

1/18/94

2/22/94

Lifestyle

Family Fun

Clayton State Hosts Volksmarch

By KRISTI RAPSON
Lifestyle Editor

Crackling leaves, brisk air and an abundance of sunshine provided the background for the Georgia Walkers first volksmarch of the year.

A volksmarch is an organized hike or walk which covers a distance of 10 or 20 kilometers - approximately 6 or 12 miles. Clayton State College hosted the event which attracted 160 people from as far away as Ohio and North Carolina.

Duncan Brantley, a purchasing agent for Clayton State College, is the Southeast Regional Director for American Volkssport Association and a past president of the Georgia Walkers. The Southeast region includes Tennessee, Alabama, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida and Georgia.

Brantley said most volksmarches are held in the spring and fall but the organization decided to have an event in the winter "to get people outdoors."

Something For The Family

"It's a sport the whole family can do," said Charlotte Rogers of Decatur. "Your family - plus your pets. It's clean, honest, fun."

Typically, a scenic or historic area or a wooded area is the site of a volksmarch. The Georgia Walkers have scheduled walks later in the year at the Chattahoochee Gold Mine Section, the Atlanta Dogwood Festival, Red Top Mountain and Chateau Elan Winery.

Volksmarches are not contests of speed or endurance. They are designed to be leisurely and encourage outdoor physical activity for people of all ages and levels of physical fitness.

"I enjoy it because I can get out and exercise at my own pace," said Blair Griffin of South Carolina. "It gives you a chance to see different areas."

Walks Are Scenic, Historic

Most walks are held over two days. The Clayton State walk was held in conjunction with one in Roswell Historic District, Brantley said. Walks are held around the year in Pelham, Ala. and volksmarch organizations throughout the Southeast region have walks every weekend.

Brantley said volksmarching is an inexpensive sport and the walks are open to the public. A $1.50 fee is all that is necessary to receive credit for a walk. Participants walking for credit can also receive awards for an additional cost.

Participants may also enroll in the International Volkssport Verband (IVV) awards program by purchasing IVV Event and Distance books. The books entitle the individual to a certificate, hat pin and award patch upon completion of milestones. The awards are earned for completing IVV sanctioned events. An award is earned after completing 10, 30, 50 and every 25 events thereafter and after completing 500 kilometers. There is no time limit for completing the books. Brantley said the Clayton State volksmarch was his 217th event.

Children And Dogs

Four year-old Glennis Nash of Rex, completed the event with her mother and father, Robin and John Nash, her sister, Maegan and cousin, Carolyne York. The event was Glennis' fifth event for credit.

"She probably did about 20 events in a backpack when she was a baby," Robin said. The family completed the course in just under three hours.

Brantley said the course takes about two and a half hours to walk. Some of the routes are suitable for strollers and many participants bring their dogs, Brantley said.

"We provide water and dog biscuits at the checkpoints," Brantley said.

Participants were given a start card when they registered. The start card had to be stamped at check points along the course as verification for completing the event.

Walk At Own Pace

The hours for the walk were 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The only time requirement was that participants had to finish the course by 4 p.m.

Volksmarching originated in Germany and was introduced to the United States through the military, Brantley said.

"In Germany, they have walks all the time and you have to choose which one you want to go on," Brantley said.

Steve And Cherie Iman and Alex Enjoy The Walk

Flo Lovelace Stamps George And Nancy Vartanian's Start Cards

Don Beckman Came From Savannah For The Event

Jim Lowe's Medals

Signs Marked The Path

Dora O'Connor Kept Her Ears Warm On The Walk

The Course Wound Throughout The Clayton State College Campus

SUNphotos by
Kristi Rapson

Participants From Across The Region

Volksmarchers Travel Across The Southeast To Participate In Events. Front Row From Left, Bob And Ann Busby From Ala., Loretta Chastean From N.C. And Jean Scott From Ohio. Back Row From Left, Almeda Lane From Ohio, Duncan Brantley, Jim Lowe From Ohio, Paul Chastean From N.C. and Blair Griffin From S.C.

Artist At College Is Clay Sculptor

Susan Duncan, a clay sculptor working with both thrown and hand-built pieces in colored clay and lusters, will be the featured Artist-In-Residence at Clayton State College Jan. 22 through Jan. 26.

Duncan, a former Roswell High School art teacher who taught in the Governor's Honors Program, was selected as the 1985 merit award winner in the Inman Park Arts Show, a 1984 merit award winner at Powers Crossroads Festival and Best in the Show - Crafts at the 1979 Roswell Arts Festival. This is the fourth consecutive year that Duncan has been selected to serve as an Artist-In-Residence. She received her bachelor's in fine art from the University of Georgia and is studying for her master's degree at Georgia State University.

Lectures Will Focus On Southeastern Art

"Contemporary Art in the Southeast" will be the topic of discussions at a series of lectures at Clayton State College next week.

Carrie Przybilla, Assistant Curator of Twentieth Century Art at the High Museum of Art in Atlanta, will speak at 8:15 p.m. on Jan. 24 and at 11:05 a.m. on Jan. 25 in Room D-223 of the Student Center Building.

In her position at the museum, Przybilla researches the permanent collection, plans and executes exhibitions, and writes catalog articles and materials to accompany exhibits.

Przybilla has served as the curator of the Southern Expressions: Points of View exhibit at the Georgia Pacific Center and as a visiting assistant curator at the Chicago Museum of Contemporary Art. She has been the curator of art of the University Museum of Illinois State University.

Przybilla received her bachelor's degree in art history from the University of Minnesota and her master's degree in art history and museum studies from the University of Southern California.

The Spalding County Newspaper CLAYTON NEWS

Harpisichord Recital
Dr. Anthony Newman, will be featured in a harpischord recital this Sunday afternoon, January 21.

He plays the organ, fortepiano and modern piano, and also conducted orchestras and composed a wide variety of works.

As a performer, he plays music of every period, from the baroque to today.

Free and open to the public, the concert will begin at 3 p.m. in the College's Lecture/Recital Hall (Room G-132).

IRS Seminar
A three-hour "Federal Tax Deposit Seminar" will be held Friday, January 26, from 9 a.m. to noon.

It will be conducted by an IRS representative and is designed for small business owners and managers required to deposit, or withhold federal income tax, social security tax and unemployment compensation insurance.

Although it is a free seminar, preregistration is required through the I.R.S. Call 522-0050 for complete information.

Computer For Business
A day-long workshop on "buying a computer for your business" will be Saturday, January 27, from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

It is designed for small business owners and managers.

A $25 registration fee includes the cost of lunch. Call the College's Small Business Development Center (961-3440) for more information, or the Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

Business Workshop
The opening session in a two-part workshop on "bookkeeping for small business" will be conducted Tuesday, January 23. Three-hour sessions will begin Tuesday and Thursday evenings, and a $20 registration fee covers the entire workshop.

Art Discussion
"Contemporary Art in the Southeast" will be discussed Wednesday evening and Thursday morning, January 24-25.

Carrie Przybilla, assistant curator of 20th Century Art at Atlanta's High Museum of Art, will speak at 8:25 p.m. Wednesday, and 11:05 a.m. Thursday.

Free and open to the public, both programs will be in Room D-223, Student Center.

Voice Recital
Soprano Mary Stuart Dalton will present a voice recital Thursday morning, January 25.

A part-time instructor of music at Clayton State, she will perform at 11:05 a.m. in the College's Lecture/Recital Hall (Room G-132). The program is free and open to the public.

LECTURES AT CLAYTON STATE COLLEGE. Pulitzer Prize winner Taylor Branch speaks on his book, Wednesday, Jan. 17, 7 p.m., and Thursday, Jan. 18, 11:05. Free and open to the public, given in Room D-223 of Student Center Building. Call 961-3510 for information.

THE HENRY NEIGHBOR

THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1990

LOOPHOLES—Owners and managers of small businesses in Henry will be interested in a tax workshop hosted by Clayton State College next today from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Numerous tax topics will be discussed by IRS and Georgia State Government representatives. Call 961-3440 for information or 961-3550 to register. The program will cost $15 and is co-sponsored by the Henry County Chamber of Commerce.

THE HENRY NEIGHBOR THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1990

SMART BUSINESS: More courses are planned at Clayton State College for South Metro business leaders. Bookkeeping for small business will be held Tuesday and Thursday evenings, Jan. 23 and 25. A Federal tax deposit seminar will be held from 9 a.m.-noon on Friday, Jan. 26. Buying a computer for your business will be presented from 9:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 27.

Cost: bookkeeping, $20; Federal tax, free; computers, $25. Information: 961-3440. Registration: 961-3550. Federal tax course registration: 522-0050.

THIS WEEK THURSDAY, JANUARY 11, 1990

Pulitzer Prize winner Branch to speak at Clayton State

Pulitzer Prize winning writer Taylor Branch will speak during two programs scheduled at Clayton State College next week.

Mr. Branch, who won the 1989 Pulitzer Prize in History for his critically acclaimed volume, "Parting the Waters: America in the King Years, 1954-1963," will speak at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, January 17, and again at 11:05 a.m. on Thursday, January 18.

Mr. Branch will speak on the subject of his prize-winning book, which was the result of six years of research, interviewing and writing. A second volume, "Pillar of Fire," will continue through Dr. King's assassination in 1968.

ty in politics, religion and philosophy.

As a summer graduate school project, Mr. Branch left Princeton and went to rural Georgia to educate black voters. The journal he kept that summer was turned in with his term paper and portions of it were submitted, by his professor, to "Washington Monthly." Later, he wrote for "Harper's" and "Esquire."

He served as ghostwriter for John Dean's "Second Wind" and co-wrote "Blind Ambition" with former basketball star Bill Russell. In 1981, he began the six years of work that produced "The first definitive history of the civil rights movements and one of the most detailed examinations of its leaders."

Mr. Branch is the second of three "Lyceum Laureate" speakers scheduled to visit the Clayton State College campus this year. The Laureate series has been designed to attract nationally recognized leaders and performers to the College for two-day campus residencies.

A product of the South, Mr. Branch grew up in Atlanta, the son of a dry-cleaning business owner. After graduating from Westminster School, he enrolled at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and received his undergraduate degree in history. He went on to graduate studies at Princeton University.

NEWS/DAILY, MONDAY, JANUARY 15, 1990

LOCAL RESIDENTS WHO ARE interested in regional and state history are invited to participate in a special bus tour of sites associated with President Franklin D. Roosevelt. The tour will look at the impact of Roosevelt and his "New Deal" on Georgia and will be led by Dr. Bob Welborn and Dr. Gene Hatfield of Clayton State College. The tour is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 24, 8 a.m.-7 p.m., and the cost is $38 each. Seating on the bus is limited. For further information or reservations, call 961-3550.

NEWS/DAILY, MONDAY, JANUARY 15, 1990

LECTURES AT CLAYTON STATE COLLEGE. Pulitzer Prize winner Taylor Branch speaks on his book, Wednesday, Jan. 17, 7 p.m., and Thursday, Jan. 18, 11:05. Free and open to the public, given in Room D-223 of Student Center Building. Call 961-3510 for information.

Dalton Will Perform Voice Recital At Clayton State

Mary Stuart Dalton, a part-time voice and music appreciation instructor at Clayton State College, will perform in a recital Jan. 25.

The 11:05 a.m. recital will take place in the College's Lecture/Recital Hall (G-132).

Dalton, an accomplished performer, has sung in productions of Georgia State Opera Workshop and with the Atlanta Opera's Young Audience Program. She recently had a major role in the Southeastern Savoyard's production of "The Mikado" and a lead role in Clayton State College's production of Menotti's "The Telephone."

She received her bachelor's degree in music education from James Madison University and her master's degree in Voice Performance from North Texas State University.

Sponsored by Lyceum, the recital will be free and open to the public.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 9, 1990 PAGE 5

Sixty-one county students make list

Sixty-one Fayette County students were among the 370 students named to the Fall Quarter Dean's List at Clayton State College, according to Dr. Jack K. Carlton, Vice President for Academic Affairs.

There were 37 students from Fayetteville, 17 students from Peachtree City, four students from Brooks and three students from Tyrone honored.

Named to the list from Fayetteville were William Mark Amis, Sandra Lee Beckner, Roger Alan Brock, Karen Robertson Bultman, Robin Boone Calhoun, Renee Mills Day, Craig Robert Debold, Mark J. Dumas, Linda Leigh Faulkner, Arlys Ann Ferrell, Linda B. Fritis, Duane Allen Haddick, Patricia Dianne Hammock, Sandra Elizabeth Heidt, Dana Michelle Hickman, Doris J. Hughes, Alfreed Keller, Morris Daniel Kelly, Abby Lou Knowles;

Cristy S. Linnenkohl, Gary Wesley Lynch, Michael Allen McCullough, Pamela W. Middlebrooks, Russell Lane Nagel, Samuel Marvin Nipper, Dianthe Guthrie Proctor, Jonnie Carol Roberson, Anna Maria Ryals;

Erin Marie Flynn Smith, Annette V. Snow, Emory Lee Stanford, Robert Thomas Trimble, Samuel S. Walston, Joseph Eskine White, Judy Ray Williams, Paula N. Willingham, and Troy Douglas Wyatt III.

Honored from Peachtree City were Renee O. Adams, Robert Alan Baird, Marilyn E. Broker, Cynthia Lynn Brown, Anna R. Dean, June Lee East, Michael Hyatt Edwards, Bonnie Ingram Epps, Anthony Russell Green, Louann Melton, Melody Simerson Murvin, Jennifer Helen Meyers, Ingrid Marie Peters, Barbara A. Ray, Donna Jo Simmons, Susan Carole Webber and Penny Lee Wofford.

Also included on the list were Mary Anesley Landrum, Terri L. Sanders, and Susan P. Stone of Tyrone; and Candace Lynn-Carroll, Jack John Krakeel, Maria Teresa Peckham, and Kim Quinn Roberson of Brooks.

To make the Dean's List, a student must maintain a grade point average of 3.6 or higher out of a possible 4.0

for the quarter.

The Fall Quarter, which attracted a record 3,869 students to the Morrow campus, began in September and ended in December.

Fayette Neighbor

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1990

Nursing student receives scholarship

Patricia Poole, a resident of Peachtree City and a Clayton State nursing student was the first recipient of a $500 scholarship from the South Metro District of the Georgia Association of Post Anesthesia Nurses. Present for the ceremony were, Robert Puddy, (L-R standing), Dianna Thompson, Robert Bolander, (L-R seated) Ms. Poole, and Sandy Steed.

Fayette Neighbor

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1990

Ford makes donation

The Ford Motor Company Fund and the Atlanta Ford Community Relations Committee has presented the Clayton State College Foundation with a $5,000 check for the Spivey Recital Hall building fund. At the recent ceremony were Virgil E. Byerly (L-R), Atlanta Assembly Plant Controller; John C. McNeil, Chairman of the Community Services Committee; Patricia Garrett, director of development at the college; College President Harry S. Downs; and Curtley F. Neal, Jr., International Relations Manager at the Atlanta Plant.

News/Daily

FRIDAY, JANUARY 12, 1990

CSC Recital

These students recently participated in the South Metro Atlanta Music Teachers Association student recital held at Clayton State College. Pictured (left to right, back row) are: Pam McGaha, Barbara Knowles and Justin Belew; (front row) Stephanie Davis, Amy Harper and Melissa Lee.

Griffin Daily News, Wednesday, January 10, 1990

The following Griffin students have been named to the fall quarter dean's list at Clayton State College in Morrow:

- George A. Cox
- Tammy L. Gager
- Deborah C. Hudson
- Chen Y. Hung
- Timothy W. Peoples Jr.
- Tamara S. Pursley
- Sharon A. Smith

Reader Opinion

Don't Dilute Dental Standards

Dear Editor, Will your dental hygienist have accredited training? The answer to that question is "not necessarily" — not if House Bill 200 is passed by members of the General Assembly of Georgia now in session.

HB 200 was introduced last year and tabled by the chairman of the Health and Ecology Committee, E.M. (Buddy) Childers to see if the state's eight nationally accredited dental hygiene programs would have full enrollment. Full enrollment was achieved in all programs.

A small minority but extremely vocal and politically active faction of the Georgia Dental Association, claiming to represent the majority of Association members, have re-introduced HB 200 to solve a purported shortage of dental hygienists by changing the law to allow non-accredited, non-collegiate in-office training of dental hygienists. This is a form of "professional" training which started to be abandoned a century ago.

Data recently obtained from the secretary of State and the Georgia Board of Dentistry and Medical College of Georgia indicates that there are 3,045 currently licensed dental hygienists in Georgia for approximately 2,715 licensed dentists who potentially require a hygienist. Since 1985, 193 hygienists and 132 dentists have been licensed each year — or 1.46 dental hygienists have been licensed for every dentist on a yearly basis. The ratio of dental hygienists in the United States is 38.5 dental hygienists to 100 dentists. The fact is, Georgia dentists enjoy an almost three to one advantage over U.S. dentists.

This self-serving faction of the Georgia Dental Association that is sponsoring HB 200 is so confident of its passage that they have drafted a non-university or non-collegiate based plan of "training" called the "Georgia Co-Op Program of Dental Hygiene," ready to be legally implemented in "approved" dental offices if HB 200 becomes law.

A representative of this sponsoring group of dentists has stated in writing that "college credit is not critical to the ultimate goal we expect to achieve." What is this goal? In my opinion it is a sad, misguided attempt to discredit, if not destroy formalized, nationally accredited dental hygiene education in the state of Georgia, to squish a perceived professional competition between dentists and independently licensed hygienists who are graduates of nationally accredited programs, and to reduce costs of operating a dental practice by employing inadequately trained personnel posing as hygienists.

I don't believe any informed consumer of health care services would knowingly seek care from a physician, dentist or nurse who was inadequately trained and not a graduate of a university based, nationally accredited program. Why would you then accept care from a dental hygienist who wasn't similarly trained and qualified?

I urge every reader to express your concern and opposition to House Bill 200, primarily by writing to Representative E.M. (Buddy) Childers, chairman, Health and Ecology Committee, State Capitol, Atlanta 30334. Clayton County residents should also write to Senator Terrell Starr, Senator Mac Collins, and Representatives Bill Lee, Jimmy W. Benefield, C.E. Holcomb, Clay Davis and Frank Bailey, Jr. at the above address.

W.G. REED, D.D.S. Jonesboro

Another On Dental Hygienists

Dear Editor, I hope that you will feel that the following letter I sent to members of Clayton County's legislative delegation will be of interest to your readers:

I am a registered dental hygienist and a graduate of Clayton State College. I am very concerned about House Bill 200, which would delete the required two academic years for Dental Hygiene education and allow instead an alternative training program of questionable quality.

I feel that passage of this bill will serve only to lower the standard of dental health care — a huge step backward in a time when the general thrust throughout the country is toward elevating educational requirements in all professions.

Please carefully consider the issues involved, including claims by the Georgia Dental Association (GDA) that a shortage of hygienists exists. Available statistical evidence simply does not support that position.

A thorough study of the issues begs the question: Is the GDA commitment to passage of HB 200 well-meaning, or is it self-serving? The GDA's position that HB 200 "will not jeopardize a hygienist's job security or income potential" surely cannot be taken seriously by any knowledgeable person.

But when all is said and done, by far the predominant issue is quality of dental health care, which is certain to deteriorate if educational standards are lowered.

I ask that you mentally put yourself in the dental hygienist's chair for a moment. What kind of dental care do you expect when you visit and place your trust in the hygienist's knowledge and expertise?

What kind of care do you expect for members of your family?

The best possible, of course. You, and the people of Georgia, deserve no less.

JANET W. BOYD Rome

Clayton Neighbor

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1990

Nursing student receives scholarship

Patricia Poole, a resident of Peachtree City and a Clayton State nursing student was the first recipient of a $500 scholarship from the South Metro District of the Georgia Association of Post Anesthesia Nurses. Present for the ceremony were, Robert Puddy, (L-R standing), Dianna Thompson, Robert Bolander, (L-R seated) Ms. Poole, and Sandy Steed.

South Fulton Neighbor

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1990

HARK! A HARPSICHORD: Dr. Anthony Newman will be featured in a harpsichord recital at Clayton State College Sunday afternoon, Jan. 21. Newman, whose music ranges from "the baroque until today," also plays organ, fortepiano and modern piano. Cost: free. Information: 961-3510.

South Fulton Neighbor

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1990

POLISHED PERFORMANCE: Guitarist George Petsch will be presented in concert at Clayton State College at 11:05 a.m. Jan. 18 in the Morrow college's recital hall. Petsch is president of the Atlanta Guitar Center, where he directs eight other instructors. Cost: free. Information: 961-3510.

