University in Greenville, South Carolina, Frady was AWoodrow Wilson Fellow at the University of Iowa. He is the author of many books including "Wallace," a biography of former Alabama Govenor George Wallace. In addition, has written "Across A Darkling Plain: An American's Passage through the Middle East," "Southerners," and "Billy Graham: A Parable of American Righteousness," his most recently published book. Currently, he is writing a biography of Martin Luther given in the Lecture Hall and a member of the Grad-day, April 22, beginning at A member of the Clayton

*Eating Naturally Class

10 a.m. The public is in- Junior College faculty since

Mrs. Holloway, a native loway also has studied at

of El Dorado, Kansas, holds San Diego State College

a Bachelors of Fine Arts and the University of degree in music from the Southern California,

University of Georgia, Among her many accom-where she was a member of plishments, she has played the Faculty String Quartet. with the Atlanta Symphony

She earned her Master of and with the Emory String

Music degree from the Uni- Quartet.

(Room G-132) on Wednes- uate String Quartet.

A two-part program on foods. Participants will learn College on consecutive to taste-test recipes. Thursday evenings, beginning April 16.

Offered through the College's Office of Community Services, programs are scheduled between 7 and 9 p.m.

A $16 registration fee is required.

Program instructor Shirley Watterson will present a practical and tasty approach and use of natural

"eating naturally" will be how to choose, use, and enjoy offered at Clayton Junior eating naturally, as well as To register, or to obtain

January of 1971, Mrs. Hol-more information, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3550, located in the Administration building on the Clayton Junior College campus.

What Makes Film Worth Seeing?

Three Atlantans with a distributor, also will appear variety of experiences with on the program. The national film will be featured during a marketing director of the panel discussion at Clayton Feature Film Division of Junior College next week. Worth Seeing?" will be the topic of the discussion scheduled at 10 a.m. in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building on Wed., April 15. The public is invited free of charge One of the panelists will be George Ellis, a film exhibitor who owns and

Larry Estes, a film 3510)

Films Incorporated, his "What Makes a Film duties include the selection and acquisition of new motion pictures for the company. The third member of the panel will be Jim Whaley host of "Cinema Showcase. a television program which he started in 1972. For more information about the Lyceum-sponsored manages the Film Forum in program, contact the Office of the Dean of Students (961-Ansley Mall with his son.

Tuesday 4/17/81 NEWS/DAILY

BLOODMOBILE AT CJC Tuesday, April 21 from 9 a.m.-2:30 p.m. on upper level Student Center Building. Open to general public as well as CJC faculty, staff and students. Directions to be marked on campus. For information call Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

AUTHOR-JOURNALIST MARSHALL FRADY, current host of ABC's "Close Up" series, to appear at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow, Tuesday, April 21 at 8:30 p.m., and again at 10 a.m. Wednesday, April 22. In Lecture Hall (G-132) on Tuesday, in Room D-200 on Wednesday. Free and open to public. Topic is impact of past on present. Sponsored by Lyceum.

Thursday

CONCERT PIANIST STEVEN DEGROOTE to be presented in recital at Clayton Jr. College Thursday, April 23 at 8:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Public invited, no charge. DeGroote winner of Fifth Van Cliburn International Quadrennial Piano Competition in 1977. Program at CJC to include works by Haydn, Beethoven, Ravel and Liszt. Sponsored by Lyceum.

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS April 8, 1981 CJC Real Estate

Workshop April 16 A three-hour work- Professionals in the shop for real estate real estate field will professionals will be gain tips on how to week. Thursday, April 16, the buyers.

program will highlight successful real estate morning workshop, or will lead the workshop. College campus.

conducted at Clayton improve sales, create Junior College next referrals that will increase income, motivate the prospects to Scheduled between 9 sign contracts, and to a.m. and 12 noon on save time in qualifying To register for the selling in today's mar- to obtain complete ket. Robert Dowling, information, call the president of Dowling Office of Community Properties and a mem- Services (961-3550), lober of the Atlanta cated in the Admin-Board of Realtors istration Building on Million Dollar Club, the Clayton Junior math tournament teams one-day competiton. took third and fourth places Twenty area high schools individual competition. respectively in their divi- participated.

ior College. yers, made a sweep of hon- place in individual competi-

In the upper level compe-Jansen and Jimmy Ed-In the tournament, Heri- wards claimed top honors claimed the top trophy in (Scott Tumperi, Rusty Far- third place and Jones Sen-

THE FAYETTE County Mathematics Tournament tition, the team of Jeff High School team of San- Southwest DeKalb High Heritage's Crocker placed conducted at Clayton Jun- Smith, Chris Scott, David dra McBride, Mark Rober- School placed second in second behind his teamson, Danny Barron and Teri upper level individual com- mate in the lower level Smith placed second in petition with Heritage's individual winners' circle, tage High School, of Con- and Smith also won first upper level competition, Jensen claiming third followed by Jennifer Wike followed by teams from place. Cyndi Goodwin of of Pike County and Jane ors, with the team coached tion. Heritage's team of Morrow Senior High (Paul Heritage and Morrow's Wilson of Rockdale County by faculty sponsors Gayle Danny Crocker, Tom Alex- Smith, Mike Childers, Bon- Duke tied for fourth palce High. Garrison and Dennis Stew- ander, Greg Watson and nie Hinners and Steve in individual math contests.

tition, the Rockdale County faculty served as judges High School team of Jane during the annual event.

THE CLAYTON SUN

To be taught by Clayton for either session.

two workshops is set for mation on planning land- trol.

Anne Bridges).

Morrow Senior High and art winning all four first-Jonesboro Senior High place trophies during the competition, and Watson Heritage School in Newman and Michelle Yu) claimed bis, Robert Gilbert and ior High (Lisa Hutchens, Paul Arata, Kris Bean and Brandon Mymurdes of David Leto) took fourth.

Members of the Clayton IN LOWER level compe- Junior College mathematics Wilson, Traci Dunn, Lee Trophies and plaques were Ann Bowman and Lisa Lit- provided by Mu Alpha tle placed second. Fayette Theta, the College's student County (Kevin Porter, Jan Math Club.

Lawn Maintenance Talk April 14 at CJC

A free workshop on home Tuesday, April 14, beginn-landscaping and lawn ing at 7 p.m. in Room B-15. Scaping and selecting plant Special interest also will material, a number of topics be given to problems en-maintenance is scheduled at Another workshop will be will be discussed. Soil countered by program par-registration is not required covered along with fertiliza-

County Extension Agent Designed to give the maintenance, lawn es-Charles Tucker, the first of homeowner practical infortablishment, and insect conby the College's Office of Clayton Junior College next given the following Tuesday preparation and ticipants. week.

(April 21). Advanced transplanting will be

Small Business Programs Set at CJC

Accounting Association, the National Association of Ac-

Institute of Decision

from Marquette University

and Georgia State Univer-

Two members of the a.m. and 4:30 p.m., a $22 the college faculty since ques of cash management, Commerce and the Small business faculty at Clayton registration fee includeds September of 1976, is a debt planning and ratio Business Administration. Junior College will present the cost of lunch. programs in a continuing Dr. Doris C. Cash, Professmall business management 'sor of Business, will explain series scheduled for Satur- "how to understand the day of this week and Tues- economy and how it affects

Saturday, April 11. both sessions. Scheduled between 9:30 Kordecki, a member of day and Thursday of next small business" during a veek. two-part program planned Gregory S. Kordecki, In- for Tuesday and Thursday sturctor of Business Ad- evenings, April 14 and 16. ministration, will conduct Scheduled between 6:30 and an all-day program on 9:30 p.m. each evening, a 'planning for profits" on $15 registration fee covers

The two workshops are co-

tion, pruning and sponsored with the Clayton

THIS WEEK

During Saturday's program, he will introduce basic concepts and techni-member of the American analysis. Techniques to be discussed should help small business owners to identify countants and the American whether they are making financial progress, and if

Sciences. A native of not, where problems may Milwaukee, he holds degrees exist. Dr. Cash, a Milwaukee, he holds degrees exist. member of the CJC faculty since September of 1972, is a member of a number of state, regional and national progessional and honorary academic orgainizations. Majoring in economics, she earned both her bachelor's degree (with honors) and master's degree (first in class) from Georgia State. Her doctorate, also accomplished as Georgia State, dealt with all phases of economics, finance, theory and analysis. During the April 14 and 16 program, Dr. Cash will answer questions concerning high interest rates, drops in sales, slow-paying accounts, and others. Ways to understand what is happening in the economy will be stressed to help program participants anticipate and minimize the consequences.

For more information about either of the programs, or others scheduled during the Spring Quarter, call the College's Small Business Development Center at 961-3414 or contact the Office of Community Services at 961-

The quarterly series of programs for small business owners is co-sponsored by the College along with the Clayton County Chamber of

THIRD PLACE, UPPER DIVISION-Left to right are Morrow Senior High team members Steve Duke, Paul Smith, Bonnie Hinners and Mike Childers.

Steven De Groote in Recital at Clayton Jr.

College next week.

vited to attend free of

De Groote, a native of Johannesburg, South Africa, won the Grand Prize of the Fifth Van Cliburn International Quadrennial Piano Competition in 1977. He has performed both in recital and as soloist throughout the United States, as well as Europe, the Far East and South America.

INCLUDED were performances with such orchestras as Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, and the Concertgebouw of Amsterdam, as well as debut recitals at New York's Carnegie Hall and London's Queen Elizabeth Hall. In addition to his numerous interna-

Concert pianist Steven tional recital and orchestral began performing solo and Royal Conservatory with 1977 Young Concert Artists

Europe. Scheduled at 8:30 p.m. Born into a Belgian fam-

De Groote will be presented engagements, De Groote chamber music concerts Eduardo del Pueyo, and International Auditions. in recital at Clayton Junior has recorded two albums in throughout Europe and Affour years at the Curtis rica at an early age.

Institute of Music with Ruon Thursday, April 23, the ily in which, for three gen- HE FOLLOWED his kin and Mieczyslaw Hor- Beethoven, Ravel and Liszt, program will be presented erations, almost every studies with American pi- szowski. He became a final- and is another in a continuin the Lecture Hall (Room member has been a profes- anist Lamar Crowson, with ist in the 1976 Leventritt ing Lyceum-sponsored ser-G-132). The public is in- sional musician, De Groote three years at the Brussels Competition and won the ies on cultural affairs.

Next week's program will dolf Serkin, Seymour Lip- include works by Haydn;

THE CLAYTON SUN April 9, 1981 What Makes a Good Film? CJC Tackles Issue variety of experiences with operated five theaters in programs. film will be featured during metro Atlanta since 1965 a panel discussion at and Ellis has had roles in "What Makes a Film topic of the discussion, scheduled at 10 a.m. in Room D-200 of the Student invited free of charge.

mercials and films.

ONE OF the panelists pany.

will be George Ellis, a film In addition, he decides and as the host and exhibitor who owns and which films have the best producer of "Cinema 30," a manages the Film Forum in chance of being hits, and program of mainly British Ansley Mall with his son. determines ways to promote and French films shown

Three Atlantans with a Together, they have them to college film Sunday evenings on WETV-

THE THIRD member of about the Lyceum-Clayton Junior College next numerous television com- the panel will be Jim sponsored program, contact Whaley, host of "Cinema the Office of the Dean of Larry Estes, a film dis- Showcase," a television Students (961-3510) at Worth Seeing?" will be the tributor, also will appear on program which he started in Clayton Junior College. the program. The national 1972. Shown on 90 stations marketing director of the in 16 states, the program Feature Film Division of features interviews with Center Building on Wednes- Films Incorporated, his producers, directors and day, April 15. The public is duties include the selection film stars, as well as others and acquisition of new mo- in the motion picture field. tion pictures for the com- Whaley also serves as movie editor of "Creative Loafing"

TV in Atlanta.

For more information

Sunrise Service

The annual Easter Sunrise Service will begin at 6 a.m. on the Clayton Junior College campus.

Co-sponsored by the Clayton County Ministerial Conference and the Forest Park Kiwanis Club, the annual ecumenical service will be attended by members of local church congregations and the general public. The service will take place in front of the College's Library, overlooking the large lake on the beautiful campus. Flowering dogwoods and azaleas promise to provide a splendid setting for the early-morning event.

Members of the Clayton Community Band, directed by Dr. Ed Bridges, will provide music and the Rev. Leonard Quick, Pastor of the Second Baptist Church of Forest Park, will conduct the service. Visiting the campus recently to finalize plans were Rev. Quick; Ric Sanchez, Director of Community Services at the College; Gene Jarrett, Pastor of the First Christian Church of Morrow; Tom Zaworski, a Catholic Deacon; John Swafford, Pastor of the South Side Seventh Day Adventist Church; Steven P. Lorimer, Pastor of the Living Word Lutheran Church; and Kiwanis Club members J. W. Smith and John Strickland.

PLANNING EASTER SUNRISE SERVICE FOR CLAYTON COUNTY (L to R) Gene Jarrett, Tom Zaworski, John Swofford, Steven P. Lorimer, J.W. Smith, John Strickland, Ric Sanchez, and Leonard Quick.

THE FAYETTE SUN April 23, 1981

BEST FOREIGN LANGUAGE ENTRY —Students from M. D. Collins High School won the "best foreign language entry" in Clayton Junior College's 1981 Creative Arts Festival. Picured with the award are, left to right: front row -Anne Isbell, Luanne Thompson, Jeana Thomas, Richard Blackburn, and faculty advisor Carol Saunders; second row - Tim Marchbanks, Nancy Gray, Lisa Kinsler, Cindy Smith, Margaret Isbell, Kathy Anderson, and Fred Griffin. Not pictured were Joe Bryant, Scott Goddard, Mike Guess, and Ann Hopmeier. The group won the award with their French drama "Aux Galeries Lafayette."

NEWS/DAILY Thursday April 22, 1981

CONCERT PIANIST STEVEN DEGROOTE to be presented in recital at Clayton Jr. College Thursday, April 23 at 8:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Public invited, no charge. DeGroote winner of Fifth Van Cliburn International Quadrennial Piano Competition in 1977. Program at CJC to include works by Haydn, Beethoven, Ravel and Liszt. Sponsored by Lyceum

Sunday

CLAYTON GENERAL HOSPITAL is hosting an Open House in celebration of its tenth anniversary. A guided tour of the hospital is offered Sunday, April 26 from 2-4 p.m.

THE FIRST SESSION IN A TWO-PART SUNDAY AFTERNOON PROGRAM ON "THE LAW AND SMALL BUSINESS" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Sunday, April 26. Scheduled between 2 and 4 p.m., the program is another in a continuing series for small business owners. Call 961-3414 for complete information.

THE CORRECT FORMULA--Fayette County High upper level competition was the team of (top photo, School math teams took a second and a third place from left) Danny Barron, Terri Smith, Mark Roberson and Sandra McBride, while (bottom) Kevin Porter, Jan during the third annual Mathematics Tournament at Clayton Junior College recently. FCHS was among 20 Alery, Michelle Yu and Meghan Mushovic claimed area schools in competition. Taking second place in third in lower level.

April 8, 1931

Tuesday 17, 1981 NEWS/DAILY THE JONESBORO SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL PTSA will meet at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, April 7th, in the school

CLAYTON COUNTY COMMISSION to meet Tuesday, April 7 at 1:30 p.m. in county administration building in Jonesboro. Public invited.

THE ADAMSON JR. HIGH PTA will meet in the school cafeteria Tuesday, April 7, at 7:30 p.m. New officers will be voted on for the school year 1981-82.

A FREE PROGRAM DESIGNED FOR ADULTS who are considering to enter or re-enter college will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday, April 7. Scheduled at 7 p.m., registration for the informational program must be made through the Office of Community Services (961-3550).

Wednesday

HARPSICHORD-VIOLIN RECITAL Wednesday, April 8 at 10 a.m. in Room G-132 at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow. Free and open to public. Features Lucktenberg Trio of Spartanburg, S.C.

Thursday

SUPERVISORY SKILLS FOR NURSES, all day workshop, Thursday, April 9 at Clayton Jr. College from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Designed for nurses, registration is required through Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Saturday

WEST CLAYTON ELEMENTARY SCHOOL SPRING FLING Saturday, April 11 from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. Flea market, craft items, moon walk, good food.

PLANNING FOR PROFITS for small business owners, Saturday, April 11 at Clayton Jr. College, 9:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. $22 fee includes lunch. Call College of Community Services at 961-3550 for information.

Bandarama Set At Tara Stadium

The second annual Clayton County Bandarama will be held May 16, at Tara Stadium from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Fifteen musical groups representing five senior high schools and seven junior high schools in Clayton County and the Clayton Junior College Jazz Band will each perform fifteen to thirty minute programs selected for listening enjoyment.

The purpose of the event is to raise scholarships for band members to attend the Georgia High School Music Workshop at the University of Georgia this summer. It is a week long educational program involving students from all over the state. Last year's Bandarama enabled Clayton to send twenty-eight Clayton County band students at a cost of $150 each to last summer's workshop.

The Bandarama is co-sponsored by the Forest Park Rotary Club, the Clayton County Board of Education, and Clayton Junior College. Tickets are available from Rotarians, Band Booster Club Members, or at the gate for

April 9, 1981 NEWS/DAILY Thursday

FOREST PARK CHAPTER NO. 1629 NARFE (National Association Retired Federal Employees) to meet Thursday, April 9 at 1:30 p.m. at Forest Park Recreation Center at Forest Parkway and Park Ave. Representative of Atlanta Gas Light to present program.

SUPERVISORY SKILLS FOR NURSES, all day workshop, Thursday, April 9 at Clayton Jr. College from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Designed for nurses, registration is required through Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Saturday

PLANNING FOR PROFITS for small business owners, Saturday, April 11 at Clayton Jr. College, 9:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. $22 fee includes lunch. Call College of Community Services at 961-3550 for information.

Tuesday

A FREE WORKSHOP ON HOME LANDSCAPING and lawn maintenance will begin at 7 p.m. in Room B-15 at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday, April 14. To be taught by Clayton County Extension Agent Charles Tucker, advanced registration for the program is not required.

THE FIRST SESSION IN A TWO-PART PROGRAM FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS on "understanding the economy and how it affects your business" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday evening, April 14 (the second session will follow on Thursday, April 16) . Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m., a $15 registration fee covers the cost of both sessions. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

NEWS/DAILY

Thursday 30, 1981

JONESBORO SR. HIGH ONE-ACT PLAYS Thursday, April 30 and Friday, May 1 at 7:30 p.m. $1.50 admission charge to help pay for new stage curtains at JSHS. Five one-act plays each night.

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE will administer the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) to prospective students of the two-year institution on Thursday, April 30, beginning at 6 p.m. in Room G-132. Call 961-3500 or 961-3510 for complete information.

A THREE-HOUR SEMINAR ON "HOW TO APPLY FOR AN SBA LOAN" will be presented at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, April 30. Scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m., the program is another in a continuing series for small business owners.

Friday

U.S. SENATOR SAM NUNN to be featured speaker at annual Clayton Jr. College Foundation meeting and banquet, Friday, May 1 at 7 p.m. in CJC Student Center (Room D-200). Reservations must be made in advance. Tickets available from members of Foundation Board of Trustees or by calling CJC at 961-3531 or 961-3535.

CHICK-FIL-A DINNER will be held Sat., April 11 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. at Adamson Junior High School. The dinner, to be held in the school cafeteria, will benefit the school band and cost is $2.50 per plate.

WEST CLAYTON ELEMENTARY SCHOOL SPRING FLING Saturday, April 11 from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. Flea market, craft items, moon walk, good food.

PLANNING FOR PROFITS for small business owners, Saturday, April 11 at Clayton Jr. College, 9:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. $22 fee includes lunch. Call College of Community Services at 961-3550 for information.

Tuesday

A FREE WORKSHOP ON HOME LANDSCAPING and lawn maintenance will begin at 7 p.m. in Room B-15 at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday, April 14. To be taught by Clayton County Extension Agent Charles Tucker, advanced registration for the program is not required.

THE FIRST SESSION IN A TWO-PART PROGRAM FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS on "understanding the economy and how it affects your business" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday evening, April 14 (the second session will follow on Thursday, April 16) . Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m., a $15 registration fee covers the cost of both sessions. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

Wednesday

MORROW SR. CITIZENS' SUNSHINE CLUB to meet Wednesday, April 15 at 11 a.m. at fellowship hall of Morrow United Methodist Church, 5985 N. Main St., Morrow. Bus tour through scenic floral areas of Atlanta is planned, to include luncheon stop at Farmer John's Cafeteria.

BASSOON RECITAL Wednesday, April 15 at 10 a.m. at Clayton Jr. College by CJC Band Director Bill Gore. In Lecture Hall (G-132). Free and open to public. Sponsored by

WHAT MAKES A FILM WORTH SEEING? panel discussion Wednesday, April 15 at 10 a.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Room D-200 of Student Center. Public invited, no charge.

Thursday

REAL ESTATE WORKSHOP for professionals, Thursday, April 16 at 9 a.m. at Clayton Jr. College. Three hours. To highlight successful real estate selling in today's market. To register or obtain more information, call CJC Office of Community Services, 961-3550.

TWO-PART PROGRAM ON EATING NATURALLY begins Thursday, April 16 from 7 - 9 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College. Second part scheduled following Thursday. Offered through Office of Community Services. Call 961-3550 for information.

Saturday April 12, 1981 NEWS/DAILY

CHICK-FIL-A DINNER will be held Sat., April 11 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. at Adamson Junior High School. The dinner, to be held in the school cafeteria, will benefit the school band and cost is $2.50 per plate.

WEST CLAYTON ELEMENTARY SCHOOL SPRING FLING Saturday, April 11 from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. Flea market, craft items, moon walk, good food.

PLANNING FOR PROFITS for small business owners, Saturday, April 11 at Clayton Jr. College, 9:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. $22 fee includes lunch. Call College of Community Services at 961-3550 for information.

Tuesday.

A FREE WORKSHOP ON HOME LANDSCAPING and lawn maintenance will begin at 7 p.m. in Room B-15 at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday, April 14. To be taught by Clayton County Extension Agent Charles Tucker, advanced registration for the program is not required.

THE FIRST SESSION IN A TWO-PART PROGRAM FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS on "understanding the economy and how it affects your business" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday evening, April 14 (the second session will follow on Thursday, April 16) . Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m., a $15 registration fee covers the cost of both sessions. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

Wednesday

MORROW SR. CITIZENS' SUNSHINE CLUB to meet Wednesday, April 15 at 11 a.m. at fellowship hall of Morrow United Methodist Church, 5985 N. Main St., Morrow. Bus tour through scenic floral areas of Atlanta is planned, to include luncheon stop at Farmer John's Cafeteria.

BASSOON RECITAL Wednesday, April 15 at 10 a.m. at Clayton Jr. College by CJC Band Director Bill Gore. In Lecture Hall (G-132). Free and open to public. Sponsored by

WHAT MAKES A FILM WORTH SEEING? panel discussion Wednesday, April 15 at 10 a.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Room D-200 of Student Center. Public invited, no charge.

Thursday

REAL ESTATE WORKSHOP for professionals, Thursday, April 16 at 9 a.m. at Clayton Jr. College. Three hours. To highlight successful real estate selling in today's market. To register or obtain more information, call CJC Office of Community Services, 961-3550.

TWO-PART PROGRAM ON EATING NATURALLY begins Thursday, April 16 from 7 - 9 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College. Second part scheduled following Thursday. Offered through Office of Community Services. Call 961-

NEWS/DAILY April 14, 1981 Tuesday

A FREE WORKSHOP ON HOME LANDSCAPING and lawn maintenance will begin at 7 p.m. in Room B-15 at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday, April 14. To be taught by Clayton County Extension Agent Charles Tucker, advanced registration for the program is not required.

THE FIRST SESSION IN A TWO-PART PROGRAM FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS on "understanding the economy and how it affects your business" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday evening, April 14 (the second session will follow on Thursday, April 16) . Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m., a $15 registration fee covers the cost of both sessions. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

Wednesday

BASSOON RECITAL Wednesday, April 15 at 10 a.m. at Clayton Jr. College by CJC Band Director Bill Gore. In Lecture Hall (G-132). Free and open to public. Sponsored by

Thursday

REAL ESTATE WORKSHOP for professionals, Thursday, April 16 at 9 a.m. at Clayton Jr. College. Three hours. To highlight successful real estate selling in today's market. To register or obtain more information, call CJC Office of Community Services, 961-3550.