South Fulton Neighbor

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1990

HARK! A HARPSICHORD: Dr. Anthony Newman will be featured in a harpsichord recital at Clayton State College Sunday afternoon, Jan. 21. Newman, whose music ranges from "the baroque until today," also plays organ, fortepiano and modern piano. Cost: free. Information: 961-3510.

Half Of Students On Dean's List From Clayton Co.

More than 180 Clayton County students were among the 370 students named to the fall quarter dean's list at Clayton State College, according to Dr. Jack K. Carlton, vice president for Academic Affairs.

There were 64 students from Jonesboro, 34 from Riverdale, 21 from Morrow, 17 from Rex, 16 from Forest Park, 16 from College Park, 11 from Ellenwood, one student from Conley, and one student from Lake City honored.

Named to the list from Jonesboro were Kenneth R. Batson, Darwyn Michael Bolton, Rebecca Nipper Bowman, Amy Hallie Brown, Georgia Hermanson Brown, Rodney Winston Brown, Lori J. Camp, Deborah Ann Campbell, Kenneth J. Castille, Anita May Chandler, Teresa Smith Chumley, Leo Edward Dorson, Ethel B. Duke, Jacquelyne L. Elbakheit, Linda D. Fauvie, Sherry Kay Flowers, Kimberly Dianne Furches, Jeffery Dewitt Garrett.

Also, Donna J. Gates, Robert T. Greenberg, Rose Marie Greene, Debra S. Griffin, Dorothy Carole Hall, Quentin Donald Hendry, Tammy Michelle Herren; Deborah Christine Hicks, Leonard Wayne Jones, William Clifford Jones, Sally Ann Leonard, Karen Renee Leslie, Nancy Foster Lord, Vicki Lamoine Mabrey, Randy S. Mayfield, Sue Diane McCleary, Wanda S. McDaniel, Teresa A. McKalvey, Tammy Medley Monroe, Randall Curtis Nida, Michael Wayne Padgett.

Also, Christina M. Stephens, Wendy Gayle Thornton, George S. Walden, Eugene C. Walling Jr., Melisande M. Whitworth, Susan Ann Wiggins, Charles Stewart Wilson, Jason Todd Wilson, Karen Knill Wise, Tammy McKinney Worsham, and Ryan Sanford Yarbrough.

Those named to the list from Morrow include Mary D. Ariel, Regina Irene Crane, Catherine Jordan Crist, Angela Michelle Croy, Charlotte E. Drew, Edwin Lee Edwards, James S. Fitzpatrick, Claudia K. Flint, Robert Allen Goode, Karen Henlin, Sherri S. Hudson, Carole Sue Isenhardt, Maggie K. Lewis, Angela De Liveros, Michael Darin Loy, David Ross Mackusick, Tracy D. Nettleship, Lisa Shannon Plunkett, Andrew H. Robinson Jr., Michael E. Shoendorf, and Patricia L. Siddons.

Those from Riverdale were Janet Ford Abel, Luther T. Allison III, Angela Marie Andrews, Ronald J. Bailey, Maria Cayenne Barnes, Kristine Trinet Becker, Leslie Ann Callender, Dorothy Ann Cannon, Sharon Leva Compton.

Also, Mark Cragg Connor, Carl Allen Cox, Sandra M. Cunningham, Dawn Aime Desharrais, Gina Louise Donk, Sandra Anne Emeott, Imelda Marie R. Flores, Diana Michelle Gunning, Gregory Paul Haire, Natalie G. Hannigan, Tana Denise Keel, Scott Allen Keller, Clair D. Moya, Pamela E. Nichols, Charlotte Jean Polizzi, Mary Lynda Schell, Dana Medaia Snowden, Eloise Anne Stom, Linda Grant Taylor, C. Elaine Tucker, Ardilia Wesley, Jonathan Edwin Wilkins, Cheryl Elaine Woodcock and Keith M. Zimmerman.

Those named to the list from Rex include Judith Kemper Baker, Mary Agnes Carte, Ronald Lee Chadwick, Shawn Preston Griffin, Vincent Carl Guida, Michelle R. Harlow, Eleanor Frances Jones, Teresa Huguley Maupin, Rhonda Jo Mayhew, Jeffrey Scott Palmer, Stephanie Ponder, Bruce G. Poore, William Steve Ragnow, Stephen Nicholas Sauro, Robert Norman Turner, Robert H. Wallace, and Catherine Mudd Wright.

Those named to the list from Forest Park include Dianne J. Anderson, Thomas Franklin Beck, Scott P. Bray, Helen Diane Byram, Thomas Wade Grant, Ginger Lee Johncox, Karen Louise Nall, Kimberly Renee Newsome, Kenneth Anthony Roach, Susan Marion Rubiano, Jonathan Earl Schubarth, Louise M. Shaw, Kristie Dawn Smith, Victoria H. Stephens, Terri H. Weaver, and Dorothy F. Young.

Also honored are Beverly Denise Atkinson, Darrell Barnett, Rita Joyce Brown, Carolyn L. Dinkins, Bonita Joyce Dorsey, Linda Crook Ellis, Jennifer Lynn Fahey, Jacqueline J. Geter, Susan Lynn House, Bobby Angelo Johnson, Marsha S. Lindsey, Sharon D. Montgomery, David Charles Pursley, George Thomas Standridge, Jennifer Delores Stokes, and Lucinda M. Wilkins of College Park.

Included from Ellenwood are Joy Annette Bentley, Michael Scott Bowen, Deborah Talley Legan, Mark William Long, Gary Thomas Lyle Jr., Laura Elaine Parks, Kelly Ann Pharr, Karen Sue Schott, Sandra N. Sebold, William Weathersby Jr., and Cindy Jo Wolske.

Included are Cyndia Elaine Whisenant of Conley and Elaine Nancy Schmelz of Lake City.

To make the dean's list, a student must maintain a grade point average of 3.6 or higher out of a possible 4.0 for the quarter.

Southern Dames Donate To Spivey

Members of the Southern Dames of America visited Clayton State College recently to present a check for the college foundation's Spivey Recital Hall building fund. Pictured (left to right) are: Claude H. Whaley, a member of the foundation's board of trustees; Harry S. Downs, president of the college; Margery G. Middlebrooks-Butler of Barnesville, treasurer of the Southern Dames of America; and Claudia Turner of Atlanta, president of the Southern Dames of America. The gift was made in memory of Doris Walker Lyle, the first president of the National Southern Dames of America and a friend of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Spivey.

National Honor Given To 68

A total of 68 students from Clayton County are among the 116,000 students included in the 12th Annual Edition of The National Dean's List published by Educational Communications, Inc., Lake Forest, Ill.

Students are selected for this honor by their college deans or registrars and must be in the upper 10 percent of their class, on their school's Dean List, or have earned a comparable honor. Listed students are eligible to compete for $25,000 in scholarship awards funded by the publisher and may also use a referral service for future employment opportunities. More than 2,500 colleges and universities nationwide use the publication to recognize their academically qualified students.

From Conley are Roland Dawkins, Morehouse College, and Scott A. Moore, Georgia Institute of Technology.

From Forest Park are Rebecca R. Fritts, Clayton State College; Ifeyinwa E. Ubezu, Atlanta University; and Jeffrey W. Woolums, Clayton State.

From Jonesboro are Laura A. Baker, Temple University; Tara December Burchaell, Florida State University; Natalie D. Gattson, Florida A&M University; Joanna C. Johnson, Mercer University; Macon; Mary E. Johnson, University of Oklahoma Health Science Center; Cary R. Labrum, Clayton State; Melly J. Meadows, Clayton State; Robert W. Morris, Clayton State; Jonathan J. Parry, Clayton State; Lisa M. Roberts, Florida State; Hiroko S. Sanders, Clayton State; Katy A. Shin, Clayton State; Genny Tomlin, Clayton State; Melissa J. Von Stroh, Concordia Teachers College; and Karen K. Wise, Clayton State.

From Morrow are Fred W. Daugherty, Clayton State; Claire L. Dupree, University of Georgia; Nathalie A. Edghill, Clayton State; Angela K. Garner, Georgia State University; Timothy Kyle King, University of Georgia; Heidi J. Stuebs, Georgia State; and Leslie D. Wantland, University of Georgia.

From Riverdale are James M. Clement, Temple University; Rita J. Dailey, Clayton State; Mary J. Gunning, Brenau College; Dara G. Johnson, Averett College; Tracey A. Lieb, Clayton State; Christine M. Ndeti, Clark Atlanta University; Sandelisiwe C. Ndiou, Clark Atlanta University; Wesley K. Wilkins, Medical College of Georgia; and Jean Victoria Wilson, Interdenominational Theological Center.

Also from Riverdale, Kevin A. Grogg, Georgia Tech; Keith L. Matfox, Temple University; Peggy Ann Monkus, Clayton State; Georgia A. Moscardelli, University of Georgia; and Kelle Faye Oakley, University of Georgia. From College Park are Mary E. Anderson, Oral Roberts University; Andrea V. Andrews, Tuskegee University; Judith A. Apiyo, Atlanta Metropolitan College; Guy L. Brown, Atlanta University; Musa S. Ceesay, Stillman College; James J. Clark, Southern College of Optometry; Christopher D. Coles, Morehouse College; Stephen R. Costen, Interdenominational Theological Center; Althea R. Gonzalez, Grambling State University; Julie Elaine Mays, Clayton State; Terence P. Muller, Tuskegee University; Yvette L. Murray, Clark Atlanta University; Dia C. Myrick, Clark Atlanta University; Bernard Nelson Jr., Morehouse College; Charles Onvora Ochei, Fort Valley State College; Perry Leon Paulhamus, Embry Riddle Aeronautical University; Rajeev Shabazz, Clark Atlanta University; Leisha C. Stewart, Spelman College; Anne M. Winston, Tuskegee University; and Samuel Wright, Interdenominational Theological Center.

Also from College Park, Sean A. Blyden, Atlanta University; Trung T. Nguyen, Embry Riddle Aeronautical University; Mary C. Parker, Atlanta Metropolitan College; Collette V. Paul, Clark Atlanta University; Krystal S. Smallwood, Oakwood College; and Christopher R. Valente, Lewis University.

HENRY Neighbor

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1990

CLAYTON: Over 180 Clayton students were among the 370 students named to the fall quarter dean's list at Clayton State College. There were 64 students from Jonesboro, 34 from Riverdale, 21 from Morrow, 17 from Rex, 16 from Forest Park, 16 from College Park, 11 from Ellenwood, one from Conley and one from Lake City.

FAYETTE Neighbor

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1990

POLISHED PERFORMANCE: Guitarist George Petsch will be presented in concert at Clayton State College at 11:05 a.m. Jan. 18 in the Morrow college's recital hall. Petsch is president of the Atlanta Guitar Center, where he directs eight other instructors. Cost: free. Information: 961-3510.

Clayton Neighbor

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1990

HARK! A HARPSICHORD: Dr. Anthony Newman will be featured in a harpsichord recital at Clayton State College Sunday afternoon, Jan. 21. Newman, whose music ranges from "the baroque until today," also plays organ, fortepiano and modern piano. Cost: free. Information: 961-3510.

HENRY Neighbor

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1990

Ford makes donation

The Ford Motor Company Fund and the Atlanta Ford Community Relations Committee has presented the Clayton State College Foundation with a $5,000 check for the Spivey Recital Hall building fund. At the recent ceremony were Virgil E. Byerly (L-R), Atlanta Assembly Plant Controller; John C. McNeil, Chairman of the Community Services Committee; Patricia Garrett, director of development at the college; College President Harry S. Downs; and Curtley F. Neal, Jr., International Relations Manager at the Atlanta Plant.

EDUCATION

Making tour plans

Clayton State College professor Dr. Robert Welborn (right), who will serve as tour director, discusses plans for the June tour of Europe with Diana Hart, (left) Assistant Director of Community Services.

Teachers file to protect

The Georgia Association of Educators (GAE) recently filed a class action lawsuit aimed at protecting retired teachers' benefits from state taxation.

The action comes as a result of legislation enacted by the Georgia General Assembly in a September 15 Special Session that put a tax on state employees' retirement pensions for the first time in history.

The lawsuit was filed in Fulton County Superior Court against the Teachers Retirement System of Georgia, the Department of Revenue, and the State of Georgia. It alleges that the legislation, which was approved by the Governor on September 20, 1989, is unconstitutional and void as an impairment of contract obligation under both the Georgia and the United States Constitutions.

new taxation by asking legislators in January for a cost of living adjustment (COLA) to retirement benefits," she continued. "But, ultimately, this lawsuit may be the only way we can protect current and future retired teachers from a loss of income."

The taxation was to take effect beginning with the 1989 tax year. However, the lawsuit requests that the Teacher's Retirement System of Georgia and the State Department of Revenue be permanently enjoined from deducting any state income taxes from the retirement allowances of the suit's class action members. An estimated 26,500 teachers are currently drawing retirement benefits.

The action has been filed with a companion class action lawsuit on behalf of all state retirees against

Clayton State sponsoring 12-day European tour

"A Taste of Europe" tour, sponsored by Clayton State College, is planned for June 7-18, 1990.

The 12-day tour will include stops in London, England; Brussels, Belgium; Heidelberg, Germany; Lucerne and Interlaken, Switzerland; and Paris and Versailles, France.

The historical and educational exploration of Europe is the 5th trip sponsored by the College and directed by Dr. Robert Welborn, professor of history and an experienced tour director.

The Clayton group will have its own touring coach, an English tour conductor and professional guides in each of the major cities. Throughout the tour, the focus will be upon the historical significance of Europe and the vital connections that have always existed between America and European countries.

The cost of the tour, $2,199, includes round-trip air fare, double occupancy hotel arrangements, ground transportation by a deluxe travel coach, ferry service and air transfers. A deposit must be made by February 2, 1990, and the balance will be due April 2.

For more information or to make a reservation, contact the Office of Community Services at 961-3550 or Dr. Robert Welborn at his office (961-3460) or his home (474-8797).

Addiction recovery lecture Jan. 10, 11

"Recovery from addiction" will be the topic of lectures scheduled at Clayton State College on Wednesday evening, January 10 and Thursday morning, January 11. Edward Youmans, a recovering alcoholic who serves as Coordinator of the south Fulton Hospital Medical Intervention Unit, will lead discussions beginning at 7 p.m. on Wednesday and 11:05 a.m. on Thursday. Free and open to the public, both Lyceum-sponsored programs will be given in Room D-218 of the Student Center Building.

GED at CSC January 9

Clayton State College will administer the General Educational Development (GED) test between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, January 9. Call the college's Office of Counseling and Testing (961-3515) for complete information about requirements for taking the high school equivalency examination.

THE HENRY NEIGHBOR WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1990

Clayton State publishes dean's list

Forty-nine Henry residents were among the 370 students named to the fall quarter dean's list at Clayton State College.

Thirty-three of the students are from Stockbridge:

■ Norma Brock, Angela Chives, Judy Dickerson, Alicia Foster, Zoila Freeman, Joseph Fuqua, Joyceann Gladis, Terry Heaton, Warren Hodges, Nannette Huff, Gary Jarrett.

■ Brian MacKenzie, Matthew MacLaughlin, Kizzie Matthews, Melanie McCane, Donna McCarney, Lisa McWhorter, Harriet Parker, Lizette Richey, Gregory Roberts, Paulette Roberts, Edith Roney, Kenneth Schaefer, James Serrano;

■ Bonnie Shepherd, William Smith, Jack Sorelle, Theresa Steele, William Tinsley, Julie Watkins, Betty Watts, Kim Weldon, and James White.

Eleven students are from McDonough:

■ Laurie Brannan, Rhonda Cox, Carla Elliott, Brian Fellows,

Frances King, Theresa McLendon, Emily McKinnon, David Rivers, Kara Rowell, Donna Stephens, and Leslie Twilley.

Honored from Locust Grove:

■ Lisa Garland, Lamar Jenkins and Angie Radney.

■ Also honored were students from Hampton, Nancy Godwin and James Oliver.

In order to qualify for dean's list, students must maintain a grade-point average of 3.6 or higher out of a possible 4.0 for the quarter.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 16, 1990

At Clayton State Tax workshop Saturday

Small business owners and managers will have an opportunity to attend a tax workshop hosted by Clayton State College on Thursday, January 18.

The $15 workshop sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service and the State of Georgia begins at 8:30 a.m. and continues through 4:30 p.m.

Some of the topics to be discussed business taxes, sales taxes, unemployment taxes, and tax benefits and obligations. Representatives from The Internal Revenue Service, the Georgia Department of Revenue, and the Georgia Department of Labor will be present to contribute to the discussions.

The program are part of a Winter Quarter series designed to help small business owners and managers meet the challenges of operating their business.

Call the College's Small Business Development Center (961-3440) for more information, or the Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

All programs in the series are co-sponsored by the Chambers of Commerce in Clayton, Fayette, Henry and South Fulton counties, and the U.S. Small Business Administration.

CLAYTON EXTRA, JAN. 11, 1990

A "Taste of Europe" tour, sponsored by Clayton State College, is planned for June 7 to 18 with stops in London, Brussels, Paris, Versailles, Heidelberg, Lucerne and Interlaken. The tour, directed by Robert Welborn, history professor, will have its own touring coach, an English tour conductor and professional guides in each of the major cities. It will focus on the historical significance of Europe and the connections between American and European countries. The cost is $2,199, which includes round-trip air fare, double-occupancy hotel arrangements, ground transportation by deluxe travel coach, ferry service and air transfers. A deposit must be made by Feb. 2, and the balance will be due April 2. Information and reservations: Office of Community Affairs, 961-3550, or 961-3460.

CLAYTON EXTRA, JAN. 11, 1990

"Buying and Selling a Business," a three-hour workshop, will be held at 6:30 p.m. at Clayton State College. A $15 registration fee is required. For more information, call the Small Business Development Center at 961-3440, or the Office of Community Services at 961-3550.

CLAYTON EXTRA, JAN. 11, 1990

"Recovery from Addiction" is the topic of a free program scheduled at Clayton State College at 11:05 a.m. in Room D-218. The speaker will be Edward Youmans, a recovering alcoholic and coordinator of the South Fulton Hospital Medical Intervention Unit.

Spivey Hall contribution

Members of the Southern Dames of America visited Clayton State College recently to present a check for the College Foundation's Spivey Recital Hall building fund. Mrs. Margery G. Middlebrooks-Butler (second from right) of Barnesville and Mrs. Claudia Turner (right) of Atlanta made the presentation to Dr. Harry S. Downs (second from left), President of the College, and Claude H. Whaley (left), a member of the Foundation's Board of Trustees. Mrs. Middlebrooks-Butler, formerly of Jonesboro, is treasurer and Mrs. Turner is past president of the Georgia Society of Southern Dames. The gift was made in memory of Doris Walker Lyle, the first president of the National Southern Dames of America and a friend of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Spivey. Construction of the $4 million world-class music recital hall began on the Clayton State campus last spring and will be completed by the fall of 1990. Call 961-3578 for complete information about Spivey Hall.

SPECIAL PHOTO

NEWS/DAILY, MONDAY, JANUARY 22, 1990

Clayton State Scholarships

Clayton State College nursing student Patricia Poole was the first recipient of a $500 scholarship from the South Metro District of the Georgia Association of Post Anesthesia Nurses. Pictured from left, standing: Dr. Robert E. Puddy, Dean of the School of Health Sciences; Dianna Thompson, President-Elect of the South Metro District of GAPAN; and Robert C. Bolander, Dean of Students. From left, sitting: Patricia Poole of Peachtree City, Sandy Steed, President of the South Metro District of GAPAN. The scholarship is the first presented by the four-year old organization. Ms. Poole is an emergency room employee at Scottish Rite Children's Hospital.

NEWS/DAILY, MONDAY, JANUARY 22, 1990

Operetta Performer in CSC Recital

Mary Stuart Dalton, a part-time voice and music appreciation instructor at Clayton State College, will perform Thursday, Jan. 25, at 11:05 in the lecture/recital hall (G-132).

Ms. Dalton, an accomplished performer and master's graduate of North Texas State University, has sung in productions of Georgia State Opera Workshop and with the Atlanta Opera's Young Audience Program. She recently had a major role in the Southeastern Savoyard's production of "The Mikado" and a lead role in Clayton State College's production of Menotti's "The Telephone." Sponsored by Lyceum, the recital is free and open to all.