TWO-PART PROGRAM ON EATING NATURALLY begins Thursday, April 16 from 7 - 9 p.m. at Clayton Jr. college. Second part scheduled following Thursday. Offered through Office of Community Services. Call 961-3550 for information.

NEWS/DAILY

April 15, 1981 Wednesday

MORROW SR. CITIZENS' SUNSHINE CLUB to meet Wednesday, April 15 at 11 a.m. at fellowship hall of Morrow United Methodist Church, 5985 N. Main St., Morrow. Bus tour through scenic floral areas of Atlanta is planned, to include luncheon stop at Farmer John's Cafeteria.

BASSOON RECITAL Wednesday, April 15 at 10 a.m. at Clayton Jr. College by CJC Band Director Bill Gore. In Lecture Hall (G-132). Free and open to public. Sponsored by

WHAT MAKES A FILM WORTH SEEING? panel discussion Wednesday, April 15 at 10 a.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Room D-200 of Student Center, Public invited, no charge.

Thursday

REAL ESTATE WORKSHOP for professionals, Thursday, April 16 at 9 a.m. at Clayton Jr. College. Three hours. To highlight successful real estate selling in today's market. To register or obtain more information, call CJC Office of Community Services, 961-3550.

TWO-PART PROGRAM ON EATING NATURALLY begins Thursday, April 16 from 7 - 9 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College. Second part scheduled following Thursday. Offered through Office of Community Services. Call 961-

FREE SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test) SEMINAR Thursday, April 16 at 7 p.m. in the round building (B-15) at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow. Test required for students entering college. Seminar to include types of questions asked, how it is scored, hints on how to do well. CJC to administer the SAT on April 30 and May 28. For more information call Office of Admissions and Records at 961-3500.

Tuesday.

FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL to meet Tuesday, April 21 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall. Public invited.

CLAYTON COUNTY COMMISSION to meet Tuesday, April 21 at 1:30 p.m. in commission meeting chambers, administration building, Jonesboro. Public invited.

BLOODMOBILE AT CJC Tuesday, April 21 from 9 a.m.-2:30 p.m. on upper level Student Center Building. Open to general public as well as CJC faculty, staff and students. Directions to be marked on campus. For information call Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

CARDIAC EDUCATION CLUB to meet Tuesday, April 21 at 7 p.m. in multi-purpose room, Clayton General Hospital. Topic to be "Stress", covered by Joanna Hendricks, social services dept. Clayton General. For information call education dept. at 478-1770, ext. 5294.

AUTHOR-JOURNALIST MARSHALL FRADY, current host of ABC's "Close Up" series, to appear at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow, Tuesday, April 21 at 8:30 p.m., and again at 10 a.m. Wednesday, April 22. In Lecture Hall (G-132) on Tuesday, in Room D-200 on Wednesday. Free and open to public. Topic is impact of past on present. Spon-

NEWS/DAILY April 23, 1981

CONCERT PIANIST STEVEN DEGROOTE to be presented in recital at Clayton Jr. College Thursday, April 23 at 8:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Public invited, no charge. DeGroote winner of Fifth Van Cliburn International Quadrennial Piano Competition in 1977. Program at CJC to include works by Haydn, Beethoven, Ravel and Liszt. Sponsored by Lyceum.

CLAYTON COUNTY COMMISSION ZONING meeting Thursday, April 23 at 7:30 p.m. in commission meeting chambers, administration building, Jonesboro. Public

THE CLAYTON CHAPTER NO. 3143 AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF RETIRED PERSONS, INC. (AARP) will meet Thursday at 10 a.m. in the Morrow City Complex.

Friday

MEMBERS OF THE AIRBORNE BROTHERHOOD will meet at the Airport Ramada Inn Friday and Saturday for the Static Line Awards ceremony. The Guest of honor will be former Army Chief of Staff, General William Westmoreland.

Sunday

CLAYTON GENERAL HOSPITAL is hosting an Open

House in celebration of its tenth anniversary. A guided tour

April 20, 1981

RIVERDALE ZONING BOARD to meet Monday, April 20 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall. Public invited.

Monday

NEWS/DAILY

OPTI-MS OFFOREST PARK to meet Monday, April 20 at 8 p.m. at Golden Corral Restaurant, Tara Blvd., Jonesboro. Pat Thornton, nurse at South Fulton Hospital in operating room, in charge of kidney donor program, to present program. For details call 961-1077.

COMMUNITY SERVICES AUTHORITY (CSA) to meet Monday, April 20 at 6:30 p.m. at Forest Park CSA office. All members urged to attend. Public invited.

Tuesday

FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL to meet Tuesday, April 21 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall. Public invited.

CLAYTON COUNTY COMMISSION to meet Tuesday, April 21 at 1:30 p.m. in commission meeting chambers, administration building, Jonesboro. Public invited.

BLOODMOBILE AT CJC Tuesday, April 21 from 9

What's Going On Tuesday

JONESBORO JR. HIGH PTA will meet Tuesday, April 28, 8:00 P.M. in the school cafeteria. The program will include performance by the band, display by home economics department an linstallation of new officers.

A MICROWAVE COOKING SCHOOL will be conducted Tuesday, April 28, in the Home Economics Department of North Clayton Senior High School in College Parl. The class will begin at 3:15 and conclude at 5:15. Mrs. Carolyn Yelton, Amana Representative, will conduct the cooking school. This program is open to anyone at no charge. For reservations or more information call 996-2763 on Monday April 27, or Tuesday, April 28.

FREE MOVIE THE 400 BLOWS' by Truffaut to be presented Tuesday, April 28 at 8:30 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Lecture Hall (G-132). Call Office of Dean Of Students at 961-3510 for information. Sponsored by Lyceum.

POINTE SOUTH JUNIOR HIGH will have an "End of the Year" review PTA meeting Tuesday, April 28 at 7 p.m. in the school gym. Clubs will have displays on their various activities from the year.

THE SOUTHSIDE SINGLES will meet Tuesday April 28, at 7:45 p.m. in the clubhouse of the Windjammer South Apartments 5420 Riverdale Road College Park. Come spend an evening and enjoy seeing and hearing Glenn Austin stage the world of Mark Twain, America's Most Beloved Humorist.

Wednesday

THE MEALS ON WHEELS PROGRAM of the Clayton Community Programs for the Aging is having a reception to recognize the volunteers who deliver meals daily to the elderly. The reception will be Wednesday April 29, from 2-4 p.m. at the Morrow United Methodist Church Fellowship

CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE BAND IN CONCERT Wednesday, April 29 at 10 a.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). STAGE AND SCREEN ACTING-THE DIFFERENCES

Free and open to public.

Clayton Junior Col- each date. Partici-

lege will administer pants do not have to

A requirement for starting time. A $9.25 of two scheduled prior ion about the SAT or

Quarter classes. Anot- ements, call the Col-her SAT administrat- lege's Office Admis-

ion will be held on May sions and Records grams at the College, time of testing.

sign up in advance, but should plan to be at the test center by 5:30 p.m.

since no one is permitted to enter after the fee is payable at the

For more informat-

other entrance requir-

(961-3550) or the Office

SAT Test given at CJC Thursday

What's Going On

of the hospital is offered Sunday, April 26 from 2-4 p.m. THE FIRST SESSION IN A TWO-PART SUNDAY AFTERNOON PROGRAM ON "THE LAW AND SMALL BUSINESS" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Sunday, April 26. Scheduled between 2 and 4 p.m., the program is another in a continuing series for small business owners. Call 961-3414 for complete information.

Monday

A THREE-HOUR SEMINAR FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS on "how a friendly banker can help small business" will be presented at Clayton Junior College on Monday, April 27. It is scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30

THE CLAYTON COUNTY COMMUNITY SERVICES AUTHORITY INC., will hold a combined meeting with various committees Monday April 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the Service Center, 677 South Ave., Forest Park.

Tuesday

Community Calendar

a.m.-2:30 p.m. on upper level Student Center Building. Open to general public as well as CJC faculty, staff and students. Directions to be marked on campus. For information call Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

CARDIAC EDUCATION CLUB to meet Tuesday, April 21 at 7 p.m. in multi-purpose room, Clayton General Hospital. Topic to be "Stress", covered by Joanna Hendricks, social services dept. Clayton General. For information call education dept. at 478-1770, ext. 5294.

AUTHOR-JOURNALIST MARSHALL FRADY, current host of ABC's "Close Up" series, to appear at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow, Tuesday, April 21 at 8:30 p.m., and to be presented by Atlanta-based actress Mary Nell

Santacrose, Wednesday, April 29 at 10 a.m. at Clayton Jr. ollege, Room D-200, Student Center Bldg. Ms. Santacrose has acting experience on screen, stage and television.

Thursday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE will administer the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) to prospective students of the two-year institution on Thursday, April 30, beginning at 6 p.m. in Room G-132. Call 961-3500 or 961-3510 for complete

A THREE-HOUR SEMINAR ON "HOW TO APPLY FOR

AN SBA LOAN" will be presented at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, April 30. Scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m., the program is another in a continuing series for small business

Friday

U.S. SENATOR SAM NUNN to be featured speaker at annual Clayton Jr. College Foundation meeting and banquet, Friday, May 1 at 7 p.m. in CJC Student Center

Tickets available from members of Foundation Board of

SENIOR CITIZENS SPRING DANCE Friday, May 1 at 7:30 p.m. at St. Phillips Benizi Catholic Church, Flint River

Rd., Jonesboro. Sponsored by Clayton Co. Community

Programs For Aging. Live entertainment, door prizes.

Refreshments provided by Clayton County Council of

SENIOR CITIZENS MAY DAY celebration at Reynolds

Nature Preserve. Noon-3 p.m. Sponsored by Clayton Parks

(Room D-200). Reservations must be made in advance

Trustees or by calling CJC at 961-3531 or 961-3535.

Homemakers. Contact Donna Akers, 361-9179.

Lecture free and open to public.

again at 10 a.m. Wednesday, April 22. In Lecture Hall (G-132) on Tuesday, in Room D-200 on Wednesday. Free and open to public. Topic is impact of past on present. Sponsored by Lyceum. THE GONE WITH THE WIND Chapter of the American

JONESBORO JR. HIGH PTA will meet Tuesday, April

28, 8:00 P.M. in the school cafeteria. The program will include performance by the band, display by home

A MICROWAVE COOKING SCHOOL will be conducted

Tuesday, April 28, in the Home Economics Department of North Clayton Senior High School in College Parl. The class will begin at 3:15 and conclude at 5:15. Mrs. Carolyn Yelton, Amana Representative, will conduct the cooking school.

This program is open to anyone at no charge. For reservations or more information call 996-2763 on Monday April

FREE MOYIE THE 400 BLOWS' by Truffaut to be

College in Lecture Hall (G-132). Call Office of Dean Of presented Tuesday, April 28 at 8:30 p.m. at Clayton Jr.

Students at 961-3510 for information. Sponsored by Lyceum.

Wednesday

CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE BAND IN CONCERT

STAGE AND SCREEN ACTING-THE DIFFERENCES

to be presented by Atlanta-based actress Mary Nell

Santacrose, Wednesday, April 29 at 10 a.m. at Clayton Jr.

College, Room D-200, Student Center Bldg. Ms. Santacrose

has acting experience on screen, stage and television.

Wednesday, April 29 at 10 a.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132).

27, or Tuesday, April 28.

Free and open to public.

Lecture free and open to public.

economics department and installation of new officers.

Business Women's Assocation will meet Tuesday, April 21 at 6:30 p.m. at The Edgewater Country Club. Guest speaker will be Mr. Robert Keller, Clayton County District

Thursday

CONCERT PIANIST STEVEN DEGROOTE to be presented in recital at Clayton Jr. College Thursday, April 23 at 8:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Public invited, no charge. DeGroote winner of Fifth Van Cliburn International Quadrennial Piano Competition in 1977. Program at CJC to include works by Haydn, Beethoven, Ravel and Liszt. Sponsored by Lyceum.

CLAYTON COUNTY COMMISSION ZONING meeting Thursday, April 23 at 7:30 p.m. in commission meeting chambers, administration building, Jonesboro. Public and Recreation Dept. Come, bring picnic lunch. Fried chicken furnished. Games, prizes, fun, fellowship. Clayton

Saturday

Commission to be present.

CPR (CARDIOPULMONARY RESUSCITATION) COURSE IN FOREST PARK Saturday, May 2 from 8 a.m.-5 p.m., sponsored by Forest Park Parks and Recreation Dept. in conjunction with Georgia Heart Association. REQUIRED for all persons interested in taking Life Saving and Water Safety Instructor classes. Limited to first 15 applicants. Must be pre-registered. $3 per person. Apply at Forest Park Rec. Dept., 803 Forest Parkway.

OFFICERS' WIVES CLUB THRIFT SHOP at Ft. Gillem general merchandise and bake sale, Saturday, May 2, open to general public. Proceeds to promote community welfare and scholarships. Infant, children's clothes; ladies' dresses; men's clothing; furniture; knick-knacks; general merchandise. Enter Ft. Gillem west gate, OWC Thrift Shop in Building 902.

ADAMSON JR. HIGH PTA 'TRADIN' POST' Saturday, May 2 at Adamson Jr. High in Rex, 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Arts and crafts, rummage sale, flea market, bake sale. Any dealer or person desiring to reserve space should send $10 check to: The Tradin' Post, Adamson Jr. High, 3187 Rex Rd., Rex, Ga. 30273.

CLAYTON CO. JR. HIGH ONE ACT PLAY competition, Saturday, May 2 at Riverdale Jr. High beginning at noon. Eight jr. high schools to present comedies. $1.50 for adults and students.

Monday

FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, May 4 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited.

RIVERDALE CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, May 4 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited.

CLAYTON BOARD OF EDUCATION to meet Monday,

May 2 at 7:30 p.m. in annex offices in Jonesboro. Public

NEWS/DAILY

5/13/81 Wednesday

PARENTING TEENAGERS, part of Sandwich Board series, Wednesd y, May 13, noon-1 p.m. in Rich's auditorium at Southlake Mall. Sponsored by Mental Health Association of Metro Atlanta. The lecture speaker will be Leonard T. Curtis, Ph.D, Georgia State University. The series is free and open to the public. Participants encouraged to bring own lunch. For information call 522-

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE MUSIC students will be presented in two recitals. A student recital is scheduled for Wednesday, May 13, at 10 a.m., and a sophomore recital is scheduled for Thursday, May 14. Both presentations will be in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Sponsored by Lyceum, both performances are open to the public free of charge. "LIFESTYLES AND SEX ROLES AS ADJUSTMENT MECHANISM" will be the topic of Dr. Pauline Clance, an associate professor at Georgia State University, Wednesday, May 3, at a 10 a.m. lecture at Clayton Junior College. Free and open to the public, the program will be given in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building.

Author Coming To CJC Tuesday

the present will be discussed at Clayton Junior College next week by author and journalist Marshall Frady. Frady, current host and writer for the ABC-TV condition documentary series "Close--Up", will speak during lectures scheduled at 8:30 p.m. on Tuesday, April 21, and at 10 a.m. on Wednesday. Scheduled in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on Tuesday and in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building on Wednesday, both presentations will be free and open to the public. Frady has been a contributing editor for Harper's magazine and was a Atlanta Bureau. He has also written for such publications as Life, Saturday evening Post, Esquire, Atlantic, and the New York Review of The impact of the past on Books. He has served as a reporter on the Greenville News and was a member of the Atlanta Bureau of Southeast Newspapers. Receiving a B.A. from

Furman University in

Greenville, South Carolina, Frady was a Woodrow Wilson Fellow at the University of Iowa. He is the author of many books including "Wallace," a biography of former Alabama Governor George Wallace. In addition, he has written "Across A Darkling Plain: An American's Passage through the Middle East," "Southerners," and "Billy Graham: A Parable of American member of Newsweek's Righteousness," his most recently published book. Currently, he is writing a biography of Martin Luther

> Next week's program is another in a continuing Lyceum-sponsored series on "Georgia Now and Then."

King, Jr.

Testing will begin at of Counseling and Test-6 p.m. in Room G-132 ing (961-3515) Clayton Junior To Conduct Three Small Business Programs

the Scholastic Aptitude

Test (SAT) to prospective students at the two-year institution on enrolling in credit pro-

the test will be the first to the start of Summer

Thursday April 30.

THE CLAYTON SUN April 30, 1981 Fundamentalists Topic at CJC

mentalism on the south will Board of the "Alabama Rebe the topic of discussion at view." He was also a mem-Clayton Junior College next

Dr. David Edwin Harrell, Jr., a University Scholar in Tennessee State University. History at the University of Alabama, will speak duriang lectures scheduled at 10 a.m. and at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, May 6. Scheduled in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building at 10 a.m. and in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) at 7 p.m., both lectures will be free and open to the public. A Senior Fulbright Lecturer at the University of Allahabad in India in 1976. Dr. Harrell has held several positions in the southern Historical Association and

The influence of funda- is a member of the Editorial ber of the faculties of the Universities of Georgia and Oklahoma, as well as East

Next week's program is another in a continuing Lyceum-sponsored series on "Georgia Now and Then."

Two Student Recitals Slated at Clayton Jr.

presented in two recitals at G-132). performed at 10 a.m. on performed by students Wednesday, May 13, and a Sheryl Skipper and Ron sophomore recital will be Pyle. Other highlights will

the two-year institution The student recital will May 14 will feature Tom near Morrow next week. include vocal excerpts from Bell performing on solo A student recital will be "Don Giovanni" by Mozart guitar

Clayton Junior College presentations will be given Langham, Randy Roten, music students will be in the Lecture Hall (Room and Kris Creecy. The sophomore recital on

Sponsored by Lyceum, both performances are open performed at 8:30 p.m. on include piano solos by stu- to the public and free of Thursday, May 14. Both dents Barbara Porter, Cindy charge.

ment series scheduled at structures, regulations, con-Clayton Junior College dur- tracts, and license requireing the Spring Quarter will ments. The April 27 probe conducted next week. gram will deal with what "The law and small busi- small business owners can ness" will be the topic of a expect from the banker and two-part Sunday afternoon what the banker expects program scheduled on April from them, while the April both sessions. Information on "how a small business" will be pro- or others that will follow in vided during a three-hour the series, call the College's seminar scheduled on Mon- Small Business Developday, April 27. To begin at ment Center at 961-3414. fee will be required. All the basics on "how to 961-3550.

apply for an SBA loan" will be explained during a threehour seminar on Thursday, April 30. Also set for 6:30 p.m., an $8 registration fee will be required. The two-part Sunday program will cover the legal 26 and May 3. Planned 30 seminar will provide between 2 and 4 p.m. each complete information about Sunday, a $10 registration application forms and profee will cover the cost of cedures necessary in applying for SBA loans. For complete information friendly banker can help about any of the programs,

6:30 p.m., an $8 registration To register, call the Office of Community Services at

Three more programs in aspects of operating a small the small business manage- business, including business

THE FIRST SESSION IN A TWO-PART SUNDAY AFTERNOON PROGRAM ON "THE LAW AND SMALL BUSINESS" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Sunday, April 26. Scheduled between 2 and 4 p.m., the program is another in a continuing series for small business owners. Call 961-3414 for complete information.

Monday

A THREE-HOUR SEMINAR FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS on "how a friendly banker can help small business" will be presented at Clayton Junior College on Monday, April 27. It is scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30

Tuesday

FREE MAYE THE 400 BLOWS' by Truffaut to be presented Tuesday, April 28 at 8:30 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Lecture Hall (G-132). Call Office of Dean Of Students at 961-3510 for information. Sponsored by Lyceum.

Wednesday

THE MEALS ON WHEELS PROGRAM of the Clayton Community Programs for the Aging is having a reception to recognize the volunteers who deliver meals daily to the elderly. The reception will be Wednesday April 29, from 2-4 p.m. at the Morrow United Methodist Church Fellowship

CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE BAND IN CONCERT Wednesday, April 29 at 10 a.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Free and open to public.

STAGE AND SCREEN ACTING-THE DIFFERENCES to be presented by Atlanta-based actress Mary Nell Santacrose, Wednesday, April 29 at 10 a.m. at Clayton Jr. College, Room D-200, Student Center Bldg. Ms. Santacrose has acting experience on screen, stage and television. Lecture free and open to public.

Thursday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE will administer the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) to prospective students of the two-year institution on Thursday, April 30, beginning at 6 p.m. in Room G-132. Call 961-3500 or 961-3510 for complete

A THREE-HOUR SEMINAR ON "HOW TO APPLY FOR AN SBA LOAN" will be presented at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, April 30. Scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m., the program is another in a continuing series for small business

Friday

U.S. SENATOR SAM NUNN to be featured speaker at annual Clayton Jr. College Foundation meeting and banquet, Friday, May 1 at 7 p.m. in CJC Student Center (Room D-200). Reservations must be made in advance. Tickets available from members of Foundation Board of Trustees or by calling CJC at 961-3531 or 961-3535.

Tuesday. April 21, 1981

FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL to meet Tuesday, April 21 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall. Public invited.

CLAYTON COUNTY COMMISSION to meet Tuesday. April 21 at 1:30 p.m. in commission meeting chambers, administration building, Jonesboro. Public invited.

BLOODMOBILE AT CJC Tuesday, April 21 from 9 a.m.-2:30 p.m. on upper level Student Center Building. Open to general public as well as CJC faculty, staff and students. Directions to be marked on campus. For information call Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

CARDIAC EDUCATION CLUB to meet Tuesday, April 21 at 7 p.m. in multi-purpose room, Clayton General Hospital. Topic to be "Stress", covered by Joanna Hendricks, social services dept. Clayton General. For information call education dept. at 478-1770, ext. 5294.

AUTHOR-JOURNALIST MARSHALL FRADY, current host of ABC's "Close Up" series, to appear at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow, Tuesday, April 21 at 8:30 p.m., and again at 10 a.m. Wednesday, April 22. In Lecture Hall (G-132) on Tuesday, in Room D-200 on Wednesday. Free and open to public. Topic is impact of past on present. Sponsored by Lyceum.

Thursday

CONCERT PIANIST STEVEN DEGROOTE to be presented in recital at Clayton Jr. College Thursday, April 23 at 8:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Public invited, no charge. DeGroote winner of Fifth Van Cliburn International Quadrennial Piano Competition in 1977. Program at CJC to include works by Haydn, Beethoven, Ravel and Liszt. Sponsored by Lyceum.

Sunday

CLAYTON GENERAL HOSPITAL is hosting an Open House in celebration of its tenth anniversary. A guided tour of the hospital is offered Sunday, April 26 from 2-4 p.m.

THE FIRST SESSION IN A TWO-PART SUNDAY AFTERNOON PROGRAM ON "THE LAW AND SMALL BUSINESS" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Sunday, April 26. Scheduled between 2 and 4 p.m., the program is another in a continuing series for small business owners. Call 961-3414 for complete information.

Monday

A THREE-HOUR SEMINAR FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS on "how a friendly banker can help small business" will be presented at Clayton Junior College on Monday, April 27. It is scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30

By SHARON ENGELHART

How can we keep the present from com-

That question was raised by journalist

Marshall Frady, who spoke at Clayton

Junior College Tuesday night. Frady, a current host and writer for the ABC-TV documentary series "Close Up," aimed his topic toward the impact of the past on the

HOWEVER, FRADY said the question is no longer how the past influences the present but rather how the past can be kept

Because of the ordeal of slavery, the south from being swept away by the present.

pletely consuming the past?

April 27, 1981 NEWS/ DAILY Monday

A THREE-HOUR SEMINAR FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS on "how a friendly banker can help small business" will be presented at Clayton Junior College on Monday, April 27. It is scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30

THE CLAYTON COUNTY COMMUNITY SERVICES AUTHORITY INC., will hold a combined meeting with various committees Monday April 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the Service Center, 677 South Ave., Forest Park.

MORROW CITY COUNCIL will hold its regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, April 27 in the Morrow Municipal Complex on Morrow Road.

Tuesdau

FREE MONTE THE 400 BLOWS' by Truffaut to be presented Tuesday, April 28 at 8:30 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Lecture Hall (G-132). Call Office of Dean Of Students at 961-3510 for information. Sponsored by Lyceum.

Wednesday

THE MEALS ON WHEELS PROGRAM of the Clayton Community Programs for the Aging is having a reception to recognize the volunteers who deliver meals daily to the elderly. The reception will be Wednesday April 29, from 2-4 p.m. at the Morrow United Methodist Church Fellowship

CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE BAND IN CONCERT Wednesday, April 29 at 10 a.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132).

Free and open to public. STAGE AND SCREEN ACTING-THE DIFFERENCES to be presented by Atlanta-based actress Mary Nell Santacrose, Wednesday, April 29 at 10 a.m. at Clayton Jr. College, Room D-200, Student Center Bldg. Ms. Santacrose

Thursday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE will administer the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) to prospective students of the two-year institution on Thursday, April 30, beginning at 6 p.m. in Room G-132. Call 961-3500 or 961-3510 for complete

A THREE-HOUR SEMINAR ON "HOW TO APPLY FOR AN SBA LOAN" will be presented at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, April 30. Scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m., the program is another in a continuing series for small business

Friday

U.S. SENATOR SAM NUNN to be featured speaker at annual Clayton Jr. College Foundation meeting and banquet, Friday, May 1 at 7 p.m. in CJC Student Center (Room D-200). Reservations must be made in advance. Tickets available from members of Foundation Board of Trustees or by calling CJC at 961-3531 or 961-3535.

Sunday

CLAYTON GENERAL HOSPITAL is hosting an Open House in celebration of its tenth anniversary. A guided tour of the hospital is offered Sunday, April 26 from 2-4 p.m. THE FIRST SESSION IN A TWO-PART SUNDAY FTERNOON PROGRAM ON "THE LAW AND SMALL USINESS" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Sunday, April 26. Scheduled between 2 and 4 p.m., the program is another in a continuing series for small business vners. Call 961-3414 for complete information.

Monday

A THREE-HOUR SEMINAR FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS on "how a friendly banker can help small business" will be presented at Clayton Junior College on Monday, April 27. It is scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30

Tuesday

FREE MOVIE THE 400 BLOWS' by Truffaut to be presented Tuesday, April 28 at 8:30 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College in Lecture Hall (G-132). Call Office of Dean Of Students at 961-3510 for information. Sponsored by Lyceum.

Wednesday

THE MEALS ON WHEELS PROGRAM of the Clayton Community Programs for the Aging is having a reception to recognize the volunteers who deliver meals daily to the elderly. The reception will be Wednesday April 29, from 2-4 p.m. at the Morrow United Methodist Church Fellowship

CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE BAND IN CONCERT Wednesday, April 29 at 10 a.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132). Free and open to public.

STAGE AND SCREEN ACTING-THE DIFFERENCES to be presented by Atlanta-based actress Mary Nell Santacrose, Wednesday, April 29 at 10 a.m. at Clayton Jr. College, Room D-200, Student Center Bldg. Ms. Santa crose has acting experience on screen, stage and television. Lecture free and open to public.

Thursday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE will administer the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) to prospective students of the two-year institution on Thursday, April 30, beginning at 6 p.m. in Room G-132. Call 961-3500 or 961-3510 for complete

A THREE-HOUR SEMINAR ON "HOW TO APPLY FOR AN SBA LOAN" will be presented at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, April 30. Scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m., the program is another in a continuing series for small business

THE CLAYTON SUN May 21, 1981 Fun Run at CJC Wednesday

A Fun Run to gather members for the South Metro YMCA Runners will be held Wednesday, May 27 at 7:30 p.m. at Clayton Junior College. The run is for enjoyment only, with no times or finishes to be kept. Runners can compete in the mile, three-mile or six-mile runs, with those serious about competing encouraged to join the South Metro team. A clinic on running will be held sometime early in June.

April 16, 1981 Thursday

REAL ESTATE WORKSHOP for professionals, Thursday, April 16 at 9 a.m. at Clayton Jr. College. Three hours. To highlight successful real estate selling in today's market. To register or obtain more information, call CJC

Office of Community Services, 961-3550. TWO-PART PROGRAM ON EATING NATURALLY begins Thursday, April 16 from 7 - 9 p.m. at Clayton Jr. College. Second part scheduled following Thursday. Offered through Office of Community Services. Call 961-3550 for information.

EASTERN AIRLINES PILOTS' WIVES CLUB to tour Decorator Show House, Thursday, April 16. This year's home will be former home of Bert Lance at 10 Habersham Rd., N.W., tour to be followed by luncheon at The Gathering. Call Betty Honore at 997-0338 or Rosemary Schlafter at 458-8770. All EAL pilots' wives invited.

FREE SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test) SEMINAR Thursday, April 16 at 7 p.m. in the round building (B-15) at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow. Test required for students entering college. Seminar to include types of questions asked, how it is scored, hints on how to do well. CJC to administer the SAT on April 30 and May 28. For more information call Office of Admissions and Records at 961-3500.

Tuesday.

FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL to meet Tuesday, April 21 at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall. Public invited.

CLAYTON COUNTY COMMISSION to meet Tuesday, April 21 at 1:30 p.m. in commission meeting chambers, administration building, Jonesboro. Public invited.

BLOODMOBILE AT CJC Tuesday, April 21 from 9 a.m.-2:30 p.m. on upper level Student Center Building. Open to general public as well as CJC faculty, staff and students. Directions to be marked on campus. For information call Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

CARDIAC EDUCATION CLUB to meet Tuesday, April 21 at 7 p.m. in multi-purpose room, Clayton General Hospital. Topic to be "Stress", covered by Joanna Hendricks, social services dept. Clayton General. For information call education dept. at 478-1770, ext. 5294.

AUTHOR-JOURNALIST MARSHALL FRADY, current host of ABC's "Close Up" series, to appear at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow, Tuesday, April 21 at 8:30 p.m., and again at 10 a.m. Wednesday, April 22. In Lecture Hall (G-132) on Tuesday, in Room D-200 on Wednesday. Free and open to public. Topic is impact of past on present. Spon-

SCHOLARSHIP FUNDS--Farmers and Merchants Bank President (from left) Hill R. Redwine presents a $300 scholarship check to Ernest Cheaves, a board of trustees member for the Clayton Junior College Foundation. The contribution will go into the general fund to help support this year's record $29,314 budget.

Small Business Series Continues At CJC

Pauline Newman, will be the Reagan Administration Avenue Business MARTA. Association (SAABA) The meeting will be held meeting, Tuesday, May 26, the recent developments on Cocktails will be served at the South Line, an update 6:30 p.m. and the meeting on the Atlanta City will begin prompyly at 7 Council's approval of p.m. issuance of bonds for All businesses in the area - MARTA construction, and are invited.

MARTA Representative the latest information from the speaker at the Stewart regarding future funding for at the Hickory House at 7 p.m. She will report on Stewart and Cleveland.

Clayton Junior College drama students and faculty will be presented in Shakespeare's romantic comedy, The Merchant of Venice, during several performances this week. The productions, directed by Dr. Pat Collins, Assistant Professor of English, are scheduled at 8:30 p.m. on Thursday and at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday evenings.

All performances will be given in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on the Clayton Junior College Campus in Morrow and are free and open to the public. Seats for each Lyceum-sponsored performance will be available on a first-come, first-seated

More than 1,000 students from 34 area schools participated in the annual event sponsored by the College's Division of Humanities. The 35 different areas of competition dealt with art, cinematography, videotape, expository essay, French drama, French essay, literary magazine, classical music composition, group and improvisation music composition, popular music composition, newspaper, playwriting, poetry, short story, Spanish drama, and Spanish

Entries were judged by members of the Clayton Junior College faculty and staff prior to the day-long event.

Students participated in special workshops throughout the day and winners were announced at an awards

Two "challenge" trophies -- including the one Griffin won - were claimed for the third time during the nine years of competition and the two schools were awarded the rotating trophies. Challenge 'trophies remain at the winning school for one year.

Bobby Burns won Griffin's challenge trophy by contributing the best music entry. His classical music entry won first place in music ceremony that afternoon.

Local Students Take Several Awards

Honors Awarded For Creative Skills

Griffin High School and Jonesboro Senior High were the top winners in the ninth annual Creative Arts Festival conducted at Clayton Junior College on April 9.

Griffin students won one of the five rotating "challenge" trophies and seven first place awards in individual events. Jonesboro claimed six of the individual competition trophies

Babb Junior High and Riverdale Junior High each won two first place awards in individual events to lead the junior high division.

Best Literary Entry

Suzanne Mittenzwei (right), a teacher at North Clayton Senior High School, accepts the "best literary entry" at Clayton Junior College's 1981 Creative Arts Festival for Julie Christianson, one of her students. Making the presentation was Dr. Larry Corse, Associate Professor of English at the College. The winning entry was an expository essay by 12th graders entitled "Gogol's The Overcoat: A Quest for Dignity."

Terry White of Forest Park Senior High School won the best art entry award for the second consecutive year, giving his school three triumphs and a permanent home for the award.

Other challenge trophy winners were Julie Christianson of North Clayton Senior High with the best literary entry; Woodward Academy's student newspaper, "The Blade," for the best student publication; and a group from M.D. Collins High School in College Park for the best foreign language entry. Winning with a French drama, the group included Kathy Anderson, Richard Blackburn, Joe Bryant, Nancy Gray, Scott Goddard, Fred Griffin, Ann Hopmeier, Anne Isbell, Margaret Isbell, Lisa Kinsler, Tim Marchbanks, Cindy Smith, Jeana Thomas, and Luanne Thompson.

SAT Exams To Be Given Next Week At Clayton

Clayton Junior College p.m. (SAT) prior to the start of testing. Summer Quarter classes, In order to enroll in sign up in advance, but at the testing center by 5:30 call 961-3500.

will administer one more A $9.25 registration fee is Scholastic Aptitude Test payable at the time of

according to Annette summer quarter classes, Satterfield, Director of new students must file all Admissions and Registrar. applications and credentials A requirement for with the Office of enrolling in credit programs, Admissions and Records by the SAT will be given on Tuesday, June 2. The Thursday, May 28, summer quarter will begin beginning at 6 p.m. in Room with registration on G-132. It is not necessary to Monday, June 22.

For more information students planning to take about the SAT, or other the entrance exam should be application requirements,

Stage, Screen Acting Topic Of Santacroce Talk at CJC

The differences between ture at Clayton Junior My German Soldier," "The stage and screen acting will College next week. Ordeal of Dr. Mudd," "Give be discussed during a lec-

Mary Nell Santacroce, an Me Liberty," and the Atlanta-based actress with "Young Dan'l Boone" credentials on the stage, series. Her theatrical films screen and television, will include "The Million Dollar day, April 29.

and Drama and has directed Award and the Best Sup-"Death of A Salesman" for porting Actress Award from the Academy Theater, and the Atlanta Circle of Drama "Amahl and the Night Critics. Symphony Orchestra.

clude roles in "Summer of film and literature.

speak at 10 a.m. on Wednes- Dixie Deliverance, "Private Eyes," and "Wise Scheduled in Room D-200 Blood." She has performed of the Student Center on stage at the Alliance Building, the lecture will be Theater, Theater of the free and open to the public. Stars and recently returned Ms. Santacrose served as from the Alabama the director of drama at the Shakespeare Festival. Georgia Institute of Ms. Santacrose is the Technology for nearly two recipient of the Outstanding decades. In addition, she Leadership Award of the was on the faculty of American Association of Georgia State University in University Women, the the Department of Speech Distinguished Service

Visitors," with the Atlanta Next week's program is another in a continuing Her television credits in- Lyceum-sponsored series on

THE CLAYTON SUN Impact of Past on Present

has had to overcome its violent conscience, Frady told his audience. He said the south now seems more sensible and domesticated, with the range of possibilities for life

Southerners are a mixture of characteristics, Frady said. He believes they are divided between allusion and reality, spontaneousness and the dogmatic and romanticism and brutality. All of these qualities he relates to the slavery movement, which after it was all over, the southern white man had to try to gain the respect of other areas in

THUS THE SOUTH has become a "Stuckey's souvenier shop, a reenactment of dressed up as their ancestors."

Frady said the south used to be different from the rest of the nation, with a feeling for life. However all that is left is myths and memories. He relates Atlanta to being a mirrored reflection of every city in the United States, indistinguishable from Minneapolis or Omaha. He terms the south as a "cultural lobotomy."

Frady went on to make distinctions between various southern leaders. Former president Jimmy Carter, he said, represents the latest failure the south could produce. "After winning the presidency he realized there was nothing else but a vested interest worked so hard campaigning for him immaterialized.

HOWEVER, FRADY feels Martin Luther King "did in fact make Carter and George Wallace. Jimmy Carter was the first president from the deeps of the south but if there were no King there would have been no Carter." Carter, he feels, went into the presidency as a direct heir of a dual legacy between King and Wallace.

Wallace, Frady feels, went past party structure and directly to the people, as did King, who he said transformed society and people's spirit by going directly into their

"I have one notion which is not shared by the masses about the southern white lady,' Frady reported. "It's a bizarre legacy about the mystique of the woman put on a pedestal. Again it goes back to the idea of slavery and the idea of man being born into a noble, aristocratic society." Frady said since the whites and the blacks lived in a casual closeness, the white head of the household would often go for an evening stroll after dinner, thus leaving the woman by herself. This, therefore, created the decorous lady. the style of a distracted woman. She became the defense of an intimidating atmosphere, Frady said.

Frady Warns South About Losing Heritage old battles by air-conditioned salesmen and the constituencies of the lobbyists who

Griffin, Jonesboro Winners in CJC's Creative Arts Festival

Jonesboro Senior High were the top winners in the ninth annual Creative Arts Festival conducted at Clayton Junior College on Griffin students won one "challenge" trophies and High; seven first place awards in individual events. Jonesboro claimed six of the individual competition trophies among senior high

Jonesboro Senior High;

—French Essay-fourth year: Melanie Holloway, B.
T. Washington High;
—Literary Magazine: The of the five rotating Lantern, Riverdale Junior

> -Music Compositionclassical: Bobby Burns, Griffin High;

-Music Compositiongroup composition and im-Babb Junior High and Mike Noles, Rhonda Skin- Program Coordinator. Riverdale Junior High each ner, Mike Smith, Jay Hurst Dr. Elliott McElroy is

Jonesboro Senior High;

—French Essay-third year: Annika Fehling, Jonesboro Senior High:

Newnan High (tie).

Certificates were awarded to the three best entries in yeach category of competiwalters, Michelle Torpfer and each category of competi- Mellisa Martin.

EXPOSITORY ESSAY-9th and Dr. William A. Pasch, as-10th grades

sistant professor of English, Third place, Kenda Brown, Mundy's Mill Junior High. served as director of the Creative Arts Festival. Dr. June M. Legge, assistant EXPOSITORY ESSAY-11th professor of foreign grade lanugages served as Foreign Language Programs Coor-

Second place, Susan LaPlante, dinator and Tommy Morrow Senior High. Daugherty, assistant profesrovisation: Owen Wallace, sor of art, was the Arts EXPOSITORY ESSAY-12th

Second place, Beth Creasy, Forest

Sun Community Life

society, clubs, religion, features

in individual events to lead the junior high division.

More than 1,000 students from 34 area schools participated in the annual event sponsored by the College's Division of Humanities. The 35 different areas of competition dealt with cinematography, videotape, expository essay, French drama, French essay, literary magazine, classical music composition, group a d improvisation music composition, popular music

won two first place awards

playwriting, poetry, short story, Spanish drama, and Spanish essay. Entries were judged by members of the Clayton Junior College faculty and staff prior to the day-long event. Students participated in special workshops throughout the day and winners were announced at an awards ceremony that afternoon.

composition, newspaper,

Two "challenge" trophies including the one Griffin won were claimed for the third time during the nine years of competition and two schools were awarded the rotation trophies. Challenge trophies remain at the winning school for one

Bobby Burns won Griffin's challenge trophy by contributing the best music entry. His classical music entry won first place in music composition.

TERRY White, of Forest Park Senior High School, won the best art entry award for the second consecutive Joleen Roberts, Spalding year, giving his school three Junior High Unit triumphs and a permanent home for the award.

Other challenge trophy winners were Julie Christianson of North Clayton Senior High with the best literary entry; Woodward Academy's student newspaper, "The Blade," for the best student publication; and a group from M. D. Collins High School in College Park for the best foreign language entry. Winning with a French drama, the group included Kathy Anderson, Richard Blackburn, Joe Bryant, Nancy Gray, Scott Goddard, Fred Griffin, Ann Hopmeier, Anne Isbell, Margaret Isbell, Lisa Kinsler, Tim Marchbanks, Cindy Smith, Jeana Thomas, and Luanne

First place winners in competition included: -Art-9th Grade: Tony Kirby, Babb Junior High; -Art-10th Grade: Richard Holloway, Forest

Park Senior High;

Thompson.

McAfee, North Clayton Senior High; -Art-12th Grade: Terry White, Forest Park Senior

-Art-11th Grade: Donna

-Cinematography: Mike Gowins, Mike Echols, Lisa Barrett and Tony Boswell of Forest Park Senior High; -Videotape: Bobby Burns and Laen August, Griffin High; -Expository Essay-9th

and 10th Grades: Steven McCune, Woodward Academy;

-Expository Essay-11th Grade: Cheryl Juska, Southwest DeKalb High; -Expository Essay-12th Grade: Julie Christianson, North Clayton Senior High;

-French Drama: Kathy Anderson, Richard Blackburn, Joe Bryant, Nancy Gray, Scott Goddard, Fred Griffin, Ann Hopmeier, Anne Isbell. Margaret Isbell, Lisa Kinsler, Tim Marchbanks, Cindy Smith, Jeana Thomas and Luanne Thompson of M. D. Collins

-French Essay-first year: Tracy Smith, Jonesboro Junior High;

-French Essay-second year: Teresa Hinton,

BEST LITERARY ENTRY-Suzanne Mittenzwei, right, a teacher at North Clayton Senior High School, accepts the best literary entry award at Clayton Junior College's 1981 Creative Arts Festival for Julie Christianson, one of her students. Making the presentation was Dr. Larry Corse, associate professor of English at the college. The winning entry was an expository essay by 12th graders entitled "Gogol's The Overcoat: A Quest for Dignity."

popular: Matt Jordan, Grif- near Morrow. fin High:

-Newspaper-junior high: The Battlecry, Riverdale Junior High, Carol Isaac, editor:

-Newspaper-senior high: The Blade, Woodward Academy, Marya Nuss, -Playwriting: Diana

Jones, Morrow Senior High; -Poetry-9th Grade: -Poetry-10th Grade:

Denise Williams, Henry County Senior High; -Poetry-11th Grade:

and Stan Williams of chairman of the sponsoring Newnan High;
Division of Humanities at Music Composition.

Camposition. -Music Composition- the two-year institution Other winners from

> Clayton County were: ART-Ninth grade

Second place, Karen Black, Babb Junior High School; third place, Tammy Poole, North Clayton Senior High; honorable mention, Cindy McGregor and Brenda Strength, Morrow Junior High.

ART-10th grade

Second place, Tim Frazier, Forest Park Senior High; third place, Chris McEarchern, Riverdale Senior

ART-11th grade

BEST ART AWARD-Terry White, a senior at Forest Park Senior High School, won the best art entry trophy for the second consecutive year at Clayton Junior College's 1981 Creative Arts Festival. It was the third top award for a Forest Park student, giving the school permanent keeping of the circulating trophy. White's winning entry was entitled

Tony Stanley, Griffin High; y Stanley, Griffin High; Second place, Kevin Black, -Poetry-12th Grade: Forest Park Senior High; honorable mention, Bryan White, Bobby Burns, Griffin High; -Short Story-9th Grade: Courtney Phillips, Babb

Junior High; -Short Story-10th Grade: Tanya Seyfert, Morrow Senior High; -Short Story-11th

Grade: Kay Adams, Grif in High; -Short Story-12th Grade: Roger Turner,

Southwest DeKalb: -Spanish Drama: Averil Moore, Debbie Rutherford, Tara Nakayama and Merrill Thompson, Griffin High; -Spanish Essay-first year: Alicia Samples,

-Spanish Essay-second year: Cynthia Sue Sauls, Jonesboro Senior High; -Spanish Essay-third

Jonesboro Junior High;

vear: Panela Boyd, Jonesboro Senior High; -Spanish Essay-fourth year: Yvonne Johnson, Palmetto High, and Theophilus Stanford,

Morrow Senior High. ART-12th grade

Third place, Clay Campbell, Jonesboro Senior High; honorable mention, Robert Maxwell, Morrow

CINEMATOGRAPHY

Tied for first place was the Forest Park Senior High team of Kevin Kline, Scott Campbell, Ronnie Cole, Ronnie Robins, Vickie Red and

FPSH swept the second and third place awards, too, with the team of Joe Caswell, Jay Burgis, Randy Prater, Jay Titshaw and James Stubbe coming in second and third place going to the team of Larry Johnson, James Coker, Eddie Jones

VIDEOTAPE

Second place went to the Morrow Junior High team of Ernie Alex-ander, Steve Benfield, Brian Cook, Rhonda Corley, Chris Downey, Chad Finlay, Bill Flowers, Rene Heflin, Bill Martin, Elizabeth Rob-bins, Stephen Smith, Debbie Straight and Franklin Warlick; honorable mention went to the

Second place to the Riverdale Senior High team of Mike Davis, Lisa Lindsey, Jill Castleberry, Susan Montry, Chip Durham, Sean Bednarz and Erin Callahan; third

FRENCH DRAMA

Bednarz and Erin Callahan; third place went to the Riverdale Senior High team of Bobby Callahan, Cindy Jackson, Cliff Gandt, Jeff Eidson, Bobby Carr, Georgann Jenkins, Kim Tribble, Kristen Tribble, Laura Thomas, Rick Wilder, Rick Price and Mark Parker. FRENCH ESSAY-First Year

Third place, Tracy Aballo, Jonesboro Senior High; honorable mention, Angela Ballard, Jonesboro

FRENCH ESSAY-Second Year Second place, Glori Kenobbie, Forest Park Senior High; third place, Cheri Boone, Jonesboro

Senior High: honorable mention. Sheila Silves, Jonesboro Senior

LITERARY MAGAZINE Second place, Morrow Senior High's Cavalier, Cindy Downey and Anne Turner, co-editors; third place to Riverdale Senior High's Posibilities, Marshall Johnston and David Sisk, co-editors.

MUSIC COMPOSITION-Group Composition and Improvisation

Second place to Tres Spier and

NEWSPAPER-Junior High

Second place to Morrow Junior High's Cat Scratchins, Rene Heflin,

PLAYWRITING

Second place to Penney Chandler. of Morrow Senior High; third place to Annika Fehlin, of Jonesboro Senior High; honorable mention to Robyn Sattazahn, Jonesboro Senior

POETRY-9th grade

Second place, Beth Morgan, Babb Junior High; honorable mention to Chad Finlay, Morrow Junior High; Heather Smith, Riverdale Junior High; Pam Sprayberry, Pointe South Junior High.

POETRY-10th grade

Honorable mention to Cindie Mitchell, Jonesboro Senior High.

POETRY-11th grade

Second place to Sheralyn Smith, Morrow Senior High.

SHORT STORY-9th grade

Morrow Junior High; third place to Bill Flowers, Morrow Junior High; honorable mention to Kim Powell, Mundy's Mill Junior High and Ted Schander, Babb Junior High.

SHORT STORY-10th grade

Second place to Carol Murdock and third place to Toni Bradley,

SHORT STORY-11th grade

Second place to Connie Barker, Forest Park Senior High; third place to Holly Simpson, Morrow Senior

Second place to the Forest Park Senior High team of Oliver Mora, Clint Ashmore, Paul Radack, Frank Sullivan, Scott Hopson, Billy Starke, Tommy McBroom, Heriberto Mora, Doug Drew, Ricky Pritchett, Tommy Yu, and Pam Minton; third place to Matt Crawford, of Riverdale Senior High.