GED TEST, Clayton State College, Jan. 23, 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Call 961-3515.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 16, 1990 PAGE 13

Pulitzer winner set to speak on book

Wednesday, January 17

Pulitzer Prize winner Taylor Branch will speak on the subject of his award-winning book during two lectures scheduled at Clayton State College on Wednesday evening, January 17, and Thursday morning, January 18. Another featured speaker in Clayton State's "Lyceum Laureate" series, Mr. Branch will speak on "Parting The Waters: America in the King Years." Free and open to the public, programs will begin at 7 p.m. on Wednesday evening and at 11:05 a.m. on Thursday morning. Both lectures will be given in Room D-223 of the Student Center Building. Call 961-3510 for complete information.

Guitarist to perform at Clayton State

Thursday, January 18

Guitarist George Petsch will be presented in concert at Clayton State College on Thursday morning, January 18. Mr. Petsch is President of the Atlanta Guitar Center where he teaches and directs a staff of eight other instructors. Thursday's concert will begin at 11:05 a.m. in the College's Lecture/Recital Hall (Room G-132). Sponsored by Lyceum, the program will be free and open to the public. Call 961-3510 for complete information.

THE CLAYTON SUN 1/18/90

Clayton State's First Signee

Adrian Stevens, former Clayton County Player of the Year, made history at Clayton State College last week as the first player to sign with the infant basketball team. Stevens (seated, left) is pictured with his mother, Sharon McGlothlan (seated, right). Standing from left to right are Robert C. Bolander, Clayton State Dean of Students; North Clayton High School coach James Gwyn; Clayton State College Athletic Director and basketball coach Mason Barfield; and former North Clayton coach (presently at Mount Zion High School) Rick Moore. Mr. Stevens is a 1989 graduate of North Clayton High School and is presently enrolled at Clayton State.

NEWS/DAILY, FRIDAY, JANUARY 19, 1990

BOOKKEEPING FOR SMALL BUSINESS WORKSHOP. Opening session of two-part workshop begins at Clayton State College, Tuesday, Jan. 23. Three-hour sessions begin Tuesday and Thursday evenings, $20 registration fee required. Call 961-3440 or 961-3550 for information and registration.

CONTEMPORARY ART IN THE SOUTHEAST. Discussions scheduled at Clayton State College, Wednesday, Jan. 24, 8:25 p.m., and Thursday, Jan. 25, 11:05 a.m. Free and open to the public. Lyceum-sponsored programs will be given in Room D-223 of the Student Center Building. For information call 961-3510.

Sports

Clayton St. Signs No. 1

Stevens Signs To Play At Clayton State

By Mitch Sneed
Sports Editor

Clayton State College took another important step towards intercollegiate athletic competition Wednesday by making Clayton County's 1989 Basketball Player of the Year Adrian Stevens as its first signee.

Clayton State Athletic Director and Basketball Coach Mason Barfield was excited about the signing of Stevens, saying it was an "ideal beginning."

Stevens, a 6-0 170 point guard, led Rick Moore's North Clayton squad to a 15 win season and the Sub-Region 4-AAAA North championship last season.

Averaging 14 points per game, Stevens was known as much for his defense and leadership as his ability to score.

In addition to his impressive offensive numbers, Stevens also dish off six assists per game, pulled down four rebounds, and averaged four steals per contest.

At season's end Stevens was chosen Player of the Year by the News/Daily, the Clayton County Tipoff Club and the Clayton Sun, named team MVP and the team's top defensive player.

Even though his basketball statistics were outstanding the thing that made Stevens even more attractive to Barfield was his academic background.

At North Clayton Stevens was an honor student, graduating with a 3.5 GPA. He was nominated for the Governor's Honors Program in French and was a member of News/Daily's Scholastic All-County Basketball squad.

"I think this is a very significant day for our program at Clayton State," said Barfield. "Not only are we signing the Clayton County Player of the Year, we are signing a young man who has a history of academic success to match."

"This should serve to set a tone for what is to come in the months and years ahead," added Barfield. "Adrian is the type of person we are trying to attract to Clayton, to help us build an athletic tradition that will match the tradition of academic excellence Clayton State is known for."

Stevens is currently enrolled at Clayton State getting some of the basics behind him before next year when the school's basketball team is scheduled to begin play.

Having not been active on an organized level since last season, Stevens says he has stayed in shape playing in pickup games and lifting weights.

Photo By Bill Yoder

Adrian Stevens inks a deal with Clayton State as his mother Sharon McGlothlin, front right, Clayton's Robert Bolander, North Clayton's James Gwyn, Clayton's Mason Barfield, and former North Clayton Coach now at Mt. Zion Rick Moore witness the happy occasion.

"I've been trying to stay in shape," said Stevens. "I've been playing a lot of pickup ball."

Ironically it was in one of those pickup games where Barfield first noticed Stevens. Stevens was playing in a game at Clayton State when Barfield noticed his skills and talked with him and then realized who he was.

"Sometimes you just get lucky," said Barfield with a big smile. "It's amazing what is right there under your nose."

Stevens, who went unnoticed by many scouts despite a tremendous senior season, said he is now getting a chance to fulfill a dream.

"I am so happy to have this opportunity," said Stevens. "Being part of a brand new program and being able to stay close to home is like a dream come true for me."

Rick Moore, Stevens' high school coach said he was happy to see Adrian get a chance to prove what type of player he can be.

"Adrian was our leader on the floor," said Moore. "He was our stabilizing force, our go to guy when we needed a spark. I'm really happy for Adrian, and I think Mason already knows that he is getting a good one."

Barfield said that was something he already knew.

"We are proud Adrian has made the decision to stay at home and represent Clayton State and the entire community," said Barfield. "Hopefully with what we are trying to establish, every Clayton County Player of the Year will want to stay at home and get their education at Clayton State."

Photo By Bill Yoder

Clayton State's Mason Barfield and Adrian Stevens pose in what will be the team's basketball home beginning next season.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 9, 1990

Sixty-one county students make list

Sixty-one Fayette County students were among the 370 students named to the Fall Quarter Dean's List at Clayton State College, according to Dr. Jack K. Carlton, Vice President for Academic Affairs.

There were 37 students from Fayetteville, 17 students from Peachtree City, four students from Brooks and three students from Tyrone honored.

Named to the list from Fayetteville were William Mark Amis, Sandra Lee Beckner, Roger Alan Brock, Karen Robertson Bultman, Robin Boone Calhoun, Renee Mills Day, Craig Robert Debold, Mark J. Dumas, Linda Leigh Faulkner, Arlys Ann Ferrell, Linda B. Fritts, Duane Allen Haddick, Patricia Dianne Hammock, Sandra Elizabeth Heidt, Dana Michelle Hickman, Doris J. Hughes, Alfred Keller, Morris Daniel Kelly, Abby Lou Knowles;

Cristy S. Linnenkohl, Gary Wesley Lynch, Michael Allen McCullough, Pamela W. Middlebrooks, Russell Lane Nagel, Samuel Marvin Nipper, Dianne Guthrie Proctor, Jonnie Carol Roberson, Anna Maria Ryals;

Erin Marie Flynn Smith, Annette V. Snow, Emory Lee Stanford, Robert Thomas Trimble, Samuel S. Walston, Joseph Eskine White, Judy Ray Williams, Paula N. Willingham, and Troy Douglas Wyatt III.

Honored from Peachtree City were Renee O. Adams, Robert Alan Baird, Marilyn E. Broker, Cynthia Lynn Brown, Anna R. Dean, June Lee East, Michael Hyatt Edwards, Bonnie Ingram Epps, Anthony Russell Green, Louann Melton, Melody Simerson Murvin, Jennifer Helen Meyers, Ingrid Marie Peters, Barbara A. Ray, Donna Jo Simmons, Susan Carole Webber and Penny Lee Wolff.

Also included on the list were Mary Anesley Landrum, Terri L. Sanders, and Susan P. Stone of Tyrone; and Candace Lynn Carroll, Jack John Krakeel, Maria Teresa Peckham, and Kim Quinn Roberson of Brooks.

To make the Dean's List, a student must maintain a grade point average of 3.6 or higher out of a possible 4.0

for the quarter.

The Fall Quarter, which attracted a record 3,869 students to the Morrow campus, began in September and ended in December.

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1990

How 'bout them ????

By Steve Carr
Neighbor Sports Editor

Clayton State College has recruited the creative minds of student body and faculty members in a search for a school mascot.

The school's newly formed athletic committee has asked students and teachers to submit suggestions by 6 p.m. Monday to the Dean of Students office.

A list of guidelines has been distributed across the campus, detailing the restrictions for worthy applicants.

Any name considered must reflect and symbolize "the beauty of the campus and the academic quality, excellence and strength of its programs", states the guideline letter.

Mascots identical to those of high schools located in Clayton State's service area, and those representing colleges and schools within the state are listed and discouraged.

The memo lists 33 college and 30 high school mascots that would not be applicable due to such repetition.

Last but not least, the mascot submissions should be easily marketable and in good taste.

Creative effort is not without benefit, as the college has arranged a small reward for "winning" entries.

First edition Clayton State mascot T-shirts will be awarded to up to six persons who submit the chosen entry.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1990

THE FAYETTE NEIGHBOR

SMART BUSINESS: More courses are planned at Clayton State College for South Metro business leaders. A Federal tax deposit seminar will be held from 9 a.m.-noon on Friday. Buying a computer for your business will be presented from 9:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Saturday.

TAX TIME: A three-hour "Federal Tax Deposit Seminar" will be conducted at Clayton State College on Friday, between 9 a.m. and noon. The workshop will be conducted by a representative of the Internal Revenue Service. The workshop has been designed for business owners with employees who are required to deposit or withhold federal income tax, social security tax and unemployment compensation insurance.

COMPUTER HELP: A day-long workshop on "Buying a Computer For Your Business" will be conducted at Clayton State College on Saturday, between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1990

FAYETTE

SCHOOL

A QUICK GLANCE AT FAYETTE SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

HONORED: Two Fayetteville women were elected as officers of the Clayton State Chapter of the Phi Beta Lambda Association. Stacey Moore was elected secretary and Biffie Blackstone was elected treasurer of the business association.

CLAYTON EXTRA, JAN. 18, 1990

Clayton Sports

N. Clayton's Stephens is Clayton State's first signee

By David Johnson
Staff writer

Though Clayton State College has yet to play its first basketball game, the school won a victory of sorts last Wednesday.

Head coach Mason Barfield officially signed his first player, landing former North Clayton standout Adrian Stephens.

"Adrian was exactly the type of person we wanted to get," Barfield said. "Not only is he an excellent basketball player, but he is a standout in the classroom. We feel very fortunate to have him."

As a senior, Stephens led North Clayton with 14 points a game. The 6-foot, 170-pound guard also averaged four rebounds, six assists and four steals.

He was seventh in the county in scoring and third in free-throw accuracy, hitting 75 percent.

Stephens was named Clayton County player of the year by several publications as well as the county's Tip-Off Club. He also was named team MVP.

But his honors off the court may have been most impressive. He was an honor graduate in 1989, finishing his high school career with a 3.5 grade point average on a scale of 4.0. He was nominated for Governors Honors in French and was named to the All-Clayton Academic team.

Barfield said Stephens was just the first of what he hopes are at least 12 players he wants to sign before preseason drills in September. The school's first season will tip-off in November.

Clayton State will be a member of NAIA District 25, also known as the GIAC, which includes 11 Georgia colleges.

Under NAIA rules, member schools may sign prospects at any time. NCAA members can sign high school seniors only at specified times.

Still, the allure of playing for a bigger school is an advantage for NCAA members. As a result, Barfield said, he doesn't expect to sign the majority of his players until after the NCAA signing date.

The Clayton State coach, who was an assistant at Kennesaw State College last year, said he is currently recruiting 60 players, all without an assistant, which he hopes to have by the spring.

CLAYTON EXTRA, JAN. 18, 1990

Ratajczak forecasts downturn in Southside's economy

By Brian McGreevy
Staff writer

Donald Ratajczak, a nationally known economist and forecaster, is predicting a downturn for the economy of the Southside and the rest of the metro area in the early part of the decade.

"I don't see anything positive for a surge in the 1990s," Dr. Ratajczak told about 250 people at Clayton State College last week. "There's no engine in sight."

Once among the top three growth areas in the country, Atlanta will have to adjust to a ranking in the top 15, said the 47-year-old Georgia State University professor. His quarterly projections have been featured in The New York Times, U.S. News and World Report magazine and on public television's "Wall Street Week."

Dr. Ratajczak said the metro economy suffered last year and a gloomy future looms for 1990. "1989 was not a good year for Atlanta."

Damaging the employment picture were layoffs at Lockheed and General Motors' Doraville plant, the Eastern strike and impending layoffs at GM's Lakewood plant, he said.

Rebuilding efforts at Eastern are the brightest ray of hope for the Southside's employment picture, but "there's no future for the airline without a positive cash flow," he said. "Eastern must buy customers back."

With fewer full-time workers — he estimates only 30,000 new jobs in 1990 — the demand for housing will weaken. He believes about 30,000 homes will be constructed this year. The residential housing market in Clayton County is overbuilt, he added.

Other bad news for the area economy included a 2 percent decline in local retail sales last year, which contributed to the failure of Branden's, Zayre and Lechmere, he said. An overbuilt retail market will contribute to further shakeouts.

If Atlanta is named host of the 1996 Olympic Games, it would have a "fairly significant impact" on the local economy, Dr. Ratajczak said. But the Games alone can't pull the city out of its doldrums, he added.

However, Olympic organizers could realistically break even and end up with new buildings in the deal without a taxpayer bailout, he said.

On the national front, "I think the stock market will fall this year, not dramatically though," said Dr. Ratajczak, who has headed the Economic Forecasting

Donald Ratajczak, a nationally known economic forecaster, told a Clayton State audience of 120 that this year would not be a good one for Atlanta. Layoffs at Lockheed and General Motors' Doraville plant, the Eastern strike and impending layoffs at GM's Lakewood plant especially hurt.

Center at Georgia State since 1973.

On the banking scene, Dr. Ratajczak described the savings and loan bailout as underfunded. As far as he could determine, not only bad management crippled the nation's S&Ls, since they continue to fail even with new management.

And as troubled savings institutions sell off real estate holdings in office-glutted Atlanta, it will add a destabilizing influence on the commercial real estate market.

Not only thrifts look to the future with anxiety, "All banks are scared," said the economist. "They too don't know how many problems they have in their loan portfolio."

Dr. Ratajczak said the hospital industry must also make tough choices in the near term. Operating at under 60 percent occupancy won't cut it in the 1990s, he said. At least 70 percent is needed, he said. To cut health care costs, he recommended hospitals share expensive equipment rather than trying to keep up with the Dr. Joneses.

THIS WEEK IN PEACHTREE CITY

PAGE 8B, THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1990

Workshops for small business at CSC

Small business owners and managers will have an opportunity to attend three different workshops sponsored by Clayton State College next week.

"Bookkeeping For Small Businesses," a two-day workshop introduces the basic procedure for recording accounting transactions in a small business. The $20 workshop will take place from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. on Tuesday, January 23 and Thursday, January 25.

"Buying a computer for small business" will be the topic of the Saturday, January 27 workshop, scheduled between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. The $25 registration fee includes the cost of lunch. The computer workshop is designed for the prospective first-time small business computer user.

The third workshop, "Federal Tax Deposit Seminar," will be helpful to business owner with employees who are required to deposit or withhold federal income tax, and other tax-related matters. The Friday, January 26 seminar is a free workshop sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service. Participants must register by calling 522-0050.

Call the College's Small Business Development Center (961-3440) for more information, or the Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

All programs in the series are co-sponsored by the Chambers of Commerce in Clayton, Fayette, Henry and South Fulton counties, and the U.S. Small Business Administration.

Adrian Stevens (seated) and his mother, Sharon McGlothan, sign him up as Clayton State's first basketball recruit as Dean of Student Activities Robert C. Bolander (left), North Clayton high school coach James Gwyn, CSC coach Mason Barfield, and Adrian's former coach Rick Moore, watch.

Clayton State gears up sports program

By David Johnson
Sports editor

Since Robert Bolander came to Clayton Junior College in the early 1970s, the institution has undergone numerous changes.

Most notable was in 1987, when the Morrow school shed its junior college status and became a four-year institution.

But even that may pale in comparison to what will hit the school in the winter quarter next year — intercollegiate athletics.

Clayton State is scheduled to tip off its first men's basketball season in November.

"I'm excited about it," said Mr. Bolander, who as dean of student activities played a key roll in bringing basketball to the school. "It adds another dimension to a college education."

Mr. Bolander headed an 18-member committee which spent two years studying the feasibility of intercollegiate athletics at Clayton State.

"The most exciting part about it all," he said, "is having turned over our report to the president last spring and now seeing our work beginning to be implemented."

But for all the excitement, Mr. Bolander has two concerns.

First, he wants to make sure student athletes concentrate foremost on being students. Second, he is concerned that the team not be a consistent loser.

"We can control the first, but there's not much we can do about the other," Mr. Bolander said.

Head basketball coach and athletics director Mason Barfield hopes to do something about both. He took a major step in that direction two weeks ago by landing his first recruit — North Clayton's Adrian Stephens.

The squad's MVP his senior year, the signee was a 1989 honor graduate, posting a GPA of 3.5 on a 4.0 scale. He was nominated for the Governor's Honors Program in French and was named to the Clayton County All-Academic team.

"Adrian is exactly the type of player we'll be going after," said Mr. Barfield, who hopes to sign at least a dozen players before practice begins in September. "Not only is he an outstanding player, he's an excellent student."

But can Clayton State be so selective in its recruiting and still win consistently?

"Only time will tell," said school President Harry Downs. "We think it's possible."

The idea of bringing intercollegiate athletics to Clayton State has been batted around since Dr. Downs arrived at the school in 1969. But two previous study committees reported there was not enough interest among the student body or faculty.

All that changed when Clayton State became a four-year institution.

In a schoolwide referendum conducted by Mr. Bolander's study committee, students were asked if they were interested in bringing intercollegiate athletics to the school and would they be willing to pay a $35 per quarter athletic fee to support such a program.

More than 30 percent of the 3,800-plus student body participated — compared with a 5 percent to 10 percent turnout for student government elections — and 63 percent said yes, Mr. Bolander said.

"One of the many changes I've seen in this community over the years is the growing interest in sports," Dr. Downs said. "I think sports at Clayton State will be good, not only for the school, but for the community as a whole."

Mr. Barfield said he expects the basketball team to bring a sense of unity and camaraderie to the school.

"I think it will bring together people from different segments of the college who before had no reason to get together," he said. "It will give people something to talk about. They can get together the next day and talk about the game and about me and what bad decisions I made during the game."

To cultivate community support, Mr. Barfield said he will try to recruit most of his players from the south metro area.

Realistically, the coach knows he can't compete against major universities in recruiting battles — and he wouldn't try.

"If a player got an offer from Kentucky or North Carolina, I'd tell him he ought to go," Mr. Barfield said. But the former high school head coach and college assistant said he believes he can recruit with the lower division schools.

"I try to sell the fact that, if a kid goes to a small Division I basketball situation, he may have all the pressure to win of a big school but none of the perks," Mr. Barfield said. "If he comes here, he can be an impact player and hopefully reach some of his athletic goals."

Clayton State will compete in District 25 of the NAIA. The conference, also known as the GIAC, includes Kennesaw, Southern Tech, Georgia Southwestern, Georgia College, North Georgia, Brewton Parker, Berry, Shorter, LaGrange and Piedmont.

Though the inaugural season is still 10 months away, excitement is building on campus. Plans are being made to organize a cheerleading squad and pep band. And Mr. Bolander is accepting suggestions on what the school mascot should be.

"We want something to reflect the beauty of our campus and the quality of our program," Mr. Bolander said.

Sculptor is artist-in-residence

Susan Duncan, a clay sculptor working with both thrown and hand-built pieces in colored clay and and lusters, will be the featured Artist-In-Residence at Clayton State College January 22-26.

She will be working with art students in the art studio (Room G-100).

Ms. Duncan, a former Roswell High School art teacher who taught in the Governor's Honors Program, was selected as the 1985 merit award winner in the Inman Park Arts Show, a 1984 merit award winner at Powers Crossroads Festival and Best in the Show - Crafts at the 1979 Roswell Arts Festival.

This is the fourth consecutive year that Ms. Duncan has been selected to serve as an Artist-In-Residence. She received her bachelor's in fine art from the University of Georgia and is studying for her master's degree at Georgia State University.

Sponsored by Lyceum, this program continues a series of educational and cultural programs offered at Clayton State College.