April 19, 1981

SPANISH ESSAY-first year

Second place to Maria McGaha, North Clayton Senior High; honorable mention to James Allen, Forest Park Senior High. SPANISH ESSAY—second year

Honorable mention to Heidi Hernandez, Jonesboro Senior High. SPANISH ESSAY-third year Third place to Brandon Clay, Jonesboro Senior High.

THE HENRY HERALD

April 22, 1981 Denise Williams wins first at Creative Arts Festival

Junior College.

Lisa Orr of Henry County Senior High won third place in Short Story, dents from 34 area poetry, short story, 12th grade.

mention for their works Division of Humanities. were Jim Latimer, Henry The 35 different areas of County Senior High, and competition dealt with Gary Omahen, Stock- art, cinematography, Denise Williams of bridge Senior High, art, videotape, expository Henry County Senior 10th grade; Martha essay, French drama, High School won first Shouse, Henry County place in poetry, 10th Senior High, art, 12th grade, at the Creative grade; and Judy Morris, Arts Festival at Clayton Henry County Senior High, Short Story, 10th grade.

More than 1,000 stu- paper, schools participated in the annual event spon-Receiving honorable sored by the College's Spanish essay. French essay, literary magazine, classical music composition, group and improvisation music composition, popular music composition, news-

playwriting,

Entries were judged by members of the Clayton Junior College faculty and staff prior to the day-long event. Students participated in special workshops throughout the day and winners were announced at an awards Spanish drama, and ceremony.

CJC SCHOLARSHIP FUNDS-Hill R. Redwine, left, President of the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Fayetteville, presents a $300 scholarship check to Ernest Cheaves, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Clayton Junior College Foundation. The contribution goes into the general fund of the Foundation to help support this year's record $29.314 budget.

Programs Continued Three more programs in the small

Only The Best

Terry White, a senior at Forest Park Senior High School, won the "best art entry" for the second consecutive year at Clayton Junior College's 1981 Creative Arts Festival. It was the third top award for a Forest Park student, giving the school permanent keeping of the circulating trophy. White's winning entry was entitled "Orchids."

business management series scheduled at Clayton Junior College during the Spring Quarter will be conducted next week.

Business

"The law and small business" will be the topic of a two-part Sunday afternoon program scheduled on Apri 26 and May 3. Planned between 2 and 4 p.m. each Sunday, a $10 registration on fee will cover the cost of both sessions. Information on "how a friendly banker can help small business" will be provided during a three-hour seminar scheduled on Monday, April registration fee will be required. All the basics on "how to apply for an SBA loan" will be explained during a three-hour seminar on Thursday, April 30. Also set for 6:30 p.m., an $8 registration fee will be required.

The two-part Sunday program will cover the legal aspects of operating a cover the legal aspects of operating a small business, including business and structures, regulations, contracts, and license requirements. The April 27 program will deal with what small business owners can expect from the banker and what the banker expects from them, while the April 30 seminar will provide complete information about application forms and procedures necessary in applying for SBA loans.

For complete information about any of the programs, or others that will follow in the series, call the College's Small Business Development Center at 961-3414. To register, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3550. The quarterly series of programs for small business owners is cosponsored by the College along with the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration.

FAYETTE STUDENTS RANK HIGH IN MATH-Above, Dr. Cathy Aust, assistant professor of mathematics at Clayton Junior College, presents awards achievements in second place in upper level mathematics competition. Below, Kevin Port, Jan Ulery, Michelle Yu and Meghan Mushovic also receive awards for placing third in lower level competition. All are students from Fayette County High School.

to Danny Barron, Terri Smith, Mark Roberson and Sandra McBride for their

NEWS/DAILY

May 4, 1981 Monday

Three different sessions on food preservation will be presented at Clayton Junior

Kathy Wages, home economist with the Clayton Coun-conduct the free three-part of discussion at 6 p.m.,

"canning" will be discussed

∞at 7 p.m., and "freezing" information will be provided at 8 p.m.

· Participants may attend

one or all of the sessions and >no registration is required.

The program will be pres≥ ented in Room D-200 of the

For more information,

call the Clayton County Extension Service at 478-9911 or

← the college's Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

adjustment mechanisms

College next week.

ш a.m. on May 13.

lecture at Clayton Junior

Dr. Pauline Clance, an aschology at Georgia State University, will speak at 10

Scheduled in Room D-200 → Scheduled in Teorem Build → of the Student Center Build-

> Next week's program is another in a continuing

Lyceum-sponsored series on

ing, the lecture will be free and open to the public.

"Values for the 80s."

> sociate professor of Psy-

Student Center Building.

'Drying' will be the topic

tv Extension Service will

College next week.

program on May 12.

FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, May 4 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited. RIVERDALE CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, May 4 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited. CLAYTON BOARD OF EDUCATION to meet Monday, May 2 at 7:30 p.m. in annex offices in Jonesboro. Public

Tuesday

CLAYTON COUNTY COMMISSION to meet Tuesday, May 5 at 1:30 p.m. in commission chambers in administration building, Jonesboro. Public invited. TWO-CAREER FAMILY two-hour workshop, Tuesday, May 5 at Clayton Jr. College, 7-9 p.m. $3 fee, nonrefundable. Call Office of Community Services, 961-3550, for information. SOUTHSIDE CHARTER CHAPTER of American Business Women's Association to meet Tuesday, May 5 at 6:30 p.m. at Airport Sheraton Inn. May is Education month and chapter scholarships will be awarded to a local student.

INFLUENCE OF FUNDAMENTALISM ON SOUTH topic of two lectures at Clayton Jr. College, Wednesday, May 6 at 10 a.m. in room D-200 and at 7 p.m. in room G-132. Speaker Dr. David Edwin Harrell Jr., university scholar in history at University of Alabama. Public invited.

CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE MUSIC students to present Compositions Recital at 10 a.m. Wednesday, May 6 in room G-132. Public invited.

GRIFFIN DAILY NEWS April 30, 1981

Best music entry

Bobby Burns (left) of Griffin High School won the "best music entry" in Clayton Junior College's 1981 Creative Arts Festival. Presenting him with the award was Mrs. Doris Holloway, Associate Professor of Music at the two-year institution. The presentation marked the third time for a Griffin student to win the circulating trophy, making it a permanent possession of the school. Burns won with his classical music composition entitled "Cosmic Conversation."

Wednesday

THE MEALS ON WHEELS PROGRAM of the Clayton Community Programs for the Aging is having a reception to recognize the volunteers who deliver meals daily to the elderly. The reception will be Wednesday April 29, from 2-4 p.m. at the Morrow United Methodist Church Fellowship

CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE BAND IN CONCERT Wednesday, April 29 at 10 a.m. in Lecture Hall (G-132).

Free and open to public. STAGE AND SCREEN ACTING-THE DIFFERENCES to be presented by Atlanta-based actress Mary Nell Santacrose, Wednesday, April 29 at 10 a.m. at Clayton Jr. College, Room D-200, Student Center Bldg. Ms. Santacrose has acting experience on screen, stage and television. Lecture free and open to public.

Thursday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE will administer the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) to prospective students of the two-year institution on Thursday, April 30, beginning at 6 p.m. in Room G-132. Call 961-3500 or 961-3510 for complete information.

A THREE-HOUR SEMINAR ON "HOW TO APPLY FOR AN SBA LOAN" will be presented at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, April 30. Scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m., the program is another in a continuing series for small business owners.

Friday

U.S. SENATOR SAM NUNN to be featured speaker at annual Clayton Jr. College Foundation meeting and banquet, Friday, May 1 at 7 p.m. in CJC Student Center (Room D-200). Reservations must be made in advance. Tickets available from members of Foundation Board of

Wednesday

INFLUENCE OF FUNDAMENTALISM ON SOUTH,

topic of two lectures at Clayton Jr. College, Wednesday,

May 6 at 10 a.m. in room D-200 and at 7 p.m. in room G-132.

Speaker Dr. David Edwin Harrell Jr., university scholar in

CLAYTON JR. COLLEGE MUSIC students to present

Compositions Recital at 10 a.m. Wednesday, May 6 in room

CANCER FACTS FOR WOMEN Wednesday, May 6 at 10

a.m. at South Metro YMCA, Soromundi Center, 6335

Riverdale Rd., Riverdale. Presented by American Cancer

COPING WITH SEPARATION AND DIVORCE, part of Sandwich Board series, Wednesday, May 6, noon-1 p.m. in Rich's auditorium at Southlake Mall. Sponsored by Mental Health Association of Metro Atlanta. Different program

each week, all free and open to public. Participants encouraged to bring their own lunch. For information call

Thursday

STATE FARMERS' MARKET OPEN HOUSE of new

Welcome Center and Produce Building, Thursday, May 7

Friday

THE ANNUAL JONESBORO AREA Girl Scout

Appreciation banquet will be held on Friday, May 8 at 6:30

THE SOUTH SIDE SINGLES will hold their monthly dance on Friday, May 8, at 9 p.m., at the Fort McPherson p.m. in the Jonesboro Presbyterian Church.

nistory at University of Alabama. Public invited.

Society, Clayton unit, Free and open to public.

NEWS/DAILY

G-132. Public invited.

522-9910.

from 3-5 p.m.

May 6, 1931

What's Going On

April 29, 1981 NEWS/DAILY

Trustees or by calling CJC at 961-3531 or 961-3535. SENIOR CITIZENS SPRING DANCE Friday, May 1 at 7:30 p.m. at St. Phillips Benizi Catholic Church, Flint River Rd., Jonesboro. Sponsored by Clayton Co. Community Programs For Aging. Live entertainment, door prizes. Refreshments provided by Clayton County Council of Homemakers. Contact Donna Akers, 361-9179.

SENIOR CITIZENS MAY DAY celebration at Reynolds Nature Preserve. Noon-3 p.m. Sponsored by Clayton Parks and Recreation Dept. Come, bring picnic lunch. Fried chicken furnished. Games, prizes, fun, fellowship. Clayton Commission to be present.

Saturday

FOREST PARK ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION PARADE Saturday, May 2. Parade units form at 8:30 a.m. on Main St. next to Forest Square Shopping Center. Parade begins at 9 a.m., proceeds to ballpark.

TRI-CITY BPW (Business and Professional Women's Club) installation of officers, Saturday, May 2 at 7 p.m. at Woodward Academy in College Park. Mrs. Helen Miller of president. Forest . Park to . be new

CPR (CARDIOPULMONARY RESUSCITATION) COURSE IN FOREST PARK Saturday, May 2 from 8 a.m.-5 p.m., sponsored by Forest Park Parks and Recreation Dept. in conjunction with Georgia Heart Association. REQUIRED for all persons interested in taking Life Saving and Water Safety Instructor classes. Limited to first 15 applicants. Must be pre-registered. $3 per person. Apply at Forest Park Rec. Dept., 803 Forest Parkway.

OFFICERS' WIVES CLUB THRIFT SHOP at Ft. Gillem general merchandise and bake sale, Saturday, May 2, open to general public. Proceeds to promote community welfare and scholarships. Infant, children's clothes; ladies' dresses; men's clothing; furniture; knick-knacks; general merchandise. Enter Ft. Gillem west gate, OWC Thrift Shop in Building 902.

ADAMSON JR. HIGH PTA 'TRADIN' POST' Saturday, May 2 at Adamson Jr. High in Rex, 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Arts and crafts, rummage sale, flea market, bake sale. Any dealer or person desiring to reserve space should send $10 check to: The Tradin' Post, Adamson Jr. High, 3187 Rex Rd., Rex, CLAYTON CO. JR. HIGH ONE ACT PLAY competition, Saturday, May 2 at Riverdale Jr. High beginning at noon. Eight jr. high schools to present comedies. $1.50 for adults and students.

Monday

FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, May 4 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited.

RIVERDALE CITY COUNCIL to meet Monday, May 4 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited.

CLAYTON BOARD OF EDUCATION to meet Monday, May 2 at 7:30 p.m. in annex offices in Jonesboro. Public invited.

Tuesday

CLAYTON COUNTY COMMISSION to meet Tuesday, May 5 at 1:30 p.m. in commission chambers in administration building, Jonesboro. Public invited.

TWO-CAREER FAMILY two-hour workshop, Tuesday, May 5 at Clayton Jr. College, 7-9 p.m. $3 fee, nonrefundable. Call Office of Community Services, 961-3550, for SOUTHSIDE CHARTER CHAPTER of American Business Women's Association to meet Tuesday, May 5 at 6:30 p.m. at Airport Sheraton Inn. May is Education month and chapter scholarships will be awarded to a local student.

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE DRAMA students and faculty members will present the fourth and final production of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" during an 8 p.m. performance, on May 23, in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Public invited.

Saturday

NEWS/ DAILY

G-132). The public is invited.

Public invited.

NEWS/DAILY

May 19, 1981 Wednesday

May 16, 1981

ROBB GOLDSTEIN, NANTUCKET'S TROUBADOUR,

will be presented in three programs at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, May 20. Shows will begin at 8:45

a.m. (Room B-150, 10 a.m. (College Cafeteria and 11:10 a.m. (B-15). Program is free and open to the public.

Goldstein plays guitar, banjo, dulcimer, mandolin, fife and

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE DRAMA students and faculty members will present the first of four productions of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" during a 10 a.m.

performance in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Public

Thursday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE DRAMA STUDEN'TS

and faculty will present the second of four productions of Shakespear's "Merchant of Venice" during an 8:30 p.m.

Thursday, May 21, performance in the lecture hall (Room

Friday

CLAYTON COUNTY COLLEGE DRAMA students and faculty members will present the third of four productions of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" during an 8 p.m.,

May 22, performance in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132).

ROBB GOLDSTEIN, NANTUCKET'S TROUBADOUR, will be presented in three programs at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, May 20. Shows will begin at 8:45 a.m. (Room B-150, 10 a.m. (College Cafeteria and 11:10 a.m. (B-15). Program is free and open to the public. Goldstein plays guitar, banjo, dulcimer, mandolin, fife and

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE DRAMA students and faculty members will present the first of four productions of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" during a 10 a.m. performance in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Public

Thursday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE DRAMA STUDENTS and faculty will present the second of four productions of Shakespear's "Merchant of Venice" during an 8:30 p.m. Thursday, May 21, performance in the lecture hall (Room G-132). The public is invited.

Friday

CLAYTON COUNTY COLLEGE DRAMA students and faculty members will present the third of four productions of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" during an 8 p.m., May 22, performance in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132).

Saturday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE DRAMA students and faculty members will present the fourth and final production of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" during an 8 p.m. performance, on May 23, in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Public invited.

THE CLAYTON SUN May 21, 1981

presented in concert Tuesday, May 26 at 8:30 p.m. in the college's Lecture Hall (room G-132). The public is tions must be made in CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE music students will the Foundation's be presented in an ensemble recital May 27, beginning at Board of Trustees or by 10 a.m. in the Lecture Hall of the college (room G-132).

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS 4/29/81 Clayton Junior College Schedule

Events scheduled at Clayton Junior College,

The Clayton Junior College Jazz Band will be presented in concert during a 10 a.m. presentation at the College on Wednesday, April 29. Free and open to the public, the concert will be given in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132).

Atlanta-based actress Mary Nell Santacrose will speak on "the differences between stage and screen acting" during a 10 a.m. lecture at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, April 29. Experienced on the stage, screen and television, Ms. Santacrose will be presented in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building. The lecture will be free and open to the public.

Thursday, April 30

Clayton Junior College will administer the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) to prospective students of the two-year institution on Thursday, April 30, beginning at 6 p.m. in Room G-132. Call 961-3500 or 961-3510 for complete information.

A three-hour seminar on "how to apply for an SBA loan" will be presented at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, April 30. Scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m., the program is another in a continuing series for small business owners.

United States Senator Sam Nunn will be the tion on Friday, May 1. Georgia's senior Senator

Tuesday, May 5

Practical and personal challenges of a

Wednesday, May 6

South" will be the topic of two lectures at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, May 6. Dr. David Edwin Harrell, Jr., University in Birmingham, will speak at 10 a.m. in Room D-200 and at 7 p.m. in Room G-132. The public is presented in a Compositions Recital, beginning at 10 a.m. in Room G-132 on Wednesday, May 6. The public is invited free of charge.

What's Going On

NCO Club. The music will be by Teddy Bear and the admission is $3 per person. The dance is open to all singles in Metro Atlanta

Saturday

FOREST PARK HIGH SCHOOL will sponsor a Bike-A-Thon Saturday, May 9, to benefit Georgia Chapter of Cystic Fibrosis. All bikers meet at the gym parking lot at 9 a.m. Those biking 25 miles or more get a free T-shirt. For more information contact Wiley at the high school.

THE FRANKIE LYLE CHAPTER of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will meet Saturday, May 9, at Sambo's in Jonesboro at 2 p.m. The program will consist of family stories told by the members as they have been passed down from generation to generation.

FOREST PARK TOUCHDOWN CLUB will sponsor a chicken-q-plate Saturday, May 9, from 11:30 a.m.-6 p.m. at Forest Plaza. Donation $3.

Monday

THE FIRST PROGRAM IN A four part-series for small business owners on the topic of "basic accounting" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Monday, May 11. Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each evening, additional sessions will follow on May 13, 18 and 20. A $30 registration fee covers the cost of all four sessions. Call 961-3414 for more information, or 961-3550 to register.

JONESBORO TOUCHDOWN CLUB will meet Monday, May 11, at 7:30 p.m., at Jonesboro High School library.

Tuesday

CLAYTON COUNTY HOME ECONOMIST KATHY WAGES will conduct three different sessions on food preservation at Clayton Junior College Tuesday, May 12. 'Drying" will be the topic at 6 p.m.; "canning" will be discussed at 7 p.m.; and "freezing" information will be provided at 8 p.m. Participants may attend one or all of the sessions and no registration is required. All programs are scheduled in Room D-200 on the college campus. A HUNTER EDUCATION AND FIREARMS clinic will be held at the Forest Park Recreation Center Tuesday, May 12 and Thursday, May 14. The clinic is sponsored by the recreation department and the Department of Human Resources. The hours on both days is from 6:30-10 p.m. and the instructor is Mike Tallent. The free clinic is open to those 12 years old or older and should pre-register by May 11. The number to call is 363-2908.

A WATER SAFETY INSTRUCTOR COURSE will be conducted at the Forest Park Recreation Center beginning Tuesday, May 12. The course will run until 30 units have been completed. The class will meet Tuesday thru Thursday from 7-10 p.m., Fee is $15. For more information call

THE SOUTHSIDE SINGLES will meet Tuesday, May 12, at 7:45 p.m. in the clubhouse of the Windjammer South Apartments, 5420 Riverdale Road, College Park. MORROW CITY COUNCIL to meet Tuesday, May 12 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited.

Events scheduled at College

Events at Clayton WEDNESDAY, MAY 6 public is invited.

Junior College between May 2-9, 1981:

Literary

Winners

G. P. Babb Jr. High

Assistant Principal Eddie

White looks over literary selections with recent winners at the Clayton

Junior College Creative Arts

Festival From left: Courtney Blake Phillips received a first place and Ted Schander received an honorable mention in the 9th grade short story competition.

Beth Morgan was second poetry competition.

place winner in the 9th grade

"The Influence of Fun- music students will be 961-3500 or 961-3510 for damentalism on the presented in Composi- complete information. South" will be the topic of tions Recital, beginning challenges of a two Junior College on Wed- on Wednesday, May 6. career family will be the nesday, May 6. Dr. David topic of a two-hour work- Edwin Harrell Jr., Unishop at Clayton Junior versity Scholar in History College on Tuesday, May at the University of will administer the Scho-5. Scheduled between 7 Alabama in Birmingham, lastic Aptitude Test and 9 p.m., a $3 will speak at 10 a.m. in (SAT) to prospective

THURSDAY, APRIL 30 Clayton Junior College non-refundable fee is re- Room D-200 and at 7 p.m. students of the two-year quired for registration. in Room G-132. The institution on Thursday,

Clayton Junior College p.m. in Room G-132. Call

April 30, beginning at 6 plete information.

United States Senator advance. Tickets are Sam Nunn will be the available from members A three-hour seminar Pratical and personal two lectures at Clayton at 10 a.m. in Room G-132 on "how to apply for an featured speaker at the SBA loan" will be pre- 1981 annual meeting and sented at Clayton Junior banquet of the Clayton College on Thursday, Junior College Founda-April 30. Scheduled to tion on Friday, May 1. begin at 6:30 p.m., the Georgia's senior Senator program is another in a will speak at the annual continuing series for event, scheduled to begin small business owners. at 7 p.m. (seating begins

FRIDAY, MAY 1

Call 961-3514 for com- at 6:45) in the College's calling the College at The public is invited. 961-3535 or 961-3531.

Student Center Building

(Room D-200). Reserva-

NEWS/DAILY

ROBB GOLDSTEIN, NANTUCKET'S TROUBADOUR will be presented in three programs at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, May 20. Shows will begin at 8:45 a.m. (Room B-150, 10 a.m. (College Cafeteria and 11:10 a.m. (B-15). Program is free and open to the public. Goldstein plays guitar, banjo, dulcimer, mandolin, fife and

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE DRAMA students and faculty members will present the first of four productions of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" during a 10 a.m. performance in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Public

Thursday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE DRAMA STUDENTS and faculty will present the second of four productions of Shakespear's "Merchant of Venice" during an 8:30 p.m. Thursday, May 21, performance in the lecture hall (Room G-132). The public is invited.

May 11, 1981

CJC To Present Play, 'The Merchant Of Venice'

will be presented in formances next week.

and open to the public, are scheduled at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, May 20; at 8:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 21: and at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday evenings, May 22 and 23. All performances will be given in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on the Clayton Junior College cam-

One of Shakespeare's most widely-read and oftenproduced plays, the title page of the First Quarto describes the play as "The Excellent History of the Merchant of Venice.' In the production, Debbie Williams of Jonesboro displays her dramatic talent in the role of Portia. Playing opposite of Debbie is another Jonesboro student, Tom Morfoot as Bassanic. David Deering of Morrow portrays the intense and brooding

figure of Shylock.

The supporting role of Gratiano, Nerissa, Jessica and Lorenzo are being played by Bert Lyons, Betsy Shackelford, Ellen Kessel and Jeff Pike. Donna Roye will play the clown. Launcelot, and Rhonda Smith, Salerio, a friend of Antonio, the merchant of the

The stratight roles of Prince of Aragon and the Prince of Morocco will be played by Wes Hudosn and Pat Collins.

THE CLAYTON SUN May 7, 1981 Basic Accounting Topic of CJC Series

Basic accounting for call the Office of Comsmall business owners will munity Services at 961be the topic of a four-part 3550. series scheduled at Clayton Junior College during the next two weeks.

Another program in a con- College by the Clayton tinuing series sponsored County Chamber of Comthrough the College's Small Business Development Center (SBDC), three-hour programs are scheduled on consecutive Mondays and Wednesdays, May 11-13 and 18-20. Sessions will begin at 6:30 each evening and a $30 registration fee includes the cost of the entire program.

Participants will be introduced to basic procedures for recording accounting transactions in small business situations. The course includes a summary of federal and state tax reporting requirements, records retention, and bank statement reconciliation. For more information about the program, or others scheduled during the Spring Quarter, call the SBDC office at 961-3414. To register,

- Dog training offered at CJC

Clayton Junior College will offer a series of dog training programs at Glen-Soloch Recreation Center besinning the week of June

∠ at CJC June 8, Monday-Thursday, 8 a.m.-7:45 ≥ p.m. and Friday, 8 a.m.-5 op.m. in the Office of Further information is

Registration will begin

Community Services. available at 961-3550.

Band Concert Set At Junior College

Band and a number of other given on Wednesday music students will be presented during two presentations at the College begin at 8:30 p.m. and the next week.

Programs in the small business management series

are co-sponsored with the

merce and the Small Business Administration.