Museum curator to lecture at CSC

"Contemporary Art in the Southeast" will be the topic of discussions at a series of lectures at Clayton State College next week.

Carrie Przybilla, Assistant Curator of Twentieth Century Art at the High Museum of Art in Atlanta, will speak at 8:15 p.m. on Wednesday, January 24 and at 11:05 a.m. on Thursday, January 25 in Room D-223 of the Student Center Building.

In her position at the museum, she researches the permanent collection, plans and executes exhibitions, and writes catalog articles and materials to accompany exhibits.

Ms. Przybilla has served as the co-curator of the Southern Expressions: Points of View exhibit at the Georgia Pacific Center and as a visiting assistant curator at the Chicago Museum of Contemporary Art. She has been the curator of art at the University Museum of Illinois State University.

Ms. Przybilla received her bachelor's degree in art history from the University of Minnesota and her master's degree in art history and museum studies from the University of Southern California.

Free and open to the public, Ms. Przybilla's lectures are a part of a continuing series of educational and cultural programs sponsored by Lyceum at Clayton State College.

Harpisichord recital Sunday

Dr. Anthony Newman, who made his New York debut in 1968, will be featured in a Harpsichord Recital at Clayton State College on Sunday, January 21.

Dr. Newman, who plays the fortepiano, organ, and modern piano in addition to the harpsichord, is a composer and conductor, and has made over 80 recordings in his many, varied roles. As a performer, he plays music from the baroque period through the present.

A member of the faculty of the State University of New York at Purchase, he received his master's degree from Harvard and his doctoral degree from Boston University. He has studied with Nadia Boulanger, Leon Kirchner and others.

Free and open to the public, the Lyceum-sponsored concert will begin at 3 p.m. in the College's Lecture/Recital Hall (Room G-132).

Dalton in recital Jan. 25 at CSC

Mary Stuart Dalton, a part-time voice and music appreciation instructor at Clayton State College, will perform in a recital Thursday, January 25.

The 11:05 a.m. recital will take place in the College's Lecture/Recital Hall (G-132).

THE HENRY NEIGHBOR

THURSDAY, JANUARY 25, 1990

Stockbridge students visit Clayton State

Students from the Data Processing and Basic Programming classes at Stockbridge High School got to work with computers in the office administration lab at Clayton State College. Clayton State's Carol Henson (L-R) works with Christopher Pritchard, Carsten Green as Stockbridge teacher Kay West watches intently.

Wilfredo Lee/Special

Beginning of a hoops dream

After signing his first recruit, Clayton State College head basketball coach Mason Barfield (left) can say his program is officially off and running. The signee, Adrian Stevens, was named most valuable player as well as defensive player of the year while a senior at North Clayton Senior High School. Article, Page 3.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 25, 1990

THE SOUTH FULTON NEIGHBOR

■ SMART BUSINESS: More courses are planned at Clayton State College for South Metro business leaders. A Federal tax deposit seminar will be held from 9 a.m.-noon on Friday. Buying a computer for your business will be presented from 9:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Saturday.

► Cost: bookkeeping, $20; Federal tax, free; computers, $25. Information: 961-3440. Registration: 961-3550. Federal tax course registration: 522-0050.

■ TAX TIME: A three-hour "Federal Tax Deposit Seminar" will be conducted at Clayton State College on Friday, between 9 a.m. and noon. The workshop will be conducted by a representative of the Internal Revenue Service. The workshop has been designed for business owners with employees who are required to deposit or withhold federal income tax, social security tax and unemployment compensation insurance.

► Free; Information: 522-0050.

■ COMPUTER HELP: A day-long workshop on "Buying a Computer For Your Business" will be conducted at Clayton State College on Saturday, between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

► Cost: $25 (includes lunch); Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550.

PAGE 6 B THE SUN 1/25/90

By PAT HINKLE

WAGA-TV'S BRENDA WOOD will speak on motivation and self-confidence during a lecture at Clayton State College Thursday, Feb. 1. The 11 a.m. event is sponsored by the college's Black Cultural Awareness Association and will be in Room B-15 of the Round Building. The event is free and open to the public.

CLAYTON EXTRA, JAN. 25, 1990

4 local students picked to serve as legislative interns

Clayton residents William Daniel Brady Jr., Rebecca Elaine Camp, Cynthia Ann Homewood and Reginald Sidney Smith are among 32 students chosen to participate in the 1990 Georgia Legislative Intern Program.

The students will serve during the Georgia General Assembly, which ends in March.

Mr. Brady of Jonesboro is a political science major at LaGrange College. Ms. Camp of Morrow is a senior political science major at Georgia State University. Ms. Homewood of College Park is a junior management major at Clayton State College. Mr. Smith of Jonesboro is a senior political science major at Morris Brown College.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 25, 1990.

Anchorwoman to speak on motivation

Brenda Wood, WAGA-TV anchorwoman, will discuss motivation and self-confidence during a visit to the Clayton State College campus.

Wood's talk, sponsored by the Black Cultural Awareness Association (BCAA), will be on Thursday, February 1 at 11:05 a.m. in Room B-15.

She has been on the WAGA-TV (channel 5) staff since August, 1988, coming from Memphis' WMC-TV, where she worked for eight years. Prior to that, Wood worked at a Huntsville, Alabama station.

A classically trained vocalist, she shares anchor duties in Atlanta with newcomer John Marler.

THE CLAYTON SUN

1/25/90

BRENDA WOOD news anchor for Channel 5, will speak on "motivation and self-confidence" during a lecture at Clayton State College on Feb. 1 at 11:05 a.m. in Room B-15 of the Round Building. The program is sponsored by the college's Black Cultural Awareness Association. The program is free and open to the public.

TODAY

Soprano Mary Stuart Dalton will be featured in a voice recital at 11:05 a.m. in room G-132 at Clayton State College, 5900 N. Lee St., Morrow.

FRIDAY

A Federal tax deposit seminar will be held from 9 a.m. to noon at Clayton State College. The workshop will be conducted by a representative of the Internal Revenue Service. Pre-registration is required. Information: 522-0050.

MONDAY

"Economics and the Current Controversies Over Economic Policy," will be the topic of discussions featuring Nobel Prize winner James Tobin at 7 p.m. Monday and 11:05 a.m. Tuesday in Room D-223 at Clayton State College. Free and open to the public. Information: 961-3510.

Brenda Wood, news anchor for WAGA-TV, will speak on motivation and self-confidence during a lecture at Clayton State College at 11:05 a.m. Feb. 1 in Room B-15. The program is free and open to the public.

George Mann, associate professor of music at West Georgia College will be featured in a piano concert at Clayton State College at 11:05 a.m. Feb. 1 in Room G-132. Free and open to the public.

"Buying a computer for your business," will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Clayton State College. Cost is $25 and includes lunch. Information: 961-3440, 961-3550.

The Way We Were

The Enlightening '80s In Clayton

CLAYTON EXTRA, JAN. 25, 1990

A "Taste of Europe" tour, sponsored by Clayton State College, is planned for June 7 to 18 with stops in London, Brussels, Paris, Versailles, Heidelberg, Lucerne and Interlaken. The tour, directed by Robert Welborn, history professor, will have its own touring coach, an English tour conductor and professional guides in each of the major cities. It will focus on the historical significance of Europe and the connections between American and European countries. The cost is $2,199, which includes round-trip air fare, double-occupancy hotel arrangements, ground transportation by deluxe travel coach, ferry services and air transfers. A deposit must be made by Feb. 2, and the balance will be due April 2. Information and reservations: Office of Community Affairs, 961-3550, or 961-3460.

Griffin Daily News, Monday, January 29, 1990

15 at GHS interview for program

Griffin High has 15 students who participated Saturday and will be participating Feb. 3 in interviews at Clayton State for the Governor's Honors Program (GHP). They are among some 2,000 students statewide who will compete for the 800 GHP scholarships this summer at selected colleges and universities. The finalists for the program will be announced later. Griffin High participants and their areas of study are: Eric Batchelor and Toby Chappell, communicative arts; Halsey Burks, math; Kassie DelHiero, social studies; Angela Hardwick, Latin; Keri Lattimore and Bryan Brooks, science. Brandon Doty and Michelle Dumas, art; Lisa Loftin, drama; Melody Eady, music; Louis Heriveaux and Hope McGhee, piano; Faith Williams, voice; and Anne Lee, violin. Griffin High GHP program coordinators are Becky Brantley, Jane Stelling and John Roberts.

As Atlantans celebrated the anniversary of Gone With The Wind, Clayton's own Melly Meadows is in the spotlight.

THE CLAYTON SUN THE WAY WE WERE 1/25/90

The Way We Were 1985

Clayton Junior College became a four-year institution and unofficially became Clayton College. Other top stories in Clayton County included the proposed creation of a Gone With the Wind memorial complex in south Clayton, the Georgia Board of Regents' decision to give Clayton Junior College a four-year status and the passage of the Quality Basic Education Act signed by Gov. Joe Frank Harris, which also drew praises for the efforts of Clayton County lawmakers, Sen. Terrell Starr and Rep. Bill Lee.

The year 1985 was also the year that Clayton Junior College received a $1 million gift, a federal grant of $23.1 million was awarded to help airport noise-impacted residents of College Park and Forest Park, a veteran mayor resigned and the Concorde incident.

Some of the 1985 events that made headlines in Clayton County included: January — Former Clayton County Superintendent Court Judge Harold R. Banke of Jonesboro is elected to a two-year term as chief judge of the Georgia Court of Appeals. Former Miss America Jacquelyn Mayer Townsend is the guest speaker at the 1985 Heart Gala, sponsored by the Clayton County Unit of the American Heart Association. Leadership Clayton launched a five-year plan to study the present and future status of economic development in the county. The results showed that the roads needed improving and the county's major tourist attraction was the county's relationship to the history of the Civil War. Residents urged that Clayton Junior College be made into a four-year institution, that a civic center be built and that Clayton County needed to be part of the MARTA system.

May — Emilie Spivey donates $1 million to Clayton Junior College for the design and construction of a campus recital hall and enhancement of the school's music programs.

Griffin Daily News, Tuesday, January 30, 1990

Anchorwoman to speak at Clayton State

Brenda Wood, WAGA-TV anchorwoman, will discuss motivation and self-confidence during a visit to Clayton State College Thursday at 11:05 a.m. in Room B-15. Her talk is sponsored by the Black Cultural Awareness Association.

1985

The world turns eyes toward South Africa, as disenfranchised blacks try to abolish apartheid. A local option sales tax is rejected by voters, and "happy hours" are banned. Clayton Junior College becomes a four-year institution, and a Gone With The Wind Memorial Complex is proposed.

1/25/90 THE CLAYTON SUN THE WAY WE WERE PAGE 5 D

The Way We Were 1984

The Georgia Board of Regents receive Clayton Junior College's plan to create a four-year curriculum.

Clayton Junior College was eyeing the South Expressway Airport as the site for its new aircraft mechanics school, a plan strongly opposed by neighborhood groups. At the end of the year, the college was looking at three sites including the South Expressway Airport, a site near Hartsfield Airport and a site in an industrial park north of the college campus.

Clayton Junior College sponsors "Night at the High Museum", a gala affair attended by hundreds.

Donna Teresa Rampy, 21, a graduate of North Clayton Senior High and Clayton Junior College is selected Miss Clayton County.

PAGE 8 D THE CLAYTON SUN THE WAY WE WERE 1/25/90

The Way We Were '86-89

Four years bring major changes to Clayton

By Kim Klesty
The years 1986 through 1989 brought several projects and changes to Clayton County. After nearly two decades as a community college, Clayton State Junior College became a four-year institution and got the name Clayton State College. With the addition of a junior class in 1986 and a senior class in 1987, the facility planned to award its first bachelor's degrees in 1989. The college change meant expansion. In 1987, the school announced the beginning of construction on a two-story, $1.7 million technology building for classes in drafting, design technology, data processing and electronics. In 1989, construction was underway on a fine arts center on the Morrow campus, made possible through a $1 million gift from Emilie Spivey in honor of her late husband, Dr. Walter P. Spivey. The college's first baccalaureate degrees were awarded in June 1989, with State Sen. Terrell Starr giving the commencement address.

January 31, 1990
The Spalding County Newspaper

Clayton News

New Business
A day-long workshop on "how to start a new business" will be conducted this Saturday, February 3. Not for individuals who are already in business, the program will begin at 9:30 a.m. and continue until 4:30 p.m. A $25 registration fee includes the cost of lunch.

Financial Planning
A two-part workshop on "financial planning for the small business owner" will begin Tuesday, February 6, and continue on Tuesday, February 13. Designed for small business owners and managers, three-hour sessions will begin at 6:30 p.m. each evening. A $25 registration fee includes both sessions.

Southern Economy
"The New Deal and the Southern Economy" will be discussed during two programs on Wednesday evening and Thursday morning, February 7-8. Dr. James C. Cobb, professor of history at the University of Tennessee, will speak at 7 p.m. Wednesday, and again at 11:05 a.m. Thursday. Both presentations by Dr. Cobb, co-editor of "The New Deal and the South," will be given in Room D-223 of the Student Center Building. It is free and open to the public.

Concert
The Chestnut Brass Company will be featured in concert Thursday morning, February 8. The group, which has earned international acclaim as the only brass ensemble to perform regularly on both historical and modern instruments, will be presented at 11:05 a.m. in the College's Lecture/Recital Hall (Room G-132). It will be free and open to the public.

PTC Woman Receives Scholarship

Patricia Poole, a Clayton State College nursing student, was the first recipient of a $500 scholarship from the south metro district of the Georgia Association of Post Anesthesia Nurses (GAPAN). Pictured are, standing from left Dr. Robert E. Puddy, Dean of the School of Health Sciences; Dianna Thompson, president-elect of the South Metro District - GAPAN, and Robert C. Bolander, Dean of Students. Sitting from left, Patricia Poole of Peachtree City, and Sandy Steed, president of the south metro District - GAPAN. The scholarship is the first presented by the four-year old group. Poole is an emergency room employee at Scottish Rite Children's Hospital.

Sixty-one county students make list

Sixty-one Fayette County students were among the 370 students named to the Fall Quarter Dean's List at Clayton State College, according to Dr. Jack K. Carlton, Vice President for Academic Affairs.

There were 37 students from Fayetteville, 17 students from Peachtree City, four students from Brooks and three students from Tyrone honored.

Named to the list from Fayetteville were William Mark Amis, Sandra Lee Beckner, Roger Aian Brock, Karen Robertson Bultman, Robin Boone Calhoun, Renee Mills Day, Craig Robert Debold, Mark J. Dumas, Linda Leigh Faulkner, Arlys Ann Ferrell, Linda B. Fritis, Duane Allen Haddick, Patricia Dianne Hammock, Sandra Elizabeth Heidt, Dana Michelle Hickman, Doris J. Hughes, Alfreed Keller, Morris Dantel Kelly, Abby Lou Knowles;

Cristy S. Linnenkohl, Gary Wesley Lynch, Michael Allen McCullough, Pamela W. Middlebrooks, Russell Lane Nagel, Samuel Marvin Nipper, Dianne Guthrie Proctor, Jonnie Carol Roberson, Anna Maria Ryals; Erin Marie Flynn Smith, Annette V. Snow, Emory Lee Stanford, Robert Thomas Trimble, Samuel S. Walston, Joseph Eskine White, Judy Ray Williams, Paula N. Willingham, and Troy Douglas Wyatt III.

Honored from Peachtree City were Renee O. Adams, Robert Alan Baird, Marilyn E. Broker, Cynthia Lynn Brown, Anna R. Dean, June Lee East, Michael Hyatt Edwards, Bonnie Ingram Epps, Anthony Russell Green, Louann Melton, Melody Simerson Murvin, Jennifer Helen Meyers, Ingrid Marie Peters, Barbara A. Ray, Donna Jo Simmons, Susan Carole Webber and Penny Lee Wofford.

Also included on the list were Mary Anesley Landrum, Terri L. Sanders, and Susan P. Stone of Tyrone; and Candace Lynn Carroll, Jack John Krakeel, Maria Teresa Peckham, and Kim Quinn Roberson of Brooks.

To make the Dean's List, a student must maintain a grade point average of 3.6 or higher out of a possible 4.0

for the quarter.

The Fall Quarter, which attracted a record 3,869 students to the Morrow campus, began in September and ended in December.

NEWS/DAILY, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1990

ECONOMIC FORECAST FOR THE 1990'S. Dr. Donald Ratajczak speaks about the economy at Clayton State College, Wednesday, Jan. 10, and 7 p.m., in Room D-223 in the Student Center Building. Sponsored by Lyceum, free and open to the public.

VOLKSMARCH AT CLAYTON STATE COLLEGE. Georgia Walkers hold first volkswalk of new year Jan. 13. The 6.2-mile walk will include entire campus and several neighborhoods surrounding the school and encourages healthy, outdoor recreation. For information call Duncan Brantley at 961-0109 or Lloyd RECOVERY FROM ADDICTION. Topic of lectures scheduled at Clayton State College Wednesday, Jan. 10, 7 p.m., and Thursday, Jan. 11, 11:05. Edward Youmans, Coordinator of South Fulton Hospital Medical Intervention Unit, leads discussions. Free and open to the public. Lyceum sponsored programs given in Room D-216 of the Student Center Building.

BUYING AND SELLING A BUSINESS. Workshop at Clayton State College, Thursday, Jan. 11, 6:30-9:30 p.m., covering such topics as business, taxes, salesmanship, etc. $15 fee, call 961-3440 or 961-3550 for information and registration.

South Fulton Neighbor

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1990

Ford makes donation

The Ford Motor Company Fund and the Atlanta Ford Community Relations Committee has presented the Clayton State College Foundation with a $5,000 check for the Spivey Recital Hall building fund. At the recent ceremony were Virgil E. Byerly (L-R), Atlanta Assembly Plant Controller; John C. McNeil, Chairman of the Community Services Committee; Patricia Garrett, director of development at the college; College President Harry S. Downs; and Curtley F. Neal, Jr., International Relations Manager at the Atlanta Plant.

South Fulton Neighbor

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1990

Nursing student receives scholarship

Patricia Poole, a resident of Peachtree City and a Clayton State nursing student was the first recipient of a $500 scholarship from the South Metro District of the Georgia Association of Post Anesthesia Nurses. Present for the ceremony were, Robert Puddy, (L-R standing), Dianna Thompson, Robert Bolander, (L-R seated) Ms. Poole, and Sandy Steed.

THE HENRY NEIGHBOR

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1990

HARK! A HARPSICHORD: Dr. Anthony Newman will be featured in a harpsichord recital at Clayton State College Sunday afternoon, Jan. 21. Newman, whose music ranges from "the baroque until today," also plays organ, fortepiano and modern piano. Cost: free. Information: 961-3510.

The Spalding County Newspaper

January 10, 1990

7 area residents on Clayton State Fall dean's list

Seven Griffin residents were among the 370 students named to the Fall Quarter Dean's List at Clayton State College, according to Dr. Jack K. Carlton, vice president for academic affairs.

They are Georgy Cox, Tammy Gager, Deborah Hudson, Chen Yei Hung, Timothy Peoples, Jr., Tamara Pursley and Sharon Smith.

To make the Dean's List, a student must maintain a grade point average of 3.6, or higher, out of a possible 4.0 for the quarter.

Taylor Branch To Speak At College

Pulitzer Prize winning writer Taylor Branch will speak during two programs scheduled at Clayton State College next week.

Branch, who won the 1989 Pulitzer Prize in History for his critically-acclaimed volume, "Parting the Waters: America in the King Years, 1954-1963," will speak at 7 p.m. on Jan. 17, and again at 11:05 a.m. on Jan. 18.

Branch will speak on the subject of his prize-winning book, which was the result of six years of research, interviewing and writing. A second volume, "Pillar of Fire," will continue through Dr. King's assassination in 1968.

Branch grew up in Atlanta, the son of a dry-cleaning business owner. After graduating from Westminster School, he enrolled at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and received his undergraduate degree in history. He went on to graduate studies at Princeton University in politics, religion and philosophy.

As a summer graduate school project, Branch left Princeton and went to rural Georgia to educate black voters. The journal he kept that summer was turned in with his term paper and portions of it were submitted, by his professor, to "Washington Monthly."

He served as ghostwriter for John Dean's "Blind Ambition" and co-wrote "Second Wind" with former basketball star Bill Russell.

Branch is the second of three "Lyceum Laureate" speakers scheduled to visit the Clayton State College campus this year.