The band, directed by Bill Gore, will be presented in concert on Tuesday evening, May 26, and a "student free and open to the public.

The Clayton Junior College ensemble recital" will be morning, May 27. The band concert will student ensemble will begin at 10 a.m. Both Lyceumsponsored performances will be given in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) and will be

NEWS/DAILY

May 20, 1981 Wednesday

ROBB GOLDSTEIN, NANTUCKET'S TROUBADOUR will be presented in three programs at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, May 20. Shows will begin at 8:45 a.m. (Room B-150, 10 a.m. (College Cafeteria and 11:10 a.m. (B-15). Program is free and open to the public. Goldstein plays guitar, banjo, dulcimer, mandolin, fife and concertina.

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE DRAMA students and faculty members will present the first of four productions of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" during a 10 a.m. performance in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Public

Thursday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE DRAMA STUDENTS and faculty will present the second of four productions of Shakespear's "Merchant of Venice" during an 8:30 p.m. Thursday, May 21, performance in the lecture hall (Room G-132). The public is invited.

Friday

CLAYTON COUNTY COLLEGE DRAMA students and faculty members will present the third of four productions of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" during an 8 p.m., May 22, performance in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132).

Saturday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE DRAMA students and faculty members will present the fourth and final production of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" during an 8 p.m. performance, on May 23, in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Public invited.

NEWS/DAILY

5/7/81 Thursday

STATE FARMERS' MARKET OPEN HOUSE of new Welcome Center and Produce Building, Thursday, May 7 from 3-5 p.m.

Friday

THE ANNUAL JONESBORO AREA Girl Scout Appreciation banquet will be held on Friday, May 8 at 6:30 p.m. in the Jonesboro Presbyterian Church.

THE SOUTH SIDE SINGLES will hold their monthly dance on Friday, May 8, at 9 p.m., at the Fort McPherson NCO Club. The music will be by Teddy Bear and the admission is $3 per person. The dance is open to all singles in Metro Atlanta

THE HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT of Jonesboro Junior High School will sponsor its annual beauty pageant Friday, May 8, at 7:30 p.m., in the school cafeteria. Public invited. Admission $1.

Saturday

FOREST PARK HIGH SCHOOL will sponsor a Bike-A-Thon Saturday, May 9, to benefit Georgia Chapter of Cystic Fibrosis. All bikers meet at the gym parking lot at 9 a.m. Those biking 25 miles or more get a free T-shirt. For more information contact Wiley at the high school.

THE FRANKIE LYLE CHAPTER of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will meet Saturday, May 9, at Sambo's in Jonesboro at 2 p.m. The program will consist of family stories told by the members as they have been passed down from generation to generation.

FOREST PARK TOUCHDOWN CLUB will sponsor a chicken-q-plate Saturday, May 9, from 11:30 a.m.-6 p.m. at. Forest Plaza. Donation $3.

Monday

THE FIRST PROGRAM IN A four part-series for small business owners on the topic of "basic accounting" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Monday, May 11.

What's Going On

Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each evening, additional sessions will follow on May 13, 18 and 20. A $30 registration fee covers the cost of all four sessions. Call 961-3414 for more information, or 961-3550 to register. JONESBORO TOUCHDOWN CLUB will meet Monday,

May 11, at 7:30 p.m., at Jonesboro High School library.

Tuesday

CLAYTON COUNTY HOME ECONOMIST KATHY WAGES will conduct three different sessions on food preservation at Clayton Junior College Tuesday, May 12. "Drying" will be the topic at 6 p.m.; "canning" will be discussed at 7 p.m.; and "freezing" information will be provided at 8 p.m. Participants may attend one or all of the sessions and no registration is required. All programs are scheduled in Room D-200 on the college campus.

A HUNTER EDUCATION AND FIREARMS clinic will. be held at the Forest Park Recreation Center Tuesday, May 12 and Thursday, May 14. The clinic is sponsored by the recreation department and the Department of Human Resources. The hours on both days is from 6:30-10 p.m. and the instructor is Mike Tallent. The free clinic is open to those 12 years old or older and should pre-register by May 11. The number to call is 363-2908.

A WATER SAFETY INSTRUCTOR COURSE will be conducted at the Forest Park Recreation Center beginning Tuesday, May 12. The course will run until 30 units have been completed. The class will meet Tuesday thru Thursday from 7-10 p.m., Fee is $15. For more information call

THE SOUTHSIDE SINGLES will meet Tuesday, May 12, at 7:45 p.m. in the clubhouse of the Windjammer South Apartments, 5420 Riverdale Road, College Park. MORROW CITY COUNCIL to meet Tuesday, May 12 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited.

Wednesday, April 29

Call 961-3514 for complete information.

Friday, May 1

featured speaker at the 1981 annual meeting and banquet of the Clayton Junior College Foundawill speak at the annual event, scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. (seating begins at 6:45) in the College's Student Center Building (Room D-200). Reservations must be made in advance. Tickets are available from members of the Foundation's Board of Trustees or by calling the College at 961-3535 or 961-3531.

two-career family will be the topic of a two-hour workshop at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday, May 5. Scheduled between 7 and 9 p.m., a $3 non-refundable fee is required for registration. Call the Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

"The Influence of Fundamentalism on the THE CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE Band will be Scholar in History at the University of Alabama

Clayton Junior College music students will be

Clayton Junior College drama students and faculty Shakespeare's romantic comedy. "The Merchant of Venice," during four per-

The productions, all free

THE SOUTH SIDE SINGLES will hold their monthly dance on Friday, May 8, at 9 p.m., at the Fort McPherson NCO Club. The music will be by Teddy Bear and the admission is $3 per person. The dance is open to all singles in Metro Atlanta. THE HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT of Jonesboro Junior High School will sponsor its annual beauty pageant Friday, May 8, at 7:30 p.m., in the school cafeteria. Public invited. Admission $1.

Saturday

FOREST PARK HIGH SCHOOL will sponsor a Bike-A-Thon Saturday, May 9, to benefit Georgia Chapter of Cystic Fibrosis. All bikers meet at the gym parking lot at 9 a.m. Those biking 25 miles or more get a free T-shirt. For more information contact Wiley at the high school.

THE FRANKIE LYLE CHAPTER of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will meet Saturday, May 9, at Sambo's in Jonesboro at 2 p.m. The program will consist of family stories told by the members as they have been passed down from generation to generation.

THE HIGH HOPES VIOLET CLUB will sponsor an African Violet Show and Sale on Saturday, May 9 at Southlake Mall. The show will take place from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. Public invited.

FOREST PARK TOUCHDOWN CLUB will sponsor a chicken-q-plate Saturday, May 9, from 11:30 a.m.-6 p.m. at Forest Plaza. Donation $3.

Monday

THE FIRST PROGRAM IN A four part-series for small business owners on the topic of "basic accounting" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Monday, May 11. Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each evening, additional sessions will follow on May 13, 18 and 20. A $30 registration fee covers the cost of all four sessions. Call 961-3414 for more information, or 961-3550 to register.

JONESBORO TOUCHDOWN CLUB will meet Monday, May 11, at 7:30 p.m., at Jonesboro High School library.

MEM2/DAILY

May 11, 1981 Monday

THE FIRST PROGRAM IN A four part-series for small business owners on the topic of "basic accounting" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Monday, May 11. Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each evening, additional sessions will follow on May 13, 18 and 20. A $30 registration fee covers the cost of all four sessions. Call 961-3414 for more information, or 961-3550 to register.

JONESBORO TOUCHDOWN CLUB will meet Monday, May 11, at 7:30 p.m., at Jonesboro High School library.

Tuesday

CLAYTON COUNTY HOME ECONOMIST KATHY WAGES will conduct three different sessions on food preservation at Clayton Junior College Tuesday, May 12. "Drying" will be the topic at 6 p.m.; "canning" will be discussed at 7 p.m.; and "freezing" information will be provided at 8 p.m. Participants may attend one or all of the sessions and no registration is required. All programs are scheduled in Room D-200 on the college campus

A HUNTER EDUCATION AND FIREARMS clinic will be held at the Forest Park Recreation Center Tuesday, May 12 and Thursday, May 14. The clinic is sponsored by the recreation department and the Department of Human Resources. The hours on both days is from 6:30-10 p.m. and the instructor is Mike Tallent. The free clinic is open to those 12 years old or older and should pre-register by May 11. The number to call is 363-2908.

A WATER SAFETY INSTRUCTOR COURSE will be conducted at the Forest Park Recreation Center beginning Tuesday, May 12. The course will run until 30 units have been completed. The class will meet Tuesday thru Thursday from 7-10 p.m., Fee is $15. For more information call

THE SOUTHSIDE SINGLES will meet Tuesday, May 12,

What's Going On

CLAYTON COUNTY HOME ECONOMIST KATHY WAGES will conduct three different sessions on food preservation at Clayton Junior College Tuesday, May 12. "Drying" will be the topic at 6 p.m.; "canning" will be discussed at 7 p.m.; and "freezing" information will be provided at 8 p.m. Participants may attend one or all of the sessions and no registration is required. All programs are scheduled in Room D-200 on the college campus.

A HUNTER EDUCATION AND FIREARMS clinic will be held at the Forest Park Recreation Center Tuesday, May 12 and Thursday, May 14. The clinic is sponsored by the recreation department and the Department of Human Resources. The hours on both days is from 6:30-10 p.m. and the instructor is Mike Tallent. The free clinic is open to those 12 years old or older and should pre-register by May 11. The number to call is 363-2908.

A WATER SAFETY INSTRUCTOR COURSE will be conducted at the Forest Park Recreation Center beginning Tuesday, May 12. The course will run until 30 units have been completed. The class will meet Tuesday thru Thursday from 7-10 p.m., Fee is $15. For more information call

THE SOUTHSIDE SINGLES will meet Tuesday, May 12, at 7:45 p.m. in the clubhouse of the Windjammer South

Apartments, 5420 Riverdale Road, College Park. MORROW CITY COUNCIL to meet Tuesday, May 12 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited.

Wednesday

PARENTING TEENAGERS, part of Sandwich Board series, Wednesday, May 13, noon-1 p.m. in Rich's auditorium at Southlake Mall. Sponsored by Mental Health Association of Metro Atlanta. The lecture speaker will be Leonard T. Curtis, Ph.D, Georgia State University. The series is free and open to the public. Participants encouraged to bring own lunch. For information call 522-

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE MUSIC students will be presented in two recitals. A student recital is scheduled for Wednesday, May 13, at 10 a.m., and a sophomore recital is scheduled for Thursday, May 14. Both presentations will be in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Sponsored by Lyceum, both performances are open to the public free of charge. EASTERN AIRLINES SILVERLINER CLUB will meet Wednesday, May 13, at 11 a.m. in the garden pool area of the Harley Hotel at I-285-Camp Creek Parkway, East Point. Special guest will be International Silverliner President Dorothy Nouhan from Detroit, Mich.

ANCESTORS UNLIMITED, INC. will meet Wednesday, May 13, at 9:30 a.m. in the Community Room of the Georgia Power Building on Smith Street in Jonesboro. CESAREAN CONCERN IS SPONSORING an evening of information and a slide presentation on Wednesday, May 13, 8-10 p.m. in the Rich Auditorium of Piedmont Hospital, 1968 Peachtree Rd. NW. A $1 donation will be collected from non-members. For more information call 873-2449 or 289-

"LIFESTYLES AND SEX ROLES AS ADJUSTMENT MECHANISM" will be the topic of Dr. Pauline Clance, an associate professor at Georgia State University, Wednesday, May 3, at a 10 a.m. lecture at Clayton Junior College. Free and open to the public, the program will be given in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building.

THE ANNUAL SPRING BENEFIT sponsored by the YWCA Bridge Club YWCA-Soromundi Center will be held on Wednesday, May 13 at the YWCA in Riverdale. Benefit hours are 9:30 a.m.-2 p.m. The charge is $3 per person. For further information and registration call the YWCA at 997-

Thursday

THE HAPEVILLE RECREATION CENTER will offer classes in dog obedience for all breeds. The novice course begins, Thursday, May 14, at 7 p.m. The utility advance course starts May 14 at 8:30 p.m. For more information call the center at 768-8597 or Instructor Vicky Jones at 471-1381.

THE CLAYTON COUNTY DIABETIC GROUP will meet on Thursday, May 14, at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of Clayton General Hospital. Dr. Michael Wineburgh, podiatrist, will be the guest speaker.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF RETIRED FEDERAL EMPLOYEES (NARFE) Chapter No. 1629 will meet Thursday, May 14, at 1:30 p.m. in the Forest Park Recreation Center. The program will be presented by representatives of the Forest Park police department

THE PTA SCHOOL OF INFORMATION will take place on Thursday, May 14, at Riverdale Presbyterian Church from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. A babysitter will be available at a cost of 50 cents a child.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF FEDERAL RETIRED EMPLOYEES Jonesboro Chapter No. 1649, will hold its monthly meeting Thursday, May 14, 12:30 p.m. at The Clock Restaurant 8501 Tara Blvd. All federal retirees and friends are invited to attend. For further information call Henry

What's Going On

Apartments, 5420 Riverdale Road, College Park. MORROW CITY COUNCIL to meet Tuesday, May 12 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited.

Wednesday

PARENTING TEENAGERS, part of Sandwich Board series, Wednesday, May 13, noon-1 p.m. in Rich's auditorium at Southlake Mall. Sponsored by Mental Health Association of Metro Atlanta. The lecture speaker will be Leonard T. Curtis, Ph.D. Georgia State University. The series is free and open to the public. Participants encouraged to bring own lunch. For information call 522-

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE MUSIC students will be presented in two recitals. A student recital is scheduled for Wednesday, May 13, at 10 a.m., and a sophomore recital is scheduled for Thursday, May 14. Both presentations will be in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Sponsored by Lyceum. both performances are open to the public free of charge. EASTERN AIRLINES SILVERLINER CLUB will meet

Wednesday, May 13, at 11 a.m. in the garden pool area of the Harley Hotel at I-285-Camp Creek Parkway, East Point. Special guest will be International Silverliner President Dorothy Nouhan from Detroit, Mich. ANCESTORS UNLIMITED, INC. will meet Wednesday,

May 13, at 9:30 a.m. in the Community Room of the Georgia Power Building on Smith Street in Jonesboro. CESAREAN CONCERN IS SPONSORING an evening of information and a slide presentation on Wednesday, May 13, 8-10 p.m. in the Rich Auditorium of Piedmont Hospital, 1968 Peachtree Rd. NW. A $1 donation will be collected from non-members. For more information call 873-2449 or 289-

"LIFESTYLES AND SEX ROLES AS ADJUSTMENT MECHANISM" will be the topic of Dr. Pauline Clance, an associate professor at Georgia State University, Wednesday, May 3, at a 10 a.m. lecture at Clayton Junion College. Free and open to the public, the program will be given in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building.

THE ANNUAL SPRING BENEFIT sponsored by the YWCA Bridge Club YWCA-Soromundi Center will be held on Wednesday, May 13 at the YWCA in Riverdale. Benefit hours are 9:30 a.m.-2 p.m. The charge is $3 per person. For further information and registration call the YWCA at 997-

Thursday

THE HAPEVILLE RECREATION CENTER will offer classes in dog obedience for all breeds. The novice course begins, Thursday, May 14, at 7 p.m. The utility advance course starts May 14 at 8:30 p.m. For more information call the center at 768-8597 or Instructor Vicky Jones at 471-1381.

THE CLAYTON COUNTY DIABETIC GROUP will meet on Thursday, May 14, at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of Clayton General Hospital. Dr. Michael Wineburgh, podiatrist, will be the guest speaker. NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF RETIRED FEDERAL

EMPLOYEES (NARFE) Chapter No. 1629 will meet Thursday, May 14, at 1:30 p.m. in the Forest Park Recreation Center. The program will be presented by representatives of the Forest Park police department

THE PTA SCHOOL OF INFORMATION will take place on Thursday, May 14, at Riverdale Presbyterian Church from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. A babysitter will be available at a cost of 50 cents a child.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF FEDERAL RETIRED EMPLOYEES Jonesboro Chapter No. 1649, will hold its monthly meeting Thursday, May 14, 12:30 p.m. at The Clock Restaurant 8501 Tara Blvd. All federal retirees and friends are invited to attend. For further information call Henry

CJC sets events

May 10-18, 1981:

THE HENRY HERALD

MONDAY, MAY 11 The first program in a four-part series for small business owners of the topic of "basic accounting" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College. Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each evening, additional sessions will follow on May 13, 18 and 20. A $30 registration fee covers the cost of all four ses-

Events at Clayton sions. Call 961-3414 for Junior College between more information, or 961-3550 to register.

TUESDAY, MAY 12

Clayton County Home Economist Kathy Wages will conduct three different sessions on food preservation at Clayton Junior College, May 12. "Drying" will be the topic at 6 p.m., "canning" will be discussed at 7 p.m., and "freezing" information will be provided at 8 p.m. Participants may attend one or all of the sessions and no registration is required. All programs are scheduled in Room D-200 on the College campus.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 13 Dr. Pualine Clance, an Associate Professor of Psychology at Georgia State University, will talk about "lifestyles and sex roles as adjustment mechanisms' during a 10 a.m. lecture at Clayton Junior College. Free and open to the public, the program will be given in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building.

Clayton Junior College music-students will be presented in a 10 a.m. music recital in Room G-132. The public is invited.

THURSDAY, MAY 14 Clayton Junior College music major Tom Bell will be presented in a sophomore recital, playing solo guitar, in Room G-132. The 8:30 p.m. performance will be open to

CJC Schedules Two Part Series Next Week

Office design and include a discussion of filing equipment selection for systems, office equipment, small business owners will be the topic of a two-part Junior College next week. different situations. Another program in a continuing series sponsored Through the College's Small Business Development Center (SBDC), three-hour oprograms are scheduled on Monday and Wednesday, 3550. June 8 and 10. Sessions will begin at 6:30 each evening and a $15 registration fee includes the cost of the entire Hprogram. Participants will be introduced to some ideas

≥ about how to design an office that is attractive in appearance and efficient to operate. The seminar will computers, word processors, series scheduled at Clayton selection process for For more information in the series, call the SBDC office at 961-3414. To register, call the Office of Community Services at 961-

The Clayton Junior Lecture Hall (Room College Band and a G-132) and will be free number of other music and open to the public. about the program, or others sented during two presentations at the College next week. The band, directed morning, May 27.

The band concert

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS May 6, 1981

Calendar Of Events Events at Clayton Junior College between May

Monday, May 11

10-18,1981:

The first program in a four-part series for small business owners on the topic of "basic accounting" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Monday, May 11. Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each evening, additional sessions will follow on May 13, 18 and 20. A $30 registration fee covers the cost of all four sessions. Call 961-3414 for more information, or 961-3550 to register.

Tuesday, May 12

Clayton County Home Economist Kathy Wages will conduct three different sessions on food preservation at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday evening, May 12. "Drying" will be the topic at 6 p.m., "canning" will be discussed at 7 p.m., and "freezing" information will be provided at 8 p.m. Participants may attend one or all of the sessions and no registration is required. All programs are scheduled in Room D-200 on the College campus.

Wednesday, May 13

Dr. Pauline Clance, an Associate Professor of Psychology at Georgia State University, will talk about "lifestyles and sex roles as adjustment mechanisms" during a 10 a.m. lecture at Clayton Junior College on Wednesday, May 13. Free and open to the public, the program will be given in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building.

Clayton Junior College music students will be presented in a 10 a.m. music recital in Room G-132 on Wednesday, May 13. The public is

Thursday, May 14

Clayton Junior College music major Tom Bell will be presented in a sophomore recital, playing solo guitar, in Room G-132 on Thursday, May 14. The 8:30 p.m. performance will be open

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS May 26, 1981 Clayton Jr. band performs

students will be pre-

by Bill Gore, will be presented in concert on Tuesday evening, May 26, and a "student ensemble recital" will be given on Wednesday will begin at 8:30 p.m. and the student ensemble will begin at 10 a.m. Both Lyceumsponsored performances will be given in the

Drying, freezing and canning

Food preservation will be taught at Clayton Junior College

THE CLAYTON SUN

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS

Lifestyle, Sex Roles Topic at CJC Lecture

will be discussed during a Cleveland State University, Ohio. lecture at Clayton Junior all in Ohio. She has also ser-College next week.

Dr. Pauline Clance, an the University Hospitals of bachelor's degree, cum had articles published in the another in a continuing laude, from Lynchburg Journal of Psychology, the College and her masters in Newsletter for Research of "Values for the 80's." University, will speak at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, May 13. Scheduled in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building, the lecture will be free and open to the public. Prior to coming to Atlanta, Dr. Clance was on the faculties of Oberlin ved as a staff psychologist at

Dr. Clance received her psychology from the University of Kentucky.

Lifestyles and sex roles as College, Cuyahoga Com- Brecksville Veterans Ad- experimental psychology Psychology, and has a adjustment mechanisms munity College and ministration Hospital in and her doctorate in clinical private practice specializing in marriage counseling and individual psychotherapy. Next week's program is

Ends June 4 Spring Quarter credit

CJC Juarter

classes will end and final examinations will begin at Clayton Junior College next

Classes, which began on March 27, will end on Thursday, June 4, and final examinations will begin the following day. Exams will continue Monday through Wednesday (June 8-10).

Although a student may be graduated at the end of any quarter in which degree requirements are fulfilled, the College conducts only one formal graduation ceremony each sions on food preservation will be presented at Clayton Junior College next week.

Kathy Wages, Home Economist with the Clayton County Extension Service will conduct the free threepart program on Tuesday, May 12. "Drying" will be the topic of discussion at 6 p.m., "canning" will be discussed at 7 p.m., and "freezing" information will be provided at 8 p.m.

Participants may attend one or all of the sessions and no registration is required. The program will be presented in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building.

For more information, call the County Extension Service (478-9911) or the College's Office of Community Services

'Merchant of Venice' Continues at Clayton Jr.

Venice," during several performances this week.
The productions, directed by Dr. Pat Collins, assistant professor of English, are scheduled at 8:30 p.m. on scheduled at 8:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 21; and at 8 Thursday, May 21, and p.m. on Friday and Saturday evenings, May 22 comedy, "The Merchant of yton Junior College campus and are free and open to the public. Seats for each Venice" is one of love.

drama students and faculty All performances will be performance will be will be presented in given in the Lecture Hall available on a first-come, read and often-produced Shakespeare's romantic (Room G-132) on the Cla-first-seated basis.

sponsored Shakespeare's most widely-plays, and is one of the finest comedies displaying "The Merchant of the triumph of romantic

THE CLAYTON SUN AT Clayton Jr. CJC Clayton Junior College Thursday, May 28, In order to enroll in will administer one more beginning at 6 p.m. in Room summer quarter classes, admissions and registrar. p.m.

the SAT will be given on Scholastic Aptitude Test G-132. It is not necessary to new students must file all according to Annette the entrance exam should be Satterfield, director of at the testing center by 5:30 A requirement for A $9.25 registration fee is

(SAT) prior to the start of sign up in advance, but applications and credentials summer quarter classes, students planning to take with the Office of Tuesday, June 2. The summer quarter will begin enrolling in credit programs, payable at the time of

Admissions and Records by with registration on

Selling your product will be the topic of a two-part series scheduled for small business owners at Clayton Junior College next week. Another program in a continuing series sponsored through the College's Small Business Development ads and how to utilize direct Center (SBDC), three-hour programs are scheduled on Monday and Wednesday, June 1 and 3. Sessions will begin at 6:30 each evening and a $15 registration fee includes the cost of the entire Participants will be introduced to advertising, promotion and public relations. A promotional and advertising strategy for the small businessess wil be discussed, along with a summary of how to develop mail, newspapers, radio and television as advertising media

CJC Schedules Series In June

For more information about the program, or others schedules during the Spring Quarter, call the SBDC office at 961-3414. To register, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3550. Programs in the small business management series are co-sponsored with the College by the Clayton County Chamber Commerce and the Small Business Administration.

CLAYTON NEIGHBOR

Pirates In Clayton?

There can't really be lost pirates in Clayton—can there? There was a pirate at the recent Festival of the Arts held at Clayton Junor College in Morrow. Tommy Morefoot of Jonesboro played the part of a pirate in the Clayton Little Theatre's performance for the crowd. (Staff Photo By Wes Minor)

Saturday

FOREST PARK HIGH SCHOOL will sponsor a Bike-A-Thon Saturday, May 9, to benefit Georgia Chapter of Cystic Fibrosis. All bikers meet at the gym parking lot at 9 a.m. Those biking 25 miles or more get a free T-shirt. For more information contact Wiley at the high school.

THE FRANKIE LYLE CHAPTER of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will meet Saturday, May 9, at Sambo's in Jonesboro at 2 p.m. The program will consist of family stories told by the members as they have been passed down from generation to generation.

THE HIGH HOPES VIOLET CLUB will sponsor an African Violet Show and Sale on Saturday, May 9 at Southlake Mall. The show will take place from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. Public invited.

FOREST PARK TOUCHDOWN CLUB will sponsor a chicken-q-plate Saturday, May 9, from 11:30 a.m.-6 p.m. at Forest Plaza. Donation $3.

Monday

THE FIRST PROGRAM IN A four part-series for small business owners on the topic of "basic accounting" will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Monday, May 11. Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. each evening, additional sessions will follow on May 13, 18 and 20. A $30 registration fee covers the cost of all four sessions. Call 961-3414 for more information, or 961-3550 to register.

JONESBORO TOUCHDOWN CLUB will meet Monday, May 11, at 7:30 p.m., at Jonesboro High School library.

Tuesday

CLAYTON COUNTY HOME ECONOMIST KATHY WAGES will conduct three different sessions on food preservation at Clayton Junior College Tuesday, May 12. 'Drying" will be the topic at 6 p.m.; "canning" will be discussed at 7 p.m.; and "freezing" information will be provided at 8 p.m. Participants may attend one or all of the sessions and no registration is required. All programs are scheduled in Room D-200 on the college campus.

A HUNTER EDUCATION AND FIREARMS clinic will be held at the Forest Park Recreation Center Tuesday, May

What's Going On

12 and Thursday, May 14. The clinic is sponsored by the recreation department and the Department of Human Resources. The hours on both days is from 6:30-10 p.m. and the instructor is Mike Tallent. The free clinic is open to those 12 years old or older and should pre-register by May 11. The number to call is 363-2908.

A WATER SAFETY INSTRUCTOR COURSE will be conducted at the Forest Park Recreation Center beginning Tuesday, May 12. The course will run until 30 units have been completed. The class will meet Tuesday thru Thursday from 7-10 p.m., Fee is $15. For more information call

THE SOUTHSIDE SINGLES will meet Tuesday, May 12, at 7:45 p.m. in the clubhouse of the Windjammer South Apartments, 5420 Riverdale Road, College Park.

MORROW CITY COUNCIL to meet Tuesday, May 12 at 7:30 p.m. in city hall. Public invited.

Wednesday

PARENTING TEENAGERS, part of Sandwich Board series, Wednesday, May 13, noon-1 p.m. in Rich's auditorium at Southlake Mall. Sponsored by Mental Health Association of Metro Atlanta. The lecture speaker will be Leonard T. Curtis, Ph.D. Georgia State University. The series is free and open to the public. Participants encouraged to bring own lunch. For information call 522-

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE MUSIC students will be presented in two recitals. A student recital is scheduled for Wednesday, May 13, at 10 a.m., and a sophomore recital is scheduled for Thursday, May 14. Both presentations will be in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Sponsored by Lyceum, both performances are open to the public free of charge. EASTERN AIRLINES SILVERLINER CLUB will meet Wednesday, May 13, at 11 a.m. in the garden pool area of the Harley Hotel at I-285-Camp Creek Parkway, East Point. Special guest will be International Silverliner President Dorothy Nouhan from Detroit, Mich. ANCESTORS UNLIMITED, INC. will meet Wednesday, May 13, at 9:30 a.m. in the Community Room of the Georgia hours are 9:30 a.m.-2 p.m. The charge is $3 per person. For further information and registration call the YWCA at 997-

THE HAPEVILLE RECREATION CENTER will offer classes in dog obedience for all breeds. The novice course begins, Thursday, May 14, at 7 p.m. The utility advance course starts May 14 at 8:30 p.m. For more information call

Thursday

Power Building on Smith Street in Jonesboro.

CESAREAN CONCERN IS SPONSORING an evening of information and a slide presentation on Wednesday, May 13, 8-10 p.m. in the Rich Auditorium of Piedmont Hospital, 1968 Peachtree Rd. NW. A $1 donation will be collected from non-members. For more information call 873-2449 or 289-

MECHANISM" will be the topic of Dr. Pauline Clance, an associate professor at Georgia State University,

Wednesday, May 3, at a 10 a.m. lecture at Clayton Junior College. Free and open to the public, the program will be given in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building.

YWCA Bridge Club YWCA-Soromundi Center will be held on Wednesday, May 13 at the YWCA in Riverdale. Benefit

THE ANNUAL SPRING BENEFIT sponsored by the

"LIFESTYLES AND SEX ROLES AS ADJUSTMENT

the center at 768-8597 or Instructor Vicky Jones at 471-1381. THE CLAYTON COUNTY DIABETIC GROUP will meet on Thursday, May 14, at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of Clayton General Hospital. Dr. Michael Wineburgh, podiatrist, will be the guest speaker.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF RETIRED FEDERAL EMPLOYEES (NARFE) Chapter No. 1629 will meet Thursday, May 14, at 1:30 p.m. in the Forest Park Recreation Center. The program will be presented by representatives of the Forest Park police department

THE PTA SCHOOL OF INFORMATION will take place on Thursday, May 14, at Riverdale Presbyterian Church from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. A babysitter will be available at a cost of 50 cents a child.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF FEDERAL RETIRED EMPLOYEES Jonesboro Chapter No. 1649, will hold its monthly meeting Thursday, May 14, 12:30 p.m. at The Clock Restaurant 8501 Tara Blvd. All federal retirees and friends are invited to attend. For further information call Henry Jackson, 961-4537.

THE FAYETTE SUN

"Merchant Of Venice" On Stage At CJC

Clayton Junior College and Lorenzo are being Antonio, the merchant of played by Wes Hudson and drama students and faculty will be presented in Shakespeare's romantic comedy, 'The Merchant of Venice." during four performances Launcelot, and Rhonda next week.

The productions, all free and open to the public, are scheduled at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, May 20; at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, May 21; and at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday evenings, May 22 and 23. All performances will be given in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on the Clayton Junior College campus.

Although the figure of Shylock, the money-lender, stalks the progress of love, the heroine, Portia, is more than a match for any obstacle Fortune throws in the path of romance, including Shylock.

In the production, Debbie The supporting roles of Gratiano, Nerissa, Jessica

Chorus Plans

June Concert

The Clayton Community

Chorus will present a night of fun and nostalgia as they

"Rock Around the Fifties" at Clayton Junior College in G-

132 on Friday, June 5, at 8

"You Ain't Nothing But a

Hound-Dog," "Peggy Sue,"

"Peppermint Twist,"
"Blueberry Hill," and "Sh-boom?" If you do, then this is

Members of the chorus will be dressed in Fifties-style clothes and will be hanging out in the Old Soda Shop, so

Marti Slife is the director of the chorus; Ann Manuel is Registration

New students who plan to enroll in credit programs at Clayton Junior College

during the Summer Quarter

have until Tuesday, June 2,

College's Office of Admissions and Records.

on Monday, June 22.

file all applications and o credentials with the Summer Quarter classes will begin with registration

For complete information

requirements, call the Office in the Administration

of Admissions and Records

at 961-3500, or visit the Office

admission

The program is free.

CJC Sets

the night for you.

come join them.

the accompanist.

p.m. Do you remember-played by Bert Lyons, the title. Betsy Shackelford, Ellen Kissel and Jeff Pike. Donna Roye will play the clown, Prince of Aragon and the by Wes Hudson. Smith. Salerio. a friend of Prince of Morocco will be

Pat Collins. Tim Mullins will play Cosimo, Duke of The straight roles of Old Gobbo will be done Venice and the comic role

Export Markets Clayton Junior Seminar Topic

Information about export for Thursday, May 28, be- For more information markets as they pertain to ginning at 6:30 p.m. A non- about the program, contact small business owners will refundable $8 registration the SBDC office at 961be discussed during a three- fee is required. hour program scheduled at by exporting" has been set in international trade.

Williams of Jonesboro displays her dramatic talent in the role of Portia. Playing opposite of Debbie is another Jonesboro student. Tom Morgoot as Bassanic. David Deering of Morrow portrays the intense and brooding figure of Shylock.

Clayton Junior College next will not be on importing nity Services at 961-3550.

3414. To register, call the Although the program college's Office of Commu-

specifically, sources of in- The workshop is another Sponsored through the formation for importing will in a continuing series co-College's Small Business be made available. In addisponsored with the College Development Center tion, it will deal with spe- by the Clayton County (SBDC), a program on how cial financial arrangements Chamber of Commerce and to "broaden your horizons and insurance requirements the Small Business Admin-

THE HENRY HERALD

College drama students

campus.

romantic love.

Clayton Junior College drama students and faculty will be presented in Shakespeare's romantic comedy, "The Merchant of Venice," during four performances next week.

The productions, all free and open to the public, are scheduled at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, May 20; at 8:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 21; and at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday evenings, May 22 and 23. All per-

BUSINESS PROGRAM SET AT COLLEGE

The first session in a twopart program for small business owners will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on June 1. INformation on "selling your prodo uct" will be provided in the ш program, scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. in Monday and Wednesday evenings. Call 961-3550 to

NEWS/DAILY 6/16/81

The quarterly small business management series scheduled at Clayton Junior "How a Friendly Banker

The program has been questions and concerns.

For more information, call to present 'Merchant'

formances will be given register.

Business Series Set

College will resume on Thursday, June 18, with a three-hour program on Can Help Small Business."

The first program in an eight-session Summer Quarter series, Thursday's session will begin at 6:30 p.m. An $8 registration fee is not refundable.

designed to help small business owners and managers to learn when to use bank services, one of the most important sources of financial assistance. It will deal with things to expect of the banker and what the banker expects of the businessman. Several local bankers will attend the seminar to answer special the College's Small Business Development Center at 961-3414. To register, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

Programs in the small business management series are co-sponsored with the College by the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration.

THE CLAYTON SUN May 28, CJC Sets Summer Application Deadline

New students who plan to will begin with registration enroll in credit programs at on Monday, June 22. Clayton Junior College during the Summer Quarter have until Tuesday, June 2, about admission requireto file all applications and ments, call the Office of credentials with the Col- Admissions and Records at and Records.

For complete information in the Administration

NEWS/DATLY May 25, 198 SAT May 28 At CJC

(SAT) prior to the start of administer one more Thursday, May 28, beginning Scholastic Aptitude Test at 6 p.m. in Room G-132. It is not necessary to sign up in Summer Quarter classes, advance, but students according to Annette planning to take the entrance Satterfield, Director of exam should be at the testing

A $9.25 registration fee is A requirement for payable at the time of (Room G-132) and on the talent in the role of (Room G-132) on the Portia. Playing opposite Clayton Junior College of Debbie is another Jonesboro student, Tom One of Shakespeare's Morfoot as Bassanic. most widely-read and David Deering of Morrow often-produced plays, the portrays the intense and title page of the First brooding figure of Shy-

Quarto describes the play lock. The supporting roles of as "The Excellent History of the Merchant of Gratiano, Nerissa, Jes-Venice." Clearly, the sica and Lorenzo are play is one of the finest of being played by Bert some dozen comedies Lyons, Betsy Shackeldisplaying the triumph of ford, Ellen Kissel and Jeff Pike. Donna Roye Although the figure of will play the clown, Shylock, the money-len-Launcelot, and Rhonda der, stalks the progress of Smith, Salerio, a friend of love, the heroine, Portia, Antonio, the merchant of is more than a match for the title.

The straight roles of any obstacle Fortune throws in the path of Prince of Aragon and the Prince of Morocco will be romance, including Shyplayed by Wes Hudson In the production, Deband Pat Collins. Tim bie Williams of Jonesboro Mullins will play Cosimo.

> NEWS/DAILY May 24, 1981 Saturday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE DRAMA students and faculty members will present the fourth and final production of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" during an 8 p.m. performance, on May 23, in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Public invited.

Tuesday

RETIREMENT TEA FOR CHRISTINE AHL, Tuesday, May 26 from 2:30-4 p.m. at West Clayton Elementary School library, 5580 Riverdale Road, College Park. Friends

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE BAND, will be presented in concert on Tuesday, May 26, 8:30 p.m. in the Lecture Hall, Room G-132. Public invited.

MORROW CITY COUNCIL, 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 26.

SOUTH SIDE SINGLES, Tuesday May 26, 7:45 p.m. Windjammer South Apartments clubhouse, 5420 Riverdale Rd.. College Park. Panel Discussion, "The Pros and Cons of Remarriage.'

Wednesday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE music students will be presented in an "ensemble recital" on Wednesday, May 27, beginning at 10 a.m. in the Lecture Hall, Room G-132. Public invited

Thursday

SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS WILL learn how to "broaden their horizons by exporting" during a three-hour seminar scheduled at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, May 28. Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m., the program is another in a continuing series designed for area small business owners and managers. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register, or the Small Business Development Center (961-3404) for more information.

CJC sets SAT test

Clayton Junior College will administer one more Scholastic _Aptitude Test (SAT) prior to the start of Summer Quarter clas--ses, according to An-2 nette Satterfield, Director of Admissions and Registrar.

A requirement for enrolling in credit programs, the SAT will be given on Thursday, May 28, beginning at 6 wp.m. in Room G-132. It is not necessary to sign -up in advance, but Students planning to Stake the entrance exam should be at th: testing center by 5:30

A $9.25 registration A $9.23 region the time of testing.

Summer Quarter classes, new students must file all applications and credentials with the Office of Admission and Records by Tuesday, June 2. The Summer Quarter will begin with registration on Monday, June 22.

In order to enroll in

For more information about the SAT, or other application requirements, call 961-

The largest two-year institution within the University System of Georgia, Clayton Junior College is completing its 12th year of service to residents of the south metropolitan Atlanta area.

Merchant Of Venice Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" comes alive on stage at Clayton Junior College with the help of the school's faculty and students. In the left photo, Antonio, a Venetian merchant, Dr. Pat Collins, left, listens while his friend. Bassanio, Tom Morfort, explains his desperate financial plight. In bottom photo, Shylock, a Jewish merchant, shows reluctance to loaning Bassanio a great sum of money. The play will be presented in the CJC lecture hall at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, and 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday. It is being directed by Dr. Pat Collins and presented by the CJC drama department.

News/Daily Photos by Russell Mobley

THE CLAYTON SUN Clayton Jr. Schedules May 21, 1981 Academic Honors Convocation

Thirty-one students at ior College. Clayton Junior College will be honored during the instition next week. ber of the College's first receive cash awards prograduating class, will deliver the Honors address. College Foundation, Inc. May 27, in Room D-200 of the Student Center Build-better out of a possible 4.0, awards.

FOUR STUDENTS mony. tution's seventh annual with the same qualifica-Academic Honors Convoca- tions who have compiled a perfect 4.0 average on all C. Susan Croft, a mem- college work attempted, will vided by the Clayton Junior

The ceremony will begin at Dr. Harry S. Downs, 10 a.m. on Wednesday, president of the college, will preside over the ceremony. Dr. Billy R. Nail, dean of the college, and Faye T. Students to be honored Barr, chairman of the Aca- received her bachelor's de- Club. have accumulated a grade demic Honors Committee, gree in English Education point average of 3.8 or will present achievement will present cash awards. While in college, Ms. one of the advisors to the School since 1973, entered Atlanta where she was Ful-Clayton Junior College ton County's STAR Stuber, 1969, and received her class, an Honor Graduate, associate's degree in Lan- president of the National guage/Literature during the Honor Society, secretary of College's first graduation the Beta Club, and a memexercise two years later. She ber of the chorus and Latin from the University of

during the annual cere- Croft earned her way on the annual staff. Dean's List and was an honor member of Phi Beta MS. CROFT, a member Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi. of the English faculty at She is a graduate of Walter Jonesboro Senior High F. George High School in when it opened in Septem- dent, Valecdictorian of her ciation of Educators, the

In addition to teaching Georgia in 1973 and earned two classes of accelerated with at least 15 of 30 or G. Robert Oliver, vice her master's degree with the sophomores and two classes Convocation will be fol-

theran Church of the Redeemer, she holds professional memberships in the National Education Association, the Georgia Asso-Clayton County Education Association, the Association of Classroom Teachers, the National Council of Teachers of English and the Georgia Council of Teachers

A member of the Lu-

Wednesday's Honors

completed at Clayton Jun-tion's Board of Trustees, versity in 1978. Portia, Shylock, et al...

Clayton Junior College Clayton Junior College than a match for any drama students and faculty campus. will be presented in One of Shakespeare's the path of romance, Shakespeare's romantic most widely-read and often- including Shylock. comedy. "The Merchant of produced plays, the title Venice," during four page of the First Quarto Williams, of Jonesboro, performances next week. describes the play as "The displays her dramatic talent The productions, all free Excellent History of the in the role of Portia. Playing and at 8 p.m. on Friday and triumph of romantic love.

and open to the public, are Merchant of Venice."

will be given in the Lecture stalks the progress of love, Gratiano, Nerissa, Jessica

Hall (Room G-132) on the the heroine, Portia, is more and Lorenzo are being obstacle fortune throws in In the production, Debbie opposite Debbie is another scheduled at 10 a.m. on Clearly, the play is one of Jonesboro student, Tom Wednesday, May 20, at 8:30 the finest of some dozen Morfoot, as Bassanic. David p.m. on Thursday, May 21; comedies displaying the Deering, of Morrow. portrays the intense and Saturday evenings, May 22 Although the figure of brooding figure of Shylock. and 23. All performances Shylock, the money-lender, The supporting roles of will play the clown, Launcelot, and Rhonda Smith, Salerio, a friend of Antonio, the merchant of the title.

The straight roles of Prince of Aragon and the Prince of Morroco will be played by Wes Hudson and Wes Hudson.

more hours having been chairman of the Founda- same major from the Uni- of seniors at Jonesboro Sen- lowed by a reception, and ior High, she also serves as the public is invited.

Clayton Jr. to Present 'Merchant of Venice' played by Bert Lyons, Betsy Shackelford, Ellen Kissel and Jeff Pike. Donna Rove

Pat Collins. Tim Mullins will play Cosimo, Duke of Venice and the comic role of Old Gobbo will be done by lege's Office of Admissions 961-3500, or visit the Office Summer Quarter classes Building.

Clayton Junior College will the SAT will be given on enrolling in credit programs,

Admissions and Registrar. center by 5:30 p.m.

Clayton Junior

Schedules SAT

will administer one more Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) prior to the start of summer quarter classes, according to Annette Satterfield, director of admissions and registrar.

A requirement for enrolling in credit programs, the SAT will be given on May 28 beginning at 6 p.m. in Room G-132.

It is not necessary to sign up in advance, but students planning to take the entrance exam should be at the testing center by 5:30 p.m. A $9.25 registration fee is payable at the time of tes-

In order to enroll in summer quarter classes, new students must file all applications and credentials with the Office of Admissions and Records by June 2. The summer quarter will begin with registration on June 22.

For more information about the SAT, or other application requirements, call 961-3500.

Thirty-one students at Clayton Junior College will be honored during the institution's seventh annual 'Academic Honors Convocation" next week. C. Susan Croft, a member of the college's first graduating class, will deliver the honors address. The ceremony will begin at 10 a.m. on May 27 in Room D-200 of the Student Center Building.

Students to be honored have accumulated a grade point average of 3.8 or better out of a possible 4.0, with at least 15 of 30 or more hours having been completed at Clayton Junior College.

Four students with the same qualifications who have compiled a perfect 4.0 average on all college work attempted will receive cash awards provided by the Clayton Junior College Foundation Inc.

Dr. Harry S. Downs, president of the college, will preside over the ceremony. Dr. Billy R. Nail, dean of the college; and Faye T. Barn, chairman of the academic honors committee, will present achievement awards.

G. Robert Oliver, vicechairman of the Foundation's Board of Trustees, will present cash awards during the annual

Ms. Croft, a member of the English faculty at Jonesboro Senior High School since 1973, entered Clayton Junior College when it opened in September of 1969, and received her associate's degree in language/literature during the college's first graduation exercise two years lat-

She received her bachelor's degree in English education from the University of Georgia in 1973 and earned her master's degree with the same major from the university in 1978.

In addition to teaching two classes of accelerated sophomores and two classes of seniors at Jonesboro Senior High, she also serves as one of the advisors to the annual staff.

The "Honors Convocation" will be followed by a reception and the public is

"Merchant Of Venice" Continues At CJC

will be presented in finest comedies displaying Shakespeare's romantic comedy, "The Merchant of Venice," during several performances this week.

The productions, directed by Dr. Pat Collins, Assistant Professor of English, are scheduled at 8:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 21; and at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday evenings, May 22

* All performances will be given in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132) on the Clayton Junior College campus and are free and open to the public. Seats for each Lyceum-sponsored performance will be available on a first-come, first-seated basis.

"The Merchant of Venice" is one of Shakespeare's most widely-

Clayton Junior College read and often-produced the triumph of romantie drama students and faculty plays, and is one of the love.

THE HENRY HERALD

College schedules exams

Spring Quarter credit begin the following day. campus grounds. Alclasses will end and final Exams will continue though a student may be examinations will begin Monday through Wed- graduated at the end of at Clayton Junior College nesday, (June 8-10). next week.

Classes, which began on March 27, will end on duled for Saturday morn-ducts only one formal Thursday, June 4, and ing, June 13, beginning at graduation ceremony final examinations will 10 a.m. on the college each year.

any quarter in which The College's annual degree requirements are Commencement is sche-fulfilled, the College con-

Registration Underway June 7, 1981

Noncredit Classes Offered At CJC

taking registration for arts, music, leisure, and Summer Quarter noncredit personal growth. continuing education

Office of Community Services, more than 65 programs are scheduled during the quarter, including short workshops and courses ranging from three to ten weeks in length. Most classes will begin the week of June 22-26.

A number of courses for

Also included in the Summer schedule of classes Coordinated through the is a continuation of a "small business management series" cosponsored with the College's Small Business Development Center, the Clayton County Chamber Commerce, and the Small Business Administration.

classes planned by the Office professional community are offered on the College Community Services will be included in the schedule, campus except a series of open between 8 a.m. and 7:45 along with others dealing dog training programs which p.m.

Jonesboro Recreation p.m. on Fridays. Center, the Riverdale Community Center, the College Park City Auditorium, the Glenloch Recreation Center in Peachtree City, and the North Clayton Community Center accommodate registration, special office hours have been scheduled All Summer Quarter between June 8-26. Located in the Administration of Communty Service will be Building, the Office of

THE CLAYTON SUN

Clayton Junior College is with sports and recreation, are co-sponsored with local Thursday during the period,

The 1981 Summer schedule of non-credit classes was mailed to area residents last week. Additional brochures may be obtained by phoning 961-3550, or visiting the Office in the Administration Building on the Clayton Junior College Campus.

Since most classes carry limited enrollments, participants should reserve a place by phone. A registration form must be completed and fees must be paid within five days of a phone reservation.

May 28, 1981

Small Business School

The quarterly small business management series scheduled at Clayton Junior College will resume on Thursday, June 18, with a nistration. three-hour program on "how a friendly banker can help small business."

The first program in an eight-session Summer Quarter series, Thursday's session will begin at 6:30 p. m. An $8 registration fee is not refundable.

The program has been designed to help small business owners and managers to learn when to use bank services, one of the most important sources of financial assistance. It will deal with things to expect of the banker and what the banker expects of the businessman. Several clocal bankers will attend the seminar to answer special questions and concerns.

For more information, call the College's Small Business Development Center at 961-3414. To register, call the Office of Community Services at 961-

Programs in the small business management series are co-sponsored with the College by the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Admi-

> CJC Series

ness."
The Quarter series, today's sesa An $8 registration fee is not refundable. The program has been ய questions and concerns.