NEWS/DAILY, TUESDAY, JANUARY 9, 1990

Photo By Terri McCullough

Clayton State Celebrates Anniversary

Clayton State College's board of trustees and faculty celebrated the college's 20th year and the 15th anniversary of the trustees foundation recently with a reception on the campus. More than 100 guests showed up for the celebration. The college which began in the fall of 1969 started out as a two-year junior college and has since become a four-year senior college. Pictured from left are Dr. Elizabeth Marshall, a retired history professor from Clayton State; Earnest Cheaves, a member of the board of trustees; Hill and Dorothea Redwine, a member of the board of trustees; and Harmon Born, chairman of the board of trustees.

Arts Clayton, Inc. will have its third annual meeting on Jan. 23 at 7 p.m. at the Airport Hyatt Hotel.

Clayton State College Lyceum will present George Petsch, guitar recital, at 11:05 a.m. on Jan. 18 and Anthony Newman, harpsichord recital, at 3 p.m. on Jan. 21. Admission is free for both performances. Call 961-3510 for info.

Carrie Przybilla will lecture on "Contemporary Art in the Southeast" at Clayton State college on Jan. 24 at 8:15 p.m. and on Jan. 25 at 11:05 a.m. Mary Stuart Dalton will give a soprano recital on Jan. 25 at 11:05 a.m. For more info call 961-3510.

Lifestyles

Spivey Hall construction

Members of the Southern Dames of America have presented a check to the Clayton State College Foundation for the Spivey Recital Hall building fund. Margery Middlebrooks-Butler (second from right) of Barnesville and Claudia Turner of Atlanta made the presentation to college president Dr. Harry S. Downs (second from left) and trustee Claude H. Whaley. Mrs. Middlebrooks-Butler, formerly of Jonesboro, is treasurer of the Southern Dames. The gift was made in memory of Doris Walker Lyle, the first president of the National Southern Dames of America.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 4, 1990
NEIGHBOR WANT ADS/ 427-9431

Nursing students receive checks

Pat Thornton (C), president of the Tara Chapter of the Association of Operating Room Nurses, recently presented scholarship checks to two Clayton State College nursing students. Students wrote papers explaining why they wanted to become nurses. Joint winners were Dionne Mack (L) of College Park and Lee-Lee Hughes of Decatur. Both are first-year nursing students at Clayton State.

THE HENRY NEIGHBOR THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1990

- AUTHOR SPEAKS: Taylor Branch will speak on his Pulitzer Prize winning book at Clayton State College. Branch will speak on "Parting the Waters: America in the King Years" tonight at 7:00 p.m. and at 11:05 a.m. on Thursday in Room D-223.
- MUSICAL: Guitarist George Petsch will be presented in concert at Clayton State College Thursday at 11:05 a.m. in the lecture/recital hall. Petsch is president of the Atlanta Guitar Center. Information: 961-3510.
- RECITAL: Dr. Anthony Newman, who made his New York debut in 1968, will be featured in a Harpsichord Recital at Clayton State College on Sunday at 3 p.m. in the college's lecture/recital hall. Information: 961-3510.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 4, 1990
NEIGHBOR WANT ADS/ 427-9431

Seminar planned on buying, selling business

Clayton State College's Small Business Development Center will host a workshop on "Buying and Selling a Business" Jan. 11 from 6:30-9:30 p.m. Information: 961-3440.

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1990

Madrigal dinner called success

R.C. Cook (L), student, and Brent Weaver, director of the Clayton State College choir, dressed the part for the annual Madrigal dinner. Hundreds of Clayton residents attend the ball each year. (Staff photo by Louise Bessette)

THE HENRY NEIGHBOR THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1990

■ TAX TIME: South Metro's business owners and managers will be attending a tax workshop hosted by Clayton State College Thursday. The workshop, sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service and the state, begins at 8:30 a.m. and continues through 4:30 p.m. Cost: $15. Information: 961-3440. Registration: 961-3550.

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1990

■ CLAYTON FIRST: Clayton State college signed their first basketball player Tuesday, despite the fact the team has no name yet. Anthony Stephens, a 6-0 170 pound freshman currently enrolled at the college, became the school's first member of the as-of-yet unnamed team. Stephens, a graduate of North Clayton Senior High and the Clayton County Tipoff Club player of the year for 1989, has already impressed CSC athletic director and head basketball coach H. Mason Barfield. "I think it is significant that we are not only signing Clayton County's player of the year, but a young man with an academic history to match."

THE HENRY NEIGHBOR THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1990

■ ARTISTIC: Ms. Susan Duncan, a clay sculptor, will serve an "artist-in-residence" at Clayton State College beginning Monday, Jan. 22, and continuing through Friday, Jan. 26.

■ DISCUSSION: "Contemporary Art in the Southeast" will be the topic of discussions scheduled at Clayton State College on Wednesday, Jan. 24, at 8:25 p.m. and on Thursday, Jan. 25, at 11:05 a.m. Carrie Przybyla, assistant curator of 20th Century Art at the High Museum of Atlanta, will speak. The discussion will be held in Room D-223 of the Student Center. Information: 961-3510.

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1990

■ SMART BUSINESS: More courses are planned at Clayton State College for South Metro business leaders. Bookkeeping for small business will be held Tuesday and Thursday evenings, Jan. 23 and 25. A Federal tax deposit seminar will be held from 9 a.m.-noon on Friday, Jan. 26. Buying a computer for your business will be presented from 9:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 27. Cost: bookkeeping, $20; Federal tax, free; computers, $25. Information: 961-3440. Registration: 961-3550. Federal tax course registration: 522-0050.

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1990

■ AUTHOR SPEAKS: Taylor Branch will speak on his Pulitzer Prize winning book at Clayton State College. Branch will speak on "Parting the Waters: America in the King Years" tonight at 7:00 p.m. and at 11:05 a.m. on Thursday in Room D-223.

■ MUSICAL: Guitarist George Petsch will be presented in concert at Clayton State College Thursday at 11:05 a.m. in the lecture/recital hall. Petsch is president of the Atlanta Guitar Center. Information: 961-3510.

■ RECITAL: Dr. Anthony Newman, who made his New York debut in 1968, will be featured in a Harpsichord Recital at Clayton State College on Sunday at 3 p.m. in the college's lecture/recital hall. Information: 961-3510.

■ CAPIT: A CAPIT (Citizens Against Paying Increasing Taxes) meeting will be held Monday, Jan. 22 at 7 p.m. at Kilpatrick Elementary School, 7534 Tara Blvd. The meeting will be a public forum to discuss property tax matters.

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1990

Davis joins the research staff at the college

By Roxanna Guilford
Neighbor Staff Writer

Clayton State College has a new director of Institutional Research and Planning.

Dr. James B. Davis was named to the position effective Jan. 2.

Much of what he does involves planning and conducting research related to institutional management.

The goal, he explains, is to improve the college's learning environment through management studies. He translate raw data into information easily accessible to the non-statistician.

The information will be used to determine how best the college can provide for the needs of its students.

Davis comes to Clayton State from Southeastern Louisiana State University, where, since 1983, he served as director of Institutional Research.

When he decided to look for new challenges, Clayton State was his first choice.

"It was a great opportunity," he said. "The people here are energetic and dynamic. This school is a leader in the nation."

Although he has only been here a month, he is excited about the possibilities at Clayton State.

"We are doing a lot with what we have to work with, and we have a lot," he said.

Dr. James B. Davis
New at college

THE HENRY NEIGHBOR

THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1990

Clayton State awards nursing scholarship

Patricia Poole, (Front, L) is the recipient of a $500 scholarship toward the nursing program at Clayton State College. Sandy Steed, (Front, R) Robert Puddy of Clayton State, (Rear, L-R) Dianna

Thompson and Robert Bolander of Clayton State attended the presentation of the scholarship.

NEWS/DAILY, FRIDAY, JANUARY 19, 1990

Clay Sculptor Featured At Clayton State

Susan Duncan, a clay sculptor working with both thrown and hand-built pieces in colored clay and lusters, will be the featured Artist-In-Residence at Clayton State College January 22-26.

She will be working with art students in the art studio (Room G-100).

Ms. Duncan, a former Roswell High School art teacher who taught in the Governor's Honors Program, was selected as the 1985 merit award winner in the Inman Park Arts Show, a 1984 merit award winner at Powers Crossroads Festival and Best in the Show — Crafts at the 1979 Roswell Arts Festival.

This is the fourth consecutive year that Ms. Duncan has been selected to serve as an Artist-In-Residence. She received her bachelor's in fine art from the University of Georgia and is studying for her master's degree at Georgia State University.

Sponsored by Lyceum, this program continues a series of educational and cultural programs offered at Clayton State College.

Harpsichord Recital Set For Jan. 21

Dr. Anthony Newman, who made his New York debut in 1968, will be featured in a Harpsichord Recital at Clayton State College on Sunday, Jan. 21.

Dr. Newman, who plays the fortepiano, organ, and modern piano in addition to the harpsichord, is a composer and conductor, and has made over 80 recordings in his many, varied roles. As a performer, he plays music from the baroque period through the present.

A member of the faculty of the State University of New York at Purchase, he received his master's degree from Harvard and his doctoral degree from Boston University. He has studied with Nadia Boulanger, Leon Kirchner and others.

Free and open to the public, the Lyceum-sponsored concert will begin at 3 p.m. in the College's Lecture/Recital Hall (Room G-132).

GED TEST. Clayton State College, Tuesday, Jan. 23, 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Call 961-3515.

EDUCATION

Davis is named new director of research and planning at CSC

Davis

Dr. James B. Davis has been named Director of Institutional Research and Planning at Clayton State College, according to Dr. Harry S. Downs, President.

A graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi, Dr. Davis has held a number of positions at Southeastern Louisiana University in Hammond, Louisiana since 1971. He earned his bachelor's degree in psychology and both his masters and doctoral degrees in counseling from Southern Mississippi.

Planning and conducting research related to institutional management and effectiveness will be among the duties for Dr. Davis at Clayton State. He will provide support for a comprehensive program of institutional planning and evaluation, and for ongoing efforts to develop educational outcomes and assessments for students.

He will be working with the college's Director of Computer Services to maintain a management information system, and will serve as a resource for planning and design for all offices of the College.

Nobel prize winner at Clayton State

"Economics and the Current Controversies Over Economic Policy" will be the topic of Nobel Prize winning economist James Tobin's talk at Clayton State College.

Dr. James Tobin, the third Lyceum Laureate presenter of the year, will speak on Wednesday, January 31 at 7 p.m. in Room D-223 and again on Thursday, February 1 in Room D-223.

Dr. Tobin, a Sterling Professor of Economics Emeritus at Yale University, was the recipient of the 1981 Nobel Prize in Economic Sciences. He has been on the Yale University faculty since 1950.

Since 1955, he has been a member of the Research Staff of the Cowles Foundation for Research in Economics at Yale. In 1960-61, on leave from Yale, he was a member of President John Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisors. In 1970, his talents were used by the presidential campaign of George McGovern, collaborating with other economists in devising a plan for income redistribution that could raise the pay of the poor. Dr. Tobin received his bachelor's degree summa cum laude, master's degree and doctoral degree in economics from Harvard.

July 4, 1776

E = mc²

THE SOUTH FULTON NEIGHBOR

THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1990

CSC welcomes athletic director

The Clayton State College Student Government Association recently honored the college's first athletic director and head basketball coach, Mason Barfield, with a reception. At the event were Philip Newberry (L-R), Kip Thomas, Jennifer Myers, Barfield, Diane Shubert, Ty Crooke and Noel Chastain.

1/25/90 THE CLAYTON SUN PAGE 1 B

Sports

Dolly Purvis

Sportsbeat

Why No Women's Team?

Sweep off the gym floor and make room for the athletes because Clayton State College is getting their basketball program underway.

Mason Barfield, athletic director and basketball coach, has taken many hours to pursue the feasibility of the program, and a committee has finally decided that Clayton State can indeed support a mens' basketball squad.

They just signed former North Clayton star Adrian Stevens as their first player, and the season will start next winter with twelve guys out on the court wearing CSC uniforms.

When I heard about all of this and had it confirmed a couple of weeks ago by Stevens' signing, I thought, "these guys are for real; they are really going to put together a fine mens' hoops team."

Then, I caught myself. If they are going to all of the trouble to have a mens' team, why not put the women at the college the opportunity to play as well?

Barfield Defends The Decision

With the intention to always report the facts, I called Mr. Barfield and asked him why Clayton State would not be playing womens' basketball next year.

"We haven't really decided not to play next year. We could conceivably hire a coach in the spring and then recruit. But that's not the best way. We'll definitely have a team next year," Barfield said.

As I understand it, Barfield's strategy is to start the intercollegiate athletic program at CSC with deliberate administrative caution, so they can learn from their mistakes without making too many.

"We're starting out slowly, and that will give us the opportunity to bring athletes on campus and figure out the process and procedures. It's a lot easier to get established in the paperwork and process with only 12 players as opposed to 24," asserted Barfield.

The bottom line at Clayton State is that they are making sure that they spend the proper amount of time researching and learning about the process in order to field competitive teams.

"We're still establishing our philosophy and policies. I'd hate to bring a lot of athletes in here at once. We're taking it slow right now, but once we get established, there will be a steady progression of sports being added onto our program."

No Reason For Concern

So Mr. Barfield had quelled my indignation that Clayton State would not have a womens' team next year.

He had assured me that womens' sports would be handled with the same care as the mens' teams.

I felt a lot better, but I still think that it's a shame. I base this notion on the fact that Clayton County has produced so far this season 40% of the girls' players named to the Atlanta Tipoff Club's all-state teams.

That's quite a record for one county. It's extraordinary. I know that CSC could probably produce a womens' team with the former high school players that are currently enrolled there.

But I agree with Mr. Barfield. If the college is going to make the decision to have intercollegiate athletics, they should do it right.

I hope the Clayton girls who are in high school now will consider Clayton State as one of their choices. I'm sure they will have a well-thought, quality program in the final analysis.

THE SOUTH FULTON NEIGHBOR

THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1990

Student government officers pictured

The Clayton State College Student Government has just elected new officers. This year's officers are representatives (Front row, L-R) Jennifer Myers of Peachtree City and Diane Shubert of Atlanta, President Rachel Matthews of Morrow and Secretary Marsha McClain of Stockbridge. Miles Neville of College Park (Back row, L-R) is the vice president, Kip Thomas of Morrow is the public relations officer, Scott Presley of McDonough is a representative, Robert C. Bolander is dean of students and Noel Chastain of Morrow, Ty Crooke of Sharpsburg, Phillip Newberry of Ellenwood and Scott Hall of Morrow are representatives.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1990

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR

GETTING OFF THE GROUND: A day-long workshop about starting a small business will be offered at Clayton State College this Saturday, from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The workshop will address the question of who should consider starting a new business, and is not for individuals who are already in business.
 Cost: $25 (includes lunch); Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550.

FINANCIAL PLANNING: A two part workshop on Financial Planning for the Small Business Owner will begin at Clayton State College on Tuesday, Feb. 6 and continue on Tuesday, Feb. 13. Three-hour sessions will begin at 6:30 p.m. each evening.
 Cost: 25 (both sessions); Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550.

SMART BUSINESS: More courses are planned at Clayton State College for South Metro business leaders. A Federal tax deposit seminar will be held from 9 a.m.-noon on Friday. Buying a computer for your business will be presented from 9:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Saturday.
 Cost: bookkeeping, $20; Federal tax, free; computers, $25. Information: 961-3440. Registration: 961-3550. Federal tax course registration: 522-0050.

CLAYTON EXTRA, FEB. 1, 1990

Brenda Wood, news anchor for WAGA-TV, will speak on motivation and self-confidence during a lecture at Clayton State College at 11:05 a.m. in Room B-15. The program is free and open to the public.

George Mann, associate professor of music at West Georgia College will be featured in a piano concert at Clayton State College at 11:05 a.m. in Room G-14. Free and open to the public.

"How to Start a New Business" will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for individuals who are already in business at Clayton State College. Cost is $25 and includes lunch. Information: 961-3440 and 961-3550.

MONDAY

Clay sculptor Mario Petrona will serve as artist-in-residence at Clayton State College, Room G-100. Information: 961-3510.

TUESDAY

"Financial Planning for the Small Business Owner," a two-part seminar, will be held at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 6 and 13. Cost is $25. Information: 961-3440, 961-3550.

WEDNESDAY

"The New Deal and the Southern Economy," will be discussed by Dr. James C. Cobb, history professor at the University of Tennessee, at 7 p.m. at Clayton State College, Room D-223. A second lecture will be held at 11:05 a.m. Feb. 8. Free and open to the public.

A "Taste of Europe" tour, sponsored by Clayton State College, is planned for June 7 to 18 with stops in London, Brussels, Paris, Versailles, Heidelberg, Lucerne and Interlaken. The tour, directed by Robert Welborn, history professor, will have its own touring coach, an English tour conductor and professional guides in each of the major cities. It will focus on the historical significance of Europe and the connections between American and European countries. The cost is $2,199, which includes round-trip air fare, double-occupancy hotel arrangements, ground transportation by deluxe travel coach, ferry service and air transfers. A deposit must be made by Feb. 2, and the balance will be due April 2. Information and reservations: Office of Community Affairs, 961-3550, or 961-3460.

Students meet Pulitzer winner

Clayton State College students met Pulitzer Prize winning author Taylor Branch (Second from L) during several events planned around his visit on campus. Branch visits with Sonya Henson (L-R), president of the Environmental Awareness Club; Rachel Matthews, president of the Student Government Association (SGA); CSC President Harry S. Downs, and Jennifer Myers, SGA secretary.

SMART BUSINESS: More courses are planned at Clayton State College for South Metro business leaders. Bookkeeping for small business will be held Tuesday and Thursday evenings, Jan. 23 and 25. A Federal tax deposit seminar will be held from 9 a.m.-noon on Friday, Jan. 26. Buying a computer for your business will be presented from 9:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 27.
Cost: bookkeeping, $20; Federal tax, free; computers, $25. Information: 961-3440. Registration: 961-3550. Federal tax course registration: 522-0050.

TAX TIME: South Metro's business owners and managers will be attending a tax workshop hosted by Clayton State College Thursday. The workshop, sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service and the state, begins at 8:30 a.m. and continues through 4:30 p.m.
Cost: $15. Information: 961-3440. Registration: 961-3550.

WORKSHOP: A Parents' Financial Aid Workshop will be held Saturday from 9 a.m.-noon at the Staff Development Center, 3121 Norman Berry Drive, East Point. The program is for schools in South Fulton. The purpose is to provide information to parents regarding the financial aid process. Calvin King, financial aid consultant with Georgia Student Financial Authority, and John Williams, financial aid director at Clayton State College, will be guest panelists.
Information: JoAnn Alexander, financial aid counselor for South County area, 763-0580.

Program gives experience

Traci Hazelrig spends time gaining experience with computers after school in the Vocational Occupational Training program at the Morrow Annex Building of the Clayton Board of Education. She is also part of a work-study program at Clayton State College. (Staff photo by Louise Bessette.)

What's in a game?

By Steve Carr
Neighbor Sports Editor

Clayton sports fans may have been bored by the San Francisco 49ers 55-10 victory over the Denver Broncos in Super Bowl XXIV Sunday, but those with an eye on the stock market should have been elated.

Dr. Doris Cash, professor of economics at Clayton State College, says the Niners' victory could spell an financial boon for investors.

Economists have watched the NFL's "big show" since its inception, and have noted a startling trend.

It seems that in years that the National Football Conference (NFC) champion, the 49ers this year, wins the game, the stock market has risen for the year.

"That has historically proved correct about 70 percent of the time," says Dr. Cash.

"I'm not sure I'd want to base investment decisions on that (theory). It does affect investors' confidence. A lot of people wait until the outcome of the game to make their decisions, and if enough people do that, it certainly will affect the market."

Before Sunday's matchup, Dr. Cash admitted to being a definite San Francisco fan this year.

"I hope the Niners win," said the professor.

"The market is under some great pressures."

She's top student

Clayton State College student Angie Andrews (R) of Jonesboro was recently honored as the Outstanding Drafting and Design Student of fall quarter, 1989. She is congratulated by her instructor Tom Eddins.

Davis Will Fill Position

Dr. James B. Davis has been named director of institutional research and planning at Clayton State College, according to Dr. Harry S. Downs, president.

A graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi, Davis has held a number of positions at Southeastern Louisiana University in Hammond, La., since 1971. He earned his bachelor's degree in psychology and both his masters and doctoral degrees in counseling from Southern Mississippi.