For more information,

Resumes

The quarterly small business management series scheduled at Clayton Junior College will resume on today with a three hour program on "how a friendly banker can help small busi-

The first program in an eight-session Summer sion will begin at 6:30 p.m.

designed to help small business owners and managers to learn when to use bank services, one of the most important sources of financial assistance. It will deal with things to expect of the banker and what the banker expects of the businessman. Several local bankers will attend the seminar to answer special call the College's Small Business Development Center at 961-3414. To register, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

College Taking Signups

Clayton Junior College is taking registration for summer quarter non-credit continuing education classes.

Coordinated through the Office of Community Services, more than 65 programs are scheduled during the quarter, including short workshops and courses ranging from three to 10 weeks in

Most classes will begin the week of June 22 through

A number of courses for members of the business and professional community are included in the schedule, along with others dealing with sports and recreation, arts, music, leisure and peronal growth.

Also included in the sumo mer schedule of classes is a continuation of a "small o business management 5 series" co-sponsored with the college's Small Business Development Center, the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration.

All summer quarter classes planned by the Of-Fice of Community Services will be offered on the college campus except a series of dog training programs which are cosponsored with Clocal organizations at the >Jonesboro Recreation Ceniter, the Riverdale Comomunity Center, the College Park City Auditorium, the EGlenloch Recreation Center in Peachtree City and the North Clayton Community Center. To accommodate registration, special office hours have been scheduled between June 8 and 26.

Located in the Administration Building, the Office of Community Services will be open between 8 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Monday through Thursday during the period, and between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Fridays. The 1981 summer schedule of non-credit classes was mailed to area residents last week. Additional brochures may be obtained by calling 961-3550, or visiting the Office in the Administration Building on the Clayton Junior College campus.

Saturday

NEWS/DAILY

NEWS-DAILY SPONSORED PRESS RUN Saturday, May 30. The race will be held at Clayton Junior College. Entry fee is $4. All proceeds will benefit the American Cancer Society. For more information, contact the American Cancer Society, 478-3144.

Friday

"BRUBAKER" PRESENTED BY GENERAL ENTERTAINMENT, Friday, May 29, Clayton Junior

"THE APPLE DUMPLING GANG RIDES AGAIN,"

Friday, May 29, Clayton Junior College, 6:30 and 8:40 p.m.,

College, 1:15, 6:30, 8:40, 10:50 p.m., Room G-132.

5/29/81

Monday

WOMEN OF GEORGIA POWER will hold a fish fry Monday, June 1, 7:30 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Young, 3273 Jodeco Drive.

THE FIRST SESSION IN A two-part program for small business owners will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Monday, June 1. Information on "selling your product" will be provided in the program, scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. Monday and Wednesday evenings. Call 961-3550 to register.

FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL, 7:30 p.m.

Tuesday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE MUSIC students will be presented in recital on Tuesday, June 2, beginning at 8:30 p.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Public is invited.

NEW STUDENTS WHO PLAN TO ENROLL in credit programs at Clayton Junior College during the Summer Quarter have until Tuesday, June 2, to file all applications and credentials with the College's Office of Admissions and Records. The Summer Quarter will begin with registration on Monday, June 22. Call 961-3500 for complete admission

CLAYTON CO. COMMISSION to meet Tuesday, June 2 at 1:30 p.m. in Jonesboro.

Wednesday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE MUSIC students will be presented in recital on Wednesday, June 3, beginning at 10 a.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Public is invited.

Thursday

SPRING QUARTER CREDIT CLASSES end for Clayton Junior College students (final examinations begin on Friday and continue through Wednesday, June 10).

SPRING QUARTER CLASSES END Thursday, June 4, Clayton Junior College. Applied Music Auditions for Summer Quarter and Music Theory Placement Test for Summer Quarter.

NEWS/DAILY

Saturday 5/31/91

NEWS-DAILY SPONSORED PRESS RUN Saturday, May 30. The race will be held at Clayton Junior College, Entry fee is $4. All proceeds will benefit the American Cancer Society. For more information, contact the American Cancer Society, 478-3144.

Monday

WOMEN OF GEORGIA POWER will hold a fish fry Monday, June 1, 7:30 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Young, 3273 Jodeco Drive.

THE FIRST SESSION IN A two-part program for small business owners will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Monday, June 1. Information on "selling your product" will be provided in the program, scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. Monday and Wednesday evenings. Call 961-3550 to register.

Tuesday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE MUSIC students will be presented in recital on Tuesday, June 2, beginning at 8:30 p.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Public is invited.

JONESBORO SENIOR HIGH GRADUATION Tuesday, June 2 at 8 p.m. at Tara Stadium. Public invited.

NEW STUDENTS WHO PLAN TO ENROLL in credit programs at Clayton Junior College during the Summer Quarter have until Tuesday, June 2, to file all applications and credentials with the College's Office of Admissions and Records. The Summer Quarter will begin with registration on Monday, June 22. Call 961-3500 for complete admission

CLAYTON CO. COMMISSION to meet Tuesday, June 2 at 1:30 p.m. in Jonesboro.

Wednesday

FOREST PARK SENIOR HIGH GRADUATION Wednesday, June 3, at 8 p.m. at Tara Stadium. Public invited.

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE MUSIC students will be presented in recital on Wednesday, June 3, beginning at 10 a.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Public is invited.

Thursday

SPRING QUARTER CLASSES END Thursday, June 4, Clayton Junior College, Applied Music Auditions for Summer Quarter and Music Theory Placement Test for Summer Quarter.

Friday

SPRING QUARTER CREDIT CLASSES end for Clayton Junior College students (final examinations begin on Friday and continue through Wednesday, June 10).

SPRING QUARTERS FACULTY-STAFF HONORS PROGRAM, Clayton Junior College, Friday, June 5.

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE final exams for all 7:50 a.m. and 12:05 p.m. classes, Friday, June 5.

CLAYTON COMMUNITY CHORUS will present a concert, "Rock Around the Fifties", Clayton Junior College, Friday, June 5, at 8 p.m. in Room G-132. Free

ST.-GERMAIN SPEAKS Clayton - A Host to Many Small Businesses

that is not necessarily so.

members last week there is with retail and wholesale original centers, opened in the college, SBDC also offers swamped."

a "tremendous amount of stores following. Manufac- August, 1978. SHARON ENGELHART small businesses in Clayton turing constitutes a weak The goal of the centers is which St.-Germain said he County" and that the aver- fourth, he said. age small business em-

SBCD was started in tion and assistance to busi- most important function of St.-Germain reported one agency, the Small Busi- starting out or well estabment Center at Clayton that a business is classified ness Administration, han- lished. And because the the best services available Junior College, most people as small if it employs up to dling about 304 billion program is partially funded think of a small business as 1,500 persons and is worth small businesses in the by state and federal governa Ma and Pa run store but up to $9.5 million in sales country, St.-Germain said. and services. In Clayton He added that Georgia is ers is free. St.-Germain, who has County, service businesses, one of the most active been the director of SBDC such as fast food restau- participating sites in the for only two months, told rants make up the greatest country, with seven centers. basis and offering small the next few months. Forest Park Kiwanis Club number of small businesses, Clayton County, one of the management seminars at "Hopefully we'll be to provide general informa- feels is the least known but Germain, director of the ployes about 10-25 persons. 1977 because there was only nesses, whether it is just the center.

> Besides providing general information on a day-to-day to aid additional clients in > St.-Germain said. He added ments, the cost to custom- that in the past month, the center has offered services to 30 new clients and hopes counseling, a function

"I think we provide one of

Suicide

Intervention

Class Slated

A free workshop on methods to identify potential suicides, and techniques that can be used to prevent such tragedies is scheduled at Clayton Junior

Planned between 10 a.m.

and 3 p.m. on Tuesday,

June 23, the workshop will be conducted by Ben Wright and Roger Kinard in Room G-132 of the two-story

Classroom Building. No

advanced registration is designed for the clergy, law enforcement professionals,

mental health staff

members, social workers, and others who have an interest in the problem.

Included in the discussion

factors and the isolation syndrome present in many potential suicides, short-term counseling strategies,

For complete information about the free program, call the College's Office of Community Services (961-

wand crisis intervention

will be environmental

The workshop was

College next week.

required.

techniques.

Course Set for Businessmen

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR

Business owners in Clayton, Fayette, a special course on "selling your product,"

The series will be held next Monday and Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. the entire program.

Participants will be introduced to ad-Henry and South Fulton Counties can attend vertising, promotion and public relations. slated for next week at Clayton Junior 961-3414. To register, persons can call

The program is co-sponsored by the A $15 registration fee covers the cost of Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration.

A number of non-credit summer quarter schedule of basic yoga. continuing education programs, sports and classes in sports and otherwise, will begin during classes in sports and recreation will begin at Cla-

Included in the schedule Office of Community instruction, slimnastics, Services, most classes in the karate and self-defense, and

THE CLAYTON SUN 6/18/81 Non-Credit Classes Start Next Week at Clayton Jr.

the week of June 22-26. are dance classes, tennis Offered through the instruction and play, golf

For complete information on sports and recreation classes, or other non-credit summer quarter offerings, call the Office of Community Services at 961-yton Junior College next

THE CLAYTON SUN June 18, 1981 Singers Sought for Gilbert and Sullivan Auditions

Senior high school the chorus are scheduled students who can read next week on the College music and have sung in campus, according to Doris their high school chorus or A. Holloway, associate church choir have been professor of music. invited to take part in a Anyone interested in an music theater production of Gilbert and Sullivan's should call Mrs. Holloway "Gondoliers" this summer. Auditions for positions in interested in singing in the are planned Aug. 19-22.

chorus should report to Room G-101 in the two-story

Classroom Building at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, June 23. Rehearsals are scheduled between 6 and 8:20 p.m. audition for a solo part each Tuesday and Thursday, beginning June at 961-4325. Others 23, and four performances

Businessmen In Area Can 'Broaden Horizons'

Clayton Junior College's Small ing will be revealed and specific finan-clubs throughout the United States and Canada.

guitar, banjo, dulcimer, recorded on seven different

Musician Robb Goldstein Featured at Clayton Jr. Fayette Counties can learn how export markets affect their operations. Three performances by 8:45, 10, and 11:10 a.m. on General Entertainment performed at the Oklahoma

Robb Goldstein have been the 8:45 and 11:10 will be free and open to the Arts Festival, and in night scheduled at Clayton Junior presentations will be given public. College on Wednesday in Room B-15, and the 10 morning, May 20. Goldstein, known as in the Cafeteria.

a.m. concert will take place

Goldstein plays the Owners of small businesses in Clayton, South Fulton, Henry and Business Development Center is offering "how to broaden your horizons by exporting" next Thursday at 6:30 p.m. A non-refundable $8 fee is required. Sources of information for importcial arrangements and insurance requirements will be explained. For more information, business people can call 961-3414. To register, call 961-3550.

multi-talented musician the College campus. Both committees, all programs Festival of Arts, the Atlanta Nantucket's Troubadour, Co-sponsored by the mandolin, fife and labels, including Capitol will present programs at College's Lyceum and concertina. He has and columbia.

In addition, he has

Friday

June 5, 1981 NEWS/DAILY SPRING QUARTER CREDIT CLASSES end for Clayton Iunior College students (final examinations begin on Friday and continue through Wednesday, June 10).

SPRING QUARTERS FACULTY-STAFF HONORS PROGRAM, Clayton Junior College, Friday, June 5.

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE final exams for all 7:50 a.m. and 12:05 p.m. classes, Friday, June 5.

CLAYTON COMMUNITY CHORUS will present a concert, "Rock Around the Fifties", Clayton Junior College, Friday, June 5, at 8 p.m. in Room G-132. Free admission. Public invited.

RIVERDALE SENIOR HIGH GRADUATION Friday, June 5 at 8 p.m. at Tara Stadium. Public invited.

THE JONESBORO HIGH SCHOOL PTSA will sponsor a teacher appreciation luncheon for the faculty and staff on Friday, June 5, 11:30 a.m.

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE, 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. Friday, June 5, Summer Youth Employment for CETA concludes, Room D-122.

Monday

THE FIRST SESSION IN a two-part program for small business owners, Clayton County Junior College, Monday, June 8, 6:30-9:30 p.m. Information on "office design and equipment selection" will be discussed. Call 961-3550 to

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE, final exams for all 10 a.m., 1:55 p.m., 6 p.m., TuTh, and 8:25 p.m., MW. classes, Monday, June 8.

Tuesday

SOUTH METRO YMCA RUNNERS will hold monthly meeting, Tuesday, June 9, 7:30 p.m. at Riverdale Senior High. Dr. Avery Harvill of CJC will be guest speaker. For more information call the YMCA at 471-6711.

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE, final exams, Tuesday, June 9, for all 10 a.m., 1:55 p.m., 6 p.m., TuTh, and 8:25 p.m.

Wednesday

CLAYTON GENERAL HOSPITAL SEMINAR, "Triage in the Emergency Department, Wednesday, June 10, 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. Sponsored by the education department.

ANCESTORS UNLIMITED, INC. will meet, Wednesday, June 10, 9:30 a.m. in the Community Room of the Georgia Power Building on Smith Street in Jonesboro. R. Matthew Thomaston will be the speaker.

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE, final exams, Wednesday, June 10, for all 11:10 a.m. classes.

Thursday

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF RETIRED FEDERAL EMPLOYEES (NARFEO) Chapter 1629, Forest Park, will meet Thursday, June 11, at 1 p.m. (Note time change) at the Forest Park Recreation Center, Forest Parkway Park Ave.

CLAYTON COUNTY DIABETIC GROUP will meet Thursday, June 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of Clayton General Hospital. John Sidell will demonstrate the new home blood monitoring method.

CLAYTON COUNTY JUNIOR COLLEGE, examination of the advanced placement program. No time listed.

NEWS/DAILY

Tuesday

5/25/81

RETIREMENT TEA FOR CHRISTINE AHL, Tuesday, May 26 from 2:30-4 p.m. at West Clayton Elementary School library, 5580 Riverdale Road, College Park. Friends

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE BAND, will be presented n concert on Tues Hall. Room G-132. Public invited.

Wednesday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE music students will be presented in an "ensemble recital" on Wednesday, May 27, beginning at 10 a.m. in the Lecture Hall, Room G-132. Public invited.

Thursday

SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS WILL learn how to "broaden their horizons by exporting" during a three-hour seminar scheduled at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, May 28. Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m., the program is another in a continuing series designed for area small business owners and managers. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register, or the Small Business Development Center (961-3404) for more information.

Saturday

NEWS-DAILY SPONSORED PRESS RUN Saturday, May 30. The race will be held at Clayton Junior College. Entry fee is $4. All proceeds will benefit the American Cancer Society. For more information, contact the American Cancer Society, 478-3144.

NEWS/DAILY

Tuesday June 9, 1981

SOUTH METRO YMCA RUNNERS will hold monthly meeting, Tuesday, June 9, 7:30 p.m. at Riverdale Senior High. Dr. Avery Harvill of CJC will be guest speaker. For more information call the YMCA at 471-6711.

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE, final exams, Tuesday, June 9, for all 10 a.m., 1:55 p.m., 6 p.m., TuTh, and 8:25 p.m. MW classes.

Wednesday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE, final exams Wednesday, June 10, for all 11:10 a.m. classes.

Thursday

CLAYTON COUNTY JUNIOR COLLEGE, examination of the advanced placement program. No time listed.

THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF RETIRED FEDERAL EMPLOYEES Jonesboro Chapter No. 1649 will hold their monthly meeting on Thursday, June 11, at 10:30 a.m. at the fire station on Maddox Road, Moarow. Speaker will be Susan Millsap of the Georgia Power Company

Friday

CLAYTON COUNTY JUNIOR COLLEGE, practice for graduation. No time listed.

Saturday

CLAYTON COUNTY JUNIOR COLLEGE'S 11th annual commencement will be conducted outside on the college grounds, beginning at 10 a.m. on Saturday, June 13. Students who have completed course requirements during the 1980-81 year will be honored. In the event of rain, the graduation ceremony will be conducted in the sanctuary of the Pinecrest Baptist Church on Maddox Road in Morrow.

Monday

THE FIRST SESSION IN a two-part program for small business owners, Clayton County Junior College, Monday, June 8, 6:30-9:30 p.m. Information on "office design and equipment selection" will be discussed. Call 961-3550 to

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE, final exams for all 10 a.m., 1:55 p.m., 6 p.m., TuTh, and 8:25 p.m., MW. classes, Monday, June 8.

Tuesday

SOUTH METRO YMCA RUNNERS will hold monthly meeting, Tuesday, June 9, 7:30 p.m. at Riverdale Senior High. Dr. Avery Harvill of CJC will be guest speaker. For more information call the YMCA at 471-6711.

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE, final exams, Tuesday, June 9, for all 10 a.m., 1:55 p.m., 6 p.m., TuTh, and 8:25 p.m. MW classes.

Wednesday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE, final exams, Wednesday, June 10, for all 11:10 a.m. classes.

Thursday

CLAYTON COUNTY JUNIOR COLLEGE, examination of the advanced placement program. No time listed.

Friday

CLAYTON COUNTY JUNIOR COLLEGE, practice for graduation. No time listed.

Saturday

CLAYTON COUNTY JUNIOR COLLEGE'S 11th annual commencement will be conducted outside on the college grounds, beginning at 10 a.m. on Saturday, June 13. Students who have completed course requirements during the 1980-81 year will be honored. In the event of rain, the graduation ceremony will be conducted in the sanctuary of the Pinecrest Baptist Church on Maddox Road in Morrow.

NEWS/DAILY

Wednesday

May 27, 1981

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE music students will be presented in an "ensemble recital" on Wednesday, May 27, beginning at 10 a.m. in the Lecture Hall, Room G-132. Public invited.

Thursday

SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS WILL learn how to 'broaden their horizons by exporting" during a three-hour seminar scheduled at Clayton Junior College on Thursday, May 28. Scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m., the program is another in a continuing series designed for area small business owners and managers. Call the College's Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register, or the Small Business Development Center (961-3404) for more information

Saturday

NEWS-DAILY SPONSORED PRESS RUN Saturday, May 30. The race will be held at Clayton Junior College. Entry fee is $4. All proceeds will benefit the American Cancer Society. For more information, contact the American Cancer Society, 478-3144.

Monday

WOMEN OF GEORGIA POWER will hold a fish fry Monday, June 1, 7:30 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Young, 3273 Jodeco Drive.

THE FIRST SESSION IN A two-part program for small business owners will be conducted at Clayton July College on Monday, June 1. Information on "selling your product" will be provided in the program, scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. Monday and Wednesday evenings. Call 961-3550 to register.

FOREST PARK CITY COUNCIL, 7:30 p.m.

Tuesday

CLAYTON JUNIOR COLLEGE MUSIC students will be presented in recital on Tuesday, June 2, beginning at 8:30 p.m. in the Lecture Hall (Room G-132). Public is invited.

NEW STUDENTS WHO PLAN TO ENROLL in credit programs at Clayton Junior College during the Summer Quarter have until Tuesday, June 2, to file all applications and credentials with the College's Office of Admissions and Records. The Summer Quarter will begin with registration on Monday, June 22. Call 961-3500 for complete admission

College plans events

between June 22-27:

MONDAY, JUNE 22 mer Quarter credit of "violence against classes at Clayton Junior women" during a two-College is scheduled in hour program scheduled Room D-200 between 10 at Clayton Junior Cola.m. and 2 p.m. and 5:30 lege. The free program is and 8:30 p.m. All new planned in Room G-132 students must report for between 7:30 and 9:30 an orientation session in p.m. Call the Office of Room G-132, either at 10 Community Services a.m. or 6 p.m. Call the (961-3550) for complete Office of Admissions and information. Records (961-3500) for complete information.

TUESDAY, JUNE 23 classes will begin at ment" skills will be Clayton Junior College conducted at Clayton w for all students enrolled Junior College. Schein the regular 10-week duled between 9 a.m. and session and the first 4 p.m., a $20 registration

+++++

complete information.

A free workshop on methods to identify potential suicides, and possible techniques to prevent ₩ such tragedies, will be conducted at Clayton

Junior College, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Call the Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

Events scheduled at WEDNESDAY, JUNE 24 Clayton Junior College The Georgia State University Reader's Theater will present excerpts from major works as a Registration for Sum- foundation for discussion

FRIDAY, JUNE 26 An all-day workshop designed to improve on-Summer Quarter credit the-job "time manage-5-week session. Call the fee includes the cost of Office of Admissions and lunch. Call the Office of Records (961-3500) for Community Services (961-3550) for complete information.

CJC Plans Workshop On Suicide Prevention

A free workshop on methods to identify potential suicides, and techniques that can be used to prevent such tragedies is scheduled at Clayton Junior College next week.

Planned between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. on Tuesday, June 23, the workshop will be conducted by Ben Wright and Roger Kinard in Room G-132 of the two-story Classroom Building. No advanced registration is required.

The workshop was designed for the clergy, law - enforcement professionals, w mental health staff members, social workers, and others who have an interest in the problem. Included in the discussion will be environmental factors and the isolation syndrome present in many potential suicides, shortterm counseling strategies, and crisis intervention techniques.

For complete information about the free program, call the College's Office of Community Services (961-

CJC Looking For Singers

Senior high school students who can read music and have sung in their high school chorus or church choir have been invited to take part in a music theater production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Gondoliers" this summer. Auditions for positions in the chorus are scheduled next week on the College campus, according to Doris A. Holloway, Associate Pro-

Anyone interested in an audition for a solo part Should call Mrs. Holloway 2 at 961-3425. Others inter-Eested in singing in the Chorus should report to Room G-101 in the two-出story Classroom Building at F6 p.m. on Tuesday, June Rehearsals are scheduled between 6 and 8:20 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday, beginning June 23, and four performances are planned on August 19-22.

Business Series Set

Another program in the Summer Quarter small Obusiness management series at Clayton Junior College is scheduled for Tuesday, June

o "Franchising and small Susiness" will be the topic of the one-evening session, scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. A non-refundable >-$8 registration fee will be required. Participants in the program will learn how to get the maximum advantage from their franchise agreement, whether they are the franchisor or the franchisee.

presented at Clayton Junior College next week. As a foundation for the discussion, scheduled at 7:30 p.m. June 24 in the College Lecture Hall (Room G-132), the Georgia State University Reader's Theater will present excerpts from the public is invited. Each performance will be followed by a discussion on the importance of the literary meaning of violence against women and its implications in our society. Dr. Jean Graham, a member of the English faculty at Clayton Junior College, will team with Dr.

against women will be Peg Ziegler of the Grady Snow's "The Woman Whose the Rainbow is Enuf.

Clayton Jr. Panel Discusses

Books' Violence Against Women A free program on the Christine Sizemore of The production will Colored Girls Who Have literary view of violence Spelman College and Ms. include excerpts from Linda Considered Suicide When

Sun Community Life

society, clubs, religion, features

the Atlanta area, no discussion following the Named Desire," and Services (961-3550) at Claregistration is required and readings.

Ntozake Shang's "For vton Junior College. registration is required and readings.

major works. One of six Memorial Hospital Rape Fear is Rape," Tennessee For more information, call such programs scheduled in Crisis Center to lead a Williams" "A Streetcar the Office of Community

CJC offers 65 programs

Clayton Junior College Small Business Adminis- fice of Community Ser- iod, and between 8 a.m. is taking registration for tration. Summer Quarter noncredit continuing education classes.

Coordinated through the Office of Community Services, more than 65 programs are scheduled during the quarter, including short workshops and courses ranging from three to ten weeks in length. Most classes will begin the week of June 22-26.

A number of courses for members of the business and professional community are included in the schedule, along with others dealing with sports and recreation, arts, music, leisure, and personal growth.

Also included in the Summer schedule of classes is a continuation of a "small business management series" cosponsored with the College's Small Business Development Center, the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce, and the

All Summer Quarter classes planned by the Office of Community services will be offered on the College campus except a series of dog training programs which are co-sponsored with local organizations at the Jonesboro Recreation Center, the Riverdale Community Center, the College Park City Auditorium,, the Glenloch Recreation Center in Peachtree City, and the North Clayton Community Center. To accomodate registration, special office hours have been scheduled between June 8-26.