Planning and conducting research related to institutional management and effectiveness will be among Davis' duties at Clayton State. He will provide support for a comprehensive program of institutional planning and evaluation, and for ongoing efforts to develop educational outcomes and assessments for students.

He will be working with the college's director of computer services to maintain a management information system, and will serve as a resource for planning and design for all offices of the college.

Davis served as a counselor at the University of New Orleans

James B. Davis

and as a graduate assistant at the University of Southern Mississippi prior to joining Southeastern Louisiana as director of testing, counseling and head of the general curriculum.

He was named university registrar in 1975 and became registrar and director of academic services two years later. In 1983, Davis assumed duties as director of institutional research.

Davis is married to Diane Hart Davis, a certified public accountant, and they have two children and one grandchild.

College Will Offer Class

A day-long workshop about starting a small business will be offered at Clayton State College at 9:30 a.m. Feb. 3.

"How to start a new business" is the topic of the Saturday workshop which will run through 4:30 p.m.

The workshop will address the question of who should consider starting a new business, and is not for individuals who are already in business. The importance of planning will be stressed.

The program is a part of a winter quarter series designed to help small business owners and managers meet the challenges of operating their businesses.

All programs in the series are co-sponsored by the Chambers of Commerce in Clayton, Fayette, Henry and South Fulton counties, and the U.S. Small Business Administration.

BUSINESS MINDS: The Henry Chamber of Commerce is co-sponsoring a day-long workshop at Clayton State College Saturday on how to start a small business. The program begins at 9:30 a.m., ends at 4:30 p.m. and will address several pertinent issues. There is a $25 registration fee that includes lunch. Call 961-3440 for more information or 961-3550 to register.

HEART OF THE MATTER: Henry General Hospital's Education Department is looking for 100 Henry residents to participate in a national heart attack risk study.

Drip, Drip, Drip

Jennifer Fussell dodges raindrops and puddles as she walks to class at Clayton State College. Last week's rains triggered dozens of drainage problem calls to local officials.

SUNphoto by Kristi Rapson

EDUCATION BRIEFS

Dr. James B. Davis
Clayton State planner
James Davis to help guide Clayton State College

Dr. James B. Davis has been named director of institutional research and planning at Clayton State College.

His duties will include planning and conducting research related to institutional management and effectiveness.

Drafting Student Honored

Clayton State College student Angie Andrews of Jonesboro was honored recently as the Outstanding Drafting and Design Student for fall quarter. Her instructor, Tom Eddins, presents her with a plaque noting her achievement.

Davis Will Fill Position

Dr. James B. Davis has been named director of institutional research and planning at Clayton State College, according to Dr. Harry S. Downs, president.

A graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi, Davis has held a number of positions at Southeastern Louisiana University in Hammond, La., since 1971. He earned his bachelor's degree in psychology and both his masters and doctoral degrees in counseling from Southern Mississippi.

Planning and conducting research related to institutional management and effectiveness will be among Davis' duties at Clayton State. He will provide support for a comprehensive program of institutional planning and evaluation, and for ongoing efforts to develop educational outcomes and assessments for students.

He will be working with the college's director of computer services to maintain a management information system, and will serve as a resource for planning and design for all offices of the college.

Davis served as a counselor at the University of New Orleans

James B. Davis

and as a graduate assistant at the University of Southern Mississippi prior to joining Southeastern Louisiana as director of testing, counseling and head of the general curriculum.

He was named university registrar in 1975 and became registrar and director of academic services two years later. In 1983, Davis assumed duties as director of institutional research.

Davis is married to Diane Hart Davis, a certified public accountant, and they have two children and one grandchild.

College Will Offer Class

A day-long workshop about starting a small business will be offered at Clayton State College at 9:30 a.m. Feb. 3.

"How to start a new business" is the topic of the Saturday workshop which will run through 4:30 p.m.

The workshop will address the question of who should consider starting a new business, and is not for individuals who are already in business. The importance of planning will be stressed.

The program is a part of a winter quarter series designed to help small business owners and managers meet the challenges of operating their businesses.

All programs in the series are co-sponsored by the Chambers of Commerce in Clayton, Fayette, Henry and South Fulton counties, and the U.S. Small Business Administration.

For The Record

CLAYTON STATE COLLEGE history professor Gene Hatfield was scheduled to participate in a panel discussion on "Southern Politics in the Nineties" this afternoon at the Georgia Political Science Association convention in the Hyatt Hotel in Savannah. In addition to Hatfield, other persons who have agreed to take part in the discussion were U.S. Sen. Wyche Fowler (D-Atlanta) and Douglasville attorney Randy Evans, who is political director for U.S. Rep. Newt Gingrich (R-Jonesboro). The annual meeting began Thursday and ends Saturday.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1990

SMART BUSINESS: More courses are planned at Clayton State College for South Metro business leaders. A Federal tax deposit seminar will be held from 9 a.m.-noon on Friday. Buying a computer for your business will be presented from 9:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Saturday.
 Cost: bookkeeping, $20; Federal tax, free; computers, $25. Information: 961-3440. Registration: 961-3550. Federal tax course registration: 522-0050.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE: The following residents from College Park made the Clayton State College fall quarter dean's list: Beverly Denise Atkinson, Darrell Barnett, Rita Joyce Brown, Carolyn L. Dinkins, Bonita Joyce Dorsey, Linda Crook Ellis, Jennifer Lynn Fahey, Jacqueline J. Geter, Susan Lynn House, Bobby Angelo Johnson, Marsha S. Lindsey, Sharon D. Montgomery, David Charles Pursley, George Thomas Standridge, Jennifer Deiores Stokes and Lucinda M. Wilkins.

GETTING OFF THE GROUND: A day-long workshop about starting a small business will be offered at Clayton State College this Saturday, from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The workshop will address the question of who should consider starting a new business, and is not for individuals who are already in business.
 Cost: $25 (includes lunch); Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550.

FINANCIAL PLANNING: A two part workshop on Financial Planning for the Small Business Owner will begin at Clayton State College on Tuesday, Feb. 6 and continue on Tuesday, Feb. 13. Three-hour sessions will begin at 6:30 p.m. each evening.
 Cost: 25 (both sessions); Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1990

GETTING OFF THE GROUND: A day-long workshop about starting a small business will be offered at Clayton State College this Saturday, from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The workshop will address the question of who should consider starting a new business, and is not for individuals who are already in business.
 Cost: $25 (includes lunch); Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550.

FINANCIAL PLANNING: A two part workshop on Financial Planning for the Small Business Owner will begin at Clayton State College on Tuesday, Feb. 6 and continue on Tuesday, Feb. 13. Three-hour sessions will begin at 6:30 p.m. each evening.
 Cost: 25 (both sessions); Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550.

SMART BUSINESS: More courses are planned at Clayton State College for South Metro business leaders. A Federal tax deposit seminar will be held from 9 a.m.-noon on Friday. Buying a computer for your business will be presented from 9:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Saturday.
 Cost: bookkeeping, $20; Federal tax, free; computers, $25. Information: 961-3440. Registration: 961-3550. Federal tax course registration: 522-0050.

Clayton State College offers business workshop Saturday

A day-long workshop about starting a small business will be offered at Clayton State College on Saturday, February 3.

"How to start a new business" is the topic of the Saturday workshop which is scheduled between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. The $25 registration fee includes the cost of lunch.

The workshop will address the question of who should consider starting a new business, and is not for individuals who are already in business. The importance of planning will be stressed.

The program is a part of a Winter Quarter series designed to help small business owners and managers meet the challenges of operating their businesses.

Call the College's Small Business Development Center (961-3440) for more information, or the Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

All programs in the series are co-sponsored by the Chambers of Commerce in Clayton, Fayette, Henry and South Fulton counties, and the U.S. Small Business Administration.

Drafting Student Honored

Clayton State College student Angie Andrews of Jonesboro was honored recently as the Outstanding Drafting and Design Student for fall quarter. Her instructor, Tom Eddins, presents her with a plaque noting her achievement.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1990

GOOD MUSIC: Clayton State College students will be presented in a "Concerto Concert" Feb. 16 at 8:15 p.m. The concert will be presented in the college's lecture and recital hall, room G-132.
 Free. Information: 961-3510.

PLANNING: A two-hour workshop on "Developing A Business Plan" will be conducted by Clayton State College at the Conyers/Rockdale Chamber of Commerce offices on Tuesday, Feb. 13. The session will begin at 7 p.m.
 Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550; Fee: $10.

TELEMARKETING: A three-hour program on "Telemarketing Sales" will be conducted at Clayton State College on Thursday, Feb. 15. The session will begin at 6:30 p.m.
 Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550; Fee: $15.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1990

PLANNING: A two-hour workshop on "Developing A Business Plan" will be conducted by Clayton State College at the Conyers/Rockdale Chamber of Commerce offices on Tuesday, Feb. 13. The session will begin at 7 p.m.
 Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550; Fee: $10.

TELEMARKETING: A three-hour program on "Telemarketing Sales" will be conducted at Clayton State College on Thursday, Feb. 15. The session will begin at 6:30 p.m.
 Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550; Fee: $15.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1990

He represents Clayton State

Ronald L. Chadwick (second from left) will serve as Clayton State College's representative to Academic Recognition Day activities in the Georgia General Assembly. Also at the presentation were Dr. Jack K. Carlton (L-R), Tonya R. Hobson and Clayton State College President Harry S. Downs.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1990

PLANNING: A two-hour workshop on "Developing A Business Plan" will be conducted by Clayton State College at the Conyers/Rockdale Chamber of Commerce offices on Tuesday, Feb. 13. The session will begin at 7 p.m.
 Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550; Fee: $10.

TELEMARKETING: A three-hour program on "Telemarketing Sales" will be conducted at Clayton State College on Thursday, Feb. 15. The session will begin at 6:30 p.m.
 Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550; Fee: $15.

SCHOLASTIC APITUDE TEST. Clayton State College, Monday, Feb. 12, beginning at 6 p.m., in Room G-132. Call 961-3500 for details.

GED TEST. Clayton State College, Tuesday, Feb. 13, 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Call 961-3515 for details.

Lifestyle

Clayton State's Lyceum Encourages Students And Experts To Interact

By KRISTI RAPSON
Lifestyle Editor

On any given day at Clayton State College, artists, students and art experts can be found sharing ideas and learning from each other. The college's Lyceum program arranges for a variety of recitals, lectures, presentations and Artists-In-Residence.

Susie Duncan recently encouraged art students at Clayton State College to enjoy and explore clay.

The clay sculptor spent a week at the college teaching and offering assistance to students as part of the college's Artist-In-Residence program.

Duncan introduced Clayton students to the majolica technique, a glaze on glaze technique that was prevalent in Italy in the 16th century. The technique involves covering earthenware with a white or light colored base glaze coating on which bright colors are then painted.

"I want to give them a technical vocabulary in art," Duncan said.

This is the fourth year Duncan has served as an Artist-In-Residence. She is a former Roswell

High School art teacher who taught in the Governor's Honors Program. Duncan was selected as the 1985 merit award winner in the Inman Park Arts Show and she won a merit award at the 1984 Powers Crossroads Festival. At the 1979 Roswell Arts Festival, Duncan won Best in the Show.

High Museum Expert

Carrie Przybilla, assistant curator of Twentieth Century Art at the High Museum of Art in Atlanta, presented a lecture series at the college recently. The topic of the discussion was "Contemporary Art in the Southeast."

Przybilla's duties at the High Museum of Art include researching the permanent collection, planning and executing exhibitions, and writing catalog articles and materials to accompany exhibits.

Przybilla received her bachelor's degree in art history from the University of Minnesota and her master's degree in art history and museum studies from the University of Southern California.

More Planned By Lyceum

Cuban-born clay sculptor Mario Petirena will be the artist-in-residence at the college on Feb. 5. Petirena's work combines sculpture and found objects and have been shown at more than 50 exhibitions in the last ten years.

The Chestnut Brass Company will be featured in concert at the college on Feb. 8 at 11:05 a.m. The concert will be free and open to the public. The group has earned international acclaim as the only brass ensemble to perform regularly on both historical and modern instruments.

Ruby Dee and Ossie Davis will perform at the college on Feb. 15. The program by Broadway, television and movie stars is free and open to the public.

Lyceum has a variety of events planned throughout the quarter. For more info on any of these or future programs, call 961-3510.

The cactus teapot, above, is just one example of Susie Duncan's sculpture. At right, Sarah Wise and Dwain Eidson receive instruction from Duncan. At far right, Duncan works on a cup using the majolica technique.

SUNphotos by
Kristi Rapson

CLAYTON CALENDAR

TODAY

The Chestnut Brass Co. will be featured in concert at 11:05 a.m. at Clayton State College, Room G-132. Concert is free and open to the public.
"The New Deal and the Southern Economy," will be discussed by Dr. James C. Cobb, history professor at the University of Tennessee, at 11:05 a.m. at Clayton State College, Room D-223. Free and open to the public.

MONDAY

"The technology of music transcription," will be held at 8:15 p.m. at Clayton State College in Room D-223. The process of taking music, written for one instrument or group of instruments and rewriting it for another instrument will be discussed. Free and open to the public.

The Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) will be held at 6 p.m. at Clayton State College, Room G-132. Applicants do not have to sign up in advance, but should arrive at the testing center at least 30 minutes prior to the scheduled starting time. A $14.50 testing fee will be required. Information: 961-3500.

TUESDAY

The General Educational Development (GED) test will be held from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Clayton State College. Information: 961-3515.

"Developing a business plan," designed for small business owners and managers will be held at 7 p.m. at Clayton State College. Cost is a $10 registration fee. Information: 961-3440, 961-3550.

"Financial Planning for the Small Business Owner," part two of a two-part seminar, will be held at 6:30 p.m. at Clayton State College. Cost is $25. Information: 961-3440, 961-3550.

UPCOMING

Ruby Dee and Ossie Davis will present a unique theatrical experience at 11:05 a.m. Feb. 15 at Clayton State College in Room G-132. The two Broadway, television and movie stars will present a program filled with electricity, love, laughter, joy and tears. The program is free and open to the public. Information: 961-3510.

"Telemarketing sales," designed for small business owners and managers, will be held at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 15 at Clayton State College. A $15 registration fee is required. Information: 961-3440, 961-3550.

The Spalding County Newspaper

Clayton News

THE CLAYTON NEIGHBOR

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1990

IN CONCERT: Clayton State College will present its first annual Concerto Concert, featuring four CSC music majors and one student from the Preparatory School of Music. The concert is set for Friday, Feb. 16 in the Lecture/Recital Hall (Room G-132), beginning at 8:15 p.m. The concert is free and open to the public.

CELEBRATE BLACK HISTORY: Clayton State College will sponsor "A Celebration With Ruby Dee and Ossie Davis" next week. It will be one of a series of events on tap to commemorate Black History Month. The show is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 15 at 11:05 a.m. in Room G-132.

PLANNING: A two-hour workshop on "Developing A Business Plan" will be conducted by Clayton State College at the Conyers/Rockdale Chamber of Commerce offices on Tuesday, Feb. 13. The session will begin at 7 p.m.

TELEMARKETING: A three-hour program on "Telemarketing Sales" will be conducted at Clayton State College on Thursday, Feb. 15. The session will begin at 6:30 p.m.

DEVELOPMENT: Real estate broker and developer Chris Gardner announced plans Friday to build a 17-unit efficiency apartment complex on Thompson Boulevard, just outside of Lake City. It will be designed to attract Clayton State students. "The plan is to have them fully furnished right down to the silverware," Gardner said.

Gardner

Music Program
"The technology of music transcription" will be discussed Monday, February 12. Dr. Larry Corse, Professor of English and director of the College's Music Theater, will talk about the process of taking music, written for one instrument or group of instruments, and rewriting it for another instrument. The program, to begin at 8:15 p.m. in Room D-223 of the Student Center is free and open to the public.

Business Plan
A two-hour workshop on "developing a business plan" will be conducted by the College at the Conyers/Rockdale Chamber of Commerce offices Tuesday, February 13, for small business owners and managers, beginning at 7 p.m. A $10 registration fee is required.

Theatrical Program
A unique theatrical experience, featuring Ruby Dee and Ossie Davis, is Thursday morning, February 15. The two Broadway, television and movie stars will present a program filled with electricity, love, laughter, joy and tears in the College's Lecture/Recital Hall (Room G-132) and is free and open to the public.

Telemarketing
A three-hour program on "telemarketing sales" will be conducted Thursday, February 15, for small business owners and managers, beginning at 6:30 p.m. A $15 registration fee is required. Call the College's Small Business Development Center (961-3440) for more information, or the Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

Scholarships Presented

Linda Hixon Gilmore, second from right, president of the Southside Chapter of the Georgia Society of Certified Public Accountants, presents $500 scholarships on behalf of the organization to three Clayton State College accounting students. Pictured from left, Emory Stanford, a senior from Fayetteville; Leslie Callender, a junior from Riverdale; and Anita Chandler, a junior from Jonesboro. At right is Dr. Harold Joseph, head of Clayton State's Department of Accounting and Computer Information Systems. The scholarship program was initiated last year by members of the local chapter of Certified Public Accountants.

Clayton Students Will Perform First Concerto Concert

Clayton State College will present its first annual Concerto Concert, featuring four CSC music majors and one student from the Preparatory School of Music on the college campus next week.

The concert will take place on Friday, February 16 in the Lecture/Recital Hall (Room G-132), beginning at 8:15 p.m.

The four soloists will be accompanied by a chamber orchestra made up of professional string players with students playing the wind and percussion. The concert will be under the direction of Lenora Holloway, an alumna of Clayton State College, and a teacher in the college's Preparatory School of Music.

The concert will open with a movement of the famous Bach "Double" Concerto for Two Violins. The soloists are Rob Hofmeister and Tirza Kosche, students of Doris Holloway, CSC Coordinator of Fine Arts. Hofmeister, a CSC sophomore, has studied the violin since age nine. He attended Arlington High School in Fairburn. Kosche, 12, has studied for five years.

Misty Mathis will present the first movement of Bach's Concerto in A minor, originally for solo violin, on the xylophone. Mathis, a freshman percussion major, attended Fayette County High School where she was a member of the band and drum corps.

One movement of Hayden's Concerto for Clarinet and Orchestra will be played by Kevin Tant, a freshman studying with part-time instructor Dr. Thomas Watson. Tant resides in Riverdale and attended Riverdale High School.

The program will close with the second and third movements of Beethoven's Concerto No. 1 for Piano and Orchestra, featuring Kenneth McCullers as solo pianist. McCullers, a scholarship student and 1989 state winner of the Music Teachers National Association piano competition, is a student of Jeannine Morrison.

Free and open to the public, the concert is a part of a continuing series of cultural and educational events sponsored by Lyceum.

Concerto Concert

Clayton State College's first annual Concerto Concert will feature four college students and one student from the College's Preparatory School of Music. Pictured are the four music majors, from left, Kevin Tant, clarinet, Misty Mathis, percussion, Rob Hofmeister, violin and Kenneth McCullers, piano. Not pictured is Tirza Kosche, who will perform with Hofmeister.

Students meet Pulitzer Prize Winning author

Clayton State College students met Pulitzer Prize Winning author Taylor Branch during several events planned around his visit. Branch (Second from L) is greeted by (L-R) Sonya Henson, president of the Environmental Awareness

Club, Rachel Matthews, president of the Student Government Association, Clayton State College President Harry S. Downs, and Jennifer Myers, secretary of the Student Government Association.

THE ROCKDALE CITIZEN, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1990

CPR training offered at Clayton

Fayette County residents can learn to jump start a life by taking advantage of free American Red Cross CPR training on CPR Saturday, Feb. 24. Training classes will start every half hour from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. and will last about four hours. Upon completion, participants will be certified in Red Cross CPR and the Heimlich Maneuver, a technique for relieving airway obstruction. The free training will be held at Clayton State College, Physical Education Building, 5900 N. Lee Street, Morrow. For more information, call the Red Cross at 961-2552.

Clayton State's Lyceum Encourages Students And Experts To Interact

By KRISTI RAPSON

On any given day at Clayton State College, artists, students and art experts can be found sharing ideas and learning from each other. The college's Lyceum program arranges for a variety of recitals, lectures, presentations and Artists-In-Residence.

Susie Duncan recently encouraged art students at Clayton State College to enjoy and explore clay.

The clay sculptor spent a week at the college teaching and offering assistance to students as part of the college's Artist-In-Residence program.

Duncan introduced Clayton students to the majolica technique, a glaze on glaze technique that was prevalent in Italy in the 16th century. The technique involves covering earthenware with a white or light colored base glaze coating on which bright colors are then painted.