Located in the Administration Building, the Of-between 8 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Monday through and 5 p.m. on Fridays. vices will be open Since most classes carry limited enrollments, participants Thursday during the perphone, 961-3550. should reserve a place by

CJC Schedules Auditions For Summer Musical

Senior high school students Professor of Music. who can read music and have sung in their high school chorus or church choir have been invited to take part in a music theater production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Gondoliers" this summer at Clayton Jr. College in Morrow.

Auditions for positions in between 6 and 8:20 p.m. each the chorus are scheduled next week on the College campus, according to Doris performances are planned

Anyone interested in an audition for a solo part should call Mrs. Holloway at 961-3425. Others interested in singing in the chorus should report to Room G-101 in the Building at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, June 23. Rehearsals are scheduled Tuesday and Thursday, beginning June 23, and four A. Holloway, Associate on August 19-22.

two-story Classroom

Two Workshops Scheduled At Clayton Junior College

Two special workshops of losing your job. designed to improve on-the- The "time management" job time use and com- workshop will be conducted munication skills have been included in the Summer Friday, June 26, between 9 Quarter non-credit course a.m. and 4 p.m. A $20 offerings scheduled at registration fee includes the Clayton Junior College. A workshop on "time responsibilities and to im- 10, between 9 a.m. and 5 preparing for and con- fee includes the cost of ducting meetings. In addition, tips will be given on how to manage lengthy phone calls and interruptions, ways to tackle deadlines and set priorities. and how to eliminate time wasters. Another workshop, "assertiveness at work," will emphasize the use of assertive techniques in different communication situations. Topics to be covered include dealing with chronic lateness or absenteeism, assigning and receiving extra responsibilities, accepting and giving criticism, evaluating performance, and suggesting organizational improvements without fear

by instructor Jerry Miller on cost of lunch

The "assertiveness at management" has been work" program, to be taught designed to help participants by Bill MacKinnon, is learn how to delegate scheduled on Friday, July prove their approach to p.m., and a $22 registration

The two workshops are included in a listing of more than 23 Summer Quarter programs for the "business and professional" field.

CJC To Begin Rec And Sports Summer Classes

A number of non-credit continuing education classes in 'sports and recreation" will begin at Clayton Junior College next week.

Offered through the Office of Community Services, most classes in the Summer Quarter schedule of programs, sports and otherwise, will begin during the week of June 22. Included in the schedule are dance classes, tennis instruction and play, golf instruction, slimnastics, karate and self-defense, and basic yoga. A special six-week "aerobic dance" class is scheduled for youths between the ages of 12 and 15 each Tuesday and Thursday between 3 and 4 p.m. Adult classes in aerobic movements, done to a disco beat, are scheduled during two evening periods on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and between 9 and 10 a.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays.

; Several instructional and playing sessions for beginners and intermediate tennis players are scheduled along with two five-week sessions stressing the "fundamentals of golf." Slimnastics and karate classes also are scheduled during different time periods to meet student demands. For complete information on "sports and recreation" classes, or other non-credit Summer Quarter offerings, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3550, or visit the Office in the Administration Building between the hours of 8 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Monday through Thursday, or 8 a.m. and with a unique three-session and twenty minutes during option for students.

Summer Registration At CJC Set

classes for both the "regular during the evening. session" and the "first

The regular session of classes includes 10 weeks of orientation session. study while the other two For complete information the evening. Five-week class Registration for all three sessions run an hour and 55 sessions will be conducted on minutes during the day and Monday, June 22, and four hours, 55 minutes

Registration is scheduled session" will begin the between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., following day. Classes and between 5:30 and 8:30 scheduled in the "Second p.m. on the 22nd. All new session" will begin on July students must report to Room G-132 either at 10 a.m. or 6 p.m. for a special sessions continue five weeks about registration, class

Summer Quarter credit each. Ten-week session schedules, or admission Admissions and Records classes will begin at Clayton classes run 55 minutes requirements, call the (961-3500) prior Junior College next week during the day and two hours College's Office of Registration Day.

THE CLAYTON SUN June 25, 1981 CJC Starts Summer Classes

Summer quarter credit The regular session of classes will begin at Clayton classes includes 10 weeks of option for students.

5 p.m. on Friday.

Registration for all three during the day. sessions was conducted

July 24.

Junior College next week study while the other two with a unique three-session sessions continue five weeks each. Ten-week session classes run 55 minutes

For complete information on Monday, June 22, and about registration, class classes for both the regular schedules, or admission session and the first session requirements, call the began the following day. College's Office of Classes scheduled in the Admissions and Records second session will begin on (961-3500) prior to Registration Day.

literary view of "violence cerpts from major works. The production will against women" will be One of six such programs include excerpts from Linda presented at Clayton Junior scheduled in the Atlanta Snow's "The Woman Whose College, next week.

discussion, scheduled at 7:30 invited. p.m. Wednesday, June 24, in the College Lecture Hall (Room G-132), the Georgia State University Reader's

A free program on the Theater will present ex-readings

the importance of the literary meaning of violence Dr. Jean Graham, a member of the English faculty at Clayton Junior College, will team with Dr. Christine Sizemore of Spelman College and Ms.

Peg Ziegler of the Grady

Memorial Hospital Rape Crisis Center to lead a discussion following the College, next week.

As a foundation for the required and the public is Williams' "A Streetcar Ntozake Shang's "For Each performance will be Colored Girls Who Have followed by a discussion on Considered Suicide When the Rainbow is Enuf."

For more information, call against women and its the Office of Community implications in our society. Services (961-3550) at Clayton Junior College.

JERRY ATKINS HANDLES INFORMATION AT COLLEGE He and Other Personnel Know How Summer Slows

1,200 Sign Up This Summer

By RICHARD MITCHELL

A great many institutions experience a slowdown during the smer months, and Clayton Junior College is no

Approximately 1,200 students will be attending classes during the summer quarter, or half the amount that usually attends during the regular school year. According to Jerry Atkins, the college's director of public information, classes and student activities will be reduced "accordingly."

Some of the classes will have to be cancelled because of a lack of enrollment," he says. 'We will still have our student activity program for the movies this summer, but all of our other activities are inactive until the fall," he says. Classes began Monday and will be session until Aug. 25. Most of them are 10 weeks in length, but a few will be in five-week session 'We started that three years ago in some special areas where a student could get 10 hours credit in a summer quarter by taking back to back classes," says

This enables the student who attends a different college but is home for the summer to earn the necessary hours to complete a degree at their school. Atkins says the schools "caters" to students who attend other colleges within the university system, such as the University of Georgia, West Georgia College and Georgia Southern. All of our credits transfer to these schools without a problem," he says.

He points out that the fall quarter is right around the corner, with classes beginning Sept. 28.

Clayton Activity Wrapup

Morrow Stylist To Speak

No. 49 of the Georgia Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association will feature James Dudley of Morrow as the guest artist June 23 at 7:30 p.m. The program will be held at the National Bank of Georgia on Old National Highway in College Park. Members and non-members of the South Metro area may attend the release of 'looks of elegance' for the 1981-82 fall and winter. A new slate of officers for 1981-82 to be elected will be introduced. Rose Wyatt will give a _preview of projects that will Otake place during National Cosmetology Week in Octo-

A free workshop on methgods to identify potential sui-Scides and techniques that can be used to prevent such tragedies is scheduled at Clayton Junior College next

Planned between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. on Tuesday, the workshop will be conducted by Ben Wright and Roger Kinard in Room G-132 of the two-story classroom building. No advanced registration is required.

The workshop was designed for the clergy, law Henforcement professionals, mental health staff mem-Bers, social workers and others who have an interest in the problem.

For more information on this free program, persons may call the Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

A free program on the literary view of "violence against women" will be presented at Clayton Junior College June 24 at 7:30 p.m. in the college lecture hall in Room G-132.

As a foundation for the discussion, the Georgia State University Reader's Theater will present excerpts from major works.

The program will include excerpts from "The Woman Whose Fear Is Rape," "A Streetcar Named Desire.' and "For Colored Girls Who Have Considered Suicide When The Rainbow Is

For more information, persons may call 961-3550.

Summer quarter credit classes will begin at Clayton run 55 minutes during the quirements, call th option for students.

on Monday and classes for both the "regular session" and the "first session" will begin on Tuesday.

Classes scheduled for the "second session" will begin p.m. on June 22.

The regular session of classes includes 10 weeks of study while the other two sessions continue five weeks

Junior College next week day and two hours and 25 college's office of ad-

Five-week class sessions 961-3500. Registration for all three run one hour and 55 minutes hours and 44 minutes during the evening.

and between 5:30 and 8:30 Morrow.

port to Room G-132 either at Charles W. Summerday and 10 a.m. or 6 p.m. for a city council members will special orientation session. be attending the Georgia tion about registration, class Annual Convention in Savan-Ten-week session classes schedules, or admission re- nah June 21 through 23.

with a unique three-session minutes during the evening. missions and records at sessions will be conducted during the day and four Federal Credit Union will hold its annual membership meeting on Monday at 8 p.m. Registration is scheduled at Travelers Rest Baptist between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Church on Joy Lake Road in

> All new students must re- Forest Park Mayor For complete informa- Municipal Association's 48th

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR June 17, 1981

Clayton Junior Sets Summer Activities

Clayton Junio College in Morrow will be offering several new classes during the summer months for the residents of Clayton County.

These new classes include tennis, golf, karate and There will be two sessions of adult beginning tennis with the first class beginning on June 22 and the second beginning on July 27. Both classes will have a fee of $22 for a five week

In the beginning class, the fundamentals will be stressed, including information on rules, etiquette, eqipment as well as practice on the serve, forehand and backhand strokes. Each student must provide his own tennis ball, racket and tennis shoes and each class will be limited to

The instructor for both sessions will be David Williford.

Williford will also be teaching an intermediate tennis class for ages 16 and up. There will be two sessions for the intermediate class with the first session beginning June 22 and the second

Each class will last five weeks at a cost of $22. The intermediate course will cater to those individuals who now play but want to improve their game.

Instruction will focus on all aspects of the individual's game and each student must provide his own tennis ball, racket and tennis shoes. Registration will be limited to 24 participants.

Golf will also be offered at Clayton Junior College as Class A P.G.A. professional Phil Crofton will be on hand to teach participants how to improve their golf game. There are two starting dates on June 24 and July 29 for this five week course which will cost $22. The entire concept of the golf swing will be covered in the course and the participant will have the opportunity to practice these techniques with woods and irons. This course is for beginners as well as the experienced golfers who want to improve their game.

Practice ball and clubs will be made available to those who have none Adult karate and self-defense will also be offered by Clayton Junior College as well as youth karate for ages

Youth karate begins June 24 and will last for nine weeks at a fee of $25 while there will be two sessions of adult karate beginning June 22 and June 24 respectively. Basic techniques of both judo and karate will be taught by instructor Gary Hayes.

Workshops Set At CJC 6/18/81

ton Junior College. preparing for and conducting meetings. In addition, tips will be given on how to calls and interruptions, ways to tackle deadlines and set priorities, and how

Two special workshops to eliminate time wasters. designed to improve on-the- Another workshop, "asjob time use and communi- sertiveness at work," will cation skills have been in- emphasize the use of assercluded in the Summer tive techniques in different Quarter non-credit course communication situations. offerings scheduled at Clay- Topics to be covered include dealing with chronic A workshop on "time lateness or absenteeism, asmanagement" has been designing and receiving extra signed to help participants responsibilities, accepting learn how to delegate re- and giving criticism, evalusponsibilities and to im- ating performance, and sugprove their approach to gesting organizational improvements without fear of losing your job. The time management manage lengthly phone workshop will be conducted by instructor Jerry Miller on Friday, June 26, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. A $20 registration fee includes the cost of lunch.

The assertiveness at work program, to be taught by Bill MacKinnon, is scheduled on Friday, July 10, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., and a $22 registration fee includes the cost of lunch.

The two workshops are included in a listing of more than 23 Summer Quarter programs for the "business and professional" field. For complete information on these and other programs, or to register for one of the courses, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3550, or visit the Office in the Administration Building between 8 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Monday through Thursday. The Office is open between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Fridays. Most classes scheduled for five to ten weeks will begin the week of June 22-

Suicide Prevention Workshop June 23 At Clayton Jr. College

Jonesboro and Clayton Junior College will sponsor a workshop on the identification and prevention of potential suicide victims on June 23, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., Building G, Room 132 concerning domestic Seminary. Thm. and Doctor at Clayton Junior College. Instructors will be cent and family counselor, to Metro Correctional In-Chaplain Ben Wright and

Atlanta. Kinard is the Senior Social Behavior Specialist Georgia State University, at Metro Correctional In- presently working on his Diagnostic Center, Jackson, residents of Clayton County.

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR

beginning on July 27.

backhand stokes.

class for ages 16 and up.

and the second July 27.

tennis ball, racket and tennis shoes.

Williford.

slimnastics.

Clayton Junior

Offers Classes

Clayton Junioe College in Morrow will be offering

These new classes include tennis, golf, karate and

There will be two sessions of adult beginning tennis

Both classes will have a fee of $22 for a five week

In the beginning class, the fundamentals will be

Each student must provide his own tennis ball,

The instructor for both sessions will be David

Williford will also be teaching an intermediate tennis

There will be two sessions for the intermediate class with the first session already in progress as of Monday

Instruction will focus on all aspects of the individual's game and each student must provide his own

Each class will last five weeks at a cost of $22. The intermediate course will cater to those individuals who now play but want to improve their game.

stressed, including information on rules, etiquette, equipment as well as practice on the serve, forehand and racket and tennis shoes and each class will be limited to

with the first class beginning on June 22 and the second several new classes during the summer months for the counseling/therapy ap- tion. proach to people who

Therapist of Alternatives to A.P.G.A., American Mental ty Alcoholic Satellite Clinic,

Nelson Ministries, Inc. of Violent Acts, which is the Health Counselors Associa-

Chaplain Wright is a physically abuse their graduate of Georgia State spouse or loved ones. He University, Chandler School has appeared on various of Theology, Emory Univerradio and T.V. talk shows sity, Columbia Theological violence. He is an adoles- of Ministry. Before coming with professional interests stitute, Chaplain Wright Roger Kinard of Metro Cor- in male psychology, held the position of Pastor rectional Institution in psychotherapy and An- with several United drogeny Psychology. Methodist Churches in the Kinard is a graduate of state, has been the Clinical Chaplain with the Georgia stitute. Co-Director and Co- Ed. S., and is a member of and as director, Butts Coun-

Jackson. His duties now with Metro Correctional Institute consist of general pastoral care to all inmates, preaching and administering the sacraments, crisis counseling.

The workshop topics will be as follows: 10-10:45 a.m. "Identification of the Potential Suicidal Individual (PSI)", 11-12 "Short Term Counseling Strategies", 1-2 p.m. "Crisis Intervention Role Playing," 2:15-3 p.m. "Rap-Up" Questions from the floor.

There is no charge for

THE PACESETTER June 19, 1981

Small Business

The Clayton Junior

College Small Business

Development Center

continues its series of programs to help small business owners and managers meet the challenges of operating their businesses. The programs are led by expert resources from the college,

the community and the University System of Georgia. The programs are co-sponsored by the

Clayton County Chamber

of Commerce and the Small Business Ad-

On Tuesday, June 30, 1981, there will be a seminar on how to get the ministration.

Management Series

maximum advantage from your franchise agreement,

whether you are the franchisor or the fran-chisee. It is a three hour program that will begin at 6:30 p.m. The fee is $8.00.

Other summer programs in the management series are

Personal Selling

What is personal selling?

What are the basic theories of personal selling? This course answers these and other questions in this most important aspect of

beginning a new business.

Tuesday and Thursday, July 7 & 9, 6:30-9:30 p.m.; THE CLAYTON SUN June 25, 1981

College Plans Workshops

Two special workshops designed to improve on-the- workshop will be conducted job time use and communi- by instructor Jerry Miller cation skills have been in- on Friday, June 26, between cluded in the Summer 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. A $20 Quarter non-credit course registration fee includes the offerings scheduled at Clay- cost of lunch. ton Junior College.

management" has been designed to help participants is scheduled on Friday, July learn how to delegate re- 1, between 9 a.m. and 5 sponsibilities and to im- p.m. and a $22 registration prove their approach to fee includes the cost of preparing for and conduct- lunch. ing meetings. In addition, tips will be given on how to included in a listing of more manage lengthy phone calls and interrputions, ways to tackle deadlines and set priorities, and how to eliminate time wasters. Another workshop, "as- or to register for one of the sertiveness at work," will courses, call the Office of emphasize the use of assertive techniques in different communication situations. Topics to be covered include dealing with chronic and 7:45 p.m. Monday lateness or absenteeism, as- through Thursday. The Ofsigning and receiving extra responsibilities, accepting and 5 p.m. on Fridays. and giving criticism, evaluating performance, and suggesting organizational improvements without fear of The "assertiveness at A workshop on "time work" program, to be taught by Bill MacKinnon.

The two workshops are than 23 Summer Quarter programs for the "business and professional" field. For complete information on these and other programs. courses, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3550, or visit the Office in the Administration Building between 8 a.m. fice is open between 8 a.m.

Most classes scheduled for five to ten weeks will begin the week of June 22-losing your job.

NEWS/DAILY

6/22/81 Monday

REGISTRATION FOR SUMMER QUARTER credit classes at Clayton Junior College is scheduled in Room D-200 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. and 5:30 and 8:30 p.m. on Monday, June 22. All new students must report for an orientation session in Room G-132, either at 10 a.m. or 6 p.m. Call the Office of Admissions and Records (961-3500) for complete information.

Tuesday

SUMMER QUARTER CREDIT CLASSES will begin at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday, June 23, for all students enrolled in the regular 10-week session and the first 5-week session. Call the Office of Admissions and Records (961-3500) for complete information.

A FREE WORKSHOP ON METHODS to identify potential suicides, and possible techniques to prevent such tragedies, will be conducted at Clayton Junior College on Tuesday, June 23, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Call the Office of Community Services (961-3550) for complete inTHE FAYETTE SUN June 25, 1981 Business Classes

Set At CJC

Summer Quarter small required. business management series at Clayton Junior College is scheduled for Tuesday,

June 20. "Franchising and small business" will be the topic of the one-evening session scheduled between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. A non-refundable

Another program in the $8 registration fee will be

Participants in the program will learn how to get the maximum advantage from their franchise agreement, whether they are the franchisor of the franchisee.

For more information about the program, or others scheduled during the Summer session, call the College's Small Business Development Center at 961-3414. To register, call the Office of Community Services at 961-3350.

All programs in the small business management series are co-sponsored with the College by the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration.

CJC Small Business Series Resumes The quarterly small busi- Quarter series, Thursday's with things to expect of the ter at 961-3414. To register, ness management series session will begin at 6:30 College will resume on is not refundable. help small business."

scheduled at Clayton Junior p.m. An $8 registration fee Thursday, June 18, with a The program has been bankers will attend the three-hour program on designed to help small busi- seminar to answer special "how a friendly banker can ness owners and managers questions and concerns. to learn when to use bank services, one of the most The first program in an important sources of finan- call the College's Small merce and the Small Busieight-session Summer cial assistance. It will deal Business Development Cenness Administration.

banker and what the call the Office of Commubanker expects of the busi- nity Services at 961-3550. nessman. Several local business management series are co-sponsored with the College by the Clayton County Chamber of Com-For more information,

College schedules events

Events scheduled at business." Designed for Clayton Junior College area small business

TUESDAY, JUNE 30 Management Series con- 961-3414 for more infor- 6. tinues with a program on mation, or 961-3550 to "franchising and small register."

between June 28 - July 4: owners and managers, ning classes at Clayton campus, except the Office the three-hour program Junior College will not will begin at 6:30 p.m. meet. Clayton Junior Col- and an $8 registration fee duled sessions will lege's Small Business is non-refundable. Call resume on Monday, July

Summer Quarter eve-Regularly-sche-

THURSDAY, JULY 2

of Public Safety, will be closed for Independence Day holiday. Regular Summer Quarter classes and office hours will resume on Monday, July

All offices on the

Clayton Junior College

FRIDAY, JULY 3

Programs in the small

Workshops Scheduled For Business Executives

Two special workshops on job time criticism, evaluating performance use and communication skills are and suggesting organizational imscheduled in coming weeks at Clayton

Junior College. A workshop on "time management" is designed to help participants learn how to "delegate responsibilities and to improve their approach to preparing for and conducting meet-

Advice on how to manage lengthy telephone calls and interruptions, set priorities and eliminate time wasters will be given.

Jerry Miller will instruct the Thursday. course from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. this Friday. The $20 registration fee includes the cost of lunch.

"Assertiveness at work" is scheduled for July 10 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and will be taught by Bill MacKinnon. It will explain how to deal with chronic lateness or absenteeism, assigning and receiving extra responsibilities, accepting and giving provements.

The $22 registration fee includes the cost of lunch.

The two workshops are included in a listing of more than 23 summer quarter programs for business and professional persons in the South Metro area.

For complete information persons can call 961-3550 or visit the office in the administration building between 8 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Monday through THE SOUTHSIDE AND FAYETTE SUN Classes Available fice of Community Services, during two evening periods most classes in the Summer on Tuesdays and Thursday, dent demands. Quarter schedule of pro- and between 9 and 10 a.m. grams, sports and other- on Mondays and Wedneswise, will begin during the days. week of June 22-26.

karate and self-defense, and weeks. basic yoga.

A special six-week aero- playing sessions for begin- through Thursday, or 8 bic dance class is scheduled ners and intermediate ten- a.m. and 5 p.m. on Friday.

A number of non-credit for youths between the ages nis players are scheduled continuing education of 12 and 15 each Tuesday along with two five-week classes in sports and recrea- and Thursday between 3 sessions stressing the fundation will begin at Clayton and 4 p.m. Adult classes in mentals of golf. Slimnastics Junior College next week. aerobic movements, done to and karate classes also are Offered through the Of- a disco beat, are scheduled scheduled during different time periods to meet stu-

For complete information on sports and recreation classes, or other non-credit Also scheduled is a class Summer Quarter offerings, Included in the schedule in beginning modern dance call the Office of Commuare dance classes, tennis techniques and two sessions nity Services at 961-3550, or instruction and play, golf in beginning jazz dance, visit the Office in the Adinstruction, slimnastics, both scheduled to run nine ministration Building between the hours of 8 a.m. Several instructional and and 7:45 p.m. Monday

Non-Credit

Classes

Offered

At Clayton

Clayton Junior College is taking registration for Summer Quarter non-credit continuing education classes.

Coordinated through the Office of Community Services, more that 65 programs are scheduled during the quarter, including short workshops and courses ranging from three to ten weeks in length. Most classes will begin the week of June 22-26.

A number of courses for members of the business and professional community are included in the schedule, along with others dealing with sports and recreation, arts, music, leisure, and personal growth.

Also included in the summer schedule of classes is a continuation of a "small business management series" co-sponsored with the College's Small Business Development Center, the Clayton County Chamber of Commerce, and the Small Business Administra-

Ali Summer Quarter classes planned by the Of-All' Summer Quarter fice of Community Services ∞ will be offered on the College campus except a series of dog training programs which are co-sponsored with local organizations at the Jonesboro Recreation Center, the Riverdale Community Center, the College Park City Auditorium, the Glenloch Recreation Center in Peachtree City, and the North Clayton Community

To accommodate registration, special office hours have been scheduled between June 8-26. Located in the Administration Building, the Office of Community Services will be open between 8 a.m. and 7:45 Tp.m. Monday through Thursday during the pe-Sriod, and between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Fridays.

The 1981 Summer schedule of non-credit classes was mailed to area residents last week. Additional brochures may be obtained by phoning 961-3550, or visiting the Office in the Administration Building on the Clayton Junior College campus.

Since most classes carry limited enrollments, participants should reserve a place by phone. A registration form must be completed and fees must be paid within five days of a phone reservation.