"I want to give them a technical vocabulary in art," Duncan said.

This is the fourth year Duncan has served as an Artist-In-Residence. She is a former Roswell

High School art teacher who taught in the Governor's Honors Program. Duncan was selected as the 1985 merit award winner in the Inman Park Arts Show and she won a merit award at the 1984 Powers Crossroads Festival. At the 1979 Roswell Arts Festival, Duncan won Best in the Show.

High Museum Expert

Carrie Przybilla, assistant curator of Twentieth Century Art at the High Museum of Art in Atlanta, presented a lecture series at the college recently. The topic of the discussion was "Contemporary Art in the Southeast."

Przybilla's duties at the High Museum of Art include researching the permanent collection, planning and executing exhibitions, and writing catalog articles and materials to accompany exhibits.

Przybilla received her bachelor's degree in art history from the University of Minnesota and her master's degree in art history and museum studies from the University of Southern California.

More Planned By Lyceum

Cuban-born clay sculptor Mario Petirena will be the artist-in-residence at the college on Feb. 5. Petirena's work combines sculpture and found objects and have been shown at more than 50 exhibitions in the last ten years.

The Chestnut Brass Company will be featured in concert at the college on Feb. 8 at 11:05 a.m. The concert will be free and open to the public. The group has earned international acclaim as the only brass ensemble to perform regularly on both historical and modern instruments.

Ruby Dee and Ossie Davis will perform at the college on Feb. 15. The program by Broadway, television and movie stars is free and open to the public.

Lyceum has a variety of events planned throughout the quarter. For more info on any of these or future programs, call 961-3510.

NEWS/DAILY, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1990

Pulitzer Prize Winner Visits CSC

Clayton State College students met Pulitzer prize winning author Taylor Branch during several events planned around his visit on campus. Branch (second from left) is pictured with (from left) Sonya Henson, president of the Environmental Awareness Club;

Rachel Matthews, president of the Student Government Association; Clayton State College President Harry S. Downs; and Jennifer Myers, secretary of the Student Government Association.

Concerto Concert

Clayton State College's first annual Concerto Concert will feature four college students and one student from the College's Preparatory School of Music. Pictured are the four music majors, from left, Kevin Tant, clarinet, Misty Mathis, percussion, Rob Hofmeister, violin and Kenneth McCullers, piano. Not pictured is Tirza Kosche, who will perform with Hofmeister.

Scholarships Presented

Linda Hixon Gilmore, second from right, president of the Southside Chapter of the Georgia Society of Certified Public Accountants, presents $500 scholarships on behalf of the organization to three Clayton State College accounting students. Pictured from left, Emory Stanford, a senior from Fayetteville; Leslie Callender, a junior from Riverdale; and Anita Chandler, a junior from Jonesboro. At right is Dr. Harold Joseph, head of Clayton State's Department of Accounting and Computer Information Systems. The scholarship program was initiated last year by members of the local chapter of Certified Public Accountants.

Clayton News

Student Concert
Clayton State music students will be presented in a "Concerto Concert" Friday evening, February 16, beginning at 8:15 p.m. in the Lecture/Recital Hall (Room G-132). It is free and open to the public.

Guitarist
Guitarist Eliot Fisk, to be featured in concert Monday evening, February 19, is recognized worldwide as a leading figure among the younger generation of guitarists.

He is an ardent champion of the guitar's integration into our musical culture.

The concert will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the Lecture/Recital Hall (Room G-132), and is free and open to the public.

Loan Workshop
A three-hour workshop on "preparing loan proposals" for small business owners and managers will be conducted Thursday, February 22. Information on the materials, forms and procedures necessary in applying for business loans, both direct bank and SBA guaranteed, will be presented. A $15 registration fee is required. Call the College's Small Business Development Center (961-3440) for more information, or the Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

CSC NURSING SCHOLARSHIP

Patricia Poole, a Clayton State College nursing student was the first recipient of a $500 scholarship from the South Metro District of the Georgia Association of Post Anesthesia Nurses (GAPAN). Pictured are (from left) Dr. Robert E. Puddy, Dean of the School of Health Sciences; Ms. Dianna R. Thompson, President-Elect of the South Metro District - GAPAN, and Mr. Robert C. Bolander, Dean of Students. Sitting (from left) Ms. Patricia Poole of Peachtree City, and Ms. Sandy Steed, President of the South Metro District - GAPAN. The scholarship is the first presented by the four-year old group. Ms. Poole is an emergency room employee at Scottish Rite Children's Hospital.

THE TARA BEEKEEPERS ASSOCIATION will meet at the Morrow Methodist Church on Feb. 19 at 7:30 p.m. A beekeeping short course taught by members of the Tara Beekeepers Association and co-sponsored by the Clayton County Extension Service and Clayton State College will be at the college beginning Feb. 20 at 7 p.m. For info and to register call 961-3550.

Griffin Daily News, Tuesday, February 13, 1990

Clayton State College offers show, telemarketing

A unique theatrical experience, featuring Ms. Ruby Dee and Mr. Ossie Davis, is scheduled at Clayton State College this Thursday. The two Broadway, television and movie stars will present a program filled with electricity, love, laughter, joy and tears. Sponsored by Lyceum, the program will be given in the college's lecture/recital hall (Room G-132) and will be free and open to the public. Call 961-3510 for complete information.

The college is offering a three-hour program on telemarketing sales Thursday. Another program in a continuing series designed for small business owners and managers, the session will begin at 6:30 p.m. and a $15 registration fee is required. Call the college's Small Business Development Center (961-3440) for more information.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1990 PAGE 11

CSC offers loan proposal workshop

A three-hour workshop on "preparing loan proposals" for small business owners and managers will be conducted at Clayton State College.

Information on the materials, forms and procedures necessary in applying for business loans, both direct bank loans and SBA guaranteed, will be presented at the Thursday, February 22 seminar. The seminar begins at 6:30 p.m. and a $15 registration fee will be required.

The loan preparation program is a part of a Winter Quarter series designed to help small business owners and managers meet the challenges of operating their businesses.

Call the college's Small Business Development Center (961-3440) for more information.

tion, or the Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

All programs in the series are co-sponsored by the Chambers of Commerce in Clayton, Fayette, Henry and South Fulton counties, and the U.S. Small Business Administration.

NEWS/DAILY, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1990

Ruby Dee, Ossie Davis At CSC Feb. 15

"A Celebration With Ruby Dee and Ossie Davis" will be held Thursday, Feb. 15, 11:05 a.m., in Room G-132 at Clayton State College.

This is part of the Lyceum series at the College and this event will be a unique theatrical experience, charged with electricity, love, laughter, joy and tears. They met in 1946 and were cast as husband and wife in two plays. They later decided to recreate the roles in real life.

Ms. Dee has starred in "A Raisin in the Sun" and "Boesman and Lena" on Broadway. Davis, a Georgia native, made his Broadway debut in "Jeb," and both have starred in "Purlie Victorious."

Davis, Dee

THE FAYETTE NEIGHBOR

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1990

TELEMARKETING: A three-hour program on "Telemarketing Sales" will be conducted at Clayton State College on Thursday, Feb. 15. The session will begin at 6:30 p.m. Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550; Fee: $15.

MORROW: Clayton State College will present its first annual Concerto Concert, featuring four music majors and one student from the Preparatory School of Music. When: Friday in the Lecture/Recital Hall (Room G-132) at 8:15 p.m. Cost: free. Open to public.

NEWS/DAILY, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1990

Chamber Music Concert

Arts Clayton will sponsor the third in its series of chamber music on Tuesday, Feb. 27, 8 p.m. in Jones Memorial United Methodist Church. In concert will be the Esterhazy Baryton Trio from England. Tickets are $15 for adults, $7.50 for students. Tickets may be purchased at the offices of Arts Clayton, 114 S. Main St., Jonesboro, in the Music Department of Clayton State College or at the door.

Renowned Guitarist Eliot Fisk

Guitarist Eliot Fisk will be presented in concert Monday, Feb. 19, 8:15 p.m., in Room G-132 at Clayton State College.

Fisk's one performance is part of the Lyceum program at the college.

He is recognized worldwide as a leading figure among the younger generation of guitarists and an ardent champion of the guitar's integration into our musical culture.

March Events

Clayton State College will present "The Mystery of Edwin Drood" March 8-11, Thursday-Saturday, 8:15 p.m. and Sunday at 2 p.m.

THE SUN 2/15/90

Speaker Meets Students

Dr. James Tobin, Clayton State College's third Lyceum Laureate speaker this year, talks with students at a reception prior to his event talk last week. Pictured with Dr. Tobin, second from the left, are Grady Holt of Fayetteville, Rachel Matthews of Morrow and Jennifer Myers of Peachtree City.

NEWS/DAILY, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1990

TELEMARKETING SALES: Three-hour program at Clayton State College, Thursday, Feb. 15, 6:30 p.m., $15 registration fee required. Designed for small business owners and managers. Call 961-3440 for information or 961-3550 to register.

CONCERTO CONCERT: Presented by Clayton State College music students, Friday, Feb. 16, 8:15 p.m., in the Lecture/Recital Hall, Room G-132. Free and open to the public. For information call 961-3510.

GUITAR CONCERT AT CLAYTON STATE: Featuring guitarist Eliot Fisk, Monday, Feb. 19, 8:15 p.m., in the Lecture/Recital Hall, Room G0132.

Free and open to the public. Call 961-3510 for information.

ARTIST-IN-RESIDENT PROGRAM: Begins Monday, Feb. 19, at Clayton State College. Portrait painter, Philip Carpenter will be working with art students throughout the week. Call 961-3510 for complete information.

BEEKEEPING SHORT COURSE: Taught by members of the Tara Beekeepers Association, and co-sponsored by Clayton County Extension Service and Clayton State College, held at the college, Feb. 20, 7 p.m. No charge to the public, but advanced registration required. Call 961-3550 for information and registration.

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1990

City police report

February 20: Rogerio Sobral Ramalho, 35, of Riverdale, arrested and charged with intoxicated person in auto, and interfering with police...

February 20: Cynthia Louise Bradford, 19, of College Park, was charged with traffic violations and giving a false name...

February 9: Mark Adam Stinchcomb, 21, of Fayetteville, charged with theft by taking...

February 9: Dana L. Gragg, 29, and Melinda Ballinger Gragg, 22, both of Fayetteville, charged with violation of Georgia Controlled Substance Act and obtaining a controlled substance by fraud.

Strength Training Clinic

A free "strength training clinic" will be conducted at Clayton State College next week.

Jim Lathrop, the assistant strength and conditioning coach at Georgia Tech and a power lifter since high school, will lead the discussion beginning at 11:05 a.m. on Monday, February 22 in the Physical Education Building.

Prior to joining the staff at Georgia Tech, Mr. Lathrop held the same position at the University of California at Berkeley. He is a certified member of the National Strength and Conditioning Association (NSCA) and serves on the national committee on professional enhancement. He is also the NSCA Director of Exercise Techniques for Georgia.

Mr. Lathrop received his bachelor's degree from Northwestern Missouri State University and his master's in physical education from the University of Missouri, where his area of specialization was exercise physiology and sports psychology.

FAYETTE COUNTY NEWS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1990

Guitarist Fisk to be featured

Eliot Fisk, guitarist, will be featured in concert at Clayton State College next week.

Mr. Fisk, recognized worldwide as a leading figure among the younger generation of guitarists, is an ardent champion of the guitar's integration into our musical culture.

Sponsored by Lyceum, the concert will begin at 8:15 p.m. on Monday, February 19, in the College's Lecture/Recital Hall (Room G-132).

Mr. Fisk made his television debut in 1983 as a guest soloist with the Juilliard String Quartet at the Library of Congress. He also appeared on the nationally televised "Christmas at the Kennedy Center" program.

Mr. Fisk is the founder and first head of the Yale College Guitar Department and has taught at the Mannes School in New York. Since 1983, he has been Professor of guitar at the Musikhochschule in Cologne, West Germany.

He received his bachelor's degree, Summa Cum Laude, from Yale College and his masters from the Yale University School of Music.

The concert will continue a year-long series of lectures and cultural events sponsored by the College's Lyceum Committee. All programs are free and open to the public.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1990

THE HENRY NEIGHBOR

PLANNING: A two-hour workshop on "Developing A Business Plan" will be conducted by Clayton State College at the Conyers/Rockdale Chamber of Commerce offices on Tuesday, Feb. 13. The session will begin at 7 p.m. Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550; Fee: $10.

TELEMARKETING: A three-hour program on "Telemarketing Sales" will be conducted at Clayton State College on Thursday, Feb. 15. The session will begin at 6:30 p.m. Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550; Fee: $15.

MORROW: Clayton State College will present its first annual Concerto Concert, featuring four music majors and one student from the Preparatory School of Music. When: Friday in the Lecture/Recital Hall (Room G-132) at 8:15 p.m. Cost: free. Open to public.

For small businesses THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1990, PAGE 7B

Loan workshop set for CSC

A three-hour workshop on "preparing loan proposals" for small business owners and managers will be conducted at Clayton State College.

Information on the materials, forms and procedures necessary in applying for business loans, both direct bank loans and SBA guaranteed, will be presented at the Thursday, February 22 seminar.

The seminar begins at 6:30 p.m. and a $15 registration fee will be required.

The loan preparation program is a part of a Winter Quarter series designed to help small business owners and managers meet the challenges of operating their businesses.

Call the college's Small Business Development Center

(961-3440) for more information, or the Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

All programs in the series are co-sponsored by the Chambers of Commerce in Clayton, Fayette, Henry and South Fulton counties, and the U.S. Small Business Administration.

SPECIAL PHOTO

Dr. Tobin speaks

Dr. James Tobin, talks with students at Clayton State College prior to his evening talk last week. Pictured are Grady Holt of Fayetteville, Dr. Tobin, Rachel Matthews of Morrow and Jennifer Myers of Peachtree City.

2/15/90

THE CLAYTON SUN

PAGE 5 C

Clayton State College will present a variety of events beginning with a "Concerto Concert" on Feb. 16 at 8:15 in the College's Lecture/Recital Hall.

The concert will be performed by CSC students. A concert will be presented by guitarist Eliot Fisk on Feb. 19. The concert will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the College's Lecture/Recital Hall. Portrait painter Philip Carpenter will begin a week-long "artist-in-residence" program on Feb. 19. Many of his works will be on display throughout the week. Area high school students will present a concert on Feb. 22 at 11:05 a.m. as part of Black History Month activities sponsored by the College's Student Black Cultural Awareness Association. All programs are free and open to the public.

THE SOUTH FULTON NEIGHBOR

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1990

MORROW: Clayton State College will present its first annual Concerto Concert, featuring four music majors and one student from the Preparatory School of Music. When: Friday in the Lecture/Recital Hall (Room G-132) at 8:15 p.m. Cost: free. Open to public.

PLANNING: A two-hour workshop on "Developing A Business Plan" will be conducted by Clayton State College at the Conyers/Rockdale Chamber of Commerce offices on Tuesday, Feb. 13. The session will begin at 7 p.m. Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550; Fee: $10.

TELEMARKETING: A three-hour program on "Telemarketing Sales" will be conducted at Clayton State College on Thursday, Feb. 15. The session will begin at 6:30 p.m. Information: 961-3440; Registration: 961-3550; Fee: $15.

THE RIGHT STUFF: Making the fall quarter dean's list at Clayton State College were the following Fairburn residents: Jennifer L. Alderman, Carolyn Kennedy Baxter, Phyllis Anita Cassidy, Melissa Elaine Dripps, Brenda S. Harless, June Francis Mapp, Mary Anne Morgan and Lisa Michelle Ward.

THE CLAYTON SUN

2/15/90

THE TARA BEEKEEPERS ASSOCIATION will meet at the Morrow Methodist Church on Feb. 19 at 7:30p.m. A beekeeping short course taught by members of the Tara Beekeepers Association and co-sponsored by the Clayton County Extension Service and Clayton State College will be at the college beginning Feb. 20 at 7 p.m. For info and to register call 961-3550.

CLAYTON EXTRA, FEB. 15, 1990

Special

Artist marks 4th college residency

Susie Duncan, an Atlanta sculptor, recently completed her fourth residency at Clayton State College. Ms. Duncan worked with students in the Fine Arts department.

THE SOUTH FULTON NEIGHBOR

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1990

GOOD MUSIC: Clayton State College students will be presented in a "Concerto Concert" Friday at 8:15 p.m. The concert will be presented in the college's lecture and recital hall, room G-132. Free. Information: 961-3510.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1990

For small businesses

Loan workshop set for CSC

A three-hour workshop on "preparing loan proposals" for small business owners and managers will be conducted at Clayton State College.

Information on the materials, forms and procedures necessary in applying for business loans, both direct bank loans and SBA guaranteed, will be presented at the Thursday, February 22 seminar.

The seminar begins at 6:30 p.m. and a $15 registration fee will be required.

The loan preparation program is a part of a Winter Quarter series designed to help small business owners and managers meet the challenges of operating their businesses.

Call the college's Small Business Development Center

(961-3440) for more information, or the Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

All programs in the series are co-sponsored by the Chambers of Commerce in Clayton, Fayette, Henry and South Fulton counties, and the U.S. Small Business Administration.

THIS WEEK IN PEACHTREE CITY TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1990

CSC Spring registration

Clayton State College will begin registration for Spring Quarter credit classes next week.

Returning students may register between 9 a.m. and 12 noon, or 5 and 8 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday, February 28 and March 1.

Beginning freshmen should contact the College's Office of Admissions and Records (961-3500) for complete information about special registration programs scheduled prior to the start of Spring Quarter classes.

Late registration is scheduled on Tuesday, March 27, and Spring Quarter classes will begin on Wednesday, March 28. The quarter will conclude in early June and the College's annual graduation exercises are set for Saturday, June 9.

Workshop for small biz!

A three-hour workshop on "preparing loan proposals" for small business owners and managers will be conducted at Clayton State College on Thursday, February 22. Information on the materials, forms and procedures necessary in applying for business loans, both direct bank loans and SBA Guaranteed, will be presented. A $15 registration fee will be required. Call the College's Small Business Development Center (961-3440) for more information, or the Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

CLAYTON EXTRA, FEB. 15, 1990

TODAY

"Telemarketing sales," designed for small-business owners and managers, will be held at 6:30 p.m. at Clayton State College. A $15 registration fee is required. Information: 961-3440, 961-3550.

FRIDAY

Clayton State College music students will be presented in concert at 8:15 p.m. in Room G-132. Free and open to the public. Information: 961-3510.

MONDAY

Guitarist Eliot Fisk will be featured in concert at 8:15 p.m. at Clayton State College in room G-132. Free and open to the public. Information: 961-3510.

Portrait painter Philip Carpenter will begin a week-long artist in residence program at Clayton State College. He will be working with art students and displaying his work. Information: 961-3510.

TUESDAY

A free beekeeping short course taught by the Tara Beekeepers Association, and co-sponsored by the Clayton County Extension Service and Clayton State College will be held at 7 p.m. at the college. Registration is required. Information: 961-3550.

UPCOMING

Area high schools will be presented in concert as part of Black History Month activities sponsored by the College's Student Black Cultural Awareness Association at 11:05 a.m. Feb. 22 at Clayton State College in Room G-132. Free and open to the public.

A strength training clinic will be held at 11:05 a.m. Feb. 22 at Clayton State College's Physical Education building. Jim Lathrop, the assistant strength coach at Georgia Tech and a power lifter since high school, will teach the class. Free and open to the public. Information: 961-3510.

Preparing loan proposals for small business owners and managers will be held from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Feb. 22 at Clayton State College in Room D-112. A $15 registration fee is required. Information: 961-3440, 961-3550.

NEWS/DAILY, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1990

College Slates Workshops

Small business owners and managers next week will have an opportunity to attend two different workshops co-sponsored by Clayton State College and the Chambers of Commerce in Clayton, Fayette, Henry and South Fulton counties.

"Legal Aspects of Business" will be discussed in the first workshop on Tuesday, Feb. 27. The seminar focuses on the legal structures available to a small business and the methods of dealing with local, state and federal agencies. The $15 workshop begins at 6:30 p.m. and ends at 9:30 p.m.

A discussion about how to select "Small Business Insurance" will be held in the second workshop on Thursday, March 1, from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. The registration fee is $15. The two programs are part of a winter quarter series designed to help small business owners and managers meet the challenges of operating their businesses. Those interested may call 961-3440 for more information or 961-3550 to register.

THE CLAYTON SUN

2/15/90

Clayton State College will present a variety of events beginning with a "Concerto Concert" on Feb. 16 at 8:15 in the College's Lecture/Recital Hall.

The concert will be performed by CSC students. A concert will be presented by guitarist Eliot Fisk on Feb. 19. The concert will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the College's Lecture/Recital Hall. Portrait painter Philip Carpenter will begin a week-long "artist-in-residence" program on Feb. 19. Many of his works will be on display throughout the week. Area high school students will present a concert on Feb. 22 at 11:05 a.m. as part of Black History Month activities sponsored by the College's Student Black Cultural Awareness Association. All programs are free and open to the public.

NEWS/DAILY, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1990

Outstanding Student

Angie Andrews of Jonesboro was honored recently at Clayton State College as the Outstanding Drafting and Design Student for the fall quarter 1989. Tom Eddins is her instructor.

Clayton St. Business Dean Dies

George Horton
Renowned In South

Special To News/Daily

Dr. George R. Horton, dean of the School of Business at Clayton State College and a former faculty member at the University of Georgia and Auburn University, died of coronary arrest at Clayton General Hospital on Friday, Feb. 16. He was 65.

Funeral services were held Sunday at National Heights Baptist Church on Georgia Highway 54 west of Fayetteville.

Dr. Horton joined the Clayton State College faculty in October 1986, becoming the first dean of the School of Business. Included among his early responsibilities were the development of new baccalaureate degree programs for Clayton State as it converted from a two-year to a four-year institution.

Dr. Horton began his career in business and industry with the Southern Railway System in 1944. After two years in the military, he began a series of positions with Southern of Macon. In 1953, he was appointed transportation inspector and examined yard operations and car distribution. He later was appointed assistant trainmaster at the Atlanta division.

Dr. Horton earned both his bachelor's and master's degrees in business from Auburn University and completed his doctorate in economics at the University of Virginia in 1962. He joined the faculty at the University of Georgia, teaching economics, transportation and marketing, and remained there until 1968 when he accepted a position in the School of Business at Auburn University.

In 1970, he was named head of the Department of Marketing and Transportation, before then serving as dean of the School of Business from 1973 until 1984. He returned to the marketing and transportation faculty at Auburn in 1985 and remained in that position until joining the Clayton State faculty in 1986.

During Dr. Horton's tenure as dean of the School of Business at Auburn, the University attained full accreditation of all programs by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business. Auburn's business faculty is considered to be one of the nation's most respected academic units in the field of transportation.

See HORTON, Page 3A

Horton

George Horton, CSC Business Dean, Dies

Continued from Page 1A

In addition to his teaching activities, Dr. Horton was widely involved in consulting or continuing education and research projects for many companies and organizations, including Georgia Power Co., Delta Air Lines, Lockheed Corp., U.S. Chamber of Commerce, Gulf Power Co., Mississippi Power Co., Georgia Economic Education for Clergy Foundation, Southern Bell Telephone, Elberton Granite Association, Southern Industrial Relations Conference, Alabama Power Company, Atlanta Leadership Conference, Alabama Industrial Development Conference, and many others.

Between 1965 and 1967, Dr. Horton was associated with the Center for Advanced Administrative Research in Boca Raton, Fla., and conducted research leading to the development of the auto-train which now operates between Washington, D.C., and Florida.

Dr. Horton's professional activities have included membership in the American Economic Association, American Marketing Association, American Society of Transportation and Logistics, Delta Nu Alpha Transportation Society, Pi Sigma Epsilon Sales Association, and numerous other professional and honorary organizations.

He has held a number of offices and appointments with boards, commissions, and committees dealing with business and travel. He served on the Initial Accreditation Committee of the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business, and as a consultant for minority schools and on the Regional Representative Committee of the organization.

He held leadership positions in the Alabama Association for Higher Education in Business and the Alabama Consortium for Small Business Development Centers. In addition, he was member of the board of directors and President of the Southern Business Administration Association. Dr. Horton also served as a member of the board of directors of First Alabama banks in Opelika, Auburn and Natusuga.

He was married to the former Elizabeth Rebecca Bradley of Atlanta, and they have one daughter, Margaret Georgiann of Washington, D.C.

STRENGTH TRAINING CLINIC. Conducted at Clayton State College, Thursday, Feb. 22, 11:05 a.m., in Physical Education Building. Jim Lathrop, assistant coach at Georgia Tech, leads discussion. Sponsored by Lyceum, free and open to the public. For information call 961-3510.

PREPARING LOAN PROPOSALS. Three-hour workshop for small business owners and managers, conducted at Clayton State College, Thursday, Feb. 22. $15 registration fee required, call 961-3440 for information, or 961-3550 to register.

GENERAL EDUCATIONAL DEVELOPMENT (GED). Administered at Clayton State College, 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 27. Call 961-3515 for complete information about requirements.

LEGAL ASPECTS OF BUSINESS. Three-hour seminar conducted at Clayton State College, Tuesday, Feb. 27, 6:30 p.m., $15 registration fee required. Call 961-3440 for information, or 961-3550 to register.

ART DISCUSSIONS AT CLAYTON STATE. Ms. Genevieve Arnold lectures Wednesday, Feb. 28, 7 p.m., and Thursday, March 1, 11:05 a.m. Sponsored by Lyceum, both programs in Room D-223 of Student Center Building. Information: 961-3510.

REGISTRATION FOR SPRING QUARTER CREDIT CLASSES. Clayton State College returning students register Wednesday, Feb. 28, and Thursday, March 1, 9 a.m.-noon or 5-8 p.m. either day. New students contact office of admissions 961-3500. Spring quarter credit classes begin March 28. Late registration is scheduled Tuesday, March 27.

Clayton Scene

DURING THE FUNERAL FOR Clayton State College's business school dean Dr. George Horton on Sunday at the National Heights Baptist Church, several people commented on the fact that one of the songs sung during the service had been selected by Horton. This retired executive with the Southern Railway had requested his favorite hymn, "Life's Railway To Heaven."

Business lecture: focus on legal topics

Small business owners and managers will have an opportunity to attend two different workshops sponsored by Clayton State College next week.

"Legal Aspects of Business" will be discussed in the first workshop on Tuesday, February 27. The seminar focuses on the legal structures available to a small business and the methods of dealing with local, state and federal agencies. The $15 workshop begins at 6:30 p.m. and ends at 9:30 p.m.

A discussion about how to select "Small Business Insurance" will be held in the second workshop, on Thursday, March 1 from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. The registration fee is $15.

The two programs are part of a Winter Quarter series designed to help small business owners and managers meet the challenges of operating their businesses.

Call the College's Small Business Development Center (961-3440) for more information, or the Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

All programs in the series are co-sponsored by the Chambers of Commerce in Clayton, Fayette, Henry and South Fulton counties.

CSC Spring registration

Clayton State College will begin registration for Spring Quarter credit classes next week.

Returning students may register between 9 a.m. and 12 noon, or 5 and 8 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday, February 28 and March 1.

Beginning freshmen should contact the College's Office of Admissions and Records (961-3500) for complete information about special registration programs scheduled prior to the start of Spring Quarter classes.

Late registration is scheduled on Tuesday, March 27, and Spring Quarter classes will begin on Wednesday, March 28. The quarter will conclude in early June and the College's annual graduation exercises are set for Saturday, June 9.

Workshop for small biz!

A three-hour workshop on "preparing loan proposals" for small business owners and managers will be conducted at Clayton State College on Thursday, February 22. Information on the materials, forms and procedures necessary in applying for business loans, both direct bank loans and SBA Guaranteed, will be presented. A $15 registration fee will be required. Call the College's Small Business Development Center (961-3440) for more information, or the Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

Small business owners invited to two seminars

Small business owners and managers will have an opportunity to attend two different workshops sponsored by Clayton State College.

"Legal Aspects of Business" will be discussed in the first workshop on Tuesday, Feb. 27. The seminar focuses on the legal structures available to a small business and the methods of dealing with local, state and federal agencies. The $15 workshop begins at 6:30 p.m. and ends at 9:30.

A discussion about how to

Clayton State College sets registration dates

Clayton State College will begin registration for Spring Quarter credit classes next week.

Returning students may register between 9 a.m. and noon, or 5 to 8 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 28 and March 1.

Beginning freshmen should contact the college's Office of Admissions and Records (961-3500) for complete information about special registration programs scheduled prior to the start of Spring Quarter classes.

select "Small Business Insurance" will be held in the second workshop, on Thursday, March 1, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. The registration fee is $15.

Call the College's Small Business Development Center (961-3440) for more information, or the Office of Community Services (961-3550) to register.

CSC Stages 'Drood'

Under the direction of Dr. Larry Corse, Clayton State College will present performances of the Rupert Holmes musical The Mystery of Edwin Drood, based on Charles Dickens' unfinished last novel, March 8-11. Shows are slated for 8:15 p.m. Thursday-Saturday, with a 2 p.m. Sunday matinee, on the Morrow campus in Room G-132, the lecture/recital hall.

Designed as a show-within-a-show involving a gallery of run-down London musical hall performers,

the Holmes version comes with multiple endings because Dickens died before resolving the original novel's "mystery." Any given audience is able to help determine which member of the cast of characters committed the crime.

Of course, Drood (played by Terri Sanders) is not one of the suspects, but among those who are: the dastardly John Jasper (Earl Miller), Princess Puffer (Michelle Beacham), William Cartwright (Patrick Mrizek), Helena Landless (Donna Stephens), Neville Landless (Jonathan Roca), the Rev. Mr. Crisparkle (Kyle Barnes), Rosa-Bud (Heather Cook), Bazzard (Ryan Cook) and Girdles (Victor Thomas), the town drunk.

There is no admission charge, but reservations are required. Tickets will be available on Monday, Feb. 26, by calling Clayton State's dean of students office at 961-3510.

Area high schools will be presented in concert as part of Black History Month activities sponsored by the Clayton State College's Student Black Cultural Awareness Association at 11:05 a.m. at the college in Room G-132. Free and open to the public.

A strength training clinic will be held at 11:05 a.m. at Clayton State College's Physical Education building. Jim Lathrop, the assistant strength coach at Georgia Tech and a power lifter since high school, will teach the class. Free and open to the public. Information: 961-3510.

Preparing loan proposals for small business owners and managers will be taught from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Clayton State College in Room D-112. A $15 registration fee is required. Information: 961-3440, 961-3550.

A free American Red Cross CPR training will be held from 9 a.m. to 2

Registration For Spring Quarter Will Begin At Clayton

Clayton State College will begin registration for Spring Quarter credit classes next week.

Returning students may register between 9 a.m. and noon, or 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. Feb. 28 and March 1.

Beginning freshmen should contact the College's Office of Admissions and Records, 961-3500, for complete information about special registration programs scheduled prior to the start of Spring Quarter classes.

Late registration is scheduled for March 27, and Spring Quarter classes will begin March 28. The quarter will conclude in early June and the College's annual graduation exercises are set for Saturday, June 9.

CSC Stages 'Drood'

Under the direction of Dr. Larry Corse, Clayton State College will present performances of the Rupert Holmes musical The Mystery of Edwin Drood, based on Charles Dickens' unfinished last novel, March 8-11. Shows are slated for 8:15 p.m. Thursday-Saturday, with a 2 p.m. Sunday matinee, on the Morrow campus in Room G-132, the lecture/recital hall.

Designed as a show-within-a-show involving a gallery of run-down London musical hall performers, the Holmes version comes with multiple endings because Dickens died before resolving the original novel's "mystery." Any given audience is able to help determine which member of the cast of characters committed the crime.

Of course, Drood (played by Terri Sanders) is not one of the suspects, but among those who are: the dastardly John Jasper (Earl Miller), Princess Puffer (Michelle Beacham), William Cartwright (Patrick Mrizek), Helena Landless (Donna Stephens), Neville Landless (Jonathan Roca), the Rev. Mr. Crisparkle (Kyle Barnes), Rosa-Bud (Heather Cook), Bazzard (Ryan Cook) and Girdles (Victor Thomas), the town drunk.

There is no admission charge, but reservations are required. Tickets will be available on Monday, Feb. 26, by calling Clayton State's dean of students office at 961-3510.

p.m. at Clayton State College, Physical Education Building, 5900 N. Lee St., Morrow. Training classes will start every half hour and will last four hours. Upon completion, participants will be certified in Red Cross CPR and the Heimlich Maneuver, a technique for relieving airway obstruction. Information: 961-2552.

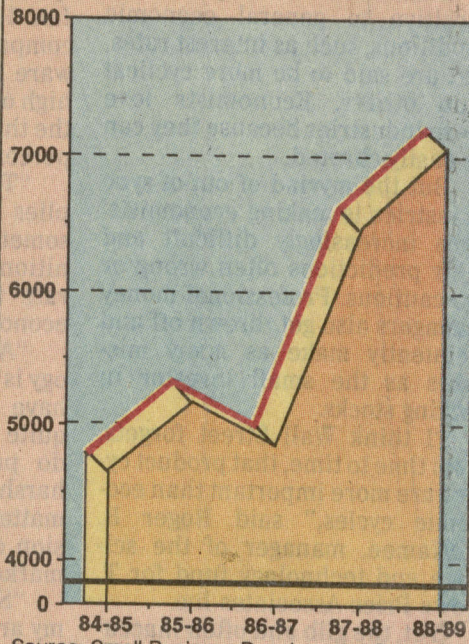

Dwight Ross Jr./Staff

Shirley and Albert Clark of Clark Limousine Service got advice from the SBDC at Georgia State University, where Lloyd Atkins (looking in the front window) is assistant director of the program. Had they not consulted SBDC, they "might have been out of business," Mr. Clark says.

Small business operators getting center's help

Number of people receiving at least one hour of counseling during each fiscal year. State average is 10 hours.

Source: Small Business Development Center State Office

Kimberly Parrott/Staff

Showing entrepreneurs how to succeed in business

By Hank Ezell
Staff writer

Marvin Doster likes good PR as much as the next guy. But it scares him.

Mr. Doster's primary service — providing expert advice on starting, managing and expanding small businesses — is in great demand, and he and his colleagues give it away.

"We don't do a lot of advertising," Mr. Doster said. "Once we do that, we know we will be literally swamped."

Mr. Doster is in charge of about 50 counselors who provide the free advice from the state's 15 Small Business Development Centers. The centers, scattered across the state, are the key service providers in a 13-year-old government operation that is not particularly well-known but is very busy.

Last year 7,193 people, already in business or seriously interested in getting started, spent an average of 10 hours lap-ping up the no-charge consulting provided by the centers. Particularly for newcomers to the business world, the state- and federally-financed centers are a bonanza.

"We would have tried it on our own," said Albert Clark, the president of 5-year-old Clark Limousine Service Inc. "But I think it would have been costly, and I might have been out of business."

Mr. Clark, a 45-year-old retiree from the Army, and his wife, Shirley, started the business with one Cadillac limousine, a repossessed vehicle they'd bought from a bank. Both Clarks held down other jobs while they learned the basics of business.

That included both step-by-step counseling at the SBDC housed at Georgia State University in downtown Atlanta and attending close to a dozen seminars sponsored by the centers.

Such things as accounting, marketing and business plans were new to them, Mr. Clark recalled. SBDC counselors "make sure you accomplish the planning you need, then you move on," he said. "It's quite a learning experience."

The Clarks hope to double their fleet, which now includes five cars, and to increase their 1989 sales of about $75,000 substantially. They would like to retire in the next 10 years, leaving a hired manager behind to keep the business going and the income coming in.

That sort of aspiration inspires the people at the federal Small Business Administration, which pays half of the $3.1 million annual expenses of the SBDC operation, and the people at the University of Georgia, who manage the program. The state of Georgia pays the other half of the SBDC operating cost.

The government backing means that the centers, most of them based on college campuses, can provide one-on-one counseling with no charge to business operators and aspirants. It also underwrites a variety of low-cost seminars on management topics.

Next month, for example, Georgia State will host a three-hour session on understanding financial statements, taught by a former banker who is now on the SBDC staff. The cost: $30.

Government pays for such programs

Please see SBDC, B10 ▶

Where to go for help

Small Business Development Centers in the Atlanta area
Atlanta: Georgia State University, 1 Park Place, 651-3550. Director is Lee Quarterman.
Decatur: DeKalb County Chamber of Commerce, 750 Commerce Drive, 378-8000. Coordinator is Carlotta Roberts.
Kennesaw: Administration Building, Kennesaw State College, 423-6450. Director is Gary Selden.
Lawrenceville: Gwinnett Technical Institute, 1250 Atkinson Road, 963-4902. Director is Susan Taylor.
Morrow: Clayton State College, C Building, 961-3440. Director is Jim Halloran.

SBDC: Free business advice

Continued from B1

because it wants to stimulate economic growth.

"That's where jobs are created and taxes generated," said Fred Stone, the Georgia SBA director. The small business centers, he added, "are one way to focus on the task, to provide the training needed to compete in the marketplace."

As for tax collections, the state organization claimed in its annual report that its 1986 class of entrepreneurs prospered enough to pay $1.7 million more in taxes than state and federal governments might have otherwise received.

The figure includes only sales and income taxes, and only the amounts of those taxes attributed to extra-fast growth — that is, the sales and payroll growth that exceeded statewide averages.

Enthusiasm for the SBDCs is not universal, however. "As far as I know, the service is pretty good," said Terry Hill, spokesman for the 570,000-member, Washington-based National Federation of Independent Business. "It's just something our people don't use much. . . . We find the people we deal with do not rely on the federal government for that kind of thing. On the contrary, they shy away from the federal government."

But some businesses say they can't argue with the results of their SBDC training.

Without the financial planning and marketing advice provided by the Georgia State center, "we probably wouldn't have grown so quickly," said Tom Walton, president of Atlanta-based Thom-Davis Construction Co. The 7-year-old company has 46 employees. It had 1989 sales of between $2 million and $3 million, he said.

Some of the center's suggestions now seem obvious, Mr. Walton added. But in the rush of daily business, he said, "sometimes you're too busy to think about it."

Yet another SBDC service is a preventive one — discouraging those with half-baked ideas or half-hearted commitments.

"A lot of this is reality testing," said Lee Quarterman, director of Georgia State's SBDC.

Mr. Clark, who persisted in entering a crowded niche of the service industry after receiving both warnings about the competition and training in the basics, agreed. "Once you go through the program, you have a good idea whether you should go ahead or not," he said.

CSC presents 'Drood' in March

Thursday, March 8

Clayton State College students will present the Tony Award-winning musical "Drood" on Thursday evening, March 8. The first of four performances by the College's Music Theatre Ensemble, additional shows are scheduled Friday and Saturday evenings, March 9-10, and Sunday afternoon, March 11. Free tickets for the performances must be obtained in advance from the Office of Student Services (961-3510). "Drood" will begin at 8:15 p.m. Thursday through Saturday and at 2 p.m. on Sunday. All performances will be given in the College's Lecture/Recital Hall (Room G-132).

College To Host Art Curator Talk

"A Survey of Atlanta-Athens Painting: 1945-1975" is the topic of discussion to be led by Genevieve Arnold during her visit to the Clayton State College campus next week.

A freelance art curator, Arnold will speak Feb. 28 at 7 p.m. and March 1 at 11:05 a.m. in Room 223 of the Student Center Building.

She has served as curator for exhibits at the High Museum, Emory University Museum of Art and Archaeology, the Atlanta College of Art Gallery and the Atlanta Arts Festival.

Arnold is a graduate of the Atlanta College of Art and did additional academic study at Emory University and Georgia State University. She has served on the Auburn University College of Liberal Arts Advisory Council and the Fine Arts Council. She has served on the board of directors for Nexus Contemporary Arts Center and Art Papers. She is a founding member and the first chairperson of the High Museum of Art's Twentieth Century Art Society.

Sponsored by Lyceum, this program continues Clayton State College's yearlong schedule on cultural and educational programs.

Laureate Speaker Meets Students

Dr. James Tobin, Clayton State College's third Lyceum Laureate speaker this year, talks with students at a reception prior to his evening talk last week. Pictured with Dr. Tobin, second from the left, are Grady Holt of Fayetteville, Rachel Matthews of Morrow and Jennifer Myers of Peachtree City.

Spivey Hall In The Works

Construction of Spivey Hall, the $4 million world-class music recital hall being built on the Clayton State College campus, is approximately 35 percent complete. The 405-seat facility is expected to be completed by the fall and inaugural performances are planned for early 1991. Construction of the recital hall, named in honor of the late Walter and Emilie Spivey, began almost a year ago. Call 961-3578 to make a contribution to the campaign or to find out more about Spivey Hall.

